An Instructional Model for Today's Classroom

Research-based instruction helps you address literacy, content knowledge, social-emotional learning, and student curiosity – while saving you time.

WHY BRIDGE? As teachers, we know that reading and writing are reciprocal. The Bridge makes this crucial connection perfectly clear for your students. They have the opportunity to read as writers and write for readers with every selection!

Foster a Love of Reading

Student Interactive

The all-in-one Student Interactive includes full-color practice pages and selections from award-winning authors and illustrators.

Mentor STACK

Mentor Texts immerse students in the genre and techniques you're teaching during writing instruction.

Read ALOUD

Read Aloud Trade Books draw students into real texts, language, and conversations. (Full lesson plans available on Realize!)

BOOK CLUB

Book Club provides a set-aside time for students to meet in small groups to discuss a trade book for the unit. This collaboration, centered around meaningful conversation, increases student engagement and fosters a love of reading.

**Titles are subject to change.*

A Continuum of Resources to Meet the Needs of Your Students

myView Literacy® utilizes the science of reading insights to drive instruction that comprehensively covers—through explicit and systematic instruction—each of the research-based skills that students need to read effectively.

LEVEL OF SUPPORT

Teacher's Edition

Teacher's Edition (K-5)

Whole group lessons with corresponding small group differentiated instruction.

Reading Routines Companion

Reading Routines Companion (K-5)

Whole or small group grade-specific, explicit instruction that compliments core lessons. A systematic four-step routine introduces the skill, allowing for modeling, guided practice, and independent work.

- Multiple practice opportunities
- Multisensory activities
- Corrective and guided feedback
- “Make It Easier”/ “Make it Harder” differentiated instruction

SuccessMaker

SuccessMaker®

Incorporate adaptive and prescriptive reading instruction for intervention, differentiation, and personalization with custom alignment to myView Literacy instruction.

myFocus Intervention

myFocus Intervention

Small group instruction related to core lessons for students needing significant support to master key skills and concepts.

Lessons follow a routine of:

- Model (I Do!)
- Teach (We Do!)
- Practice (You Do!)

myFocus Reader

myFocus Reader

Our youngest learners take a deeper dive into their decodable booklets for additional instruction and practice. Teachers have a comprehensive guide supporting decoding, high-frequency words, comprehension, and more.

Foundational Skills for Primary Students

Phonological to Phenomenal

With myView Literacy's spiraling phonological awareness instructional method, your graduating kindergarteners have a huge advantage with their literacy. Each sound is addressed multiple times throughout the year to ensure knowledge and confidence.

Sequence of Instruction

As students progress through the primary grades, they grow as readers using systematic and explicit instruction of phonological awareness skills.

EARLY

Initial/Medial/Final Sounds
Segment and Blend Phonemes

Add and Remove Sounds
Recognize Phoneme Changes
Manipulate Phonemes

Connected Phonics and Spelling

myView Literacy is designed with explicit instruction in phonics and word study to build a strong foundation for spelling success.

WEEK 1 LESSON 2
READING WORKSHOP FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

Word Work

OBJECTIVES
Decode words with initial and final consonant blends, digraphs, and trigraphs.
Identify and read common high-frequency words.

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE
For additional student practice with consonant digraphs and trigraphs, use Phonics, p. 137 from the Resource Essentials Center.

Phonics: Decode and Write Words with Digraphs and Trigraphs

MiniLesson
FOCUS Tell students that digraphs are two letters that spell one sound and trigraphs are three letters that spell one sound. Explain that consonant digraphs and trigraphs might be at the beginning or end of a word.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the following words on the board: ranch, catch, while, match, when, whale, chip, rich, Phil. Then point to each word and have students decode it. Have students then create a T-chart and label the first column Begin and the second column End. If a word has a digraph or trigraph spelling the beginning sound, that word would be written in the first column. If a word has a digraph or trigraph spelling the ending sound, that word would be written in the second column.

TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have partners decode the words at the top of p. 15 in the Student Interactive.

Phonics, p. 137

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply
OPTION 1 | Turn, Talk, and Share Have students complete the rest of p. 15 and p. 16 in the Student Interactive.

Notice and Assess Are students able to decode and write words with digraphs and trigraphs?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for Phonics in Small Group on pp. 146-147.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for Phonics in Small Group on pp. 146-147.

QUICK CHECK
Write the words good, no, put, round, said. Have students
 • say and spell each word.
 • use each word in a sentence.
 • write the words and practice spelling them with a partner.
 • take turns dictating and spelling.

Model and Practice Say each picture name. Highlight the digraph or trigraph in each picture name. Tell students to make a sound with the digraph or trigraph.

Phonics What happens next? Finish the story about Chip and Patch.

Chip and Patch
have fun when they catch.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 16

Phonics: Decode and Write Words with Digraphs and Trigraphs

Apply Read the sentences. Underline words with digraphs. Highlight words with trigraphs.
Chip and Patch have a ball.
Patch likes to catch the ball when Chip drops it.
He changes it and whisks by Chip.
Chip and Patch will chase Patch to get the ball.

Model and Practice Say each picture name. Highlight the digraph or trigraph in each picture name. Tell students to make a sound with the digraph or trigraph.

Phonics What happens next? Finish the story about Chip and Patch.

Chip and Patch
have fun when they catch.

WEEK 1 LESSON 2
READING-WRITING WORKSHOP BRIDGE

Spelling Spell Words with Digraphs and Trigraphs

OBJECTIVES
Spell words with initial and final consonant blends, digraphs, and trigraphs.
Spell high-frequency words.

LESSON 2

Teach
FOCUS Explain that digraphs are two consonants that together spell a single sound. Trigraphs are groups of three consonants that also spell a single sound.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display the words when, chest, and Stephan. Say each word aloud and underline the digraph. Repeat with the word match and underline the trigraph.

APPLY | Turn, Talk, and Share Have students complete p. 49 in the Student Interactive independently.

SPELLING WORDS

LESSON 2

Teach Spell Words with Digraphs and Trigraphs

LESSON 3 Review and More Practice Spell Words with Digraphs and Trigraphs

LESSON 4 Spell Words with Long e Spelled at the End

LESSON 5 Assess Understanding

Dictation practice is included in the Student Interactive.

A Systematic Reading Progression

myView Literacy includes a large selection of decodable reading materials that align to skill development. Students are able to apply their knowledge of phonics and spelling skills to build fluency as they read texts with a large proportion of the elements that have been taught.

Engaged, Motivated Classrooms

Education is about more than reading and writing. It's also about learning to work with others and achieving your goals.

Social-Emotional Learning

myView Literacy incorporates the five pillars of social-emotional learning to ensure student success beyond the text. With daily opportunities to respectfully share ideas and expand their view of the world, students purposefully practice key strategies such as collaboration, problem-solving, and perseverance.

Inclusive and Equitable Instruction

All students deserve to feel valued, included, and engaged in their learning. Our authorship team ensured that myView Literacy builds positive images of gender roles and special populations.

Professional Learning and Program Implementation

myView Literacy is designed to give you control of your learning. We're with you every step of the way.

Outside My Door

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time.

Recognize characteristics of multimedia and digital texts.

Observe and describe weather changes from day to day and over seasons.

Essential Question

Introduce the Essential Question for Unit 5: What can we learn from the weather? Explain to students that they will read texts in the informational, poetry, and drama genres to learn about different weather that we experience. Tell them that reading texts in different genres allows them to experience different authors' points of view about the theme.

Watch the Unit Video Remind students that videos are multimedia texts. This is because videos have sound and pictures. Play the Unit 5 Video. Direct students to pay attention to what they hear and see about different kinds of weather.

TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have partners discuss the kinds of weather they learned about from the video. If students did not understand something in the video, have them ask a question and figure out the answer with their partner. Use the following questions to guide their discussions:

- What did you hear about weather in the video?
- What did you see about weather in the video?

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 8-9

ELL Targeted Support Use Prior Experiences Play the Unit 5 video. Then use the leveled supports below to help students understand its meaning.

Using visuals from the video, ask students to name each type of weather in their home language. Then say the English word for the type of weather and have students repeat. Ask students to use prior experiences to name their favorite type of weather. Provide this sentence frame: My favorite weather is ____. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have partners use prior experiences to talk about different types of weather they have seen. Ask them to talk about which type of weather is their favorite and why. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Independent Reading

Read Unfamiliar Words Read aloud pp. 10–11 in the Student Interactive. Have students interact independently with texts for increasing periods of time, reading a few more pages every day. Ask them to:

- Circle any unfamiliar words they encounter in their texts.
- Look at the letters in the word, and think about the sounds they spell.
- Look for word parts they know.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 10–11

UNIT 5
INDEPENDENT READING

Read Together

Independent Reading

When you get stuck, try these strategies:

1. Look at the letters in the word.
2. Think about the sounds the letters spell.
3. Look for word parts you know.

My Independent Reading Log

Directions Have students select a text and interact independently with it for increasing periods of time. Tell them to read a few more pages every day and to use reading strategies such as looking for word parts they know. Then have students complete the chart.

10

Directions Read aloud the information with students and discuss how they can use these strategies when they read on their own.

11

OBJECTIVE

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Point out the Spanish cognates of this unit's Academic Vocabulary words:

- effect : efecto
- prepare : preparar
- extreme : extremo

Word Wall

Display the beginning of a Word Wall of Academic Vocabulary. Add to the wall as you generate new vocabulary related to the theme during the unit.

Unit Goals

- Read to students the goals on p. 12 of the Student Interactive.
- Tell them to color the shape next to each goal while it is read.

Discuss with the class what weather is and what weather is not. Use the photographs on p. 12 as references.

My TURN Have students circle the pictures of weather that are inside the box on p. 12 in the Student Interactive.

Academic Vocabulary

Oral Vocabulary Routine Remind students that Academic Vocabulary is language used when talking about ideas. Tell students that they will learn and use these words to talk about weather as they work through the unit. Have students turn to p. 13 in the Student Interactive. Read aloud the words and discuss the meanings of the words.

Have students look at the pictures. Guide students in a discussion about what the pictures show and how they think the pictures relate to the Academic Vocabulary words.

My TURN Tell students to match the words on p. 13 to the pictures that show the meanings of the words.

EXPERT'S VIEW Elfrieda "Freddy" Hiebert, CEO/President, TextProject, Inc.

“English-Language Arts (ELA) differs from content areas in at least one important way: The topics of ELA are not specified in standards documents in the same way that they are in content areas such as science. ELA deals with numerous topics and, since topics have unique vocabulary, students need to be able to know that a unique topic has unique vocabulary.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

ELL Targeted Support Learn Academic Language Remind students that learning and using academic vocabulary is important for speaking and writing. Use the Oral Vocabulary Routine to build students' understanding of the words effect, measure, prepare, and extreme.

Using the Language Transfer note, help Spanish speakers understand the meanings of the words effect, prepare, and extreme. Have students use gestures or expressions that will help them learn the meanings. EMERGING

Help students understand the meanings of the Academic Vocabulary words by describing a word and asking students to guess the word you describe. Continue with the other words. Then ask volunteers to take turns describing one of the words for the other students to guess. DEVELOPING

Have students look at p. 13 in the Student Interactive. Have partners take turns describing the pictures, using the vocabulary words in their descriptions. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

WEEK 1 LESSON 1 READING WORKSHOP GENRE & THEME

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES
Listen actively and ask questions to understand and analyze what is heard and spoken only when appropriate.

ELL Language Transfer
Engage with the text in the student's first language to support understanding of the second language.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY
Recognize the meaning of new words and use Academic Vocabulary words in speaking and writing.

Read Aloud
Tell students that they will listen to a story. Have students listen as you read aloud "The Shaking Earth." Prompt students to be active listeners by looking at you and thinking about the meaning of the story. Encourage them to ask questions if something is not understood as you read.

START UP
READ-ALOUD ROUTINE
Purpose: Have students listen actively for the main idea, and details about the text/idea.
READ - the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.
REPEAT - the read aloud passage to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

The Shaking Earth
Have you ever felt the Earth shake? It may rumble as if an elephant is stomping. That shaking you feel is not an elephant. It may be an earthquake.
Earthquakes can happen anytime, day or night. They also can happen anywhere in the world. In fact, about half a million earthquakes happen every year.
Parts of the Earth deep underground, called plates, move constantly. These plates move so slowly that we cannot feel the Earth moving. Earthquakes happen when the plates bump against each other. Most earthquakes are so small that people don't even notice them.
The plates can slam against each other with more force. The ground shakes. People can feel the Earth move.

READ ALOUD
"The Shaking Earth"

READ ALOUD TRADE BOOK LIBRARY

Interactive Read Aloud

Fiction Lesson Plan

SWF
Interactive Read Aloud
• Engage students to think about their independent reading level.
• Develop students' comprehension.
• Provide an opportunity to model fluency and expressive reading.
• Foster a love and enjoyment of reading.

PLANNING
• Select a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
• Identify the big idea of the story.
• Determine the Teaching Point.
• Write open-ended questions and model Think Alouds on sticky notes and place them at the points where you plan to stop to think aloud.
• Check the vocabulary essential for understanding.

BEFORE READING
• Show the cover of the book to introduce the title, author, illustrator, and genre.
• Discuss the title and cover of the book.
• Explain your knowledge and your essential background necessary for understanding.
• Discuss the vocabulary essential for understanding.

DURING READING
• You can choose to do a first reading so students get the gist of the story and apply Think Alouds and open-ended questioning to a second read of the text.
• Read with expression to draw in listeners.
• Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
• Use Think Alouds to model strategies skilled readers use to monitor comprehension and construct meaning from text.
• Have students open-comprehension to test their understanding. Note they have read the text on the page or the words.

AFTER READING
• Summarize and ask students to share thoughts about the story.
• Student answer comprehension by writing the main or big idea of the story.
• Create and assign a Student Response Form available on Readaloud.com

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend syllables to form multisyllabic words.

Segment multisyllabic words into syllables.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Picture Cards

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T36 for a consonants c and t extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that syllables are the chunks we can hear in words and today they will break apart and put together syllables. Say: Watch how I break apart and put together a word. Display a picture of a flashlight that is cut into two pieces. Hold the pieces close together. Say: My word is flashlight. As you say the word, run a finger under the two parts to show that they are connected. Say: Watch now as I break the word apart, or segment the syllables. Pull the pieces of the picture apart as you say: flash (pause) light. Now, I will blend the word back together again. Hold the pieces back together and say: flashlight. Have students segment and blend the word as you separate and hold together the picture pieces.

PRACTICE Continue with other words such as catfish, football, and sunshine. Provide pairs of students with a picture of the word that has been cut into two equal parts. Have pairs put the pieces together and say the word, pull the pieces apart and segment the word, and then put the pieces back together and blend the word.

Phonics: Review Words for Cc, Tt

Minilesson

FOCUS Display Picture Card cap. What letter spells the sound /k/ at the beginning of cap? Turn the card over to confirm that the letter c spells the sound /k/ in cap. Have students tell you the letters that are in the word cap. Now let's practice reading other words with the sound /k/ spelled c. Write the words cot, cone, cute, and can on the board. Circle the c in each word. Have students read the list. Continue the activity with the letter Tt. Use the tub Picture Card and write the words tube, tag, take, and tap on the board.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Continue the routine with these words: case, cut, tape, ten.

APPLY My TURN Have students look at p. 16 in the Student Interactive. Have students read the words in the bank. Then have them read the words at the top of each column. What are the beginning letters? Students should say c and t. Have students write each word from the word bank in the column with the word that begins with the same letter. Then have them read the words again.

ELL Targeted Support Distinguish Sounds Help students identify the sounds /k/ and /t/ through listening activities.

Provide students with ample opportunity to identify the sounds /k/ and /t/. Say the following words: table, car, camp, tape. Have students work in pairs to identify whether the word begins with the sound /k/ or /t/. EMERGING

Provide examples of words that have the sounds /k/ and /t/: take, cake, tar, car, cape, tape. Have students say each word and identify whether it begins with the sound /k/ or /t/. Have them tell you one more word that begins with the sound /k/ or /t/. DEVELOPING

Have students say their own words with the sounds /k/ and /t/ to a partner. The partner tells whether the words begin with the sound /k/ or /t/. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Display the high-frequency words be, saw, and our, and read them aloud.

- Point to each word and have students read it.
- Point to each word and have students spell it. Then have them read each word again.

Interact with Sources

OBJECTIVES

Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

Recognize characteristics of multimedia and digital texts.

Create and interpret visuals, including pictures and maps.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates As you discuss the infographic, point out the Spanish cognates for Spanish speakers.

- Web site : sitio web
- computer : computadora

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Language of Ideas The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas. Ask: How do we measure the temperature? How do you prepare for bad weather? What are some examples of extreme weather?

- measure
- prepare
- extreme
- effect

Songs and Poems Big Book

See the Songs and Poems Big Book for selections that relate to the unit's theme.

Explore the Web Site

Remind students of the Unit 5 Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather? Then introduce them to the Weekly Question: How have people learned to live in bad weather? Tell students that over the week they will read about different ways that people have learned to live in bad weather.

Have students turn to p. 14 of the Student Interactive. Read aloud the heading. Engage students in the topic by asking them what today's weather is like. Ask: Do you think the weather is the same everywhere in the country? Guide students to recognize that the weather can be different in different places.

Direct students' attention to p. 14 and guide them in recognizing the characteristics of a Web site.

- Point out that this is a page from a Web site, which is a digital text.
- Tell students that Web sites can be viewed on a computer, tablet, or phone.
- Say: Raise your hand if you have ever seen a Web site. What do you see on the Web site on these pages?

Have students look at the Web site as you read aloud the text and labels. Ask students to point to the address bar at the top and the search bar. Then have students tell about other parts of the Web site they see on these pages.

TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students discuss with a partner the characteristics of the Web site and what they can learn from the various parts of the digital text.

WEEKLY QUESTION Read aloud the Week 1 Question: How have people learned to live in bad weather? Ask students to share some ideas about what they do when the weather is bad, such as stay inside, carry an umbrella, or dress appropriately. Explain that they will be learning more this week about how people have learned to deal with bad weather.

ELL Targeted Support Understand Environmental Print Show students a weather Web site with the local weather forecast. Help students derive meaning from environmental print as they look at the Web site. Point out important words, such as the city name, weather words, and days of the week.

Ask questions about the information on the Web site, such as What place does this tell about? Have volunteers point to the word on the Web site that answers your question. EMERGING

Ask basic questions about the information on the Web site that require yes/no or one-word answers: What place does this tell about? Will it be sunny tomorrow? DEVELOPING

Pair students and have them use the weather Web site to describe what the weather will be like in your area. Provide sentence frames as needed. EXPANDING

Have partners take turns asking and answering questions about the weather using the Web site. BRIDGING

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word answers.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Point out these Spanish cognates in the Read Aloud.

- elephants : elefantes
- force : fuera

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Provide examples of how to use the unit Academic Vocabulary words as you discuss the passage. For example, say:

- An earthquake is an effect of the Earth's plates bumping into each other.
- People can prepare for an earthquake or other emergency by making sure they know what to do.
- Scientists measure earthquakes to find out how strong they are.

 THINK ALOUD Analyze Informational Text After you reread the first paragraph, say: I see from the title and first paragraph that this text is about earthquakes. The main idea is that the shaking Earth may be an earthquake. I will listen for important details about earthquakes.

Read Aloud

Tell students that they will listen to a story. Have students listen as you read aloud “The Shaking Earth.” Prompt students to be active listeners by looking at you and thinking about the meaning of the story. Encourage them to seek clarification if something is not understood as you read.

START-UP

READ-ALOUD ROUTINE

Purpose Have students listen actively for the main idea, and details about the main idea.

READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.

REREAD the text aloud, pausing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

The Shaking Earth

Have you ever felt the Earth shake? It may rumble as if an elephant is stomping. That shaking you feel is not an elephant. It may be an earthquake.

Earthquakes can happen anytime, day or night. They also can happen anywhere in the world. In fact, about half a million earthquakes happen every year.

Parts of the Earth deep underground, called plates, move constantly. These plates move so slowly that we cannot feel the Earth moving. Earthquakes happen when the plates bump against each other. Most earthquakes are so small that people don't even notice them.

The plates can slam against each other with more force. The ground shakes. People can feel the Earth move.

Scientists study earthquakes. Scientists have learned a lot about earthquakes, but people still cannot tell exactly when an earthquake will happen.

It can be scary to feel the ground move under your feet, but most earthquakes last just a few seconds to a few minutes. Most people will never feel an earthquake. In places where earthquakes are common, people are prepared. They have emergency kits and practice what to do in an emergency. Being prepared keeps people safe.

THINK ALOUD Analyze Details After you reread the third and fourth paragraphs on the previous page, say: This is an important detail. The author is telling us why we can sometimes feel an earthquake and how an earthquake is different from the usual movement of the Earth.

WRAP-UP

INTERACTIVE WHITEBOARD

The Shaking Earth

MAIN IDEA: An earthquake is the shaking of the Earth.

Use the chart to help students identify details that support the main idea.

IMPORTANT DETAILS

The Earth moves all the time.

ELL Targeted Support Understand Meaning Read aloud “The Shaking Earth” twice.

As you read, have student volunteers summarize the meaning of the text. Then have them act out what you are reading with gestures and movements. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Stop after each paragraph and have a volunteer paraphrase.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Conduct an interactive read aloud of a full-length trade book.

- Choose a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
- Select an INTERACTIVE Read Aloud Lesson Plan Guide and Student Response available on SavvasRealize.com.
- Preview the book you select for appropriateness for your students.

SPOTLIGHT ON GENRE

Informational Text

LEARNING GOAL

I can read informational text.

OBJECTIVE

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

LANGUAGE OF THE GENRE

As you review the Anchor Chart, check that students understand main idea and details in an informational text.

- What is a main idea?
- What are details?

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Encourage Spanish speakers to apply knowledge of their native language as you discuss the elements of informational text.

- idea : idea
- information : información
- detail : detalle
- example : ejemplo

FLEXIBLE OPTION
ANCHOR CHARTS

Start an informational text anchor chart or continue one from a previous unit.

- Include the main idea of Weather Around the World.
- Include key details that support this main idea.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that an informational text has a main, or central, idea. There are facts and details that support, or tell more about, the main idea. Share these strategies for determining main idea and details:

- Read the title. Does it tell you what the text is about?
- Look at the pictures. What do they show?
- Read the text. What does the author want you to know?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read aloud the text on p. 26 of the Student Interactive. Help students recognize the connection between the detail and the main idea: The fact that adobe homes are made of mud is a detail. It tells one reason that adobe homes are special. Other details in the text will tell other reasons. Details support the main idea in an informational text.

ELL Targeted Support Background Knowledge Creating a deeper understanding of homes will support students in understanding details that support the text's main idea that homes are special.

Provide pictures of different kinds of homes. Include the homes shown in the text (such as an adobe house, an igloo, a tent, etc.) as well as more familiar types of homes in your community. Show each picture and say the word. Have students repeat the word after you. EMERGING

Ask students to tell you details about their home that could support the main idea, homes are special. Do you live in a house or an apartment? What is your home made of? DEVELOPING

Partner students and ask them to discuss details about where they live and why it is special. Then have each student introduce his or her partner to the rest of the group and tell about his or her partner's home. _____ lives in a _____ EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Apply

Have students use the strategies to identify characteristics of informational text.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn and talk with a partner about what they learned about adobe homes. Then have volunteers share their ideas with the class.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students identify the main idea and details in informational text during independent reading. Ask them to use sticky notes of one color to identify the main idea and sticky notes of another color to mark supporting details.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students identify characteristics of an informational text?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for informational text in Small Group on pp. T30–T31.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for informational text in Small Group on pp. T30–T31.

GENRE: INFORMATIONAL TEXT Read Together READING WORKSHOP

My Learning Goal I can read informational text.

SPOTLIGHT ON GENRE

Informational Text

Informational text uses details in words and pictures to tell about a main, or central, idea.

Main Idea — Adobe homes are special.

Detail — They are made of mud.

TURN and TALK Talk about details you learned about adobe homes.

Directions Read the genre information and model text to students. Have them find the characteristics of informational text, such as the main idea and supporting details in the text and graphic. Then have partners discuss what they learned about adobe homes from the model text.

Academic Vocabulary

LEARNING GOAL

I can use words to tell about informational text.

OBJECTIVE

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

ELL Access

In order to teach word parts in English, demonstrate the words using actions. Write happy on the board. Have a student demonstrate being happy. Then write unhappy on the board. Have a student demonstrate being unhappy. Continue with tie, untie.

Related Words

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that word parts can be added to words to make new words.

- Word parts can be added to the beginning of words. For example, un- can be added to some words to mean “not.”
- Word parts can be added to the end of words. For example, -ed can be added to some verbs to mean something that already happened.
- Look at a word. Can you find a word within the word?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the word happy on the board. I can add the word part un- to the beginning of this word to make a new word. Unhappy means “not happy.” Knowing related words can help readers figure out the meaning of new words. Read the words on p. 43 of the Student Interactive with students and discuss their meanings. Point out the words prepared and unprepared. Ask what word parts have been added to the word prepare.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Numerals 3 and 4

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to practice writing the numerals 3 and 4. Point to the first numeral on the classroom number line and count chorally until you reach the number 3 and then 4.

MODEL Model writing the numeral 3. Have students practice writing the numeral 3 in the air with their finger. Repeat with the numeral 4.

To support the instruction in this week's minilessons, use these prompts.

Identify Informational Text

- What is the title?
- What pictures are on the cover? What do they tell you about what the text will be about?
- What does the author want you to know?
- How do the pictures and text help you know what the text is about?

Develop Vocabulary

- Which words are important for you to understand the text?
- How do the photographs and illustrations help you know what a word means?
- What does the word ____ tell about the main idea of the text?
- Why would an author use this word?

Connect Text and Illustrations

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

Teaching Point Today I want to talk about informational text. As we have learned, informational texts have one big, or main, idea. The details in the text tell about the big idea. Review the anchor chart on p. 27 of the Student Interactive. Then model using the text on p. 26 to identify the main idea and detail.

ELL Targeted Support

Read aloud an informational text with students. Have students draw a picture of the main, or big, idea. EMERGING

Have students use the informational text to answer the following questions in a notebook: Is this an informational text? Does it tell facts or a made-up story? What is the main idea of this text? DEVELOPING

Have students take notes on why the text you show them is an informational text. Ask: What is this book mostly about? What details in the text support the main, or big, idea? EXPANDING

Have students take notes on the main idea and details of the informational text. Then have them compare notes with a partner. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

NONFICTION TEXTS

Use Lesson 46 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on recognizing the characteristics of informational text.

LEVEL A • READ

Lesson 46 Genre: Nonfiction Texts

DIRECTIONS Follow along as your teacher reads aloud "Why Cats Are the Best Pets." Think about why the author wrote this text.

Why Cats Are the Best Pets

I think cats are the best pets. Let me tell you why.

First, cats like to snuggle. My cat is so soft!

Cats are also fun to play with. It is funny just to see them play too.

Cats do not eat too much. So it does not cost a lot to have a cat. Please think about getting a cat. Many cats need a safe place to live.

Now you see why cats are such good pets. If you want a pet, I say get a cat like mine!

per conference

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to look back at their sticky notes and tell you the main idea of their informational text. Then have them tell a detail about the main idea.

Possible Conference Prompts

- How do you know this is an informational text?
- What is the title? Does the title help you know about the main idea?
- What is one detail that you found interesting?
- What did you see in the pictures? How did the pictures help you understand the main idea?

Possible Teaching Point Readers can get clues about whether or not a text is informational by looking at the cover, the title, and the pictures.

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T28–T29.
- For instructional support on how to identify informational texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite students to share an informational text they have read or heard. Prompt them to share the main idea, or what the book is mostly about, and something interesting that they learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book.
- read and listen to a previously read leveled reader.
- begin reading their Book Club text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw about their reading in a reading notebook.
- play the myView games.
- use an anchor chart like the one on Student Interactive p. 29 to draw pictures showing the main idea and one detail of an informational book they are reading.

BOOK CLUB

- ideas about launching Book Club.
- suggested texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.
- support for group collaboration.
- facilitating use of the trade book Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Spell common high-frequency words.

Picture Cards

ELL Language Transfer

The short o in English is similar to the sound of the letter a in Spanish, and this may be reflected in the way Spanish speakers spell short o words (tap for top). Provide additional practice with the pronunciation and spelling of short o words.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T37 for a short o extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonics: Review Words for Short and Long o

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the fox Picture Card. This is a picture of a fox. Listen to the sounds in the word: /f/ /o/ /ks/. I hear the sound /o/ in the middle of fox. Say the sound /o/ with me. Turn the card over. Remind students that the sound /o/ is spelled o.

Hold up the nose Picture Card. This is a picture of a nose. Listen to the sounds in the word: /n/ /ō/ /z/. I hear the sound /ō/ in the middle of nose. Say the sound /ō/ with me. Turn the card over. Remind students that the sound /ō/ is spelled o_e.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display the letter o and the vowel pattern o_e. Point to the letter o and the pattern o_e. Listen carefully to the following words: tone, top. What sound is in the middle of each word? Listen again: tone, top. Have a volunteer identify the sound in the middle of each word.

Have students turn to p. 17 in the Student Interactive. Listen carefully as I say the sounds: /o/ /o/ /o/; /ō/ /ō/ /ō/. Now let's look at the first picture and read the sentence. What word finishes the sentence? Let's circle the word. Guide students as they circle robe. Have students tell you the vowel sound in robe and how it is spelled. (/ō/; o_e)

ELL Targeted Support English Sounds Tell students that it is important they know how to distinguish between vowel sounds.

Say the words pat, pot, cab, cob, and mad. Have students repeat each word after you until they correctly pronounce the sounds for /a/ and /o/ in English. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Say the words cot, tone, tote, jot, and cone. Have them distinguish if the sound in each word is long o or short o. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Introduce the Text

Hold a book right side up, turn pages correctly, and know that reading moves from top to bottom and left to right with return sweep.

Use illustrations and texts to learn or clarify word meanings.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including titles and simple graphics to gain information.

ELL Language Transfer

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

Preview Vocabulary

- Tell students that before you read, you will look at some of the words they will see in the text. Introduce the words weather, rainy, windy, and snow on p. 30 of the Student Interactive.
- Have students share what they already know about the words. Have students use the vocabulary to tell about today's weather.
- Suggest that students look for these words as you read.

Print Awareness

Hold up a book. Point out that there is a correct way to hold and read a book. Say: When we read, we begin at the beginning of the book—on the page that follows the front cover. We begin the page at the top, on the left. Show students where they would begin to read. Check understanding by asking students to open their Student Interactive and point on the page where they would begin reading. Ask: What do we do when we get to the end of this line? Guide students to help them understand how to read from top to bottom and from left to right with return sweep.

Read

Discuss the First Read Strategies. Have students establish a purpose for reading by telling you why they want to read this text. For example, they can read to learn about what the weather is like in other places.

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. Try to focus on what the text is about.

LOOK Look at the pictures to help understand the text.

ASK Ask questions about difficult or unknown words and phrases.

TALK Guide students to talk to a partner about the text.

Students may read independently, in pairs, or as a class. Use the First Read notes to help them connect with the text and guide their understanding.

ELL Targeted Support Internalize New Vocabulary Provide support to help students comprehend new vocabulary words.

Write each word on an index card. Distribute the cards and have students read aloud each word and then draw a picture of the word on the other side. Hang the index cards from the ceiling to create a display of the words. EMERGING

Display sentences from the text with the vocabulary words. Have students read and identify the vocabulary words and draw a picture for each word. DEVELOPING

Have partners use one of the vocabulary words in a written sentence and draw a picture to illustrate the sentence. Then have students read aloud their sentences to the rest of the group. EXPANDING

Have students use the vocabulary words in written sentences. Then have partners read each other's sentences and identify the vocabulary words. Ask them to draw a picture for each vocabulary word. BRIDGING

Ask

THINK ALOUD I read the phrase extreme weather, but I don't know what it means. What can I do? I am going to look closely at the text to see if I can figure it out. The text says some places are very cold and some places are very hot. The next page talks about very rainy and windy places. From this, I can tell that extreme weather is weather that is very difficult to live in.

Consonants Cc and Tt

Have students identify the word on p. 30 that begins with the sound /k/ spelled c (cold) and the word that ends with the sound /t/ spelled t (hot).

Possible Teaching Point

Academic Vocabulary | Related Words

Remind students that endings can be added to words to make new words. Show students the word rain within rainy on p. 31. Explain that the letter -y can be added to a word to mean "with a lot of." So a place that is rainy is a place with a lot of rain. Challenge students to find the other word ending in -y on this page (windy) and the word within it (wind). Ask them how wind and windy are related.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Capitalization

Use the lesson on p. T301 to teach about capitalization. Then ask students to find words with capital letters on p. 33. (In, People, The) Ask why the words begin with capital letters. (They begin sentences.)

First Read

Look

 THINK ALOUD The text on p. 35 is about Antarctica. It says Antarctica is very windy. I can look at the picture to learn more about Antarctica. From the snow in the picture, I can tell that Antarctica is very cold.

Foundational Skills Extension

High-Frequency Words

Have students find and point to the high-frequency word be on p. 34.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Social Studies

Show students where Antarctica is on a map or globe. Point out that Antarctica is the continent farthest to the south. Antarctica is the coldest, windiest, and driest continent on Earth. About 98 percent of Antarctica is covered in ice.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 36-37

Around the world, people find ways to live with extreme weather.

36

Choose a place you just read about. What would you do to be able to live there?

37

Possible Teaching Point

Read Like a Writer | Analyze an Author's Use of Photos

Explain that authors choose photographs and illustrations carefully. Say: There is a saying that a picture tells a thousand words. This means that an author can tell in just one picture what would take a thousand words to describe. That's a lot of words. For this reason, authors choose photos very carefully. Ask: What do you see when you look at these photographs? How do they help show that people in different parts of the world live with extreme weather? Encourage students to describe what they learn from each photo individually. Guide them to recognize that the photos work together to show the ways people deal with different types of weather.

Close Read

Make Inferences

Remind students that readers make inferences using their own knowledge and experiences to understand text or pictures. Read aloud the Close Read question on p. 35 and have students highlight the words that help them know the answer. Discuss how they could use their own knowledge and experiences to respond and how the text helped them understand the answer to the question. DOK 2

OBJECTIVES

Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding with adult assistance.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Respond and Analyze

OBJECTIVES

Describe the relationship between illustrations and the text in which they appear.

Make and confirm predictions using text features and structures with adult assistance.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

My View

Use these suggestions to prompt students' initial responses to Weather Around the World.

- Talk Talk with a partner about what you learned from the text. What was the text mostly about?
- Illustrate Draw one of the places you read about. Share your drawing with a partner.

Develop Vocabulary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students: The author of Weather Around the World chose certain words to tell about the weather.

- Read the word.
- Think about the meaning of the word. Use the pictures to help you visualize what the word means.
- Ask yourself questions, such as: Why did the author choose this word? What does it tell about the main idea?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 38 in the Student Interactive. Model a Think Aloud for how you might draw snow. Snow is white. Snow happens when it is very cold. When a lot of snow falls, it covers the grass. It usually snows in the winter when trees have no leaves. I would draw a picture to show the word snow with all white on the ground, trees without leaves, and maybe some snowflakes in the air. Read aloud the two words in the chart and ask students to draw pictures showing their meaning.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for developing vocabulary.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students practice developing vocabulary by completing p. 38 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students use sticky notes to mark new vocabulary words they find in books that they read independently. Ask them to share how they determine the meaning of new words.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Are students able to identify and use new vocabulary words?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for developing vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T44–T45.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for developing vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T44–T45.

Check for Understanding My TURN Have students complete the Check for Understanding on p. 39 of the Student Interactive.

Directions Read the vocabulary words aloud to students. Have them draw a picture to show the meaning of each word. Then have them write a sentence with one of the words.

39

Directions Read aloud the questions and have students write their responses. Then ask students to discuss their answer to question 1 and use it to confirm the prediction they made before reading.

Independent/Collaborative

Word Work Activity

BUILD WORDS WITH LETTER TILES

Distribute Letter Tiles to students. Have students build words that have the sounds /o/ and /ō/. Example words include dot, dome, mod, mode, Tom.

Students can also play the Letter Tile game in the myView games at SavvasRealize.com.

Decodable Book

DRIPS AND DROPS

Students can read the Decodable Book Drips and Drops to practice reading words with sound-spellings they have learned and high-frequency words.

Pair students for reading, and listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode. One student begins. Students read the entire story, switching readers after each page. Partners reread the story. This time the other student begins.

High-Frequency Words

Have students create their own high-frequency word cards on index cards and practice reading them with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you that authors can choose words to tell what things look like. Readers can use pictures to help them better understand what these words mean. Guide students to draw a picture that shows what snow is.

ELL Targeted Support

Display the word snow. Then guide students to write the word and draw a picture showing what snow looks like. EMERGING

Have students write the word snow and draw a picture that shows what it looks like. Then ask them to draw a picture that represents either the word rainy or windy. Prompt students to look back at pictures in the text to help them. DEVELOPING

Have students talk about the meaning of each vocabulary word (weather, rainy, windy, snow) with a partner. Then prompt pairs to come up with another word related to one or more of the vocabulary words that they can picture in their mind. Have them look through words and pictures in the text to help them with ideas. Then ask students to draw a picture of the new vocabulary word. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

PLAY AT HOME

Have students reread the Decodable Book Play at Home. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Model reading with expression. Then have students choose a page from their Decodable Book. Ask pairs to take turns reading the passage. If they struggle over a word, ask them to go back until they can read without stopping.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share one of the words they marked in their independent reading texts. Ask what the word means and why they thought it was important.

Possible Conference Prompts

- How did you find out the meaning of the word?
- How did the pictures help you know the meaning of the word?

Possible Teaching Point Readers can look at the pictures in a text or look for other words, called context clues, that tell a word's meaning.

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T28–T29.
- For instructional support on how to develop vocabulary, see Leveled Reader Teacher's Guide.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to Weather Around the World or another informational text that they have previously read.
- read a self-selected trade book or the Book Club text.
- read a text with a partner, coaching each other as they read the book.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- work with a partner to discuss the questions on p. 39 in the Student Interactive.
- play the myView games.
- work with a partner to choose a passage from the text and read it with appropriate expression.

SUPPORT COLLABORATION

Students will need to practice collaboration throughout the unit. See Speaking and Listening in the Resource Download Center.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students' specific instructional needs.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite students to share new words they found in texts that they are reading. Encourage them to tell what these words mean.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Manipulate syllables within a multisyllabic word.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Picture Card

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice, have students complete Phonics p. 251 from the Resource Download Center.

Phonics, p. 251

Phonological Awareness: Manipulate Syllables

MODEL Display the playground Picture Card. This is a picture of a playground. Listen carefully as I count the syllables: play (clap) ground (clap). How many times did I clap? Students should say two. How many syllables are in playground? Students should say two. Say: If I take away the second syllable, ground, what word do I have left? Students should say play. Say: If I take away the first syllable, play, what word do I have left? Students should say ground.

PRACTICE Have students listen to the syllables in the words cupcake, backpack, and starfish. Have students say each word, segmenting the syllables and identifying which two words make up each word. Then have them practice taking away syllables to make new words.

Phonics: Reinforce Words for Short and Long o, Cc, Tt

Minilesson

FOCUS Write the word tot on the board. This is the word tot. I can read the word: /t/ /o/ /t/, tot. What letter spells the sound /o/ in the middle of tot? What letter spells the sound /t/ at the beginning and end of tot? Write tote on the board beneath the word tot. This is the word tote. I can read the word: /t/ /ō/ /t/, tote. How do you spell the sound /ō/ in the middle of tote? How do you spell the sound /t/ at the beginning and end of tote?

Write the word cot on the board, and read it with students. Guide students to identify the sounds and spellings for the three sounds in cot.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Listen carefully to the sounds we reviewed today: /o/, /ō/, /k/, /t/. Have volunteers identify the spelling pattern for each of the sounds.

APPLY TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn to p. 18 in the Student Interactive. Listen carefully as I say the sounds: /o/ /o/ /o/; /ō/ /ō/ /ō/; /k/ /k/ /k/; /t/ /t/ /t/. Now let's look at the first sentence and read it. Have partners read the rest of the sentences on the page, giving guidance when needed.

High-Frequency Words

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue working with high-frequency words. Have students read the words at the top of p. 19 in the Student Interactive with you: be, saw, our.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words at the top of p. 19. Tell them to identify and point to each word when you say it. Say be. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say our. Say saw. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word. Have students use the words in sentences.

APPLY MyTURN Have students read the sentences on p. 19. Ask them to identify the words be, saw, and our in the sentences. Have them underline the high-frequency words in the sentences and then write one of the high-frequency words from this week on the line. Then have them read the sentences with a partner.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 18-19

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

Words for Short and Long o, Cc, Tt

 MyTURN and TALK Read

 I can walk home.

 I will spin the top.

 I open the tan box.

 I cut a hole.

18 Directions Remind students that the vowel pattern o_e can make the long o sound and the letter o can make the short o sound. Also review that the letter c can stand for /k/ and t stands for /t/. Have partners take turns reading the sentences.

My Words to Know

My Sentences to Read

 MyTURN

I saw a cat.

Can she be mine?

Possible responses: _____

be, saw, our

19 Directions Have students read the high-frequency words in the word bank. Then have them read the sentences and underline the high-frequency words. Say: Now you will write one of the words on the lines. Tell students to form the letters correctly using appropriate directionality.

Connect Text and Illustrations

OBJECTIVES

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including titles and simple graphics, to gain information.

Describe the relationship between illustrations and the text in which they appear.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the unit Academic Vocabulary words as they make connections between the text and illustrations. For example, provide sentence frames with the vocabulary words:

- An example of extreme weather is ____.
- People in deserts prepare for hot, dry weather by ____.
- People can prepare for the effects of cold weather by ____.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that readers can make connections between the words in a text and the pictures, or illustrations. The pictures can show more details about the main idea.

- What details does the picture show? How are the details the same as what is in the text?
- What does the picture, or illustration, tell about the main idea?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students that they just read an informational text about weather around the world. Point to the first picture on p. 31 of the Student Interactive. I am going to look closely at this picture and see if I can make connections between the picture and the words. I see a girl with a raincoat and an umbrella. She must live where it is rainy. Now I will read the text to see what it says. The first sentence says Some places are very rainy. I can connect this picture to the text.

Continue looking through the pages and working with students to make connections between the pictures and the text. Direct students to the Close Read notes on pp. 31 and 33. Have them underline the text that they can connect to the pictures.

EXPERT'S VIEW P. David Pearson, Professor Emeritus of Instructional Science, UC Berkeley

“Texts are not neutral. Authors always have a purpose in mind when they write, but they may not always say it directly. There is a difference between text and subtext—what the text says versus what the text means. In order to truly understand the text, you have to understand what the author is trying to do. When you can help students balance what the text says with what the text means, you will lead them naturally to deeper understanding and critical thinking.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for making connections between the text and illustrations.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Read the directions at the bottom of p. 40 in the Student Interactive. Then have students look at each picture and write the idea from the text that is shown in the picture. Remind them to go back to what they underlined in the text. Then have students discuss additional details the pictures show that are not in the text.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students use sticky notes to highlight the sentence on a page that best connects to the picture or illustration on that page.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students make connections between the text and illustrations?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for making text and illustration connections in Small Group on pp. T52–T53.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for making text and illustration connections in Small Group on pp. T52–T53.

ELL Targeted Support Describing Words Use visual and contextual support to help students comprehend the text. Have students refer to the pictures on p. 40 in the Student Interactive.

Ask students to describe with a partner the weather in each picture. Provide this sentence frame: The weather is ____. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Ask students what the weather is like in each picture and how they know. Encourage them to use complete sentences. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

OBJECTIVES

Discuss with adult assistance the author's use of print and graphic features to achieve specific purposes.

Describe the relationship between illustrations and the text in which they appear.

ELL Access

Graphic Features Explain to students that authors use photos to help readers understand the text. Page through Weather Around the World with students. Have them tell what they see. Explain what the photos tell about the text.

Graphic Features

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain that authors choose specific photos, pictures, and illustrations to help readers understand texts.

- Authors choose photos, pictures, and illustrations carefully.
- Interesting photos, pictures, and illustrations can help a reader understand the topic and learn new information.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Numerals 5 and 6

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to practice writing the numerals 5 and 6. Point to these numerals on the number line, and count chorally until you reach the number 5 and then 6.

MODEL Model writing the numeral 5. Have students practice writing the numeral 5 in the air with their finger. Repeat with the numeral 6.

ASSESS UNDERSTANDING

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

CONNECT TEXT AND ILLUSTRATIONS

Teaching Point Today I want to talk more about how to connect what you read in a text with the pictures or illustrations. Look back at the photographs in Weather Around the World and ask students what they can see in the photos. Encourage students to talk about how the pictures support details in the text.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide a word bank that students can use to describe photos: rainy, windy, snow, hot, cold. Have students describe the photos to a partner using these words. EMERGING

Invite students to generate a list of words that they might use to describe the weather, such as rainy, windy, snowy, sunny, cloudy, hot, and cold. Then have them use the word bank to write sentences about the pictures. DEVELOPING

Provide sentence frames to help students describe the pictures: I see _____. This photo shows that it is _____. EXPANDING

Have students work with a partner to talk about the pictures. Then have them share their ideas with the rest of the group. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

READING BEHAVIORS

Teaching Point Remind students that reading aloud can help them better understand a text.

Model Model reading a few pages from Weather Around the World aloud, and then have a volunteer do the same. Ask the volunteer how reading aloud helped him or her better understand the meaning of the text.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes

CONNECT TEXT AND ILLUSTRATIONS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to look back at their sticky notes and tell you about the details they learned from pictures or illustrations in a book they are reading.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What details does the picture show?
- What words in the text best describe the picture?

Possible Teaching Point Authors choose pictures to help tell the main idea and share additional details.

Leveled Readers

CONNECT TEXT AND ILLUSTRATIONS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T28–T29.
- For instructional support on how to connect text to pictures, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book.
- read and listen to a previously read leveled reader.
- begin reading their Book Club text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw about their reading in a reading notebook.
- play the myView games.
- show a partner the pictures in a text they are reading and talk about how they support the text.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Keep partners on track by giving them one or more suggested conversation prompts.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share one picture from a book they are reading and talk about how it connects to the details in the text.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Many ELL students may not understand the concept of weather changes throughout the year. Have students keep a weather tracker to keep track of changes in weather and seasons. Prompt them to write about different kinds of weather, such as rainy, snowy, sunny, and windy.

Read Tif and Cole

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 20 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story today about two children who like to play in the snow. Point to the title of the story. The title is Tif and Cole. I hear a word with the sound /ō/. Have students find and point to the word. In this story, we will read many words that have sounds you have learned.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week’s high-frequency words: be, our, saw. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story Tif and Cole. Display the words. Have students read them with you. When you see these words in the story Tif and Cole, you will know how to identify and read them.

READ Have students whisper read the story as you listen in. Then have students reread the story with a partner. Listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode words. Partners should reread the pages. This time the other student begins.

After students have read the pages, review the words with the sound /o/ they read in the sentences on pp. 20–21. Have them underline the words with the sound /o/. Have students read the words to you.

Call students' attention to the second sentence on p. 20. Which word is a high-frequency word we learned this week? Point to it. Help students identify, or say, the word be. Have students look at the sentences on p. 21. Which words include the sound /t/? Point to them. Help students identify, or say, the words Tif, let, to, and spot.

Have students turn to p. 22. I see words with the spelling for the sound /ō/. Who can tell me which words have the sound /ō/? Students should identify these words: Cole, smoke, slope. Have them highlight the words with the sound /ō/ and identify the spelling pattern for long o. Have them continue with p. 23.

Make Inferences

OBJECTIVES

Make inferences and use evidence to support understanding with adult assistance.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the unit Academic Vocabulary words to make inferences about the pictures and illustrations in Weather Around the World. Ask:

- Do you think these people are prepared for extreme weather?
- What does this picture show about the effect of dry weather?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that readers put together what they already know, what they read, and what they see in the illustrations to better understand a text. This is called making inferences.

- Think about why the author chose this picture or illustration. What is the author trying to tell you?
- Use your knowledge and experiences. What do you already know about the people, places, or things in the picture?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use the picture on p. 35 of the Student Interactive to model making inferences. Point out that you can use the picture, the text, and what you already know to make an inference. I look at the picture on page 35, and I see small buildings that are bolted to the ground with thick wires. Wires can be used to hold tents and small buildings in place. I think it could be really windy in Antarctica. The text tells me that it is windy there. I can make an inference that really cold places can be really windy. Point out and read aloud the Close Read note on p. 35. Guide students to highlight evidence in the text and pictures that help them make an inference.

ELL Targeted Support Making Inferences Provide sentence frames to help students make inferences based on the text and pictures.

I see _____. I read _____. I know _____. EMERGING

This picture shows that _____. The author says that _____. I know that this means _____. DEVELOPING

This picture shows that _____, which means _____. EXPANDING

I can make an inference about _____ that _____. BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for making inferences.

OPTION 1 My TURN Read aloud the directions on p. 41 of the Student Interactive. Then have students draw an answer to show why people in China wear hats and write evidence from the text that supports their response. Remind students to look back at what they have highlighted.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students identify pictures and text in an independent reading book that help them make an inference about the topic.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students make inferences?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for making inferences in Small Group on pp. T58–T59.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for making inferences in Small Group on pp. T58–T59.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 41

Make Inferences

MY TURN Draw and write

Drawing should show rainy weather and people wearing large hats to keep them dry.

It can be very rainy.

Directions Remind students that they can use details in the text and what they already know to make inferences. Ask: Why do people in China wear hats to help them work? Have students draw the answer to the question and write evidence from the text that supports their response. Remind students to use what they highlighted.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T57 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

MAKE INFERENCES

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you of how to make inferences when you are reading. Making an inference means filling in the gaps with what you already know about a topic. You can make inferences based on pictures and text. For instance, I might see a picture with snow. I know that snow is cold, so I can make the inference that it is winter in the part of the world where the picture was taken.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide support to help students make inferences about the text.

Have students make an inference about the text to a partner. Have them use the sentence frame: I can tell that ____. EMERGING

Have small groups look at pictures and discuss an inference they can make based on these pictures. Have groups share their ideas with the class. DEVELOPING

Have small groups look at pictures and discuss the inferences they can draw from these pictures and the text. EXPANDING

Have pairs take turns describing pictures and the text, and the inferences they can draw from them. Have them compare answers and discuss why their inferences are the same or different.

BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

DRIPS AND DROPS

Have students read the Decodable Book Drips and Drops. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have partners practice reading the Decodable Book aloud with expression.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

MAKE INFERENCES

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share the inference they made based on pictures and text in an independently read text.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What do you see in the picture?
- What do you know about the things you see in the picture?
- What does the author tell you?
- What inferences can you draw from what you see, read, and already know?

Possible Teaching Point Readers bring their knowledge and experiences to make inferences so they better understand the text.

Leveled Readers

MAKE INFERENCES

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T28–T29.
- For instructional support on how to make inferences, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite two or three students to share the inferences they made using their knowledge and a picture and text in a book they are reading.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread or listen to a text they read.
- read a trade book or their Book Club text.
- practice fluent reading with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- reread a text and create a chart listing words with short o and long o.
- play the myView games.
- take turns reading a passage with a partner.
- with a partner, look at pictures in a book and discuss inferences they make from them.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Partner reading is a good time for students to tackle unfamiliar books so that they can help each other with difficult parts.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend spoken phonemes to form one-syllable words.

Segment spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes.

Picture Cards

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional practice, have students complete My Words to Know p. 262 from the Resource Download Center.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS
Read Together

Name _____

My Words to Know

be    saw    our

MY TURN Write and read

1. Ben saw a cat on his block.

2. Could it be lost?

3. That is our pet!

Directions: Have students read the words in the word bank. Then ask them to choose a word to complete each sentence and write it on the lines. Have students read the completed sentences.

My Words to Know, p. 262

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Phonemes

MODEL Listen to this word as I segment and blend the sounds: tug, /t/ /u/ /g/, tug. How many sounds do you hear in /t/ /u/ /g/? Students should say three. What are they? Students should say the sounds /t/, /u/, /g/. Continue the activity with the words cat, big, hat, and jog.

PRACTICE Provide students with Picture Cards jam, hen, mop, and net. Guide students as they look at each picture and say the word. Then have them slowly segment and blend the phonemes.

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read sentences. The sentences we read will include sound-spellings and high-frequency words we have already learned. You will also draw pictures as you follow directions.

Write the following sentence on the board: Make a web for a bug. Let's read the sentence together: Make a web for a bug. What does it tell me to do? Yes, it tells me to make a web for a bug. Draw a simple web on the board. What did I draw on the board? Why? (a web because the sentence said to do that)

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 24 in the Student Interactive. Let's read the first sentence together: Make a bed for a cat. What does the sentence tell you to do? Yes, it tells you to make a bed for cat. Have students draw a bed for a cat in the first box.

APPLY MyTURN Guide students to finish p. 24 in the Student Interactive.

APPLY MyTURN Have students look at p. 25 in the Student Interactive. Have them read and complete the sentences.

ELL Targeted Support Seek Clarification Tell students they can ask these questions if they do not understand something and need to seek clarification:

- Would you please repeat that, and say it slowly?
- Can you tell me what the word means?

Read the sentences on p. 25 aloud. Have students ask you for clarification by using one of the two questions just introduced.

EMERGING

Read a more challenging passage to students, and have them use one or both of the questions to seek clarification about a particular part of what you read. DEVELOPING

Have students work in pairs. Have one partner read a passage to the other, and have the other ask questions to seek clarification about the meaning of the passage. Then have partners switch roles and repeat. EXPANDING

Read a grade-level appropriate text to students, and have them raise their hands and seek clarification of the text's meaning whenever they need to by formulating their own questions.

BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Remind students that high-frequency words are words that appear over and over in texts. Remind them they are learning many of the words this year, and the words will help them become better readers. Say the word our and ask students what letters spell the word. Have students

- say the letters as you write them on the board.
- say and spell the word, doing a silent cheer for each letter.
- repeat with be and saw.

Reflect and Share

OBJECTIVES

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the Academic Vocabulary words to reflect on the text and make connections to other texts, the unit theme, and the Weekly Question. For example, ask:

- What could you use to measure how much snow or rain there is?
- Why do you think people might choose to live in areas with extreme weather?
- What can people do to prepare for bad weather?

Write to Sources

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that readers can make connections between the ideas in two texts and draw pictures to represent the connections.

- Think about what you learned from each of the texts.
- Connect what you learned from one text to what you learned from the other text.
- Think about a picture you could draw that shows how the texts are connected.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model how to make a connection between Weather Around the World and another text: I learned about some of the ways people deal with extreme weather. I read another book about houses around the world. Both books told about some of the types of houses people live in because of where they live. I could draw a picture of these houses.

ELL Targeted Support Respond to Sources Have students use evidence from the text to enhance their understanding. Ask students to think about one of the places they read about.

Have students point to parts of the picture in the text to help them describe this place. EMERGING

Ask simple questions to confirm understanding of the text and pictures, such as: Is it hot or cold there? Is it rainy? Is there snow? Do people live in a house that is different from our homes? DEVELOPING

Have students describe the pictures in the text with a partner. Have them compare answers to confirm understanding. EXPANDING

Have students use the text and pictures to describe the place. Provide sentence frames as needed: The weather in ____ is ____. People who live there wear ____. BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for connecting ideas across texts.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students turn to p. 42 of the Student Interactive. Ask students to respond to sources by drawing a type of weather from Weather Around the World and a type of weather from another text.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students draw pictures that connect two independent reading texts.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students make connections across texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for making connections across texts in Small Group on pp. T64–T65.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for making connections across texts in Small Group on pp. T64–T65.

WEEKLY QUESTION Have students talk to a partner to respond to the Weekly Question: How have people learned to live in bad weather? Encourage students to share examples from the texts they have read and from their own experiences.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 42

RESPOND TO TEXT

Reflect and Share

 MY TURN Draw

Drawing should show a type of weather from Weather Around the World and a type of weather from another text.

Weekly Question

How have people learned to live in bad weather?

 Directions Tell students they read about weather in different parts of the world. Have students think about other texts they have read about weather. Say: You can respond to texts by drawing a picture that shows what you have learned. Have students respond to sources by drawing a type of weather from this text and a type of weather from another text they have read.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T63 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE TEXTS

Teaching Point You can often make a connection between different texts. Think about what you learned in Weather Around the World. We learned about taking shelter and different clothes for different types of weather. Then think of another book you have recently read where you learn about shelter or clothing. We can use this information to make a connection between the two texts.

ELL Targeted Support

Encourage students to think about how this text connects to other books they have read about people, places, or weather. Provide sentence frames.

Weather Around the World tells about _____. I also read _____. EMERGING

Weather Around the World is about _____. I also learned about that in the text _____. DEVELOPING

Both Weather Around the World and _____ talk about _____. EXPANDING

Though both texts talk about _____, Weather Around the World is different from _____ because _____. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

COMPARE TEXTS

Remind students of the texts they have read: “Weather in Our Country,” “The Shaking Earth,” and Weather Around the World. Engage students in a conversation that demonstrates how the texts they have read this week support their understanding of how people have learned to live with all kinds of weather. Encourage students to use the Academic Vocabulary words measure, extreme, prepare, and effect.

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Organize Information and Communicate Help students organize their research on weather into a format they can share with others.

Critical Thinking Talk with students about what they learned and the process they used.

See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

COMPARE TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Encourage students to talk about how another informational text connects to Weather Around the World.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What did you learn from the texts?
- How are the texts connected?
- Draw a picture connecting the texts and explain how it connects the texts.

Possible Teaching Point Readers of informational texts can make connections between texts they have read to better understand a subject.

Leveled Readers

COMPARE TEXTS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T28–T29.
- For instructional support on how to compare texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share connections they made between Weather Around the World and another text they read.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread the Web site “Weather in Our Country” and talk about it with a partner.
- read a self-selected text.
- reread or listen to their leveled reader.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw in their notebooks in response to the Weekly Question.
- work in pairs to learn more about one of the types of extreme weather in the text.
- play the myView games.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T442–T447, for

- teacher’s summary of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.
- talking points to share with students.
- collaboration prompts and conversation starters.
- suggestions for incorporating the Discussion Chart.
- alternate texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify syllables in spoken words.

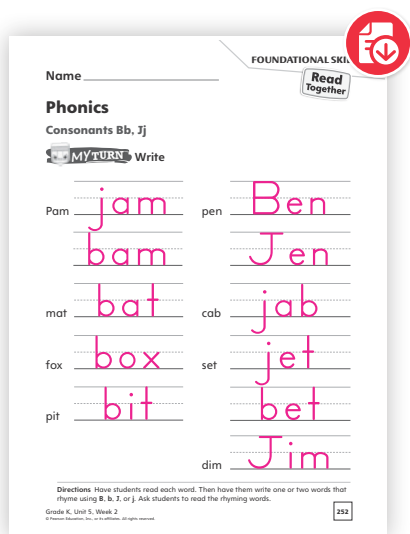

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Picture Cards

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional practice, have students complete Phonics p. 252 from the Resource Download Center.

Phonics, p. 252

Phonological Awareness: Identify and Count Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they are going to talk more about syllables. Listen carefully as I say this word: honey. How many syllables are in the word hon (clap) ey (clap)? Yes, there are two. What is the first syllable in honey? Students should say hon. What is the second syllable in honey? Students should say ey.

Listen carefully as I say this word: pepper. How many syllables are in pep (clap) per (clap)? Yes, there are two. What is the first syllable in pepper? Students should say pep. What is the second syllable in pepper? Students should say per.

PRACTICE Say the following words: picture, machine, shampoo, handbag. Then call on volunteers to clap, count, and identify the syllables in each word.

Phonics: Review Words for Bb, Jj

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the bag Picture Card. What sound do you hear at the beginning of bag? Have students identify /b/. The letter b spells the sound /b/ in bag. Turn the card over and read the word bag with students. Have students tell you the letters that are in the word bag. Now let's practice reading more words with the sound /b/ spelled b. Write the words bone, bat, Bob, and ban on the board. These words have the sound /b/ spelled b. Read the words several times with students. Invite volunteers to circle the b in each word. Repeat the activity for the letters Jj. Use the jam Picture Card and the words jet, June, Jen, Jack, and job.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 52 in the Student Interactive. Read the first sentence with students. What does the first picture show? Students should say bat. What letter is missing from the word in the sentence? Students should say b. Have students write the word bat on the line. Then have them read the sentence again.

APPLY MyTURN Have students finish p. 52 in the Student Interactive.

ELL Targeted Support Syllable Puzzles Explain that learning syllables is important for correct pronunciation. Tell students that the number of beats in a word indicates the number of syllables.

Provide multisyllabic word puzzles. For example, for the word water, cut a picture of water into two pieces, one for each syllable. Label the back of each piece with a 1, 2, or 3 to indicate the syllables' order. Possible pictures to use: starfish, rabbit, table, apple.

Scramble and distribute puzzle pieces at random. Tell students to find the classmate with the piece that goes with theirs. Help them say the syllables while the other students clap and count. Then guide students to put their puzzle together and say the word. EMERGING

Scramble and distribute puzzle pieces at random. Tell students to work with a partner to put their puzzle pieces together. Then have partners say the word and use it in a sentence. DEVELOPING

Have students create their own one-, two-, or three-syllable puzzle pieces by finding pictures and cutting them apart. Then scramble and distribute the pieces, and have students put the puzzles together. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Display the high-frequency words eat, soon, and walk, and read them aloud.

- Have students point to the word eat and read it.
- Repeat for soon and walk.

Interact with Sources

OBJECTIVES

Identify new meanings for familiar words and apply them accurately.

Identify parts of plants such as roots, stem, and leaves and parts of animals such as head, eyes, and limbs.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Language of Ideas The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas. Ask: What is the extreme desert weather like? What is the effect of the weather on the environment?

- measure
- extreme
- prepare
- effect

Songs and Poems Big Book

See the Songs and Poems Big Book for selections that relate to the unit's theme.

Explore the Infographic

Remind students of the Unit 5 Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather? Then draw their attention to the Weekly Question: What helps plants live in hot climates? Tell them that this week they will learn about how different plants deal with different kinds of weather, such as heat.

Have students follow along as you point to the pictures of the cactuses on pp. 50–51 of the Student Interactive. Explain that plants have developed ways to live in hot climates. Tell students that cacti have thick stems that hold water. Their roots also take in water quickly when it rains. Then read the infographic, “Living in the Desert.”

Use the following prompts to guide discussion:

- Ask students to look at the background picture and tell what they see.
- Have students describe what a desert is like.
- Tell students to explain how plants can live in hot climates, such as a desert.

Encourage students to ask questions about the infographic to clarify anything they do not understand.

MyTURN Have students interact with sources by using the pictures and text on pp. 50–51 to write one thing that helps a cactus live in the desert.

WEEKLY QUESTION Point out the Week 2 Question: What helps plants live in hot climates? Tell students that they just learned about two ways that plants are able to live in hot climates. Desert plants have thick stems that hold water and roots that are able to take in water quickly when it rains. Explain that this week students will learn more about how plants live in hot climates.

EXPERT'S VIEW Ernest Morrell, University of Notre Dame

“All kids want to succeed. They come to school wanting to be successful. When kids say ‘This is boring’ or ‘I don’t like this,’ they are saying that they don’t like the way it makes them feel or that they think they are going to fail. If students become disengaged, we need to find out what has happened to make their confidence wane and work with students to increase their confidence in themselves and their ability to learn.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based practices.

ELL Targeted Support Internalize Language Help students internalize English language, or vocabulary, by retelling basic information.

Ask students to draw a picture of a desert. Have them share their pictures with the class, and help them internalize the English word desert by repeating after you multiple times. EMERGING

Have students draw a picture of a desert. Then work with students to internalize English by orally completing the following sentence: The picture shows ____. Have students show their pictures. Then ask them to retell the basic information of what their pictures show. DEVELOPING

Have students draw a picture of a desert. Encourage them to internalize English language by describing their pictures in their own words and then retelling this description. EXPANDING

Have students find partners and tell each other what they mentally picture for the word desert. Then have students retell their partner's description to the whole class. BRIDGING

WEEKLY LAUNCH: INFOGRAPHIC

Read Together

Living in the Desert

A desert is very hot and dry.
How do cactuses grow there?

They have thick stems that store water.

Their roots take in water quickly when it rains.

Weekly Question WEEK 2
What helps plants live in hot climates?

MY TURN Write
Possible response:
It has roots that help it get water.

Directions Read the text and have students look at the pictures. Then have them interact with the source by using the information they learned to write an answer to the following question: What helps a cactus live in the desert?

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word responses.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Point out the Spanish cognates in the Read Aloud.

- plants : plantas
- equator : ecuador
- animals : animales
- different : diferente
- interesting : interesante
- air : aire

THINK ALOUD Analyze Informational Text When I read, it helps to think about the facts in the text. For example, the sentence Most rainforests are found near the equator where it is hot tells me two facts. The first fact is that rainforests are found near the equator. The second fact is that it is hot near the equator.

Read Aloud

Tell students that they will listen to an informational text. Informational text provides facts about things in our world. Have students listen as you read aloud the text, “Life in the Rainforest.” Encourage students to be active listeners by looking at you and thinking about what you are saying as you read aloud.

START-UP

READ-ALOUD ROUTINE

Purpose Have students listen actively for elements of informational text, such as factual information.

READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.

REREAD the text aloud, pausing to model the Think Aloud strategies related to informational text.

Life in the Rainforest

Rainforests are found all over the world. Rainforests are full of thousands of kinds of plants—so many that it can be hard to move around!

Most rainforests are found near the equator where it is hot. It rains a lot in the rainforest. The rain provides the water that plants need to grow.

Many different kinds of plants grow in rainforests. Some are very interesting, such as trees that only grow on other trees. Many plants are poisonous, which protects them from being eaten by animals. Some can give you a rash if you walk too close to them.

Plants usually need plenty of soil to grow. However, since there is so much water in the air in rainforests, some plants can grow without soil. They hang from the trees, and their roots soak up water from the air instead of the ground. The rainforest is an interesting and sometimes dangerous place.

THINK ALOUD Analyze Informational Text When I read, I try to notice the factual information in the text. Noticing the factual information helps me better understand what I read. In this text, I learned that plants in a rainforest need a lot of water to live.

WRAP-UP

Life in the Rainforest

1. Rainforests are found near the equator, where it is hot.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.

Use the chart to help students identify factual information in the text.

ELL Targeted Support Understanding Meaning Discuss with students the meaning of the Read Aloud text and help them to understand what life in the rainforest is like.

Show students photos of a rainforest and help them to complete sentence frames: *I see _____. Rainforests have _____. Rainforests are _____. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Ask students to work in groups to discuss what they learned about rainforests from listening to the Read Aloud. Then have students use books or magazines to continue the discussion. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FLEXIBLE OPTION INTERACTIVE Trade Book Read Aloud

Conduct an interactive read aloud of a full-length trade book.

- Choose a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
- Select an INTERACTIVE Read Aloud Lesson Plan Guide and Student Response available on SavvasRealize.com.
- Preview the book you select for appropriateness for your students.

SPOTLIGHT ON GENRE

Informational Text

LEARNING GOAL

I can read informational text.

OBJECTIVE

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the steps in a sequence with adult assistance.

ELL Transfer

Cognates Point out the Spanish cognates related to informational text.

- sequence : secuencia
- information : información

LANGUAGE OF THE GENRE

As you review the Anchor Chart, check that students understand how to determine the steps in a sequence.

- What does sequence mean?
- What is an example of steps in a sequence?

FLEXIBLE OPTION
ANCHOR CHARTS

Continue to add to your informational text anchor chart.

- Add steps in a sequence.
- Ask students to tell you what sequence means.
- Discuss with students how they know they are reading steps in a sequence.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that informational text provides real facts and information. This information may include steps in a sequence. Knowing about informational text can help readers better understand it.

- Informational text provides facts. Facts are information that is true.
- Informational text may include steps in a sequence that tell the order in which something happens.

Understanding the steps in a sequence helps readers better understand the text. Writers include key words to help readers understand the order of the steps, such as first, next, and last.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read the text and review the Anchor Chart on pp. 62–63 of the Student Interactive. Model an example of a sequence using the words first, next, and last.

- Let's talk about our morning. First, we put away our coats and backpacks. Next, we sit at our desks. Last, we take out our books.

ELL Targeted Support Sequence Words Reinforce the meaning of sequence with students.

Demonstrate a simple sequence. Hold up one finger, say the word first, and show students the first step in a sequence, such as picking up a pencil. Have students say first. Then hold up two fingers, say next, and draw on a sheet of paper. Have students say next. Finally, hold up three fingers, say last, and hold up your drawing for the class to see. Have students say last. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have students work with a partner to tell about something they might do first, next, and last. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for identifying sequence in an informational text.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students work with a partner to complete the Turn and Talk activity on p. 62 of the Student Interactive. Then call on volunteers to share the steps with the class.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students locate three steps in a sequence in an informational text they are reading and draw pictures to illustrate the steps.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students identify sequence in informational text?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction about steps in a sequence in Small Group on pp. T82–T83.
- If students show understanding, have them continue practicing identifying steps in a sequence using the Independent Reading and Literacy Activities in Small Group on pp. T82–T83.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 62–63

GENRE: INFORMATIONAL TEXT

Academic Vocabulary

LEARNING GOAL

I can use words to tell about informational text.

OBJECTIVE

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

Synonyms and Antonyms

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that synonyms are words with similar meanings and antonyms are words with opposite meanings. Have students turn to p. 79 in the Student Interactive.

- Read the sentence. What does the word extreme mean?
- Can you think of a word that means about the same thing as extreme?
- Can you think of a word that means the opposite of extreme?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that synonyms, or words with similar meanings, and antonyms, or words with opposite meanings, can often help them better understand the meaning of an unknown word. Direct students' attention to p. 79 and ask them what severe and gentle mean. Discuss: Severe means "harsh" or "rough." Gentle means "calm" or "soft." Which word is a synonym for extreme, and which is an antonym?

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Numerals 7 and 8

FOCUS Display the following numerals: 7, 8.

MODEL Model writing each numeral, calling students' attention to starting on the top left of the 7 and at the top of the 8. Have them practice forming the numerals in the air.

Guided Reading Instruction Prompts

To support the instruction on this week's milestones, use these prompts.

Identify Informational Text

- What is the title? Can you guess what the text will be about based on the title?
- Does the text include steps in a sequence?
- What facts are in the text?
- Do the photographs or illustrations help the reader understand what the text is about?

Develop Vocabulary

- Which words are important for you to understand the text?
- Are there any photographs or illustrations that help you understand what a word means?
- What does the word ____ tell you about the text?
- How does the word ___ help you better understand the topic?

Find Text Structure

- What sequence of steps is described in the text?
- What words in the text help you figure out the sequence?
- Describe the steps discussed in the text.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXTS

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you that an informational text provides real facts and information. Often this information describes steps in a sequence. Look back at the images on p. 62 of the Student Interactive with students and discuss the steps in the rainstorm sequence pictured there.

ELL Targeted Support

Ask students to look at the pictures on p. 62 of the Student Interactive. Have them point to and describe what they see. Explain that they are noticing steps in a sequence. Display sentence frames and guide students to complete them. First, there was a ____. Next, it ____. Last, there were ____. (Possible responses: thunderstorm; rained; puddles) EMERGING

Ask students to describe the steps for making a sandwich. Have student pairs complete the following written sentence frames about the sequence of steps. First, I ____. Next, I ____. Last, I ____. Then call on volunteers to read their sentences to the group. DEVELOPING

Have students write the steps to making a bed. Encourage students to use the words first, next, and last in their sentences. Then call on volunteers to read their sentences to the group.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

NONFICTION TEXT

Use Lesson 46 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on informational texts.

LEVEL A • READ

Lesson 46 Genre: Nonfiction Texts

DIRECTIONS Follow along as your teacher reads aloud "Why Cats Are the Best Pets." Think about why the author wrote this text.

Why Cats Are the Best Pets

I think cats are the best pets. Let me tell you why.

First, cats like to snuggle. My cat is so soft!

Cats are also fun to play with. It is funny just to see them play too.

Cats do not eat too much. So it does not cost a lot to have a cat.

Please think about getting a cat. Many cats need a safe place to live.

Now you see why cats are such good pets. If you want a pet, I say get a cat like mine!

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Question and Investigate Have students use the infographic on pp. 50–51 of the Student Interactive to learn about plants in the desert. Have students write down several questions about the desert ecosystem that they would like to investigate. Throughout the week, have them conduct research about the topic. See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share their drawings of the steps in a sequence in the informational text they are reading.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What is the text about?
- Does the text describe any steps in a sequence? What are they?
- What are some facts in the text?

Possible Teaching Point A sequence may tell the order of the steps for doing something simple, such as making a sandwich, or something more difficult, such as building a birdhouse.

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T80–T81.
- For instructional support on how to identify steps in a sequence in a text, see Leveled Reader Teacher's Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share the steps in a sequence in the text they are reading. Remind students that steps in a sequence can describe a process or be directions for how to do something.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read or listen to a previously read informational text.
- read a self-selected trade book.
- read their Book Club text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw about their reading in a reading notebook.
- refer to the Anchor Chart on p. 63 of the Student Interactive and tell a partner about the steps in a sequence in an informational text they are reading.
- play the myView games.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T448–T451, for

- ideas for guiding Book Club.
- suggested texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.
- support for groups' collaboration.
- facilitating use of the trade book Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Spell common high-frequency words.

Picture Card

ELL Language Transfer

Final consonant blends are challenging for speakers of Greek, Italian, Spanish, and other languages. Provide additional practice with hearing, pronouncing, and spelling words with final consonant blends.

Phonics: Review Words for Initial and Final Blends

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the crab Picture Card. This is a picture of a crab. I hear a blended sound at the beginning of crab. Say the blended sound with me: /kr/.

Turn the card over and show students the spelling of the word. Point to the c and say /k/. Point to the r and say /r/. Then move your fingers quickly from c to r, and say /kr/. Do you hear the blended sound /kr/? What letters spell the blended sound /kr/? (the letters cr) Have students say other words that begin with the blended sound /kr/ spelled cr. Examples may include crop, crow, and crayon.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the words camp and slid on the board. Listen carefully as I blend the sounds in these words: /k/ /a/ /mp/, /sl/ /i/ /d/. Both words have a blended sound. One is at the beginning of the word, and one is at the end of the word. Listen: /k/ /a/ /mp/; /sl/ /i/ /d/. Which word has the blended sound at the end of it? Yes, camp. What letters spell the blended sound /mp/? Students should say the letters m and p. Continue the activity with the word slid.

Introduce the Text

OBJECTIVES

Recognize that sentences are comprised of words separated by spaces and recognize word boundaries.

Read emergent-reader texts with purpose and understanding.

Ask and answer questions about unknown words in a text.

ELL Access

Background Knowledge Students make meaning not only from the words they learn but also from their prior knowledge. Tell students to share personal knowledge or texts they have read about a desert.

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

Preview Vocabulary

- Introduce the words desert, soil, ground, and bloom from p. 64 in the Student Interactive.
- Have students share what they already know about the words. Ask questions such as: What do you do know about deserts? What can be planted in soil? Have you ever dug into the ground? What are some things that bloom?
- Based on the vocabulary, what do you think the text will be about?
- Provide definitions of vocabulary words as needed. These words will help us understand the information given in A Desert in Bloom.

Print Awareness

Have students look at various pages in their Student Interactive. Explain that sentences are made of words. Sentences begin with a capital letter and end with a punctuation mark. Have students point to some individual sentences and to some individual words in sentences.

Read

Discuss the First Read Strategies with students. Tell them that they should always set a purpose before reading a text. Look at the title and pictures. What do you hope to learn when reading this text?

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. Work to understand what the text is about.

LOOK Look at the pictures to help you understand the text.

ASK Generate, or ask, questions about the text to deepen understanding.

TALK Guide students to talk to a partner about the text.

Students may read the text independently, in pairs, or as a whole class. Use the First Read notes to help students connect with the text and guide their understanding.

ELL Targeted Support Preteach Vocabulary Tell students that they may find it easier to read a book if they learn some of the vocabulary before reading.

Work with students as they look at the pictures of each of the vocabulary words in the text. Provide other pictures to further reinforce meaning. Then have students draw a picture of one of the words. Place the words and drawings around the classroom to serve as a picture dictionary. EMERGING

Discuss the meanings of the vocabulary words. Then have students use books or magazines to find a picture of each one. Challenge them to come up with a word or phrase to describe the vocabulary word. Encourage them to use complete sentences, such as ___ looks like ___. DEVELOPING

Discuss the meaning of the vocabulary words. Then have students work in pairs to write and illustrate sentences using the words. EXPANDING

Write one of the vocabulary words on the board. Have students suggest synonyms and related words. Then have students create a word web for one of the vocabulary words, showing words or pictures that are related to the word. BRIDGING

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 66–67

desert dry area of land with few plants and animals

The desert is hot.
The desert is dry.
How can desert flowers grow there?

66

soil loose earth in which plants grow

CLOSE READ What are deserts like? Highlight the most important information.

The desert soil is full of seeds.

67

First Read

Look

THINK ALOUD Looking at details in the pictures can help me better understand what I am reading. Looking at the pictures on pages 66–67 helps me understand what the desert is like. I can see that the soil looks very dry and sandy. Then, when I look at the picture on page 68, I see that the soil looks dry and cracked. The words say that the ground is hot and dry, but the pictures help me understand what this looks like.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Science

Tell students that flowers go through a predictable life cycle of seed, seedling, plant, and flower. Ask students to look at the image on p. 67 and identify the step in the life cycle that is pictured.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 68–69

CLOSE READ

What do these pages tell about how flowers grow? Underline the words that tell when the steps happen.

Foundational Skills Extension

Initial Blends

Have students identify, or point to, words with initial consonant blends on pp. 68–69.

Close Read

Find Important Details

Read aloud the Close Read note on p. 67. Work with students to identify words that describe the desert. Guide them to understand that they can apply their knowledge of hot weather to better understand the text. DOK 2

Find Text Structure

Read the Close Read note on p. 69. Remind students to reread text they do not fully understand. Then have students underline words on pp. 68–69 that tell when the steps of a flower's growth occur. DOK 1

OBJECTIVE

Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 70-71

In winter, the ground gets soaked with rain. The seeds start to grow.

70

bloom to produce flowers

In spring, the ground gets warm from the sun. Colorful flowers bloom.

71

CLOSE READ

What do these pages tell about how flowers grow? Underline the words that tell when the steps happen.

First Read

Talk

THINK ALOUD The text tells about how flowers in the desert grow, season by season. Talking about the text with a partner can help me understand what I'm reading. For example, on page 70, the text and pictures show that the ground is soaked in winter. I can ask my partner if she or he sees anything else in the text that tells about winter. Perhaps my partner will point out that the seeds start to grow in the winter because it is so wet. Have students turn and talk to a partner about these pages.

Read Like a Writer | Author's Craft

Use the instruction on pp. T102–T103 in the Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge to help students understand why authors choose specific words. Explain that authors sometimes choose words to help readers create pictures in their minds. Point to the word colorful on p. 71. Read aloud the original sentence with that word. Then read aloud the sentence without the word colorful. Ask students how the word colorful helps readers create pictures in their minds.

When summer returns, it gets hot.
The flowers die.
Their seeds rest in the ground until spring comes again.

72

Now you know how desert flowers grow!

73

CLOSE READ

What is the last thing that happens to flowers in the desert? Underline the words that tell when the last step happens.

Possible Teaching Point

Academic Vocabulary | Antonyms

Use the instruction on pp. T78–T79 in the Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge to remind students of how to use synonyms and antonyms to build vocabulary. Then point out the word hot on p. 72. Ask students for words that mean the opposite. (cold, cool) Point out other words on this page that have antonyms (summer, die, comes) and work with students to think of antonyms for each of these words.

Close Read

Find Text Structure

Read aloud the Close Read note on page 71. Guide students to identify the words that tell when these steps happen. Then read the Close Read note on p. 73 and prompt students to identify and underline the words that tell when the last thing happens to flowers in the desert. Point out that the text shows the sequence of steps in the order in which they happen.

DOK 1

OBJECTIVE

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the steps in a sequence with adult assistance.

Respond and Analyze

OBJECTIVES

Describe the relationship between illustrations and the text in which they appear.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

My View

Use these suggestions to prompt students' initial responses to reading A Desert in Bloom.

- Retell Have students tell a partner which part of the text they found most interesting and use evidence from the text to explain why.
- Illustrate Events Have students illustrate the steps in the sequence discussed in the text. Then have partners describe the steps by referring to each other's illustrations.

Develop Vocabulary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that they can often use images or illustrations to figure out the meaning of a word. The vocabulary words desert, soil, ground, and bloom can be used to talk about steps in a sequence discussed in A Desert in Bloom.

- READ Read each word.
- LOOK Look for pictures that help you visualize and understand the word.
- THINK Think about how this word adds to the text.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 74 in the Student Interactive. Look at the first picture. Do you see soil or do you see the desert? Have students circle desert.

ELL Targeted Support Visual Media Tell students that looking at pictures in a text is one way to figure out the meaning of unknown words.

Orally discuss images on p. 74 to build or reinforce understanding of unknown words and their meaning. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have students work with a partner to discuss and use the images and illustrations in a text to figure out the meaning of unknown words. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for developing vocabulary.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students practice developing vocabulary by completing p. 74 of the Student Interactive. Tell students that familiar words can have more than one meaning. Have students identify a new meaning for the verb to ground and use it in a sentence.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students find and list unfamiliar words that tell about steps in a sequence in an informational text they are reading independently.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Are students able to identify and use new vocabulary words?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T96–T97.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T96–T97.

Check for Understanding MyTURN Have students complete the Check for Understanding on p. 75 of the Student Interactive.

Directions Read the words below each picture aloud. Have students circle the word that names the picture.

Check for Understanding

MYTURN Circle and write

DOK 2 1. This text tells a story facts.

2. Why do you think the author asks a question?
DOK 3 Possible response: _____ to let us know what he is going to tell about

3. How do seeds start to grow in the desert?
DOK 1 Possible response: _____
The ground is soaked with rain in the winter and the seeds grow.

Directions Read item 1 and the answer choices aloud to students. Have them circle the answer. Then read items 2 and 3 aloud and have students write their responses. Remind them to use text evidence.

Word Work Strategy Group

INITIAL AND FINAL BLENDS

Display the mask Picture Card. This is a mask. Mask has the final blend /sk/. Turn the card over so students can see the spelling. What letters spell the blend /sk/? Yes, the letters s and k.

Tell students you will hold up a card and say its name. Have students identify the sounds that spell the blend in each word. Use the following Picture Cards: black, crab, desk, lamp, spider.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that it is important to pronounce blends correctly in English. Say the following words to students and encourage them to emphasize the final blend: mask, ask, task.

Provide students feedback when pronouncing final blends. Have them repeat each word after you. EMERGING Closely monitor students and help them self-correct to pronounce final blends correctly.

DEVELOPING

Invite students to provide feedback to each other. Then have them find initial and final blends in books and say them to a partner. EXPANDING

Have students monitor their speech and self-correct. Have them write and say words with final blends and pronounce them correctly.

BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

LONG a, i, AND o

Use Lesson 30 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on reading words with long a, i, and o.

LEVEL A • MODEL AND TEACH

Lesson 30 Long a, i, and o

INTRODUCE Connect today's lesson to short vowel sound-spellings by writing cap and at for students. You can read words like these. They both have short a: pronounced /ă/. spelled a. Repeat the short a sound with me: /ă/. Explain that students will learn how to spell and read words with long a, pronounced /ā/ as in cape. Use the same routine to review the short vowel sounds for i and o. Point out that students will also learn about long i and long o in this lesson.

MODEL Display or share copies of "Bike Ride" from Student Page S175, and read it aloud.

OBJECTIVES:

- Understand that long vowels are pronounced like the letter names.
- Learn the silent e rule.
- Learn the long vowel spelling patterns ay, i, y, and o.
- Apply knowledge of letter-sound correspondence to read and spell long a, i, and o words.
- See that words can share the same letter patterns.
- Understand that different words are easily formed by adding, deleting, or changing letters.

Bike Ride

long a spelled a_e

Jane and Sid ride bikes side by side.
Jane and Sid ride a mile at a time.
Jane and Sid race home.

long a spelled a_e

TEACH Explain that students can read more words when they learn how long vowel sounds are spelled. Remind students that long vowels say their name.

Write a_e and say its sound: /ā/. Point out Jane and race. Jane and race both have a long a sound spelled a_e. The letter e is silent but gives the vowel a its long sound. The blank shows where a consonant will go. Write J in front of the pattern and blend the sounds /j/ā/. Have students blend with you as you run your hand under the letters. Write n in the blank and have students say its sound with you. Then blend the whole word, pointing to a and e as you say /jā/. This is how I blend this word: /jā/n/. Jane. Say the word with me. Then review the silent e rule with students. Remember that the e at the end is silent but makes the vowel say its name. Cover the e and ask what the new word is. (/ān/) This is another example of how adding a letter forms a new word. The e at the end turns Jan into Jane.

Follow this procedure to model words with the long i sound and long o sound, such as side and home. Point out how Sid becomes side when the letter e is added to the end.

PHONOLOGICAL AWARENESS

For students who need support, Phonological Awareness lessons are available in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide, Lessons 5–20.

Independent/Collaborative

Word Work Activity

BUILD WORDS WITH LETTER TILES

Distribute Letter Tiles to students. Have them practice forming words with blends: plan, lamp, slap, slam. Students can also play the Letter Tile game in the myView games on SavvasRealize.com.

Decodable Book

WE GOT LOST

Students can read the Decodable Book We Got Lost to practice reading words with sound spellings they have learned and this week's high-frequency words.

Before reading, display and remind students of this week's high-frequency words: eat, soon, walk. Tell them that they will practice reading these words in the Decodable Book We Got Lost. When you see these words, you will know how to read them.

Pair students for reading and listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode.

High-Frequency Words

Write high-frequency words on craft sticks and place them in a cup. Have students draw a stick and read the word. If they do not know the word, tell it to them and have students put the stick back. The goal is to read all the words and empty the cup.

Strategy Group

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you that, when you come to a word you don't know, you can use the pictures to help you. Think about what word might make sense with the picture you see. Look back at p. 67 in A Desert in Bloom and demonstrate with the word soil.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that drawing pictures can help them learn new words. Display the vocabulary words: soil, ground, desert, bloom.

Have students draw a picture illustrating one of the words. Check students' drawings.

EMERGING

After students draw an illustration of one of the words, have them label the picture and practice reading the word. DEVELOPING

Have students draw pictures to illustrate the words. Then have them write sentences that define or describe the words. If needed, provide sentence frames: Flowers grow in _____. When they grow, flowers _____. EXPANDING

Have students illustrate all of the vocabulary words and write a sentence to caption each illustration. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

DRIPS AND DROPS

Have students reread last week's Decodable Book Drips and Drops. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have partners take turns reading the Decodable Book aloud. Ask pairs to try to read all of the words correctly.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share their list of words and what they learned about sequence from those words.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Which words does the author use to help you understand the order of the steps?
- How does the author describe the sequence?

Possible Teaching Point Authors often include words to show the order in which steps in a sequence happen. Noticing the words an author uses helps us better understand what we read.

Leveled Readers

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T80–T81.
- For instructional support on how to identify the order of steps in a sequence, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share

Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite two or three students to share the words they noticed that tell about the order of steps in a sequence in a text they read. Celebrate what they have learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread or listen to A Desert in Bloom.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- read with a partner, coaching each other as they read the book.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- play the myView games.
- write about their reading in a reading notebook.
- work with a partner to discuss the questions on Student Interactive p. 75.
- build words using the Letter Tile activity on p. T95.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Partner reading is a good time for students to tackle unfamiliar books so they can help each other with difficult parts.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Manipulate syllables within a multisyllabic word.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T89 for an initial consonant blends extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional practice with initial and final blends, have students complete Phonics p. 253 from the Resource Download Center.

Phonics, p. 253

Phonological Awareness: Manipulate Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Say the word backpack. Listen carefully as I count the syllables: back (clap) pack (clap). How many times did I clap? Students should say two. How many syllables are in backpack? Students should say two. If I take away the first syllable, back, what word do I have left? Students should say pack. If I take away the second syllable, pack, what word do I have left? Students should say back.

PRACTICE Continue the routine with the words lunchroom and bathtub.

Phonics: Reinforce Words for Bb, Jj, Initial and Final Blends

Minilesson

FOCUS Write the word just on the board, and read it with students. This is the word just. I can read the word: /j/ /u/ /st/, just. I hear the sound /j/ at the beginning of just. Say the sound /j/ with me. What letter spells the sound /j/ in just? (the letter j) What blended sound do I hear at the end of just? Students should say /st/. What letters spell the blended sound /st/? (the letters s and t) Write grab on the board. This is the word grab. I can read the word: /gr/ /a/ /b/, grab. I hear the sound /b/ at the end of the word. What letter spells the sound /b/? (the letter b) I hear the blended sound /gr/ at the beginning of grab. What letters spell the blended sound /gr/? Students should say g and r.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Today we are reviewing the spellings for the sounds /j/ and /b/. We are also reviewing the spellings of initial and final blends, such as /st/ and /gr/. Have volunteers identify the letters that spell each of the sounds and blends.

Apply TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Direct students to p. 54 in the Student Interactive. Have partners read and act out the sentences on the page.

High-Frequency Words

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue working with high-frequency words. You will see these words over and over in texts. Have students read the words at the top of p. 55 in the Student Interactive with you: eat, soon, walk.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words. Tell them to identify and point to each word as you say it. Say soon. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say eat. Say walk. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word. Have students use the words in sentences.

Apply MyTURN Have students read the sentences on p. 55 with you. Ask them to identify the words eat, soon, and walk in the sentences and underline them. Then have students read the sentences with a partner.

Find Text Structure

OBJECTIVES

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the steps in a sequence, with adult assistance.

Discuss with adult assistance how the use of text structure contributes to the author's purpose.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate As you discuss the text during the Close Read, model using the Academic Vocabulary words.

- What extreme weather does a desert have?
- How could you measure plant growth?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Text structure is how an author organizes a text.

When an author uses steps in a sequence, he or she often uses time words to tell when the steps happen.

- Read the title. Can you tell whether the author is going to discuss steps in a sequence?
- Look through the text. Does it contain pictures that may help you figure out if the author is going to explain a sequence?
- Read the text and look for time words that tell when the steps happen.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look back at A Desert in Bloom.

- Ask students if the pictures give them any clues about a sequence the author is going to describe. I see in the pictures that the weather keeps changing. It was dry and sunny, then wet and cloudy, and then dry and sunny again. I think the author is going to tell about the sequence of the seasons in the desert.
- Guide students to form oral sentences to describe what they see in the pictures. Then have students turn to the Close Read notes on pp. 69, 71, and 73 of the Student Interactive and underline the words that tell when the steps in the sequence occur.

ELL Targeted Support Steps in a Sequence Have students look back at what they underlined during the Close Read.

Write the time words from the text on index cards. Read them with students, and then guide the students to arrange the words in order. EMERGING

Have students circle the time words in the text. Ask students to explain to a partner how those words show when the steps in the sequence happen. DEVELOPING

Have students use the pictures to find the steps in the sequence. Ask students to retell the steps in the sequence and how the images support them. EXPANDING

Have partners work together to write in their own words the steps in the sequence. Remind them to use the time words they learned to make the order clear. BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for finding the steps in a sequence in an informational text.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students complete p. 76 in the Student Interactive by writing when each step happens.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students create simple illustrations to show the steps in a sequence in an informational text they are reading. Tell students to number and label their drawings.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students identify the words that indicate the steps in a sequence in an informational text?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction about text structure in Small Group on pp. T104–T105.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction about text structure in Small Group on pp. T104–T105.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 76

Find Text Structure

Authors organize texts in different ways.
Some authors tell the steps in a sequence.

 MYTURN Write

 _____	 _____
in spring	in summer

76 Directions Say: Text structure is how the author organizes a text. When an author tells the steps in a sequence, the author often uses time words to tell when the steps happen. Have students look at the pictures and write when each step happens. Remind them to use what they underlined. Then discuss how the text structure contributes to the author's purpose in the text.

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

OBJECTIVE

Discuss with adult assistance how the author uses words that help the reader visualize.

Author's Craft

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that authors choose specific words to help readers visualize, or picture, what is happening in the text. The author's choice of words shows what the author wants to tell the reader.

- Authors choose words carefully.
- Vivid, interesting words can help readers picture what is happening and better understand what they are reading.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model using the first question on p. 81 in the Student Interactive to show students how writers use vivid, interesting words. The question asks us which words the author uses to help the reader picture fall in the desert. To find the words, I need to look back in the text. On page 69, the author describes the desert in fall. Guide students in looking at and rereading p. 69, and discuss how the words cool and cloudy help students visualize fall in the desert. Have students complete Item 1. Then read Item 2 to students. Discuss possible answers with them.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Numerals 9 and 0

FOCUS Display the numerals 9 and 0.

MODEL Model writing each numeral, calling students' attention to starting with the circle of the 9 and at the top of the 0. Have them practice forming the numerals in the air.

ASSESS UNDERSTANDING

Apply

MyTURN Have students complete p. 81 in the Student Interactive.

Possible responses:
cool, cloudy
2. What other word could you use to help readers picture what the desert is like in the fall?
Possible response:
empty

Directions Read the first question and have students look back at the text to find words to write on the lines. Then read the second question and have students write their response. Encourage them to look at the picture in the text for ideas.

FIND TEXT STRUCTURE

Teaching Point When reading steps in a sequence, it helps to look for time words that tell when the steps happen. Look back at A Desert in Bloom and practice looking for time words in the text. Ask students to tell you the time words they see in the text.

ELL Targeted Support

Have students draw a picture to describe each of the four seasons. Ask students to put the illustrations in the order of the seasons, starting with spring. EMERGING

After completing the Emerging activity help students formulate oral sentences to tell about the order of the seasons. DEVELOPING

Have students work in pairs to brainstorm time words. Ask students to order the words in groups of three to four words. EXPANDING

Have students write three to four steps in a sequence. Have students use a time word at the beginning of each step. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

READING BEHAVIORS

Teaching Point Readers of informational texts can use clue words in the text to help them understand the structure of the text. Reread a passage in A Desert in Bloom, and model how to use clue words to understand text structure.

Model Tell students that you are trying to understand text structure. Turn to pp. 68–69 in the Student Interactive. As I read these pages, I see some words that give me a clue about text structure. The words in summer and in fall tell what the desert is like during that season and are in time order. They show steps in a sequence.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

FIND TEXT STRUCTURE

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share time words they identified in a text they have been reading.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What time words do you see?
- How do the time words help you understand the steps in the sequence?
- Describe the sequence.

Possible Teaching Point Time words help you understand the order of steps in a sequence. Time words may be seasons of the year, numerical words, or words describing order.

- create a drawing that shows the steps in a sequence, including time words, in an informational text they have read or heard.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

Help students set goals for their reading. Tell them they should track progress toward their goals.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite two or three students to share the time words they identified in an informational text.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Have small groups of students discuss things they have seen grow. Monitor their conversation and gently correct any errors you hear in English translations and pronunciations.

Read They Get Big!

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 56 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story about things that grow. Point to the title of the story. The title is They Get Big! I hear a word with the sound /b/. Have students find and point to the word Big in the title. In this story, we will read words that have the sounds /b/ and /j/ and other sounds you have learned.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week’s high-frequency words: eat, soon, walk. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story They Get Big! Display the words. Have students read them with you. When you see these words in the story They Get Big!, you will know how to identify and read them.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

They Get Big!

Bud had a little plant.
It sat in the hot sun.

56

Bud gave the plant a drip.
He let it sit.
Soon the plant got big!

Underline the words with the b sound.

57

READ Have students whisper read the story as you listen in. Then have students reread the story page by page with a partner. Listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode words. Partners should reread the story. This time the other student begins.

After students have read the story, call attention to the title on p. 56. I see the letter B in the last word. What sound does the letter B spell? Students should respond /b/. Have them underline the words with the sound /b/ spelled b on pp. 56–57. Have students read the words to you.

Have students turn to p. 58. I see a word in the first sentence with the letter J. What sound does the letter J spell? Students should respond /j/. Have students read the word Jen in the first sentence. What other word on page 58 has the sound /j/ spelled J? Students should identify the word Jen again. Then have students highlight the words with /j/ spelled J on pp. 58–59.

On pages 58–59, I see the three high-frequency words we learned this week. Who can point to those words and read them aloud? Have a volunteer point to and read the words eat, Soon, and walk.

If students struggle, revisit instruction in Small Group on pp. T94–T95.

If students show understanding, extend instruction in Small Group on pp. T94–T95.

Find Important Details

OBJECTIVE

Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate As you discuss the text during the Close Read, model using the Academic Vocabulary words:

- What is the effect of the desert weather on the plants there?
- How could you prepare to visit a desert?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain that details tell more about a topic. However, not all the details in a text are equally important. Some details provide more useful information than others. These are the most important details. Tell students:

- Details tell me more about a topic.
- Not all details in a text are important.
- Important details give information that is key to understanding the text, while other details just provide nice-to-know information.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model how to identify important details. Say: The text tells many details about deserts, but only a few of the details give information that I need to best understand what deserts are like.

Go back to the Close Read note on p. 67 of the Student Interactive. Highlight the most important detail about deserts.

ELL Targeted Support Find Important Details Remind students that important details give information that is necessary to understand a topic.

Model deciding about important details by talking students through the Close Read on p. 67 of the Student Interactive. Have students formulate a sentence about the detail that provides the most important information about deserts. EMERGING

Have partners discuss the Close Read note on p. 67 of the Student Interactive. Then have students formulate oral sentences, putting the detail in their own words and explaining why it is the most important detail. DEVELOPING

Have partners write one sentence that includes an important detail about deserts. EXPANDING

Ask partners to quiz one another about details from the text. Have them each write one important detail and one unimportant detail about deserts on slips of paper. Then have them take turns reading their partner's details and deciding which detail is more important and why. BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for finding important details.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students complete p. 77 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students use sticky notes to mark the three most important details in an informational text they are reading.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students find important details?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for finding important details in Small Group on pp. T110–T111.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for finding important details in Small Group on pp. T110–T111.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 77

READING WORKSHOP

Find Important Details

Details tell more about a topic.

MY TURN Draw and write

Drawing should show details about the desert.

Possible responses:

hot, dry, full of seeds

Directions Read the information aloud and say: Finding the most important details will help you better understand a topic. What important details do the words and pictures give about deserts? Have students evaluate details in the text and draw and write the most important ones. Remind them to go back to what they highlighted.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

FIND IMPORTANT DETAILS

Teaching Point Today we are going to talk about how you can find the most important details when reading. The most important details provide information that is necessary to understand the topic. Look back at A Desert in Bloom and work with students to find important details.

ELL Targeted Support

Model how to find important details in a text.

Turn to a page or two in the text and point out the details on the page. Guide students in determining which ones are the important details. EMERGING

Turn to one page of the text and model selecting the most important detail. Then have students turn to a different page and select its most important detail. DEVELOPING

Discuss with students how they can select the most important details in a text. Have partners select the three most important details in A Desert in Bloom. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

WE GOT LOST

Have student reread this week's Decodable Book, We Got Lost. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students practice reading aloud the Decodable Book. Have students try to read the text so it sounds like normal conversation.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

FIND IMPORTANT DETAILS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students about the important details they found while reading independently.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What is the text about?
- What are some of the most important details in the text?
- How do the important details help you to understand the text?

Possible Teaching Point The important details in a text help the reader figure out the main idea. Other details in a text relate to the main idea, but are just nice-to-know details.

Leveled Readers

FIND IMPORTANT DETAILS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T80–T81.
- For instructional support on how to determine the most important details, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share

Bring the class together and have two or three volunteers share the most important details in an informational text they are reading.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread or listen to another text they read.
- read a trade book or their Book Club text.
- practice reading and selecting the most important details in an informational text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- complete the MyTurn activity on p. 77 of the Student Interactive.
- use paper clips to mark the most important details in a text they are reading.
- play the myView games.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

It is important to tell students what they are doing right as readers. As you listen to readers, be sure to tell them what they are doing well.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Demonstrate phonological awareness.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Spell common high-frequency words.

Picture Card

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice with high-frequency words, have students complete My Words to Know p. 263 from the Resource Download Center.

My Words to Know, p. 263

Phonological Awareness: Add Phonemes

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that we can add sounds to words to make new words. Hold up the top Picture Card. Listen as I say the word top. Say it with me: top, /t/ /o/ /p/. Now we are going to add the sound /s/ to the beginning of top: /s/ -top. What is the new word? Students should say stop. Yes, by adding the sound /s/ to the beginning of top, we made the word stop. Now let's try adding a sound to the end of a word to make a new word. Listen as I say the word ram. Let's add the sound /p/ to the end: ram- /p/. What is the new word? Students should say ramp.

PRACTICE Have students point to the picture of the word jump on p. 60 in the Student Interactive. Say: The girl jumped up. Let's make some new words by adding sounds to the word up. Then have them practice adding phonemes to the beginning of the word to make new words such as cup and pup. Then have students practice saying the following words and adding a phoneme to the beginning or end of each word to make a new word: park (spark), mile (smile), lad (glad), ban (band), plan (plant).

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that they will read some sentences. The sentences you read include sounds and high-frequency words you have already learned.

Write the consonant blends pr, mp, and sl on the board, and review the sounds for the blends with students. Prompt them to come up with words that include each blend. Responses may include: prince, pretty, slime, slip, lamp, bump.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 60 in the Student Interactive. Let's read the first sentence together: Hope got a big ___ize. Which of the blends finishes the last word? Let's try them: slize. Is slize a word? Students should say no. Let's try another blend: prize. Is prize a word? Yes, it is, and it makes sense in the sentence: Hope got a big prize.

APPLY My TURN Have students finish p. 60 in the Student Interactive by adding a blend to complete each word and reading the completed sentences.

APPLY MyTURN Direct students to p. 61 in the Student Interactive. Have them read each sentence pair and then check the box beside the sentence that matches the picture.

ELL Targeted Support Monitor Understanding Tell students that if they do not understand words they hear in class, they should ask questions. Suggest these steps:

- Ask your teacher to explain the meaning of a word.
- Ask classmates to help explain the meaning or translation of a word.

Read aloud the sentences on p. 60. Ask students questions about the sentences, such as: Where does Bob slide? Provide Spanish translations of the words to help clarification: big, grande; prize, premio; slide, diapositiva; jump, saltar. EMERGING

Read aloud the sentences on p. 60. Have students practice saying difficult words in English. DEVELOPING

In small groups, have students reread the story on pp. 56–59 in the Student Interactive. Prompt listeners to stop and ask questions about English words they cannot translate in their home languages. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Remind students that high-frequency words are words that appear over and over in texts. Remind them they are learning many of the words this year, and these words will help them become better readers. Say the word eat and ask students what letters spell the word. Have students

- say the letters as you write them on the board.
- say and spell the word, doing a silent cheer for each letter.
- repeat with soon and walk.

REVIEW AND REINFORCE

Sentences I Can Read

MYTURN Read and write

sl

mp

pr

Hope got a big prize.

Bob will slide down.

June can jump rope.

60

Directions Have students read the sentences and describe what is happening in the pictures. Then have them write the consonant blend from the word bank that best completes each word. Finally, have students read the completed sentences.

Sentences I Can Read

MYTURN Read and write

 Sal got a pretty bike.

 Sal got a pretty bat.

 The jug will go up.

 The jet will go up.

 The crab is in the sand.

 The crab is in the hand.

61

Directions Ask students to look at the first picture. Then have them read the first pair of sentences. Ask students to write an X in the box by the sentence that tells about the picture. Continue with the other pictures and sentences.

Reflect and Share

OBJECTIVES

Describe familiar people, places, things, and events and, with support, provide additional detail.

Work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including taking turns.

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the unit Academic Vocabulary words to discuss the Weekly Question and unit theme.

- What helps plants live in extreme climates?
- What effect do hot climates have on the plants there?

Talk About It

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that it is good to talk about or respond to a text they read. One way of responding is to tell your opinion about something the text discusses. Students should

- make sure they understand what the texts are about.
- think about ideas or information they could share with others.
- speak loudly and clearly and use complete sentences.
- take turns speaking.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model sharing ideas and information about the topic using the Turn and Talk prompt on p. 78 of the Student Interactive. I know that the text told about deserts. Deserts are dry stretches of land that get very hot during the day. These sandy plains get very little rain. Rainforests are also hot areas, but the shade of the trees and rainfall can cool down the forests. Which place would you rather live in and why?

ELL Targeted Support Express Ideas Model sentence frames to help students compare and contrast texts they have read.

Have student pairs decide which words they can use to complete each sentence: _____ are hot. _____ have trees. _____ have very little rain. _____ have a lot of rain. _____ and _____ are places. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have student pairs decide which words they can use to complete each sentence: Deserts are different from rainforests because _____. Deserts are similar to rainforests because _____. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for sharing ideas and information across texts.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students complete p. 78 in the Student Interactive by telling their opinion about another place they have read about.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Students should use their self-selected independent reading to give an opinion about whether they would want to live where that book takes place.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students make connections and comparisons across texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T116-T117.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T116-T117.

WEEKLY QUESTION Have students use evidence from the texts they have read this week to respond to the Weekly Question. Tell them to write their responses on a separate sheet of paper.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 78

RESPOND TO TEXT

Reflect and Share

 TURN and TALK What is the desert like?
What is another place you have read about like?
Tell your opinion about the places.

An opinion is how you think or feel about a topic.

Weekly Question
What helps plants live in hot climates?

78 Directions Tell students they read about the desert. Ask them to think of other places they have read about. Have them respond to sources by talking about the places and telling which place they would most like to live in and why.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T115 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE TEXTS

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you that, when readers read more than one text on the same theme, they should think about what they learned in each text. Have students recall “Life in the Rainforest” and A Desert in Bloom. Help students identify that both texts tell about a type of environment and tell how plants grow in the environment.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide sentence frames to help students make comparisons.

It is _____ in the desert. It is ____ in the rainforest.

EMERGING

Deserts are like rainforests because _____.

Deserts are different from rainforests because _____.

DEVELOPING

I would want to live in the _____ because _____.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

COMPARE TEXTS

Remind students of the texts they have read: A Desert in Bloom, Water Is Water, and They Get Big! Engage students in a conversation that demonstrates how the texts they have read this week support their understanding of how plants survive in hot climates and encourage them to use the Academic Vocabulary words extreme, measure, prepare, and effect.

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Organize Information and Communicate

Help students organize their findings about the nonfiction topic they investigated this week.

Critical Thinking Talk with students about what they learned and the process they used.

See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

COMPARE TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share their opinion on what they have read.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Retell the most important details of the text you read.
- Share an opinion about the text.
- Share an opinion someone else had about the text. Is their opinion different than your own?

Possible Teaching Point Retelling a text is one way of reflecting on what you read. When you retell a text, you tell about the most important details. You may also give your opinion of the text.

Leveled Readers

COMPARE TEXTS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T80–T81.
- For instructional support on how to compare texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite students to share what they have learned this week and celebrate what they have learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- review what they have read this week in their leveled reader or in A Desert in Bloom.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- read a text with a partner and then retell the text after reading it.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- play the myView games.
- draw a picture to illustrate something they read this week.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T448–T451, for

- teacher’s summary of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.
- talking points to share with students.
- collaboration prompts and conversation starters.
- suggestions for incorporating the Discussion Chart.
- alternate texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.

WEEK 3 LESSON 1 READING WORKSHOP GENRE & THEME

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES
Listen actively with an emphasis on understanding and identifying main ideas and supporting details.
Analyze and evaluate literary texts.
Analyze and evaluate literary texts.

Read Aloud
Tell students that they will listen to you read two poems. Remind them that poems can tell a story, but they use rhythm and sometimes rhyme to tell it. Have students listen as you read aloud the poems "Winter Fun" and "The Storm." Tell students to be active listeners by looking at you and thinking about what you are saying as you read aloud.

START-UP
READ-ALOUD ROUTINE
Prepare your students to listen actively for elements of poetry, such as rhyming words and rhythm.
READ the text aloud, pausing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

Winter Fun
The sun is shining brightly,
The kids are out to play.
The year tastes righty
Before going on your way.
We like to find new ways
To enjoy the world outside.
All the winter's days,
We don't plan to stay inside!

Think Aloud
As you read, think about the rhythm and rhyme of the poem. How does the author use these to create a picture of winter fun?

Fiction Lesson Plan

SWF
Interactive Read Aloud
• Support students' comprehension.
• Encourage students' critical thinking and analysis.
• Provide an opportunity to model fluency and expressive reading.
• Foster a love and enjoyment of reading.

PLANNING
• Select a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school curriculum.
• Identify the key ideas of the story.
• Determine the Teaching Point.
• Write open-ended questions and model Think Alouds on sticky notes and place them at the points where you plan to stop to think aloud.
• Prepare the book to be read aloud.

BEFORE READING
• Show the cover of the book to introduce the title, author, illustrator, and genre.
• Discuss the cover as a whole group.
• Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
• Have students make predictions about the story.
• Have students make predictions about the teaching point.
• Discuss the vocabulary necessary for understanding.

DURING READING
• You can choose to do a first reading so students get the gist of the story and apply Think Alouds and open-ended questions to a second reading of the text.
• Read with expression to draw in listeners.
• Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
• Have students make predictions about the story.
• Have students make predictions about the teaching point.
• Discuss the vocabulary necessary for understanding.

AFTER READING
• Summarize and allow students to share thoughts about the story.
• Support student comprehension by modeling the model of the story.
• Discuss and assign a Student Response Form available on Readaloud.com.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend syllables to form multisyllabic words.

Segment multisyllabic words into syllables.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Picture Cards

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T142 for a consonant g extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they are going to take apart and put together syllables. Let's say the word back together. Clap for each syllable: back (clap). How many syllables are in back? Students should say one. Now let's say the word pack together. Clap for each syllable: pack (clap). How many syllables are in pack? (one) What new word do we make if we put the syllables back and pack together? Students should say backpack.

Now listen as I say the word dinosaur. I will clap for each syllable: di (clap) no (clap) saur (clap). How many syllables did I say? (three) Let's put the syllables together and say the word: dinosaur. What word did you hear? Students should say dinosaur. Continue the activity with alligator, spider, cowgirl, and volcano.

PRACTICE Display the apple, elbow, feather, and umbrella Picture Cards. Guide students as they segment and blend the syllables in each word.

Phonics: Review Words for Gg, Qq

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the gum Picture Card. What sound do you hear at the beginning of gum? (/g/) Turn the card over and point out the first letter in gum. Tell students that the sound /g/ is spelled with the letter g. Then read the word gum with students. Now let's practice reading more words with the sound /g/ spelled g. Write the words gape, gal, and gift on the board. These words begin with the sound /g/. Circle the g in each word. Have students read the list. Repeat the activity for Qq with the quilt Picture Card and these words: quit, quake, quite.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 88 in the Student Interactive. Read the words in the bank with students. Now we will use these words to complete sentences. Which word from the bank tells about the first picture? Let's write quiz to finish the sentence. Have students read the sentence.

APPLY My TURN Have students finish p. 88 in the Student Interactive.

ELL Targeted Support Sounds and Letters Review the sound /kw/ spelled qu. Provide examples to help students practice connecting the sounds and letters.

Give each student a card with the letters qu on it. Say the following words: quiz, cub, queen, quiet, cab. Have students listen and repeat after you. If the word has the beginning sound /kw/, they should hold up their qu card. EMERGING

Have students listen as you say these words that have the beginning sound /kw/: quite, queen, quiz. Ask students to identify the beginning sound and name the letters that spell the sound in each word. Then have students come up with one more word with the beginning sound /kw/ spelled qu.

DEVELOPING

Have students think about a word that begins with the sound /kw/. Help them determine if the sound is spelled qu. Then have them use the word in a sentence. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Display the high-frequency words who, there, and into, and read them aloud.

- Have students point to the word who and read it.
- Repeat for there and into.

Interact with Sources

OBJECTIVES

Describe personal connections to a variety of sources.

Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Language of Ideas The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas. As you discuss the poems, ask: What happens when the weather is extreme? How can you prepare for bad weather?

- measure
- extreme
- prepare
- effect

Songs and Poems Big Book

See the Songs and Poems Big Book for selections that relate to the unit's theme.

Explore the Poems

Remind students of the Essential Question for Unit 3: What can we learn from the weather? Point out the Weekly Question: How do we describe weather? Tell students that they will read more about the weather this week. Turn to pp. 86–87 in the Student Interactive. Use the following prompts to discuss the poems on these pages:

- Tell students that a poem is a text that has rhythm and sometimes rhyme. Explain that the poems on pp. 86–87 are about the weather.
- Ask what kind of weather they think the poem on p. 86 is about. Then read aloud the poem while students listen. Then reread the poem, this time asking students to join in when they can. You may want to pause before the second rhyming word to allow students to say it.
- Repeat with the poem on p. 87.

Encourage students to ask questions about the poems to clarify any information or ideas they do not understand.

MyTURN Have students interact with sources by circling words that describe snow and rain. Have them describe personal experiences in one or both types of weather.

WEEKLY QUESTION Remind students of the Week 3 Question: How do we describe weather? Tell students that we can read about weather in informational texts, stories, and poems, and we can talk about it with each other.

EXPERT'S VIEW Jim Cummins, Professor Emeritus, University of Toronto

“The results of standardized tests may be misleading for evaluating English language learners’ progress. Because it typically takes at least four to five years for ELLs to get on grade level academically, it may appear that students are not making adequate progress. Keep in mind that native speakers of English are increasing their literacy skills every year and so ELLs have to ‘run faster’ to catch up.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based practices.

ELL Targeted Support Prior Knowledge Using gestures and pantomime, access students' prior knowledge to talk about different kinds of weather with students.

Write weather words on the board, such as snow, rain, wind, storm, thunder, and so on. Ask volunteers to use prior knowledge about these words and act out being in different kinds of weather while other students guess what weather word they are acting out. EMERGING

Display the words sunny, rainy, windy, snowy, stormy, foggy and the sentence frame: I like _____ weather. Ask students to use prior knowledge to tell what kind of weather they like. Then display the sentence frames: Today it is _____. Yesterday it was _____. Ask students to use the sentence frames to talk about the weather. DEVELOPING

Have partners find words in the poems on pp. 86–87 that are weather words. Using their prior knowledge, have partners discuss what they like or do not like about that type of weather. EXPANDING

Use students' prior knowledge to choose types of weather they are familiar with. Work with them to brainstorm words that describe the different types of weather. BRIDGING

Weather Poems

Snowflakes

The snowflakes are falling by ones and by twos. There's snow on my jacket and snow on my shoes. There's snow on the bushes and snow on the trees. It's snowing on everything now, if you please.

Weekly Question

How do we describe weather?

Rain on the Green Grass

Rain on the green grass, and rain on the tree, rain on the housetop, but not on me!

MY TURN Circle a word in each poem that tells about the weather.

Directions Read the poems to students. Have them interact with the poems by circling words that describe, or tell about, the weather.

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word answers.

Recognize and analyze literary elements within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical, and diverse literary texts.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates For Spanish-speaking students, point out the Spanish cognates in the Read Aloud.

- new : nuevo
- finally : finalmente

THINK ALOUD

Analyze Poetry After you reread the first verse of “Winter Fun,” say, I heard words that rhyme: brightly and tightly, and play and way. I also heard a rhythm. The rhyme and rhythm tell me this is a poem.

Read Aloud

Tell students that they will listen to you read two poems. Remind them that poems can tell a story, but they use rhythm and sometimes rhyme to tell it. Have students listen as you read aloud the poems “Winter Fun” and “The Storm.” Tell students to be active listeners by looking at you and thinking about what you are saying as you read aloud.

START-UP

READ-ALOUD ROUTINE

Purpose Have students listen actively for elements of poetry, such as rhyming words and rhythm.

READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.

REREAD the text aloud, pausing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

Winter Fun

The sun is shining brightly,
The kids are out to play.
Tie your laces tightly
Before going on your way.

We like to find new ways
To enjoy the world outside.
All the winter’s days,
We don’t plan to stay inside!

The Storm

Rapping on the windows,
Whooshing loudly.
Looking at the weather
Storming badly.

Snuggling under covers,
Sitting quietly.
Reading with a flashlight
Sleeping finally.

THINK ALOUD

Analyze Poetry “The Storm” has rhythm too. It doesn’t have rhyming words, but some of the words end with similar sounds: loudly, badly, quietly, finally. But I know that not all poems have to rhyme.

WRAP-UP

INTERACTIVE WHITEBOARD

Poem	Rhyming Words or Words with Similar Sounds
Winter Fun
The Storm

Tell students that poems often contain rhyming words. They may also contain other words with similar sounds. Have students listen again to the words that begin each line of “The Storm.” Guide them to recognize that each of these words ends with -ing.

ELL Targeted Support Understand Meaning Read aloud the poems, stopping as needed to explain unfamiliar words.

Discuss the meaning of key words. Explain that kids is another word for children, and that laces refers to the strings that the children might be tying on their boots. EMERGING

Clarify the meaning of whooshing, storming, sitting, and sleeping. Explain that the words name actions. Then write loudly, badly, quietly, finally on the board. Ask how and when questions. Encourage students to answer with a word from the board. DEVELOPING

Assign small groups one of the poems. Have small groups discuss the poem and talk about what it means. Then have groups share their ideas with the class. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FLEXIBLE OPTION

INTERACTIVE Trade Book Read Aloud

Conduct an interactive read aloud of a full-length trade book.

- Choose a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
- Select an INTERACTIVE Read Aloud Lesson Plan Guide and Student Response available on SavvasRealize.com.
- Preview the book you select for appropriateness for your students.

Poetry

LEARNING GOAL

I can read about weather.

OBJECTIVES

Demonstrate knowledge of distinguishing characteristics of well-known children's literature, such as folktales, fables, fairy tales, and nursery rhymes.

Discuss rhyme and rhythm in nursery rhymes and a variety of poems.

LANGUAGE OF THE GENRE

As you review the Anchor Chart, check that students understand elements of poetry.

- What does rhyme mean? What is an example?
- What does rhythm mean? How can you tell if a poem has rhythm?

FLEXIBLE OPTION ANCHOR CHARTS

Create a poetry anchor chart.

- Add rhyming words as students find them.

ELL Language Transfer

Spanish Cognates Point out the Spanish cognates related to poetry.

- poem : poema
- rhythm : ritmo
- rhyme : rima
- describe : describir

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that poems and nursery rhymes are texts made up of words arranged in lines. Tell students that nursery rhymes are a type of traditional poetry or song. Explain that you are going to discuss some of the elements of poetry and nursery rhymes.

- Poems and nursery rhymes have a rhythm or beat. Tap out a beat with students and have them repeat it.
- Poems and nursery rhymes often have rhyming words. Rhyming words have the same ending vowel and consonant sounds.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read aloud the poem on p. 98. I can hear a rhythm in this poem. I can tap the rhythm as I read. Read through the poem again. Have students tap the beat or rhythm with you.

I also heard a rhyme. Did you hear the words that rhyme? Read through the poem again, emphasizing the words spout and out at the end of the lines. Have students clap when they hear the rhyming words. Point out that the poem also uses other rhyming words within the line: itsy, bitsy.

ELL Targeted Support Rhyming Words Help students understand the features of a poem. Read aloud the rhyme several times, prompting students to read with you.

When you read, emphasize the rhyming words spout and out. Have students share words in their home language that rhyme. EMERGING

Have students work in pairs to think of words that rhyme with hat. Tell them to think of as many words as possible. Then have pairs share their ideas. DEVELOPING

Have students think of another word that rhymes with spout and out (such as shout). Then have students think of a line of poetry that might end with this word. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for identifying poetry.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn and talk with a partner about the differences between a poem and informational text. Then have partners share their ideas with the class.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text As students read poetry independently, have them identify and record rhyming words they find in the poems.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students name the elements of a poem?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for identifying poetry in Small Group on pp. T134–T135.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for identifying poetry in Small Group on pp. T134–T135.

Academic Vocabulary

LEARNING GOAL

I can use words to make connections.

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

---

Context Clues

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that they can use clues from pictures or other words in the sentences to help them understand the meaning of a word they do not know.

- What do you see in the pictures that can help you figure out the meaning of the words?
- What other words are near the word you do not know? How can these words help you understand the word you do not know?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the following sentence: The tree fell down because the wind was so extreme. The word extreme is one of our Academic Vocabulary words. What can I do if I don't know what extreme means? Let's read the sentence again. It says a tree fell over in the wind. It would take a really strong wind to knock down a tree! Extreme must mean very strong or very great. "Tree fell down" and "wind" are clues that helped me figure out what extreme means.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

For full lesson plans for these and other leveled readers, go to SavasRealize.com.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T129 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

IDENTIFY POETRY

Teaching Point Today I want to talk about the features of a poem. Poems have a rhythm, or a beat that you can tap as you read. Many poems have rhyming words, which means the sounds in the middle and the end of the words are the same, such as cat and hat. Refer back to the poem on p. 98 in the Student Interactive. Say the words itsy, bitsy and ask students what sounds are the same in the words. Ask them how these words help them picture what the spider is like.

ELL Targeted Support

Say itsy, bitsy and tell students these words rhyme. They have the same middle and ending sounds: it, sy. Say pairs of words and ask students whether they rhyme: fat/mat; hen/pen; dog/frog; cat/sit. EMERGING

Read the poem on p. 98 again and ask students to repeat the rhyming words they hear.

DEVELOPING

Work with the group to make a list of features of poetry. If needed, provide examples from one of the poems you read, such as rhyming words. Provide the sentence frame: A poem has _____.

EXPANDING

Ask students to talk in small groups about the features that poems have. Have small groups report their responses. Ask students to give an example for each feature. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

POETRY AND DRAMA

Use Lesson 40 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on the features of poetry.

LEVEL A • READ

Lesson 40 Genre: Poetry and Drama

DIRECTIONS Follow along as your teacher reads the play and the poems aloud. How are this play and the poems different from stories you have read or heard?

Time with Miss Prime

Characters: Teacher, Sam, Pat, Jake
Setting: A classroom on the first day of school
(Teacher and students sit in a circle.)
TEACHER. Let's say our names and something we like. You go first, Sam.
SAM. I am Sam, and I like jam.
PAT. (raises her hand) I am Pat, and I like my cat.
JAKE. (grinning) I like cats too! I am Jake, and I like to swim in a lake.
SAM. I like cats too! (turning to Jake) And I visited a lake!
TEACHER. I am Miss Prime, and I like to rhyme! Let's eat jam and a yam. Then let's pat a cat. Then let's pretend to take a break in a lake!
(Students all cheer.)

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Question and Investigate Have students use the information on Student Interactive pp. 98–99 to generate questions about the difference in the way weather is described in poems and in informational text. Throughout the week, have them research one of the questions. See Extension Activities pp. 311–315 in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students/3–4 minutes
per conference

IDENTIFY POETRY

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to talk about a poem they are reading and identify the words that rhyme.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Can you think of other words that rhyme?
- What might a new line of poetry sound like if you added it to the poem you read?

Possible Teaching Point Poems are often meant to be read aloud. Reading a poem aloud can help you better hear and enjoy its rhyme and rhythm.

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY THEME

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T132–T133.
- For instructional support on how to identify the theme in a book, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or more students to share a poem they have read. Have students share what they liked most about the poem.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book.
- read or listen to a previously read leveled reader or eText.
- read their Book Club text or one of the books from the suggested titles on pp. T132–T133.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw about their reading in a reading notebook.
- have partners talk about the differences between informational text and a poem.
- play the myView games.
- read aloud a favorite poem with a partner.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T452–T455, for

- ideas for facilitating Book Club.
- suggested texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.
- support for groups’ collaboration.
- facilitating use of the trade book Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Recognize that new words are created when letters are changed, added, or deleted such as it - pit - tip - tap.

Spell common high-frequency words.

Picture Cards

ELL Language Transfer

Speakers of Cantonese and Vietnamese will have little or no experience with the sound /ā/. Allow students whose home language is Cantonese or Vietnamese extra practice with long a words.

Phonics: Review Words for Short and Long a

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the van Picture Card. This is a picture of a van. Listen to the sounds in the word: /v/ /a/ /n/. I hear the sound /a/ in the middle of van. Say the sound /a/ with me. Turn the card over so students can see the spelling. What letter spells the sound /a/ in van? Students should say a.

Hold up the lake Picture Card. This is a picture of a lake. Listen to the sounds in the word: /l/ /ā/ /k/. I hear the sound /ā/ in the middle of lake. Say the sound /ā/ with me. Turn the card over so students can see the spelling. What vowel pattern spells the sound /ā/ in lake? Students should say a_e.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the word take on the board. Let's read this word together. What is the sound for t? What is the sound for the pattern a_e? What is the sound for k? Let's blend the sounds together: /t/ /ā/ /k/, take. Erase the k and write the letter p. I have changed a letter to make a new word. Let's read the new word together: /t/ /ā/ /p/, tape. Delete the letter t and continue the routine to read the new word. (ape) Repeat with the following word chain, identifying the letter that was added or changed and reading the new words: am, ham, ram.

OPTION 2 Independent Activity

Write the following words on the board in groups of four: van, ran, tan, ban; same, tame, came, fame. Have student pairs copy the groups of words on a sheet of paper, read the words together, and circle the letters that changed in the words.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students read words with short and long a?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for Phonics in Small Group on pp. T146–T147.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for Phonics in Small Group on pp. T146–T147.

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Tell students that high-frequency words are words that they will hear and see over and over in texts. Write and read the words who, there, and into. Have students

- repeat the words after you.
- spell each word, clapping as they say each letter.

Introduce the Text

OBJECTIVES

Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance.

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

Preview Vocabulary

- Read the words mound, squash, shoots, and roots on p. 100 of the Student Interactive. As you read each word, have students point to the word and say it with you.
- Prompt students to share what they know about these words. Ask questions, such as Where would you find the roots of a plant? What can you do with a squash?
- Suggest that students look for these words as you read.

Read

Read aloud the purpose for reading on p. 100 of the Student Interactive. Read the poems to discover new ways to describe weather. Tell students that having a purpose, or reason, for reading helps them take their time as they read so they will not skip important parts of the text. Discuss the First Read Strategies. In this first read, tell students to read for understanding and enjoyment. After students complete the First Read, ask: What did you like about the poems? Did you hear a rhythm?

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. During the first reading, work to understand what the text is about.

LOOK Look at the pictures to help understand the text.

ASK Generate, or ask, questions about the text to deepen understanding.

TALK Talk to a partner about the text.

Help students read the whole text independently, in pairs, or as a whole class. Use the First Read notes to help students connect with the text and to monitor comprehension.

ELL Targeted Support Vocabulary Preteach the vocabulary by having students find it in the text.

Display the words squash, mound, shoots, and roots. Direct students to p. 105 in the Student Interactive. Point to the picture of the squash plant and say the word squash. Have students repeat. Direct students to p. 106. Point to the mound in the picture. Say the word and have students repeat. Point to the plant shoots in the picture. Say the word and have students repeat. Direct students to p. 108. Point out the roots in the picture and have students say the word. EMERGING

Display the words squash, mound, shoots, and roots. Ask students to find the word squash on p. 105 and point to it. Repeat with the word mound on p. 106, and shoots and roots on p. 108. DEVELOPING

Ask students to draw a picture for one of the words. Have students take turns showing their picture to the group. The group should then guess the vocabulary word shown in the picture. Call on volunteers to use one word to describe the word that is pictured. EXPANDING

Read the words aloud with students. Have students use the words in oral sentences. BRIDGING

First Read

Read

THINK ALOUD I see that the title of this poem is “Wehh-dooj.” This is a Tuscarora term that means “it’s raining.” As I read, I am going to look for how the writer describes what happens as the children experience the rain.

Foundational Skills Extension

High-Frequency Words

Have students point to the high-frequency word into on pp. 102–103.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Social Studies

Different cultures have different languages and ways of expressing their thoughts. The Tuscarora language is verb-based, which is different from English, which is noun-based. So the meaning of “wehh-dooj” is more about the action of “it’s raining” rather than the rain.

Possible Teaching Point

Academic Vocabulary | Visualize

Point out the words the author uses to help readers visualize the rain. The author of this poem wants readers to picture what the rain is like. He says that the “water fills the air” and “soaks into our hair.”

Close your eyes and picture what this looks like. How do these words help you know? Can you find other words on page 103 that help you picture the rain? Are there just a few raindrops, or is it pouring rain?

Close Read

Vocabulary in Context

Point out the Tuscarora word Wehh-dooj (pronounced weh-tooj) on p. 103. Help students use the picture and text to figure out that wehh-dooj means “it’s raining.” DOK 2

Visualize Details

Tell students that authors use words to help readers picture what the author is writing about. Read the Close Read note on p. 105. Then work with students to find the words that help them picture the seeds. DOK 2

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Create mental images to deepen understanding with adult assistance.

Look

THINK ALOUD I will look at the pictures to better understand what I’m reading. I see that the seeds have grown into plants. I see corn and squash blossoms. The sun is helping the plants grow. The rainbow shows that it has just rained.

I see that the title of this poem has words I don’t know, but below the title it tells me what the words mean. This is how you say the words: Ees-aw-hah’ Ees-aeH is pronounced ees-ah-ha ees-eh.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Complete Sentences

Tell students that sometimes poets do not write their poems in complete sentences. Point out to students that each line of the poem begins with a capital letter, but there is no punctuation. Remind students that complete sentences end in a punctuation mark.

Foundational Skills Extension

Consonant Gg

Have students identify, or point to, the word on p. 109 that begins with the sound /g/ spelled g (Give). Point out that it is a capital letter.

108

They love “Ees-aw-hah’ Ees-aeH”
Three sisters together

109

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Social Studies

Tell students that the idea of the three sisters comes from an Iroquois legend. The youngest sister could only crawl and was dressed in green (beans). The second sister was dressed in yellow and had a way of running off by herself (squash). The third sister stood tall and straight. She wore a green shawl and had long, yellow hair (corn). The three sisters were different from one another, but they loved each other very much and never wanted to be apart from each other. Explain that the legend was important because it explained to Native Americans how to plant their crops.

OBJECTIVES

Discuss rhyme and rhythm in nursery rhymes and a variety of poems.

Create mental images to deepen understanding with adult assistance.

Respond and Analyze

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

My View

Use these suggestions to prompt students' initial responses to reading "Wehh-dooj" and "Ees-aw-hah' Ees-aeh."

- Brainstorm How did the poems tell about the weather?
- Discuss Talk with a partner about what you liked most about the poems and why.

Develop Vocabulary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that the author of the poems used specific words to tell about plants and nature.

- READ Read the word.
- THINK Think about the meaning of the word. Use the pictures and text around the word to help you understand the word's meaning.
- DISCUSS Ask yourself questions such as: What pictures can a reader use to figure out the meaning of the word? Are there other nearby words that can help readers better understand this word?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model how to complete the activity on p. 110 of the Student Interactive, using the word mound. Read aloud the word mound and then ask students to look at each picture on the page. I will look closely at each picture to find the one that is a mound. I know that a mound is a small hill or pile of earth, so that is what I'm looking for. I see it is the second picture. I will draw a line from the word to the picture.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for developing vocabulary.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Read aloud each of the words. Have students complete the matching activity on p. 110 in the Student Interactive. Tell students that familiar words can have more than one meaning. Have students identify a new meaning for the verb squash.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text As students read texts independently, have them write or draw a picture of one important word from the text.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Are students able to identify and use new vocabulary words?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T148–T149.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T148–T149.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that it is important that they learn the difference between the vowel sounds /a/ and /ā/ in English. Write the words tap, tape, man, and mane.

Read the words with students. Have them practice identifying the difference between the middle sounds in tap (/a/) and tape (/ā/) and man (/a/) and mane (/ā/). EMERGING

Read the words with students. Have them practice decoding the words with a partner. Monitor to see if they are pronouncing the middle sounds /a/ and /ā/ correctly. DEVELOPING

Ask students to list other words they know with the sounds /a/ and /ā/. EXPANDING

Have students look through content books to find words that have the sound /a/ or /ā/. Have them share what they find. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

CONNECT SOUND AND LETTER: CONSONANTS 3

Use Lesson 23 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on reviewing consonant sounds and letters.

LEVEL A • MODEL AND TEACH

Lesson 23 Connect Sound and Letter: Consonants 3

INTRODUCE Write the letters Hh and say the name (h). Explain that h is a consonant and spells the sound /h/. Ask students to hold up a hand. The word hand begins with the letter h and the sound /h/. Write or display the word hand. In this lesson, we'll learn to connect more sounds and consonant letters.

MODEL Display or share copies of the passage "Can You Do It?" from Student Page S141, and read it aloud. The words in this passage have the letters and sounds h /h/, v /v/, k /k/, j /j/, z /z/, w /w/, y /y/, q /kw/ and x /ks/.

OBJECTIVES:

- Recognize letters h, v, k, j, z, w, y, q, x and sounds /h/, /v/, /k/, /j/, /z/, /w/, /y/, /kw/, /ks/.
- Connect letters and sounds h /h/, v /v/, k /k/, j /j/, z /z/, w /w/, y /y/, q /kw/, and x /ks/.
- Identify h /h/, v /v/, k /k/, j /j/, z /z/, w /w/, y /y/, q /kw/, and x /ks/ in words.

Can You Do It?

Can you hug a hippo?
Can you kiss a zebra?
Can you jog with an ox to the vet?
Yes, I can!
I am the queen!

TEACH Use examples to help students recognize letter-sound correspondences. We read the word hug. The first letter in hug is h. The letter h stands for the sound /h/. Do the words hug and hippo begin with the same sound or different sounds? Circle each h. Continue the process until you have identified the relevant letter and sound in each of the following words: you, kiss, zebra, jog, with, ox, vet, Yes, and queen. Explain to students that the letter x and sound /ks/ usually come at the end of the word.

WHO HAD FUN?

Students can read the Decodable Book Who Had Fun? to practice reading words with sound spellings they have learned and this week's high-frequency words.

Before reading, display this week's high-frequency words: who, into, there. Tell students that these words are in Who Had Fun? When you see these words, you will know how to read them.

Pair students for reading.

High-Frequency Words

Write this week's high-frequency words three times each on sticky notes. Place the notes in a snake on the floor. Have students read each word. Have them continue until they do not know a word and have to ask what it is. They go back to read the previous word before moving on. The goal is to get to the end of the snake.

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Teaching Point Today I want to talk about some ways you can figure out the meanings of words you don't know. You can use other words on the page to help learn more about a word. You can also use the pictures to help you understand a word's meaning.

ELL Targeted Support

Use p. 103 in the Student Interactive to reinforce how to use words and pictures in the text to figure out the meaning of new words.

Point out the word drops. Tell students that you can drop something: Keo drops his pencil. Ask: Is this the meaning in this poem? (no) The word drops can also refer to raindrops. Is this the meaning in this poem? (yes) Have students point to the part of the picture that helps them understand the meaning of drops. EMERGING

Have students point to the part of the picture that tells what the word drops means in the poem. Then have them point to the part that tells what a mound is. DEVELOPING

Have students explain how knowing what the poem is about helps them know what the word drops means. Then have them point to the drops in the picture and talk about how the picture helps them know the meaning of this word. Repeat with the word mound.

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students questions about unfamiliar words they have found in the books they are reading.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What are some new words you found in this text?
- How were you able to figure out what the word means?
- Did the pictures help you know what the word means? How?

Possible Teaching Point Authors choose words carefully to tell their ideas. Knowing the meaning of all the words you read will help you better understand the text.

Leveled Readers

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

- For instructional support on how to figure out the meanings of new words, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share some new words they found and how they figured out their meanings.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- choose a favorite part of a book they are reading and read it to a partner.
- read and listen to a previously read leveled reader.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw about their reading in their reading notebook.
- work with a partner to discuss and answer the questions on p. 111 in the Student Interactive.
- work with a partner to think of other words that rhyme with the vocabulary words.
- play myView games.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Have students take turns reading poems aloud. They should identify words they do not know. Then have them work with a partner to figure out the meaning of these words.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources for Partner Reading.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Manipulate syllables within a multisyllabic word.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T140 for a high-frequency words extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Manipulate Syllables

MODEL Say the word holiday. Listen carefully as I count the syllables: hol (clap) i (clap) day (clap). How many times did I clap? Students should say three. How many syllables are in holiday? Students should say three. If I take away the last two syllables in the word holiday, what syllable is left? Students should say hol. If I take away the first two syllables in the word holiday, what syllable is left? Students should say day. If I take away the first and last syllables in holiday, what syllable is left? Students should say i.

PRACTICE Repeat the routine with the words butterfly and watermelon.

Phonics: Reinforce Words for Short and Long a, Gg, Qq

Minilesson

FOCUS Write the word gap on the board and read it with students. The word gap begins with the letter g. What sound does g spell? That's right, /g/. Say the sound /g/ with me. What sound do you hear in the middle of gap? Students should say /a/. Yes, the letter a spells the sound /a/. Write quake on the board. The word quake begins with the letters qu. What sound does qu spell? That's right, /kw/. Say the sound /kw/ with me. What sound do you hear in the middle of quake? Students should say /ā/. Yes, the vowel pattern a_e spells the sound /ā/.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Today we are reviewing the sounds /g/, /kw/, /a/, and /ā/. Have volunteers identify the letters or pattern that spells each of the sounds.

APPLY MyTURN Have students turn to p. 90 in the Student Interactive. Have them use letter-sound relationships to decode the words on the page. Then have them underline the words with /a/ spelled a and /ā/ spelled a_e, and have them circle any words with /kw/ spelled qu and /g/ spelled g.

High-Frequency Words

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue working with high-frequency words. You will see these words over and over in texts. Have students read the words at the top of p. 91 in the Student Interactive with you: who, into, there.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words at the top of p. 91. Tell them to identify and point to each word when you say it. Say who. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say there. Say into. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word.

APPLY My TURN Have students read the sentences on p. 91 with you. Ask them to identify the words who, there, and into in the sentences and underline the high-frequency words. Have them read the sentences with a partner. Then have students write one of the high-frequency words on the line.

Discuss Rhyme and Rhythm

OBJECTIVE

Discuss rhyme and rhythm in nursery rhymes and a variety of poems.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate As you discuss the text during the Close Read, model using Academic Vocabulary words:

- The poem's rhythm and rhyme have an effect on listeners.
- Noticing the rhythm of the poem can help me prepare to read it correctly.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Discuss rhyme with students. Provide some simple rhyming pairs such as can/man, hop/top, and bring/sing.

- Words that rhyme have the same middle and ending sounds.
- Listen carefully to the middle and ending sounds. Both must be the same in words that rhyme.
- In words with only two sounds, such as by and tie, listen to the last sound to tell if they rhyme.

Discuss rhythm. Explain that songs, poems, and dances have rhythm because they usually have a beat.

- Rhythm is a repeated pattern of sound. It means that you can tap along with the poem.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model how you identify rhyme in a poem. Use the words on p. 103 of the Student Interactive. I know that when words rhyme, they have the same middle and ending sounds. I will read page 103 aloud and listen for words that rhyme. Read aloud the page. I hear the same middle and ending sounds in the words ground and mound: /ou/ /n/ /d/. These words rhyme. Rhyming words make poems fun to read.

Read aloud the poem on p. 98 in the Student Interactive again. Clap the rhythm as you read it. Have students say the poem with you and clap the rhythm. Then ask them to follow the Close Read note on p. 107 by underlining the words that rhyme.

ELL Targeted Support Practice Rhyme Provide examples to help students understand rhyme.

Read aloud p. 102 in the Student Interactive. Explain that air and hair rhyme because they have the same sound: /âr/. Read aloud p. 103 and ask students which words rhyme. EMERGING

Have students follow along as you read the poems. Ask them to raise their hands when they hear words that rhyme. DEVELOPING

Provide these words: squash, beads, wash, seeds. Read aloud the words. Then ask students to tell which words have the same sounds in the middle and end. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for identifying rhyme and rhythm.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students complete the rhyme and rhythm activities on p. 112 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Ask students to find the rhythm and list the rhyming words in one of the books they are reading.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students identify rhythm and rhyme?

Decide

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

OBJECTIVE

Discuss rhyme and rhythm in nursery rhymes and a variety of poems.

Analyze Rhyme and Rhythm

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that writers of poetry use rhyme and rhythm to make poems more fun to read.

- Rhyme is when words have the same middle and ending sounds but different beginning sounds.
- Rhythm gives the poem its beat.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at p. 103 in the Student Interactive as you model. *When I read this page, I can clap the rhythm. The word ground at the end of the second line rhymes with the word mound at the end of the next line.* Ask students if they can think of any words that rhyme with mound and ground. # Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

DISCUSS RHYME AND RHYTHM

Teaching Point Today I want to teach you about rhyme and rhythm, which are important features in a poem. The rhythm is the beat. The poet has put together words so that the lines have beats. Words rhyme when they have the same middle and ending sounds. For example, the words ride, hide, and side rhyme because they have the same middle and ending sounds: /r/ /d/.

ELL Targeted Support

Tap various rhythms one at a time and have students repeat. Tell students this is rhythm. Poems have rhythm. EMERGING

Provide further practice in listening to the rhythm of a poem. Read aloud one of the poems on pp. 86–87 in the Student Interactive. As you read, clap the rhythm. Then reread, this time asking students to clap the rhythm. DEVELOPING

Ask students to tell or show what rhythm is. Then ask them to share some rhyming words.

EXPANDING

Ask partners to think of two rhyming words, then have them use that rhyming pair to make a simple two-line rhyme. Ask students to share their rhymes with the class. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

READING BEHAVIORS

Teaching Point Readers of a poem can read it aloud to better hear the rhyme and rhythm. Model reading aloud a poem to emphasize the rhyme and rhythm.

Model Read aloud “Winter Fun.” Ask students to clap to the beat as you read. Then read an informational passage from one of last week’s selections. Ask students to clap along. Point out that it is difficult to clap along to an informational text. Say: One of the differences between poems and informational texts is that poems usually focus on the sound of the language. They have a steady beat. Informational texts focus only on the information. It is hard—or impossible—to clap along to an informational text.

Conferring

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to tell about a poem they are reading. Have them identify rhyme and rhythm in the poem.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What is the poem about?
- What words in this poem rhyme?
- Clap the rhythm of this poem as you read it.

Possible Teaching Point Recognizing the rhythm of a poem is important because it helps you read it more smoothly. You will also enjoy the poem more if you read it with rhythm.

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY THEME

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T132–T133.
- For instructional support on how to identify the theme of a book, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- reread and listen to a poem they have read.
- read aloud or recite a poem for a partner to hear.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write about or draw something from a poem they have enjoyed.
- play the myView games.
- make a list of rhyming words they can find in a book they are reading.
- work with a partner to think of words that rhyme.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

Keep a log of the books that students have read. Encourage them to rate the books on their log by putting a star next to the books they like most.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share rhyming words they found.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Have students play the game Who Am I? by describing things they see in the room. Monitor their English translations and pronunciations.

Read Who Am I?

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 92 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story today about two boys who play a guessing game. Point to the title of the story. The title is Who Am I? I hear a word with the sound /a/. Have students find and point to the word Am in the title. In this story, we will read other words that have the sounds /a/, /ā/, /g/, and /kw/.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week’s high-frequency words: who, there, into. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story Who Am I? Display the words. Have students read them with you. When you see these words in the story Who Am I?, you will know how to identify and read them.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 92–93

DECODABLE STORY

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

Who Am I?

There is a game we like!
I am little and white.
I can be made into a man.
Who am I?

92

Gil, you are a flake!
Now I will go.

Underline the words with the long a sound.

93

READ Have students whisper read the story as you listen in. Then have them reread the story with a partner. Listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode words. Partners should reread the story. This time the other student begins.

After students have read the story, review the words with the sound /ā/ they read in the sentences on pp. 92–93. Have them underline the words with the sound /ā/ spelled a_e. Have students read the words to you.

Call students' attention to the sentences on p. 92. Which words are high-frequency words that we learned this week? Point to them. Help students identify, or say, the words into and Who.

Have students turn to pp. 94–95. I see some words with the letter g. Who can tell me which words have the sound /g/ spelled g? Students should identify the words big, get, and game. Have students highlight the words with the letter g.

I also see a word with the letters Qu on page 95. Which word do you see that begins with Qu? Students should identify the name Quade.

If students struggle, revisit instruction in Small Group on pp. T146–T147.

If students show understanding, extend instruction in Small Group on pp. T146–T147.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 94–95

DECODABLE STORY

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

I am big and yellow.

I get quite hot.

Who am I?

Quade, you are the sun.

This is a fun game!

Highlight the words with the letter g.

Visualize Details

OBJECTIVES

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

Discuss with adult assistance how the author uses words that help the reader visualize.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate As you discuss the text during the Close Read, model using Academic Vocabulary words by using them in questions about comprehension:

- What effect did the rain have on the seeds?
- How did the children prepare to plant the seeds?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that good readers visualize the details in a text as they read.

- Visualizing means forming a picture in your mind.
- The picture can include what things look, sound, feel, smell, and even taste like.
- Poets use describing words and words that are interesting to help readers visualize details.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Turn to p. 102 of the Student Interactive and read aloud the page. When I read the words “Water fills the air,” I picture heavy rainfall. The phrase “soaks into our hair” makes me picture children with water dripping from their hair onto their faces and running down onto their clothes. Being able to picture the words helps me understand the poem better.

Have students close their eyes as you read the lines on p. 103. After reading, have them open their eyes and tell what they pictured. Then ask students to follow the Close Read notes on pp. 105 and 109 by highlighting the words that help them visualize details in the poems.

EXPERT'S VIEW Judy Wallis, Literacy Specialist and Staff Developer

“When doing multiple readings of an anchor text, the first reading is about the whole—the genre, the key ideas, the author’s purpose. The second reading is about the parts, and students may only need to reread parts of the text, not the whole text. You might focus on the structure of the text, the author’s word choice, or perhaps the problem and resolution. Then return to the whole text for application and practice: What is the author of this text trying to communicate?”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based practices.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for visualizing details.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students use what they have highlighted in the poems to draw pictures on p. 113 of the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text During independent reading, ask students to stop and close their eyes and think about what they are reading. Then have them draw a picture that shows what they visualize.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students visualize details to better understand a poem or other text?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for visualizing details in Small Group on pp. T162–T163.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for visualizing details in Small Group on pp. T162–T163.

ELL Targeted Support Visualizing Provide practice in visualizing to help students understand the strategy.

Tell students to close their eyes. Say: It rained and rained. I got very wet. My feet were muddy. Explain that they should make a picture in their mind of what they hear as you read. Ask: What did you see? EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Say: The rain splashed on the sidewalk. Have partners draw a simple picture in response to the sentence. Then ask partners to compare their drawings. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 113

Read Together READING WORKSHOP

Visualize Details

MY TURN Draw

seeds Drawing should show three seeds planted together.	shoots Drawing should show three shoots growing together.
---	---

Directions Remind students they can use details in a text to visualize, or picture in their mind, what is happening. Ask them to discuss words the author uses that help them picture the seeds and shoots in the poems. Then have students draw what they picture. Remind them to use what they highlighted in the text.

113

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T161 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

VISUALIZE DETAILS

Teaching Point When you visualize, you use the descriptive words in a poem or story to make a picture in your mind. Authors choose words when they write that will help readers picture what is happening. Readers can visualize what a detail in the story or poem looks, sounds, feels, smells, or even tastes like. This makes what you are reading more interesting and helps you better understand it.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide icons to help students identify the five senses they will use when visualizing. Read aloud a short section from a previous text and ask students what they see, as you point to the icon for seeing. EMERGING

Ask students to close their eyes and visualize as you read. Then have students talk about what the scene looks and sounds like. DEVELOPING

Ask students to close their eyes and visualize as you read. Have them tell you what they picture. Encourage students to think about what the scene looks, sounds, and feels like. For Bridging students, have them identify the words or phrases that give clues about what the scene is like. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

WHO HAD FUN?

Have students read the Decodable Book Who Had Fun? Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students chorally read the Decodable Book.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Then record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

VISUALIZE DETAILS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to show you the pictures they drew after visualizing a text.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What part of the text does the picture show?
- What words helped you make this picture in your mind?
- What can you visualize about how it sounds or feels?

Possible Teaching Point Visualizing helps you pay attention to what you are reading. It makes you an active reader and helps you enjoy what you are reading.

Leveled Readers

VISUALIZE DETAILS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T132–T133.
- For instructional support on how to visualize details, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share a description or picture of what they visualized from one of the texts they have read.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to a text they read.
- read a trade book or their Book Club text.
- read a favorite part of a book to a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw what they visualize.
- share their drawings from p. 113 with a partner and describe what they visualized.
- practice reading aloud a poem or book they are reading with a partner.
- play the myView games.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

It is important to tell students what they are doing right as readers. Look for opportunities to tie your positive feedback to what students learned in the minilessons. If the student reads a poem, for example, focus on their correct use of rhythm.

See the Small Group Guide for resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Recognize spoken alliteration or groups of words that begin with the same spoken onset or initial sound.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Picture Cards

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice with high-frequency words, have students complete My Words to Know p. 264 from the Resource Download Center.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILL
Read Together

Name _____

My Words to Know

who    there    into

MY TURN Underline and write

Jon went into the den. There was a hum. "Who is there?" he said. His cat jumped into his lap. "Hi, Zip!" he said.

into there
who

Directions: Have students read the words in the word bank. Then ask them to read the story and underline the high-frequency words. Have them write the words on the lines.

Grade K, Unit 5, Week 3
© Pearson Education, Inc., or its affiliates. All rights reserved.

My Words to Know, p. 264

Phonological Awareness: Recognize Alliteration

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they will do more work with alliteration. Ask: Who can tell me what alliteration is? Students should say alliteration is when all or most words in a sentence begin with the same sound. Say the following aloud: Quinn quietly asked a question. What sound do most of the words begin with? Students should say /kw/. Have students come up with another word with the sound /kw/ to continue the alliteration.

Repeat the routine with the following: Gil got green grapes. Meggie made a mud pie.

PRACTICE Display the following Picture Cards: garden, goat, goose. Say each picture name aloud. What sound do you hear at the beginning of each word? Yes, /g/. Now think of two more words that begin with the sound /g/. Repeat the activity with the following Picture Cards: quarter, queen, quilt; ladybug, lake, leaf.

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some sentences. The sentences we read will all include sounds and high-frequency words you have already learned.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 96 in the Student Interactive. Name the pictures on the page with students. Have a volunteer read the first sentence. Guide students to circle the picture that matches the sentence.

APPLY My TURN Have students finish p. 96 in the Student Interactive. Then have students look at p. 97 and read the sentences. Have them unscramble the words in the word bank to finish the story.

ELL Targeted Support Seek Clarification Tell students to ask questions about what they do not understand.

- Ask your teacher to repeat something more slowly.
- Ask your teacher to explain the meaning of a word.
- With partners, ask classmates to explain an idea or word.

Read the sentences on p. 97 in the Student Interactive aloud as students listen. Have students seek clarification if they do not understand the meaning of a word you say. Provide this sentence frame: What does ___ mean? EMERGING

Read the sentences on p. 97 aloud as students listen. Have students seek clarification about words you say that they do not understand. Ask a student who does understand the word to explain or act out its meaning. DEVELOPING

In small groups, have students take turns rereading the decodable story. Have listeners ask questions and confer with other students to seek clarification of words the reader said that they do not understand. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Remind students that high-frequency words are words that appear over and over in texts. Remind them they are learning many of the words this year, and the words will help them become better readers. Say the word who and ask students what letters are used to spell the word. Have students

- say the letters as you write them on the board.
- say and spell the word, touching their toes for each letter.
- repeat with there and into.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 96–97

REVIEW AND REINFORCE

Sentences I Can Read

MY TURN Read and circle

The quilt is pretty.

Play the game.

They go in the lake.

96

Directions Say: Read the first sentence. Now look at the pictures. Circle the picture that matches the sentence. Have students continue with the remaining sentences.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

Sentences I Can Read

MY TURN Read and write quit! We not will

She will rake a pile.

I can fill the bag.

He will dig up a stone.

We will not quit!

Directions Ask students to read the sentences. Have them use the words in the word bank to write the last sentence for the story. Alternatively, students may wish to write their own last sentence.

Reflect and Share

OBJECTIVES

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the unit Academic Vocabulary words to talk about the Weekly Question and unit theme:

- What is extreme weather like?
- How can we measure how much rain falls?

Write to Sources

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that we can write to compare two texts. When writing to compare two different texts, students should know that

- a poem uses rhyme and rhythm, but other types of texts do not.
- poems and informational texts may both tell about the same topic, such as the weather.
- readers can look at what two texts say about the same topic to learn more about that topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model what it means to write a comparison of two texts. Before I start writing, I think about texts I have read on the same topic. For example, I just read about rainy and sunny weather in two poems. The poems told how the rain and sun helped the seeds the children planted grow big and strong. I think about other books I have read about rain and sun. I can compare the information. I can see if I find out more about how plants need sun and rain. Then I can start writing.

ELL Targeted Support Compare and Contrast Help students understand the concept of comparing and contrasting in English. Provide the cognates compare/comparar, contrast/contrastar, and different/diferente for Spanish-speaking students.

Display the words compare, contrast, alike, and different. Model using these words in simple sentences using concrete objects such as a book and a notebook. For example: A book and a notebook are alike and are different. I can compare them. Both have pages, so they are alike. I read a book but I write in a notebook, so they are different. Support students in comparing other students or objects in the room. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Create a simple T-chart with the headings Rainy Weather and Sunny Weather. Have students discuss in small groups how the two types of weather are the same and different. Ask groups to share ideas and record these on the T-chart. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Apply

Have students use the strategies for making comparisons across texts.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students turn to p. 114 in the Student Interactive and write sentences about weather using what they learned from the poems and another text they have read.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students tell a partner about another text they have read about weather. How is it different from the poems they read?

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Are students able to compare information from two or more texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T168–T169.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T168–T169.

WEEKLY QUESTION Have students use evidence from the texts they have read this week to respond to the Weekly Question. Tell them to discuss in small groups.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 114

RESPOND TO TEXT

Reflect and Share

 MY TURN Write

Possible response:

Rain falls from the sky. It soaks into dirt.

It helps plants grow.

Weekly Question

How do we describe weather?

 114 Directions Tell students they read about rainy and sunny weather. Ask them to think of other texts they have read about rainy and sunny weather. Have students respond to sources by writing about one type of weather using details from the poems and from another text.

Copyright © Savvas Learning Company LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T167 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE TEXTS

Teaching Point Today I want to remind you about how you can compare what you read in different texts. As you read, think about what you have read in another book that is the same or different. For example, if you read a poem about planting seeds in the rain, think about other texts you have read about rain and plants. Create a simple T-chart and help students compare one of the poems in the Student Interactive with another text about rainy weather or sunny weather.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide a word bank with weather-related terms, such as sunny, rainy, windy, cloudy, cold, or hot. Have students complete sentence frames: The weather in the poem is _____. The weather in _____ is _____. EMERGING

Work with students to generate a list of weather-related terms. Have them use these words to describe similarities and differences in the poem and other text. Provide sentence frames: The weather in the poem is _____, but the weather in _____ is _____. DEVELOPING

Have partners complete sentence frames to describe one similarity and one difference between the poem and another book: The poem and the book are the same because _____. The poem and the book are different because _____.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

COMPARE TEXTS

Remind students of the poems they read this week. Then have them think about the informational texts they read in this unit. Engage students in a conversation that demonstrates how the poems support their understanding of weather. Encourage use of the Academic Vocabulary words measure, extreme, prepare, and effect. Ask, for instance, whether any of the poems are about extreme weather.

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Organize Information and Communicate

Have students organize their findings on weather into a format to share with others. Have students share their findings.

Critical Thinking Talk with students about what they learned and the process they used.

See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

COMPARE TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to talk about how the weather is described in two texts they have read.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What type of information does each book provide about weather?
- Which book did you like better? Why?

Possible Teaching Point When you compare things, you use language such as like and similar to. When you contrast things you use words such as unlike or different from.

Leveled Readers

COMPARE TEXTS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T132–T133.
- For instructional support on how to make comparisons between ideas, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share how the weather is described in two texts they have read.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a text with a partner, coaching each other as they read the book.
- read a self-selected text.
- reread and/or listen to their leveled reader.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write or draw in a notebook to show what they learned about weather.
- discuss with a partner how the weather is described in a book or poem they have read.
- play the myView games.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T452–T455, for

- teacher’s summary of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.
- talking points to share with students.
- collaboration prompts and conversation starters.
- suggestions for incorporating the Discussion Chart.
- alternate texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.

WEEK 4 LESSON 1 READING WORKSHOP GENRE & THEME

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES
Listen actively and take appropriate notes on informational text.
Recognize main ideas and details of informational text.
Analyze and evaluate informational text.

ELL Language Transfer
Objective: Read for the Spanish language. The Read Aloud identifies the purpose for reading the main idea of the text.
• compare - compare

THINK ALOUD: Analyze informational text. How do you know the text is informational? How do you know it is informational? How do you know it is informational? How do you know it is informational? How do you know it is informational?

Read Aloud
Tell students that you are going to read about an informational text. Remind them that informational texts give facts and details about real topics. This informational text is about droughts and why and how people save water. Ask students to actively listen to the text you will read aloud.

START UP
READ-ALOUD ROUTINE
Purpose: Have students listen actively to determine the purpose for the text.
READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.
RECALL the read aloud passage to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

Saving Water
Droughts happen when there's not enough rain or other water for a long period of time. They can be just as damaging as floods, where there is too much water.
During a drought, farmers have a hard time growing crops because plants need water to grow. People use water for many things too, like cooking and bathing.
When there is a drought, it's important to do things to help conserve, or save, water. Some things people can do to save water include:

Fiction Lesson Plan

SWF
Interactive Read Aloud
• Analyze students' comprehension.
• Analyze students' reading and language development.
• Provide an opportunity to model fluency and expressive reading.
• Foster a love and enjoyment of reading.

PLANNING
• Select a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school curriculum.
• Analyze the big ideas of the story.
• Determine the Teaching Point.
• Write open-ended questions and model Think Alouds on sticky notes and digital sticky notes of the genre where you plan to stop in the book.
• Review the book's title, author, illustrator, and genre.
• Give the title and genre of the story.
• Read and identify the main idea.
• Give your thoughts and your overall background necessary for understanding.
• Discuss the vocabulary essential for understanding.

BEFORE READING
• Show the cover of the book to introduce the title, author, illustrator, and genre.
• Give the title and genre of the story.
• Read and identify the main idea.
• Give your thoughts and your overall background necessary for understanding.
• Discuss the vocabulary essential for understanding.

DURING READING
• You can choose to do a first reading so students get the gist of the story and apply Think Alouds and open-ended questioning to a chapter from the book.
• Read with expression to draw in listeners.
• Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
• Use Think Alouds to model strategies while readers use to monitor comprehension and connect meaning from text.
• Help students make connections to their own experiences, how they have used them in the past, or the world.

AFTER READING
• Summarize and allow students to share thoughts about the story.
• Student reader comprehension by writing the main or big idea of the story.
• Discuss and assign a Student Response Form available on Readaloud.com.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Demonstrate phonological awareness.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Picture Cards

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T200 for a consonants k and s extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Substitute Phonemes

MODEL Hold up the fan Picture Card. Listen to this word: /f/ /a/ /n/, fan. What are the sounds you hear in fan? Students should say /f/ /a/ /n/. Let's change the sound /f/ in fan to make a new word. We will change the /f/ to /b/. Listen: /b/ -an. The new word is ban. Continue substituting beginning, middle, and ending phonemes to make these words: bat, bet, met, mat, map.

PRACTICE Display the kite Picture Card. Guide students as they look at the picture and say the word. Have them slowly segment the phonemes. Then have them substitute the beginning, middle, and ending phonemes to make new words, such as Kate/late, late/lace, lace/lice, lice/mice. Have students name the word that explains the second picture on Student Interactive p. 124. (sit) Then have them substitute beginning, middle, and ending phonemes to make new words, such as fit/fill, fill/fall, fall/mall.

Phonics: Review Words for Kk, Ss

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the kite Picture Card. What sound do you hear at the beginning of kite? Have students identify /k/. The letter k spells the sound /k/ in kite. Turn the card over and read the word kite with students. Have students tell you the letters that are in the word kite. Now let's practice reading more words with the sound /k/. Write the words Kate, Kim, and kid on the board. The first letter in each of these words, k, spells the sound /k/. Circle the k in each word. Read the list with students. Repeat the activity for the letter Ss using the slide Picture Card and these words: sat, set, self, Sam.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write these words on the board: Kip, sand, sip, kit. Have students read the words together.

APPLY MyTURN Have students look at p. 124 in the Student Interactive. Read the words with students. Now we will use these words to complete the sentences. What does the first picture show? Students should say a bike. What word finishes the sentence I have a ___ and tells about the first picture? Students should say bike. Have students write the word bike on the line. Then have them complete the activity.

ELL Targeted Support Practice with /s/ Spelled s Tell students that they have just reviewed the sound /s/ spelled s. Tell them that learning the sounds and letters that make English words will help them understand English better.

Give each student a card with the letter s on it. Say the following words one at a time: sit, jump, sack. Have students listen and repeat after you. If the word has the beginning sound /s/, they should hold up their s card. EMERGING

Write these words that have the beginning sound /s/: soap, sing, send. Read each word aloud as you point to the s. Then have students read the words with you. Have them come up with one more word with the beginning sound /s/ spelled s to add to the list. DEVELOPING

Have students think of a word that begins with the letter s. Have students take turns telling you a sentence using the word. Write the sentence or have the student write the sentence. Then have the student draw a picture to illustrate the sentence. Have students share their work briefly with the class. EXPANDING/ BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Display the high-frequency words out, so, and then, and read them aloud.

- Have students point to the word out and read it.
- Repeat for so and then.

Interact with Sources

OBJECTIVES

Describe personal connections to a variety of sources.

Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Language of Ideas The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas. Use these words to teach and reinforce instruction throughout the lesson. For example, as you discuss the infographic, ask: How can we prepare for bad weather? What effect can extreme weather have?

- effect
- prepare
- measure
- extreme

Songs and Poems Big Book

See the Songs and Poems Big Book for selections that relate to the unit's theme.

Explore the Infographic

Have students recall the Unit 5 Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather? Then introduce them to the Weekly Question: How can we protect ourselves in bad weather? Tell students that they should stay indoors during bad weather. Explain that bad weather might be rain, snow, or storms. Tell students we can learn a lot about how to protect ourselves and stay safe in bad weather.

Have students follow along as you turn to p. 122 of the Student Interactive and point to the pictures of the supplies people gather to get ready for bad weather. Then read the infographic to students and use the points below to help them follow along.

- Ask students to talk about how the boy in the picture on p. 123 of the Student Interactive feels during the snowstorm.
- Ask students to point to and name each of the items in the supply kit on pp. 122–123. Help them read labels and identify objects as needed.
- Ask students to think about how each item in the kit can help people stay safe in bad weather.
- Have students summarize what they can do to get ready for a storm or other types of bad weather.

Encourage students to ask questions about the infographic to clarify any information they do not understand.

TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students interact with sources by using the pictures and text on pp. 122–123 to talk about the kind of supplies they would pack to get ready for bad weather.

WEEKLY QUESTION Return to the Week 4 Question: How can we protect ourselves in bad weather? Invite students to share their ideas. Help them identify questions they may have about the infographic.

ELL Targeted Support Learning Techniques Use the following strategic learning techniques to help ELL students acquire vocabulary related to preparation for bad weather.

For students who are unfamiliar with the names for some of the supply kit materials on pp. 122–123 in the Student Interactive, point to each picture and say each word aloud. Have students use the learning technique of repetition by saying the names after you multiple times. Guide them to pronounce the words correctly. EMERGING

Invite students to use the learning technique of drawing to acquire the words clothing, flashlight, batteries, food, water, radio, and bandages. Then prompt them to say the names of the items they drew. DEVELOPING

Have students use the learning technique of oral sentences to help them acquire vocabulary from the infographic. Ask them to complete the following sentence frames: This is a picture of _____. It helps people _____. EXPANDING

Have students use the learning technique of oral sentences by generating their own sentences about what the items in the supply kit are and how they would use the items. BRIDGING

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Point out the Spanish cognates in the Read Aloud. Identify the cognates that relate to the main idea of the text.

- plants : plantas
- conserve : conservar

 THINK ALOUD Analyze Informational Text After you reread the first paragraph, say: I can know this is an informational text because it gives me facts and details about a topic. It tells about droughts. I can tell what a drought is. I can tell what happens as a result of a drought.

Read Aloud

Tell students that you are going to read aloud an informational text. Remind them that informational texts give facts and details about real topics. This informational text is about droughts and why and how people save water. Ask students to actively listen to the text you will read aloud.

START-UP

READ-ALOUD ROUTINE

Purpose Have students listen actively to determine the purpose for the text.

READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.

REREAD the text aloud, pausing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

Saving Water

Droughts happen when there's not enough rain or other water for a long period of time. They can be just as damaging as floods, where there is too much water.

During a drought, farmers have a hard time growing crops because plants need water to grow. People use water for many things too, like cooking and bathing.

When there is a drought, it's important to do things to help conserve, or save, water. Some things people can do to save water include:

“Saving Water,” continued

1. Turning off the water when brushing your teeth.
2. Fixing leaky faucets right away.
3. Taking short showers, not baths.
4. Using the dishwasher and washing machine only when they are full.
5. Planting plants that need less water in the year, and watering during cooler times of the day.

THINK ALOUD Analyze

Informational Text After you reread the numbered list, say: This text tells some steps people can take to save water. The steps are numbered. This is a way the author organizes the text to make it easier to read.

WRAP-UP*INTERACTIVE WHITEBOARD*Saving Water

Use the chart to help students identify facts and details about saving water.

ELL Targeted Support Asking for Clarification Remind students that they can ask for help when they do not understand something.

Model how to raise your hand and ask for clarification. Give examples:

Please repeat that more slowly. What does ____ mean?

EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have students take turns sharing questions they can ask if they do not understand something. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FLEXIBLE OPTION*INTERACTIVE*Trade Book Read Aloud

SPOTLIGHT ON GENRE

Informational Text

LEARNING GOAL

I can read informational text.

OBJECTIVES

Restate and follow oral directions that involve a short, related sequence of actions.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the steps in a sequence with adult assistance.

LANGUAGE OF THE GENRE

As you review the Anchor Chart, check that students understand what “steps in a sequence” means.

- What is another word for sequence?
- What words can be used to talk about steps in a sequence?

FLEXIBLE OPTION
ANCHOR CHARTS

Continue to add to your informational text anchor chart.

- Add steps to the chart. Discuss what a step is.
- Talk about the way each step was introduced.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that today they will learn about informational texts. Informational texts tell about real things or events. Informational texts give facts and do not tell a story.

- Informational texts can tell the steps of a sequence.
- Some informational texts tell the reader how to do something.
- Steps in a process may be numbered like a list.
- Restating the steps in a sequence aloud can help readers understand an informational text.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students that steps in a sequence can be identified by looking for numbered lists or cue words such as first, next, and last. Model looking for steps using the Read Aloud text. Say: I see a numbered list in this informational text, so I think it is telling me the steps in a process. These steps tell how to save water during a drought. I can retell the steps in order and follow or act out the steps I say to help me remember what to do. Read the steps aloud to students and have them orally restate the steps in order.

ELL Targeted Support Steps in a Sequence Provide students with language to talk about steps in a sequence. Explain that steps are the things that you do.

Have students look at the pictures on p. 134 of the Student Interactive. Say the word for each picture and have students repeat after you. Check understanding by using the word in a sentence: I wear boots when it rains. Have students point to the word you have used. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Introduce ordinal numbers. Write 1 on the board. Say the word first. Have students repeat after you. Repeat with 2 as you say second, and 3 as you say third. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use strategies for identifying sequences in informational text.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn and talk with a partner about the steps shown on p. 134. They should take turns restating what to do first, next, and last. Have students follow the directions by acting out the steps as their partner restates them.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students look at and read other informational texts in the classroom library during independent reading. Have students use sticky notes to mark numbered lists or other clues that show the book is an informational text.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students locate steps in a sequence in an informational text?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction about informational texts in Small Group on pp. T186–T187.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for informational texts in Small Group on pp. T186–T187.

EXPERT'S VIEW Lee Wright, Teacher Specialist, Houston, TX

“Engaging students in small group instruction requires a “hands-on and minds-on” approach. You want your students’ bodies to be actively engaged. You can accomplish this by providing them with multiple opportunities to listen, talk, and write during small group time. Likewise, you want their minds actively engaged. This can be accomplished through the use of higher-order thinking questions paired with follow-up discussions during small-group time.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

Academic Vocabulary

LEARNING GOAL

I can use words to tell about informational text.

OBJECTIVE

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

ELL Access

Languages such as Chinese, Hmong, and Vietnamese do not use inflected endings to form verb tenses. Help students understand that adding -ed to a verb indicates that the action happened in the past.

Word Parts

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that word parts are small parts of words that are added to a word to make a new word. Word parts can change the meaning of a word.

- Explain that we add -ed to some words to show that an action happened in the past.
- We can add un- to the beginning of a word to make a word with an opposite meaning.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the words work and kind. Model how word parts change the meaning of words. I can add -ed to the word work to tell what I did yesterday: I worked hard yesterday. I can describe someone who is not kind by adding un-: She is very unkind. Write the words jump and ask. Have students add -ed to the end of each word and tell what the new words are. Write open and even. Have students add un- to the beginning of each word and tell what the new words are.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Write Simple Sentences

FOCUS Explain to students that a sentence starts with a capital letter at the beginning of the first word and ends with a punctuation mark, such as a period.

MODEL Demonstrate for students how to write a simple, complete sentence. I want to write this sentence: He can hop. I need to start the first word with a capital H. I make sure I form the letters correctly. Write the word He. Now I need to make sure to leave a space before the next word, can. Write can, leaving a space after He. Now I write the last word, hop. I leave a space and make sure I form the letters correctly. I finish the sentence with a period. Finish writing the sentence, and add a period. Demonstrate additional simple sentences as needed.

Guided Reading Instruction Prompts

To support the instruction in this week's minilessons, use these prompts.

Identify Informational Text

- Does the text give facts about a topic?
- Does the author describe a sequence, or the order that steps happen?
- Does the author tell about each step?

Develop Vocabulary

- What is a word that you do not know?
- How do the pictures help you figure out what the word means?
- Which picture shows the word ___?
- What words did you need to figure out while reading the text? Are there any words you still do not know?

Compare and Contrast Texts

- What are the topics of the texts? How are they the same?
- How are the texts organized? Do they tell about how to do something? Do they tell about things in order?
- How are the texts different?

LEVEL C

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T181 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

Teaching Point Today we are going to talk about a type of text we have read before. It's called informational text. Remember that informational texts give facts and details about a topic. Some informational texts let us know how to do things. They may tell steps in a sequence. Look back at pp. 134–135 in the Student Interactive to review how the numbered pictures show a sequence.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that the pictures on p. 134 in the Student Interactive show the steps for getting ready to go out into the rain.

Point to the pictures and numbers on p. 134. Ask: What does the author show first about getting ready for the rain? EMERGING

Point to the pictures of the boots, raincoat, and umbrella in order. Ask students to say first, next, and last as you point to them. Have them then repeat the words on their own as you point to the pictures again. DEVELOPING

Invite students to use the following sentence frames to name the steps in a sequence for getting ready for rain: First, put on ____. Next, ____. Last, ____. EXPANDING

Ask students to retell the steps for getting ready to go out in the rain using their own words.

BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

NONFICTION TEXT

Use Lesson 46 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for additional instruction on understanding informational texts.

LEVEL A • READ

Lesson 46 Genre: Nonfiction Texts

DIRECTIONS Follow along as your teacher reads aloud "Why Cats Are the Best Pets." Think about why the author wrote this text.

Why Cats Are the Best Pets

I think cats are the best pets. Let me tell you why.

First, cats like to snuggle. My cat is so soft!

Cats are also fun to play with. It is funny just to see them play too.

Cats do not eat too much. So it does not cost a lot to have a cat.

Please think about getting a cat. Many cats need a safe place to live.

Now you see why cats are such good pets. If you want a pet, I say get a cat like mine!

Assess 2–4 students

INQUIRY

Question and Investigate Have students think of something they want to learn to do, such as play a game or make a sandwich. During the week, have them research to find out the steps they would take to do it. See Extension Activities pp. 311–315 in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to look back at the sticky notes they put in their independently read texts.

Possible Conference Prompts

- How do you know that what you read is an informational text?
- Does the text tell about steps in a sequence?
- What facts and information does the text give?

Possible Teaching Point Think about what the author wants you to know. Does the text teach you how to do something?

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY INFORMATIONAL TEXT

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T184–T185.
- For instructional support on how to notice informational text elements, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together as a whole group. Invite two or three students to share what they learned about identifying informational texts, and celebrate what they learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book.
- reread the infographic on pp. 122–123 in the Student Interactive on their own.
- begin reading their Book Club text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- work with a partner to discuss the anchor chart on p. 135 of the Student Interactive.
- play the myView games.
- choose a passage of text and with a partner take turns reading the page with prosody.
- work with a partner to complete the Turn and Talk on p. 134 in the Student Interactive.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T438–T441, for

- ideas for continuing Book Club.
- suggested texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.
- support for groups’ collaboration.
- facilitating use of the trade book Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Picture Cards

ELL Language Transfer

The sound /w/ does not transfer to Vietnamese and Hmong speakers. Please allow these students extra practice when speaking words with the sound /w/.

Phonics: Review Words for Ww, Mm

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the web Picture Card. This is a picture of a web. Listen to the sounds in the word: /w/ /e/ /b/. I hear the sound /w/ at the beginning of web. Say the sound /w/ with me. Turn the card over so students can see the spelling. What letter spells the sound /w/ in web? Students should say w.

Hold up the mask Picture Card. This is a picture of a mask. Listen to the sounds in the word: /m/ /a/ /s/ /k/. I hear the sound /m/ at the beginning of mask. Say the sound /m/ with me. Turn the card over so students can see the spelling. What letter spells the sound /m/? Students should say m.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Listen carefully to the following words: win, wide, make, mom. What sound do you hear at the beginning of each word? Say the words one at a time, and have students identify the beginning sound in each word.

Apply

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students complete p. 125 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Independent Activity Have students look around the classroom for items whose names begin with /w/ spelled w and /m/ spelled m. Have them choose one item for each sound. Help them write the word, use it in a sentence, and draw a picture of the word.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students read and write words with w and m?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for consonants w and m in Small Group on pp. T204–T205.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for consonants w and m in Small Group on pp. T204–T205.

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Tell students that high-frequency words are words that they will hear and see over and over in texts. Write and read the words out, so, and then. Have students

- repeat the words after you.
- spell each word, clapping as they say each letter.

Introduce the Texts

Tornado Action Plan

Compare Texts

Point out that students will read two texts in this lesson, Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan. As they read, encourage students to think about the Week 4 Question: How can we protect ourselves in bad weather?

Blizzard Action Plan

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

Preview Vocabulary

- Introduce the vocabulary words on p. 136 in the Student Interactive and have students raise a hand if they know the word.
- Have students share what they already know about the words. Provide prompts: What happens in a tornado? Can you think of someone or something powerful?
- These words are used in the selection Tornado Action Plan. Let's see if we can find them together as we read.

Read

Discuss the First Read Strategies with students. In this first read, encourage students to read for understanding and enjoyment. After students complete the First Read, ask: What is the text about? What did you like best? What did you learn?

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. During the first reading, think about the main topic and the most important details.

LOOK Look at the pictures to understand more about what to do before and during a tornado.

ASK Generate, or ask, questions about the text to deepen understanding.

TALK Talk to a partner about the steps to follow if a tornado comes.

Students may read independently, in pairs, or as a class. Use the First Read notes to help them connect with the texts and to monitor comprehension.

ELL Targeted Support Use Visual and Contextual Support Tell students that they can use visual and contextual support, or word and picture clues, to help develop their knowledge of new vocabulary words. Write the words tornado and powerful on the board.

Say the words aloud and have students repeat after you. Have students use the picture on p. 137 in the Student Interactive to help them define the words. EMERGING

Write and read aloud this sentence: A tornado is a storm with powerful wind that can cause damage. Have students use context and picture clues to define each vocabulary word. DEVELOPING

Read aloud p. 138 in the Student Interactive. Have students use visual and contextual support to discuss the meanings of the vocabulary words with a partner. Ask volunteers to share their definitions with the group. EXPANDING

Read aloud p. 138 in the Student Interactive. Have students use visual and contextual support to determine the meanings of the vocabulary words. Ask students to use the vocabulary words in sentences that show their meaning. BRIDGING

Look

 THINK ALOUD I see the word swirling on p. 138. If I don't know what this word means, I can look at the pictures for clues. The picture helps me see that swirling means spinning around and around, like the winds that reach from the clouds to the ground.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Science

Explain to students that tornadoes are a kind of weather event. Tell them that weather changes from day to day. Tornadoes are often quick storms that can last from just a few seconds to more than an hour. Most tornadoes last for about ten minutes.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 138-139

Foundational Skills Extension

Consonants Ww and Mm

Read aloud p. 138 and ask students to raise their hands when they hear a word that begins with the sound /w/. Ask them to point to the word winds. Then read p. 139 and ask students to identify the word that begins with /m/ spelled M.

Close Read

Ask and Answer Questions

Read aloud the Close Read note on p. 139. Model how to ask questions about the text and look for the answers on the page. Point out the title on p. 137 and ask: What is a tornado? Then help students look on p. 138 for the answer. DOK 3

OBJECTIVES

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 140-141

Choose a safe area in your home.
This could be a basement or even a closet.

140

CLOSE READ

What are two things you should do to prepare for a tornado? Underline what you should do.

Pack a bag.
Pack clothes and a flashlight.
Keep the bag in the safe area.

141

First Read

Read

 THINK ALOUD There is a numbered list on page 142. It tells what to do when a tornado comes. This list makes me think of the features of an informational text. The list shows the steps of a sequence. I know that these steps should be done in order.

CURRICULUM-CONNECTIONS PERSPECTIVES

Science

As you read about safe areas in a home, stop to discuss some possible places that may be common in people's homes. In addition to a basement or closet, point out that people can stay safer from a tornado if they go to a room with no windows. A place with no windows may be a hallway or a bathroom.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 142-143

If a tornado comes:

1. Go straight to the safe area.
2. Wait for the tornado to pass.

142

A tornado action plan will keep you safe.

143

Possible Teaching Point

Read Like a Writer | Analyze Text Structure

Use the Read Like a Writer lesson on pp. T212–T213 in the Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge to teach about different text structures. Point out that p. 142 of the Student Interactive has a list of steps. The author chose to include the steps as a list. Read the steps aloud. Ask students how the list helps readers better understand the information.

Close Read

Compare and Contrast Texts

Read aloud the Close Read note on p. 141 and work with students to identify details in the text that show what they should do during a tornado. Then tell students they will read another text about a weather safety plan. Work with students to determine how the two weather plans are alike and different. DOK 3

OBJECTIVE

Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

Introduce the Texts

Tornado Action Plan

Compare Texts

Before students read Blizzard Action Plan, tell them that afterwards, they will compare and contrast the steps with the steps in Tornado Action Plan.

Blizzard Action Plan

OBJECTIVES

Ask and answer questions about unknown words in a text with adult assistance.

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

Preview Vocabulary

- Introduce the vocabulary words on p. 144 in the Student Interactive.
- Ask students to share what they already know about these words. Prompt with questions: Can you think of someone who is strong? What time of year might you see a blizzard?
- Ask students to look and listen for these words as you read Blizzard Action Plan.

Read and Compare

Compare Texts Prepare students to compare and contrast ideas across texts. We just finished reading Tornado Action Plan. As we read Blizzard Action Plan, think about how the steps for a tornado action plan and a blizzard action plan are alike and different. Discuss the First Read Strategies with students.

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. During the first reading, work to understand what the text is about.

LOOK Look at the pictures to help you understand more about what a blizzard looks like and what you can do to stay safe.

ASK Generate, or ask, questions about the text to deepen understanding.

TALK Talk to a partner about the texts and the steps for staying safe during a blizzard and a tornado.

Help students read independently, in pairs, or as a class. Use the First Read notes to help students connect with the texts and monitor comprehension.

ELL Targeted Support Use Connecting Words Help students use connecting words, such as but and and, as they compare and contrast the two texts.

Say the following sentence: A blizzard action plan ____ a tornado action plan will both keep you safe. Repeat the sentence, including the connecting word and. Say the sentence again, having students say the connecting word after you. EMERGING

Display the connecting words but and and on the board. Then write the sentence from the Emerging activity on the board, and have students tell you which connecting word completes the sentence. DEVELOPING

Write the following sentence frames on the board: Tornadoes cause damage, ____ blizzards cover everything in snow. Tornadoes ____ blizzards are both powerful. Have students tell you if and or but should complete each sentence and then write in the word. EXPANDING

Have students come up with their own sentences to compare and contrast the action plans using connecting words and then share these sentences with the class. BRIDGING

Read

 THINK ALOUD I see that the text on page 146 tells me what a blizzard is. It says here that it is a strong snowstorm. I can tell from the picture that blizzards are very windy, too. The text also says that blizzards bring wind.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Science

Explain to students that blizzards happen where it is cold. In the United States, blizzards are most likely to occur in the Midwest and Great Plains. Use a map of the United States to show students where these regions are. Point out your location on the map. Discuss whether blizzards are likely to happen where you live. Talk about how other parts of the country might have different weather.

Ask

THINK ALOUD The text says that exercise keeps us warm. I wonder what kinds of things I can do for exercise indoors. I guess playing on the pillows like the girl in the pictures on page 150 is a kind of exercise. So is playing indoor golf. These things can keep me warm if I am cold, and they are fun too.

Foundational Skills Extension

Consonants Kk and Ss

Read aloud p. 148 and ask students to raise their hands when they hear a word that begins with the sound /k/. Ask them to point to the word kit. Continue by rereading the page and asking students to identify the word that begins with /s/ spelled s. (supply)

VOCABULARY
IN CONTEXT

What does exercise mean? Highlight details that help you understand the meaning of the word. Use the picture too.

Possible Teaching Point

Read Like a Writer | Text Structure

Point out that the text on p. 149 shows steps in a sequence. Point to numbers 1 and 2 on the list, and then turn the page and point to number 3 on p. 150. Explain that the numbers show which step should be done first, next, and last. Reread the text with the words first, next, and last in place of the numbers 1, 2, and 3.

Close Read

Compare and Contrast Texts

Read aloud the Close Read note on p. 149. Help students find examples of what to do in a blizzard. DOK 3

Vocabulary in Context

Point out the word exercise in the text. I don't know what the word exercise means, so I'll ask myself questions. Then I'll answer those questions. I see the boy playing miniature golf. Exercise might be like playing. Exercise and playing are both moving my body. Tell students to ask and answer questions about words they don't know as they read. DOK 2

OBJECTIVE

Ask and answer questions to determine or clarify the meaning of unknown words.

Respond and Analyze

Compare Texts

- Tornado Action Plan
- Blizzard Action Plan

OBJECTIVES

Restate and follow oral directions that involve a short, related sequence of actions.

Describe the relationship between illustrations and the text in which they appear.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Retell texts in ways that maintain meaning.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

My View

Model following and restating oral directions using the act of brushing your teeth. Say the steps before and after each gesture. Next, direct the steps toward students, having them follow oral directions by mimicking the actions, and then ask them to restate the step afterward. Then summarize the informational texts Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan one at a time for students. Explain that telling steps you have read about in order and following or acting out the steps you say can help you remember what to do. Orally retell the steps for each action plan as you act out the steps.

- Talk Ask students to find a page or picture that they thought was interesting or a fact about tornadoes or blizzards that they did not know before. Invite them to restate the directions for tornado and blizzard action plans and follow the directions by acting out the steps.
- Retell Ask students to summarize what each text was mostly about.

Develop Vocabulary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that readers can use nearby words and pictures to figure out the meaning of an unknown word in a text.

- READ Read the word.
- THINK Think about the meaning of the word. Use nearby pictures and text to help you understand the word's meaning.
- ASK Ask yourself questions, such as How do the pictures help me understand the meaning of the word?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Think aloud about how to complete the activity on p. 152 of the Student Interactive. The words snows and windy can help me know whether to use the word blizzard or tornado. I know that a blizzard is both a snowy and windy weather event. A tornado is just a windy weather event. Provide additional support to students as needed.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for developing vocabulary.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students look at the word powerful on p. 138 and the word strong on p. 146. Invite partners to talk about how the words are similar and how they are both used to describe bad storms. Then have them complete the activity on p. 152 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students look for descriptive words that help them understand something better in a text they are reading independently. Tell them to use sticky notes to mark two or three words they think are most important.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students use context clues to learn or clarify word meanings?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T206–T207.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T206–T207.

Check for Understanding My TURN Have students complete the Check for Understanding on p. 153 of the Student Interactive.

Word Work Strategy Group

WORDS FOR Ww AND Mm

Alphabet Cards Display the Ww Alphabet Card. This is a picture of a watermelon. Watermelon has the beginning sound /w/. What letter spells the sound /w/? Yes, the letter w.

Display the Mm Alphabet Card. This is a picture of a motorcycle. Motorcycle begins with the sound /m/. What letter spells the sound /m/? Yes, the letter m.

Work with students to think of other words that begin with the sounds /w/ and /m/. Record words or draw the pictures on the board.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that when they mispronounce a word, they should try to say it again or ask others for help. Provide a grade-appropriate text to help students pronounce words with /w/ and /m/.

When students mispronounce the sounds /w/ and /m/, gently correct their errors. EMERGING

Monitor students as they read aloud and help them self-correct mispronunciations. Provide correct pronunciations for words with the sounds /w/ and /m/. DEVELOPING

Encourage students to monitor their speech and self-correct. Have students provide feedback to one another as they speak. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

CONNECT SOUND AND LETTER: CONSONANTS 1

Use Lesson 21 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on connecting consonant sounds and letters.

LEVEL A • MODEL AND TEACH

Lesson 21 Connect Sound and Letter: Consonants 1

INTRODUCE Write the letters Mm, say the name (m), and have students repeat after you. Explain that m is a consonant and spells the sound /m/. Point to something that begins with m, such as a map. What sound do you hear at the beginning of map? Write the word map. In this lesson, we'll learn how letters and sounds connect.

MODEL Display or share copies of the following passage, "Mac and Sam," from Student Page S133, and read it aloud. The words in this story have the letters and sounds /l/, /r/, /s/, /t/, /m/, /i/, and /p/.

Mac and Sam

I have a tiny pup.
His name is Mac.
Mac likes to run for his ball.
I have a tiny cat.
Her name is Sam.
Sam likes to sit on my lap!

TEACH Use examples of words to help students recognize letter-sound correspondences. Say: The first word in the title is Mac. It begins with the letter M. The other name in the title is Sam. It begins with the letter S. The letter M stands for the sound /m/ and the letter S stands for the sound /s/. Point out letter-sound correspondences in the story for /l/, /r/, /t/, and /p/.

Intervention Activity

PHONOLOGICAL AWARENESS

For students who need support, Phonological Awareness lessons are available in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide, Lessons 5–20.

Independent/Collaborative

Word Work Activity

BUILD WORDS WITH LETTER TILES

Distribute Letter Tiles to students. Have students practice forming words with sounds /w/ and /m/, such as wet, met, men, and wit.

Students can also play the Letter Tile game in the myView games at SavvasRealize.com.

Decodable Book

OUT THERE

Students can read the Decodable Book Out There to practice reading words with sound spellings they have learned and this week's high-frequency words.

Before reading, display and remind students of this week's high-frequency words: so, out, then. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the Decodable Book Out There. When you see these words in today's story, you will know how to read them.

Pair students for reading and listen as they use letter-sound relationships to decode. One student begins. Students read the entire story, switching readers after each page. Partners reread the story. This time the other student begins.

High-Frequency Words

Have students make word cards for this week's high-frequency words. Prompt them to practice reading each word with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Decodable Book

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T203 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Teaching Point Sometimes we can learn or clarify the meaning of a new word by looking at the other words nearby it in a text. Tell students that sometimes the other words in a text will help make it clear which vocabulary word belongs and which one does not (for example, in a cloze sentence activity). Guide students in using context clues in familiar texts to clarify the meanings of words.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students understand context clues.

On the board, write the sentence My favorite animal is _____. Remind students that animal is a context clue. This means they should respond with an animal name. EMERGING

On the board, write the sentence I ate _____ for lunch. Ask students which words are context clues. Circle the words ate and lunch if students are confused. Be sure they respond with the name of a food. DEVELOPING

On the board, write the sentence My favorite game is _____. Ask partners to find the context clue in the sentence. Then have them correct any errors in their partner's response.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

WHO HAD FUN?

Have students reread the Decodable Book Who Had Fun? Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students take turns reading the Decodable Book aloud with a partner. Ask pairs to try to read all of the words smoothly.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Talk About Independent Reading Have students share the new vocabulary words they marked as they read independently. Help them learn, clarify, and use these words by referencing nearby context clues.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What is a new word you found?
- What else in the text or pictures helps you understand this word?

Possible Teaching Point Look carefully at all the words on the page so you can understand what the text is saying. Find context clues to help you understand unfamiliar words.

Leveled Readers

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T184–T185.
- For instructional support on how to use context clues to understand new or unfamiliar words, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite volunteers to share one or two words whose meanings they were able to learn. Ask them how they learned the meanings. Celebrate what the class has learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to Tornado Action Plan.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- partner-read a text, coaching each other as they read and pausing to look for context clues when they encounter new words.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- work with a partner to discuss the questions on p. 153 of the Student Interactive.
- play the myView games.
- take turns with a partner to try to define unfamiliar vocabulary words using context clues.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

By practicing independent reading, students can build their ability to use the relationships among words to aid in comprehension.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend spoken phonemes to form one-syllable words.

Segment spoken one-syllable words into individual phonemes.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Recognize that new words are created when letters are changed, added, or deleted such as it - pit - tip - tap.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T193 for a consonants w and m extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Phonemes

MODEL Say the word yak. Listen to the sounds as I say this word slowly: /y/ /a/ /k/. How many sounds do you hear in the word /y/ /a/ /k/? Yes, there are three sounds. Now listen as I say the sounds quickly: yak. The word is yak.

Say the word wig. Listen carefully as I say this word: /w/ /i/ /g/. What is the first sound in wig? Say it with me: /w/. What is the second sound in wig? Say it with me: /i/. What is the third sound in wig? Say it with me: /g/. Now let's say all the sounds in wig together quickly. Say it with me: wig.

PRACTICE Say the following words: pen, ran, box, top, pup, kit. Have students segment and blend the phonemes in each word.

Phonics: Reinforce Words for Kk, Ss, Ww, Mm

Minilesson

FOCUS Write the word kin on the board. This is the word kin. I can read the word: /k/ /i/ /n/, kin. I hear the sound /k/ at the beginning. The sound /k/ can be spelled with the letter k. Repeat with the word win. Then say: Look at the words kin and win. One letter was changed to make a new word. What letter was changed? Yes, the letter k was changed to the letter w. Write am and Sam on the board. Read the words, and explain that the letter S was added to the word am to make the new word Sam. Write kit and it on the board. Read the words, and explain that the letter k was deleted, or taken away, from the word kit to make the new word it.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Today we are reviewing the sounds /k/, /s/, /w/, and /m/. Have students identify the letter that spells each sound. Write these words: at, sat, set, wet; Kim, Tim, Tam, am. Have students read the words and name the letter that was changed, added, or deleted to make each new word.

APPLY TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn to p. 126 in the Student Interactive. Have partners read the words and identify what letters were changed, added, or deleted to make the new words.

High-Frequency Words

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue working with high-frequency words. You will see these words over and over in texts. Have students read the words at the top of p. 127 in the Student Interactive with you: out, so, then.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words at the top of p. 127. Tell them to identify and point to each word when you say it. Say out. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say so. Say then. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word. Encourage students to use the words in sentences.

APPLY My TURN Have students read the words on p. 127 with you. Ask them to identify the words out, so, and then in the sentences. Have them underline the high-frequency words in the sentences. Then have the students read the sentences with a partner.

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice with consonants k, s, w, and m, have students complete Phonics p. 257 from the Resource Download Center.

Compare and Contrast Texts

Compare Texts

- Tornado Action Plan
- Blizzard Action Plan

OBJECTIVES

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Identify basic similarities in and differences between two texts on the same topic.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas. Model using these words as you discuss the two selections. For example, ask:

- What effect do both tornadoes and blizzards have?
- How can you prepare for both kinds of extreme weather?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that the more they read, the more they will be able to compare and contrast the different texts and ideas they read about.

- Comparing means telling how things are alike.
- Contrasting means telling how things are different.
- Comparing and contrasting texts helps readers understand a topic.

Tell students that they should think about ways the texts are similar and different from each other.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students that both Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan give a plan about how to prepare for a storm. Model how to examine the steps in a process presented in each text.

- I see a two-step plan on page 142 of Tornado Action Plan that tells how to prepare for a tornado. I must go to a safe area and wait for the storm to pass.
- I can compare this to the three-step plan on pages 149–150 of Blizzard Action Plan. It tells me the steps for preparing for a blizzard. I must stay inside in warm clothes. But I can eat and play to stay warm!
- The plans are alike because they both help me prepare for storms. But the plans are different, too. Tornadoes pass quickly so I just need to wait in a safe place. Blizzards take a longer time. I must stay warm during that whole storm.
- Compare Texts Have students turn to the Close Read notes on pp. 141 and 149 and underline the words that tell what you should do to prepare for each type of storm.

Expert's View Pamela Mason, Harvard University

“We think that simple sentence structures are very straightforward for children, but they can get thrown off by a simple switch in structure, such as ‘said he’ versus ‘he said.’ If students transpose words in a text, it is important to think about why: Was this a real decoding error or was it a semantic reversal which is not important to making meaning?”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for comparing and contrasting texts.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students turn and talk with a partner about how a tornado and a blizzard are similar and different. Have them use the sentence frames: A tornado is like a blizzard. Both ____. A tornado is ____, but a blizzard is ____. Have students complete p. 154 in the Student Interactive. Make corrections to student responses as needed.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students use colored sticky notes to write or draw a list of similarities between two texts they have read independently.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students compare and contrast informational texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for comparing and contrasting informational texts in Small Group on pp. T214–T215.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for comparing and contrasting informational texts in Small Group on pp. T214–T215.

ELL Targeted Support Compare and Contrast

Provide students with sentence frames they can use to talk about the texts. The texts are alike. They both ____. The texts are different too. One text ____. The other text ____. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have student pairs compare and contrast the texts by discussing their similarities and differences. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Directions Read the headings on the Venn diagram aloud. Have students draw one way the ideas in Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan are alike in the center section. Then have them draw one way the ideas in the texts are different in each outside circle. Remind students to go back to what they underlined in the texts.

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

OBJECTIVE

Discuss with adult assistance how the use of text structure contributes to the author's purpose.

ELL Access

Text Structure Tell students that authors sometimes use pictures in their texts to give information and make the text clearer.

Analyze Text Structure

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that the structure of a text is how the author puts the text together.

- Some texts use many photos to tell a story or give information.
- Some texts give steps to tell how to do something.
- Some texts tell a story with no pictures.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Ask students to turn to p. 159 in the Student Interactive. Guide them to think about the text structure of both texts. Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan have some things in common. Both are informational texts. There is also something about the structure, or the way they are put together, that is similar. Both have numbered steps.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Write Simple Sentences

FOCUS Remind students that sentences start with a capital letter and end with a period or other punctuation mark. We leave a tiny space between letters and a bigger space between words.

MODEL Demonstrate for students how to write a simple sentence. I want to write a sentence about the weather: It is hot. There are three words in this sentence. The first word is It. I need to use a capital letter. I write capital I and the letter t. Write the word It. I know I need to leave a space between words in sentences. I write the word is. I make sure to form the letters correctly. I leave another space before writing the last word, hot. I start by forming the letter h. Then I write an o and a t, making sure to form them correctly. Write the word hot. The sentence is finished, so I need to add a period. Add a period after the word hot.

Writing Workshop

Have students look back at their Writing Workshop drafts and look at the way they structured their texts. During conferences, guide students in finding ways they can organize their texts to make them easier to read and understand.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE AND CONTRAST TEXTS

Teaching Point Today I want to talk about how we can compare and contrast texts to learn how weather events can be alike and different. We can read two texts to compare and contrast tornadoes and blizzards. Look back at p. 137 in Tornado Action Plan and p. 145 in Blizzard Action Plan. Talk about the cover of each selection and what each shows about the weather.

ELL Targeted Support

As you teach comparing and contrasting texts, provide students with instruction and interactions during which they can learn new expressions.

Have students look at p. 138 in the Student Interactive. Point out the phrase powerful storms. Then turn to p. 146 and do the same for the phrase strong snowstorms. Ask students what each expression makes them think about. EMERGING

Ask students to use the expressions powerful storms and strong snowstorms by completing the following sentence frames while talking to a partner: Tornadoes have strong ____. Blizzards have strong ____. DEVELOPING

Share more difficult expressions with students that are relevant to one or both of the weekly selections. Have students repeat the expressions back to you and say what they mean. EXPANDING

Ask volunteers to make up their own expressions that express how they feel about either blizzards or tornadoes. Have students share their expressions with a partner. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

READING BEHAVIORS

Teaching Point Readers can better understand a text by visualizing details in the text.

Model Read a passage aloud from Tornado Action Plan or Blizzard Action Plan. Then close your eyes and describe to students what you are picturing in your mind. Ask students to repeat by closing their eyes and picturing the details from the passage you read. Have one or two volunteers tell what they visualized.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

COMPARE AND CONTRAST TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share some of the similarities they noted between the texts they compared.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What is a similarity between these texts?
- How does comparing texts help you learn about the topic?

Possible Teaching Point Readers who compare and contrast different texts can learn more about a topic.

Leveled Readers

COMPARE AND CONTRAST TEXTS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T184–T185.
- For instructional support on how to compare and contrast texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to share what they learned by comparing and contrasting texts. Celebrate what they learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to Tornado Action Plan and Blizzard Action Plan or another text they have previously read.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- support each other in retelling their independent reading books with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- complete the diagram on p. 154 in the Student Interactive.
- play the myView games.
- compare another book to Tornado Action Plan or Blizzard Action Plan.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

Help students set goals for their reading and provide them with charts or other records for keeping track. Encourage them to track progress toward their goals.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources for independent reading.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Have students play the game Can We Be Out? by describing things they do outside. Monitor their English translations and pronunciations.

Read Can We Be Out?

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 128 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story today about children who do things outdoors. Point to the title of the story. The title is Can We Be Out? I hear a word with the sound /w/. Have students find and point to the word We. In this story, we will read other words that have the sounds /k/, /w/, /m/, and /s/.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week’s high-frequency words: out, so, then. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story Can We Be Out? Display the words. Have students read them with you. When you see these words in the story Can We Be Out?, you will know how to identify and read them.

Underline the words with the letter k.

READ Have students whisper read the story as you listen in. Then have students reread the story with a partner. Listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode words. Partners should reread the story. This time the other student begins.

Call students' attention to the sentences on pp. 128–129. Which words are high-frequency words we learned this week? Point to them. Help students identify, or say, the words out and so.

Have students review the words with the letter k they read in the sentences on pp. 128–129. Have them underline the words with the sound /k/ spelled k. Then have students read the words to you.

Have students turn to pp. 130–131. I see some words with the letter m. What sound does m spell? Students should identify, or say, the sound /m/. Have students highlight the words with the sound /m/ spelled m.

Ask and Answer Questions

Compare Texts

- Tornado Action Plan
- Blizzard Action Plan

OBJECTIVES

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the unit Academic Vocabulary words as they ask and answer questions about the texts. For example, provide question frames with the vocabulary words:

- What effect do ____ have?
- How can we prepare for ____?
- Why is a ____ an example of extreme weather?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that one of the best ways to understand what they are reading is to ask questions about the text. Then they can look at the text again to find the answer.

- Was there a word or idea you did not understand? Ask a question about it.
- Look back at the pictures and reread the text to find details that will help you answer your questions.
- If you are reading two similar texts, you can compare your questions and answers to help you understand how the ideas in the texts are connected.

Students learn to become better readers when they ask questions and then reread the texts to find the answers. Each new Close Read may help them answer their questions, but point out that not every question asked about a text can be answered by doing another Close Read.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Guide students through the process of asking and answering questions by examining the safety plan on p. 142 of Tornado Action Plan and using the rest of the text to help answer the question. Explain that they should look on different pages to find the answers to their questions.

- On page 142 of Tornado Action Plan, the text says what I should do to stay safe in a tornado. I have a question: Why should I follow this plan?
- I can look back in the text to try to answer the question I just asked about the tornado plan.
- When I reread the text, I can see why I should follow the plan. On page 143, it says that a tornado action plan will keep me safe. I asked a question, and then I answered it.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for asking and answering questions about texts.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Direct students to complete the MyTurn activity on p. 155 in the Student Interactive. Have students work in pairs to ask and answer questions about the texts.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Invite students to ask a question about another text they have read. Have them reread the text to answer the question. If the question cannot be answered by rereading, have students brainstorm other places they might look for the answer.

✓ QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students ask and answer questions about informational texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for asking and answering questions in Small Group on pp. T220–T221.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for asking and answering questions in Small Group on pp. T220–T221.

Below this is the title 'Ask and Answer Questions' and a short paragraph: 'We can ask and answer questions to get information and better understand a text.' The main activity is 'MyTURN', which says 'Write and draw'. A 'Possible response:' is provided: 'What is a blizzard?'. Below this, it says 'Drawing should show an answer to the question based on evidence from the text.' At the bottom, there are 'Directions' and a page number '155' in a green triangle.

Ask and Answer Questions

We can ask and answer questions to get information and better understand a text.

MYTURN Write and draw

Possible response:

What is a blizzard?

Drawing should show an answer to the question based on evidence from the text.

Directions Read the information aloud. Then have them dictate or write a question they had about the text during reading or a new question they ask about the text. Prompt them to look back at what they highlighted. Then have students use text evidence to draw a picture to answer their question.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T219 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

ASK AND ANSWER QUESTIONS

Teaching Point When you find something interesting in a text, it is good to ask questions about it. Asking questions will help you understand what you read. Never be afraid to ask questions when you are reading! Encourage students to ask questions as they read. Help them seek opportunities to generate questions about the text.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students understand the correct structure for questions in English.

Write on the board: What does this say? Say the question and have students repeat it. Point out that you know it is a question because it begins with a question word and ends with a question mark. EMERGING

Write on the board: What does this mean? Say the question and have students repeat it. Point out that questions begin with a question word. Have students practice asking questions. Write their questions on the board and correct the structure as needed. DEVELOPING

Have partners write their own simple questions. Ask them to share their questions with the group. Correct the structure of the questions as needed. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

OUT THERE

Have students reread the Decodable Book Out There. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students orally read passages from Tornado Action Plan, focusing on reading with appropriate expression.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads a passage from Tornado Action Plan. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

ASK AND ANSWER QUESTIONS

Talk About Independent Reading Have students ask questions about their independent reading and have them answer the questions.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What did you want to know more about in the text? What questions did you have and how could you answer them?
- What was unusual or confusing about the text? What questions did you have and how could you answer them?

Possible Teaching Point Curious means you want to know more about things. Be curious as you read, and you will have many good questions about the text.

Leveled Readers

ASK AND ANSWER QUESTIONS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T184–T185.
- For instructional support on how to ask and answer questions about texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class together. Invite one or two students to share the questions they thought of and their best answers to the questions. Celebrate what students have learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread or listen to a text they read.
- read a trade book or their Book Club text.
- practice asking and answering questions while reading the text with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- write questions they have about a text.
- play the myView games.
- discuss a text from the week as a class, finding opportunities to ask big questions.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Partner reading is a good time for students to practice asking and answering questions in response to what they read. One partner can ask a question; the other can answer it. Working cooperatively, students will be able to think of more types of questions to ask.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Phonological Awareness: Manipulate Syllables

MODEL Display the kangaroo Picture Card. This is a picture of a kangaroo. Listen carefully as I count the syllables: kan (clap) ga (clap) roo (clap). How many times did I clap? Students should say three. How many syllables are in kangaroo? Students should say three. If I take away the first two syllables, what do I have left? Students should say roo. If I take away the last two syllables, what do I have left? Students should say kan. If I take away the first and last syllables, what do I have left? Students should say ga.

PRACTICE Repeat the routine with the kitten and umbrella Picture Cards.

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some sentences. The sentences we read will all include sounds and high-frequency words you have already learned.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 132 in the Student Interactive. Use letter-sound relationships to decode the words in the bank with students. Have a volunteer read the first sentence and tell you which word from the bank belongs in the sentence. Guide students as they trace wet on the line. Then have a student read the sentence.

APPLY MyTURN Guide students to finish p. 132 in the Student Interactive.

APPLY MyTURN Have students look at p. 133 in the Student Interactive. Have them identify the letters in the bank. Then have them fill in the correct letter to complete the word in each sentence.

ELL Targeted Support Seek Clarification Tell students to ask questions if they do not understand something.

- Ask your teacher to repeat something more slowly.
- Ask your teacher to explain the meaning of a word.
- With partners, work to understand the translation of a word.

Read the sentences on p. 133 aloud. Ask students questions about the sentences, such as What is the weather like? What happened to Mom? EMERGING

Read the sentences on p. 133 aloud. Provide Spanish translations of difficult words to help clarify their meanings: sun, sol; take, tomar; walk, caminar; wet, mojada. Then have students say the words in English. DEVELOPING

Have students ask questions about English words they can not translate to their home language. Have other students help with translations. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Remind students that high-frequency words are words that appear over and over in texts. Remind them they are learning many of the words this year, and the words will help them become better readers. Say the word out and ask students what letters spell the word. Have students

- say the letters as you write them on the board.
- say and spell the word, touching their toes for each letter.
- repeat with so and then.

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Offer students oral practice using the Academic Vocabulary words to reflect on the text and make connections to other texts, the unit theme, and the Weekly Question. For example, ask:

- What effects does extreme weather have on people?
- How do people prepare for such weather?

Talk About It

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that, after they compare and contrast two texts, it is important to think about what they learned. Tell students that after they compare the texts, they should

- be able to summarize how the texts are alike.
- be able to summarize how the texts are different.
- share information and ideas using complete sentences.
- ask questions to understand information they hear and answer questions about their own ideas.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Ask students to turn to p. 156 in the Student Interactive. Reread the text for students. This activity can help me compare the texts I read. It can help me name the steps in a process too. Instead of using a numbered list like in the texts, I can use the words first, next, and last. First, I'll think about tornadoes. Next, I'll think about blizzards. Provide additional examples of possible thought processes that students can use to handle the Reflect and Share activity on p. 156.

ELL Targeted Support Provide sentence frames to help students tell what the book is about.

- A tornado plan has steps. First, _____. EMERGING
- The next thing to do is _____. DEVELOPING
- During a blizzard, I should first _____. EXPANDING
- Next, I should _____. The last thing is to _____. BRIDGING

Allow students to draw their responses as they summarize what they learned.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for making comparisons across texts.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students complete the Turn and Talk activity on p. 156 in the Student Interactive by talking with a partner about the steps for preparing for a tornado or blizzard. Then have them compare the texts by talking about how the steps are alike and different.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students summarize what they learned about weather by comparing their independent reading text with one of this week's selections.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students make comparisons across texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T226–T227.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for comparing texts in Small Group on pp. T226–T227.

WEEKLY QUESTION Have students use evidence from the texts they have read this week to respond to the Weekly Question. Tell them to discuss in small groups.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 156

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T225 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE TEXTS

Teaching Point We have read two texts that tell us how to stay safe in bad weather. When we read texts that tell about similar topics, we can compare them and tell how the information is alike and different. Emphasize to students the importance of comparing texts to be able to get the very best information available on an important topic.

ELL Targeted Support

Provide support as students demonstrate comprehension of the texts by retelling and comparing them.

Ask questions to prompt students as they retell and compare the texts. For example, ask: What is the first step? What is the next step? What is one step that is the same in both plans? Allow students to use gestures and actions to answer your questions. EMERGING

Provide sentence frames that students can use as they retell and compare the texts. For example: First, you should _____. Next, you should _____. One way the plans are the same is _____.

DEVELOPING

Have students work in groups of three or four to retell and compare the texts. Students can help each other understand more complex words and ideas. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

COMPARE TEXTS

Remind students of the texts they have read: “Be Prepared!” Tornado Action Plan, and Blizzard Action Plan (among others). Engage students in a conversation that demonstrates how the texts they have read this week support their understanding of how we can protect ourselves in bad weather. Encourage students to use the Academic Vocabulary words measure, extreme, prepare, and effect.

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Organize Information and Communicate

Help students organize their lists of weather preparedness steps into a format that is easily shared with others. Possibilities include making a book of weather preparedness strategies or arranging students’ lists on poster board to be displayed.

Critical Thinking Talk with students about what they learned and the processes they used.

See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes per conference

COMPARE TEXTS

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to retell independently read texts. Encourage students to retell the texts in ways that bring out the texts’ importance, relative to students’ own lives.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Tell me what this text was about. Focus on the parts that were most important to you.
- Can you tell me the most important things that you learned from the text?
- How is this like the action plans we read?

Possible Teaching Point As you retell a text, try to think back to reading. Tell all the parts of the text that you remember.

Leveled Readers

COMPARE TEXTS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T184–T185.
- For instructional support on how to compare the most important information in texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite one or two students to retell texts in their own words, in ways that preserve meaning. Celebrate what the class has learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and/or listen to Tornado Action Plan or Blizzard Action Plan with a partner.
- read a self-selected text.
- reread and/or listen to their leveled reader.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- discuss and/or draw in notebooks in response to the Weekly Question.
- act out a tornado preparedness routine or a blizzard preparedness routine.
- play the myView games.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T438–T441, for

- teacher’s summary of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow.
- talking points to share with students.
- collaboration prompts and conversation starters.
- suggestions for incorporating the Discussion Chart.
- alternate texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.

WEEK 5 LESSON 1 READING WORKSHOP GENRE & THEME

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES
 Listen actively with your partners to understand and summarize what someone else says.
 Respond to questions about what you heard.

Read Aloud
 Tell students that you are going to read a drama to them. Explain to them that a drama is a story that can be acted out by people (sometimes called actors). The people in a drama are its main characters. These students have carefully thought that they think about how the drama is like a story and how it is different.

START UP
READ-ALOUD ROUTINE
 Purpose: Have students listen actively in order to identify the drama's main characters.
READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud captions.
RESPOND to the text about, drawing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

What Happened?
 Setting: Saul's family has just gotten home from vacation. Saul flops down on his bed, exhausted from a long trip home. Then he remembers Pepita, a plant that Saul has grown to love.
 Saul races into the kitchen to see his plant and is shocked to see its droopy leaves.
 Saul (shouting): Dad! My plant is dead!
 Dad: I'm so sorry, Saul. The plant must not have gotten enough to eat while we were away.
 Saul: No, Dad. Pepita is a Venus flytrap. These plants need to eat only once a month. And I fed

Fiction Lesson Plan

INTENT
 Interactive Read Aloud
 • Increase students' comprehension.
 • Increase students' reading and language development.
 • Provide an opportunity to model fluency and expressive reading.
 • Foster a love and enjoyment of reading.

PLANNING
 • Select a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
 • Identify the big idea of the story.
 • Determine the Teaching Point.
 • Write open-ended questions and model Think Alouds on sticky notes and place them at the back of the page where you plan to stop to discuss the story.
 • Record the Story's
 • Record Questions,
 • Setting, Plot,
 • Character Traits,
 • Main Characters,
 • Response Area of the story.

BEFORE READING
 • Show the cover of the book to introduce the title, author, illustrator, and genre.
 • Discuss the cover as a whole class.
 • Read the title and genre aloud.
 • Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
 • These Think Alouds to model strategies related to reading comprehension and content meaning from text.
 • Have students make predictions for their own experiences, how they have read, and what they expect to see, hear, or feel.

DURING READING
 • You can choose to do a first reading so students get the gist of the story and apply Think Alouds and open-ended questioning for a second time over the text.
 • Read with expression to draw in listeners.
 • Ask questions to guide the discussion and draw attention to the teaching point.
 • These Think Alouds to model strategies related to reading comprehension and content meaning from text.
 • Have students make predictions for their own experiences, how they have read, and what they expect to see, hear, or feel.

AFTER READING
 • Summarize and allow students to share thoughts about the story.
 • Student answer comprehension by writing the main or big idea of the story.
 • Discuss and assign a Student Response Form available on Read.com.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend syllables to form multisyllabic words.

Segment multisyllabic words into syllables.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Alphabet Cards

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T253 for a consonants l and n extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Remind students that syllables are the beats we can hear in words. Today we are going to practice breaking apart and putting together word parts. Hold up pictures of the sea and a horse. This is a picture of the sea. This is a picture of a horse. Watch as I put the two parts together to say my word. Hold the pictures together. My word is seahorse. Now I will segment the word, or break it into parts again. Pull the pictures apart. The word parts are sea and horse. Have students blend and segment the syllables in seahorse as you put the pictures together and pull them apart.

PRACTICE Tell students that now they will play a game. Give two volunteers a picture of a sun and a flower. Ask students to guess what word the word parts might make together. Then have the volunteers put their pictures together as students blend the syllables to say the multisyllabic word. Have the volunteers pull the pictures apart as students segment the syllables. Continue with these pictures: jelly, fish; basket, ball; butter, fly.

Phonics: Review Words for l, Nn

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the l Alphabet Card. What sound do you hear at the beginning of lemon? (/l/) What letter spells the sound /l/? (the letter l) Now let's practice reading words with /l/ spelled l. Write the words late, lap, and lot on the board. These words have the sound /l/ spelled l. Circle the l in each word. Have students read the list. Repeat the activity to identify and match the sound /n/ with the letters Nn. Use the Nn Alphabet Card and these words: note, not, net.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Continue the routine with the following words: lamp, name, nest, land, lit, nod.

APPLY MyTURN Have students look at p. 166 in the Student Interactive. Have them read the sentences. Now you will circle the words that have /l/ spelled l and underline the words that have /n/ spelled n. Have students circle and underline the words, and then have them read the sentences again.

ELL Targeted Support Connect Letters and Sounds Tell students they have just reviewed letter sounds for l and n. Tell them that learning the sounds and letters that make English words will help them understand English better.

Give each student a card with the letter l and a card with the letter n on it. Say the following words one at a time: nut, left, like, nice, lap, nod. Have students listen and repeat after you. After they say each word, students should hold up the card with the letter for the sound they hear at the beginning of the word. EMERGING

Write the words lip, lift, pad, let, red, and leg on the board. Point to each word and read it aloud. Have students give a thumbs up if they hear /l/ spelled l in each word. Ask a volunteer to circle the letter l in each /l/ word. Repeat the activity for n using these words: net, bed, nap, not, mad, note. DEVELOPING

Have students name English words that begin with the sound /n/ or /l/. Write each word on the board, leaving off the initial letter. Say each word and ask students to name the letter for the beginning sound. Have a volunteer write the letter to complete the word. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Display the high-frequency words new, too, and when, and read them aloud.

- Have students point to the word new and read it.
- Repeat for too and when.

Interact with Sources

OBJECTIVES

Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

Examine evidence that living organisms have basic needs such as food, water, and shelter for animals and air, water, nutrients, sunlight, and space for plants.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Language of Ideas The unit Academic Vocabulary words help students access ideas about the world we live in. As you discuss the infographic with students, ask: Can we measure how much rain there is? Does rain have an effect on elephants' lives?

- measure
- extreme
- prepare
- effect

Songs and Poems Big Book

See the Songs and Poems Big Book for selections that relate to the unit's theme.

Explore the Infographic

Remind students of the Essential Question for Unit 5: What can we learn from the weather? Then point out the Weekly Question: How can rainy weather help Earth? Tell students that the weather is an important part of the world. Tell them that over the week they will learn about different kinds of weather and about how the weather affects our lives.

Use the following prompts to guide discussion:

- Ask students to look at the top picture on p. 164 of the Student Interactive. Have them tell what they see.
- Then read the callout on the left to students. Ask for volunteers to respond to the callout and the picture on the left-hand side of the page. Have them say what they see and how it relates to what you read.
- Read the callout on the right-hand side of the page to students. Have volunteers respond by saying what they see and how it relates to what you read.

MyTURN Have students interact with the infographic on p. 164 by drawing one way that elephants use rain water.

WEEKLY QUESTION Remind students of the Week 5 Question: How can rainy weather help Earth? Tell students that elephants are part of Earth (or more precisely, that elephants are part of Earth's ecosystems) because they are animals. Explain to them that when rain helps elephants, it is helping Earth, more generally. Tell them that over the week they will learn more about how rainy weather can help Earth.

ELL Targeted Support Prior Experiences The English words rain and weather do not have Spanish cognates. Help ELLs understand the meanings of these words by asking them to draw on their prior experiences.

Help students use their prior experiences to understand different types of weather by asking them to act out the weather, such as making sounds to mimic thunder and using their hands to show the movement of rain. Show students pictures of different types of weather if needed. EMERGING

Access students' prior experiences to understand the meaning of rain. Ask them if they have ever been caught outside in the rain. Then prompt students to draw pictures of their favorite memories of rain. DEVELOPING

To help students understand the meaning of rain, have students pick one prior experience with it and write a sentence about it. They can also draw a picture and write a caption. Ask them to read their rain anecdotes to the class or share their drawings, if applicable. EXPANDING

Have students write short, simple sentences relating a prior experience they have had with rain to understand the word's meaning. Encourage students to share their writing with the class. BRIDGING

Listening Comprehension

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word responses.

Recognize and analyze literary elements within and across increasingly complex traditional, contemporary, classical, and diverse literary texts.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Point out to students that the following English words from the Read Aloud selection have Spanish cognates:

- family : familia
- vacation : vacaciones
- plant : planta
- information : información

THINK ALOUD Analyze Drama I remember that the setting is where and when a story happens. These sentences tell that Saul's family has just gotten home from vacation, so I think the drama will happen in Saul's home, just after his family has gotten back home from vacation.

Read Aloud

Tell students that you are going to read a drama to them. Explain to them that a drama is a story that can be acted out by people (sometimes called actors). The people in a drama are its main characters. Have students listen carefully. Suggest that they think about how the drama is like a story and how it is different.

START-UP

READ-ALOUD ROUTINE

Purpose Have students listen actively in order to identify the drama's main characters.

READ the entire text aloud without stopping for the Think Aloud callouts.

REREAD the text aloud, pausing to model Think Aloud strategies related to the genre.

What Happened?

Setting: Saul's family has just gotten home from vacation. Saul flops down on his bed, exhausted from a long trip home. Then he remembers Pepita, a plant that Saul has grown to love.

Saul races into the kitchen to see his plant and is shocked to see its droopy leaves.

Saul (shouting): Dad! My plant is dead!

Dad: I'm so sorry, Saul. The plant must not have gotten enough to eat while we were away.

Saul: No, Dad. Pepita is a Venus flytrap. These plants need to eat only once a month. And I fed

Dad: Maybe it didn’t get enough sun?

Saul: But it’s right here, next to the window. That’s where the plant has always been.

Mom (walking in with her cell phone): Look at this!

Dad and Saul look at Mom’s phone.

Dad: This says that the Venus flytrap goes dormant in the winter. It might look like it’s dead, but it will turn green and grow back in the spring.

Saul: Oh, good! I would miss Pepita if it were gone.

THINK ALOUD Analyze Drama I can see that this is like a story. It has characters, a setting, and a problem that the characters need to solve. But it is different from a story, too. The author does not give a lot of description. Instead, the plot is told by what the characters say and do.

WRAP-UP

What Happened?

Begin a list on the board of the main plot events that affect the drama’s main character, Saul. Have students think through and retell the story in order to think about the main character’s perspective and experience.

ELL Targeted Support Listening Read aloud “What Happened?” twice. Have students listen carefully. Then help them grasp the concept and elements of a drama.

Discuss the main characters and retell plot events in the drama with students. Call on volunteers to name main characters and describe plot events. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have students discuss the plot and main characters. Then have them retell the plot to the class. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FLEXIBLE OPTION

INTERACTIVE

Trade Book Read Aloud

Conduct an interactive read aloud of a full-length trade book.

- Choose a book from the Read Aloud Trade Book Library or the school or classroom library.
- Select an INTERACTIVE Read Aloud Lesson Plan Guide and Student Response available on SavvasRealize.com.
- Preview the book you select for appropriateness for your students.

Drama

LEARNING GOAL

I can read about weather.

OBJECTIVE

Discuss main characters in drama.

LANGUAGE OF THE GENRE

As you review the Anchor Chart, check that students understand how characters are used in a drama.

- What is a character?
- Dramas have more than one character because their conversation is an important part of a drama.
- Do characters have to be people? Can they be animals?

FLEXIBLE OPTION ANCHOR CHARTS

Create a drama anchor chart.

- Include a drawing of main characters from one of the dramas you have read.
- Include a drawing showing the setting—where and when the drama takes place.
- Add drawings to show the main events.

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that they will learn about dramas, or plays, this week. Tell them that a drama is a story that is read or acted out for others.

- A drama has main characters. The main characters are the people that the story is about.
- A drama has a setting. The setting is where and when the drama happens.
- A drama has events. Events are the parts of the drama's plot. Events are what happens.
- A drama has lines. The lines name the characters and tell what they say.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Review the information on p. 176 of the Student Interactive. Point out the characters and the lines they say. Act out the play, using different voices for the characters. Then have students practice acting out the characters. If they cannot read, suggest that they memorize or ad lib the lines. Tell students that a play tells the story through these lines of the characters.

ELL Targeted Support Read with Linguistic Accommodation Use simplified language to accommodate students as they learn more English.

Find a level-appropriate drama or play. Write one line from the play on the board. Have volunteers read the easier words in the line; accommodate students by reading the more difficult words aloud. EMERGING

Repeat the Emerging activity, but this time use a few lines from the play and challenge students to read with less accommodation. DEVELOPING

Have students work in small groups to read sections of the play. Go around the classroom and provide accommodation to students encountering difficult or complex words. EXPANDING

Have students work in groups to read the entire play. Provide minimal linguistic accommodation. BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use strategies for identifying dramas.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students discuss the main characters in the play and complete the activity on p. 176 of the Student Interactive. Then have students discuss how the short play about snow might compare to an informational text about snow. Have volunteers share their discussion with the class.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students look at and read dramas independently. Have them write words or draw pictures to show how a drama is different from a story or informational text about the same topic.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students identify and discuss the main characters in a drama?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for discussing characters in drama in Small Group on pp. T244–T245.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for discussing characters in drama in Small Group on pp. T244–T245.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 176–177

GENRE: DRAMA

My Learning Goal I can read about weather.

Drama
A drama, or play, is a story that we act out for others.
Plays have characters, settings, and events.
The lines name characters and tell what they say.

Characters

- Stella: Look! It is snowing!
- Jason: What should we do?
- Stella: Let's make a snowman!

TURN and TALK How is the play different from an informational text about snow?

Directions Read the genre information and model text aloud. Ask them to discuss the main characters in the play and tell how they know who is speaking each line. Then have partners talk about how this play about the weather is different from an informational text about weather.

Academic Vocabulary

LEARNING GOAL

I can use words to make connections.

OBJECTIVE

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

ELL Language Transfer

Cognates Help ELLs by pointing out the following Spanish cognates for the unit Academic Vocabulary words:

- effect : efecto
- prepare : preparar
- extreme : extremo

Oral Language

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that when they listen to others speak, they should listen for clues to the meanings of unfamiliar words.

- Listen actively when others speak. The explanations they provide can give clues to word meanings.
- Ask questions respectfully to clarify what you don't understand.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Help students prepare to listen. Emphasize that they need to listen carefully to your words in order to complete the activity. Say: I am going to give clues about a word, and you will guess the word. Listen: I can do this with a ruler. I can do this with a thermometer. What is my word? Call on volunteers to give responses. Guide students to understand that the word you are describing is measure. Then have students write the word measure on the appropriate lines on p. 193 of the Student Interactive.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Write Simple Sentences

FOCUS Write this sentence on the board: I ran home. Read it aloud to students. Tell students that this is a sentence. It begins with a capital letter, ends with a period, and has spaces between words.

MODEL Tell students that they will practice writing sentences. When we write sentences, we have to write multiple words, one after the other. We need to make sure we form each letter correctly. It is important to put a space between each word. Model for students by writing another sentence, describing your strokes and pointing out each space as you go. Write this sentence on the board: I like to run. Point out the period at the end of the sentence.

ASSESS UNDERSTANDING

Apply

My TURN Have students complete the Collaborate activity on p. 193 in the Student Interactive by working with partners to guess vocabulary words on the basis of orally provided clues.

Guided Reading Instruction Prompts

To support the instruction in this week's minilessons, use these prompts.

Identify Drama

- How do you know a text is a drama, or play?
- Who are the characters?
- What is the setting? How do you know?
- How is a drama different from other stories?

Develop Vocabulary

- What strategies can you use to identify what a new word means?
- What is the meaning of the word _____?

Discuss Characters in Drama

- Who are the main characters?
- What do you know about the main character(s)?
- What is something you can infer about the main character(s)?
- If you were to act out a main character, what would your voice sound like?

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

IDENTIFY DRAMA

Teaching Point A drama is a play or a story that people act out for others. Plays have main characters. The main characters in a play are the characters that the play is mostly about, or centers on. Give students an overview of the genre and emphasize the importance of main characters.

ELL Targeted Support

Linguistic Accommodation Help students act out a story by using simplified language to accommodate them as they read.

Read aloud a grade-appropriate play. Designate volunteers to play the characters. Have each student act out one of their lines by reading it aloud. If they do not know some words, read the line with them. EMERGING

Repeat the Emerging activity, but have students act out the play by reading two or more lines. Provide less accommodation. DEVELOPING

Have students form small groups and read the entire play. Then have students explain what the play is about, reading aloud lines of the play. Accommodate students struggling to read or explain the play. EXPANDING

Have small groups read the chosen play for the whole class. If necessary, provide minimum accommodation. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

POETRY AND DRAMA

Use Lesson 40 in the myFocus Teacher's Intervention Guide for instruction on discussing main characters and other elements of a drama.

LEVEL A • READ

Lesson 40 Genre: Poetry and Drama

DIRECTIONS Follow along as your teacher reads the play and the poems aloud. How are this play and the poems different from stories you have read or heard?

Time with Miss Prime

Characters: Teacher, Sam, Pat, Jake
Setting: A classroom on the first day of school
(Teacher and students sit in a circle.)
TEACHER. Let's say our names and something we like. You go first, Sam.
SAM. I am Sam, and I like jam.
PAT. (raises her hand) I am Pat, and I like my cat.
JAKE. (grinning) I like cats too! I am Jake, and I like to swim in a lake.
SAM. I like cats too! (turning to Jake) And I visited a lake!
TEACHER. I am Miss Prime, and I like to rhyme! Let's eat jam and a yam. Then let's pat a cat. Then let's pretend to take a break in a lake!

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Question and Investigate Have students use the infographic on pp. 164–165 of the Student Interactive to begin making lists of the ways that rainy weather helps Earth. Tell them that over the course of the week they will continue to work on their lists, as they read more texts about rainy weather. See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

IDENTIFY DRAMA

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to identify and discuss the main characters in independently read dramas.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Who was the play mainly about? What did you notice most about the character?
- Why were the main characters important? What happened to them?
- How did the characters change by the end of the play?

Possible Teaching Point Readers can identify main events in a drama by looking at what the main characters do.

Leveled Readers

IDENTIFY DRAMA

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T242–T243.
- For instructional support on how to identify main characters, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Ask one or two volunteers to discuss main characters they read about with the class.

Independent Reading

Students can

- read a self-selected trade book.
- read and listen to a previously read leveled reader or eText.
- begin reading their Book Club text.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- draw a main character and write his or her name.
- play the myView games.
- act out a drama.
- discuss as a group characters from a drama.

BOOK CLUB

See Book Club, pp. T438–T441, for

- continued reading choices for Book Club.
- suggested texts to support the unit theme and Spotlight Genre.
- support for groups’ collaboration.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Alphabet Cards

ELL Language Transfer

Most languages do not have very good transfers between the sounds for r and z, therefore it is important to provide ELLs with plenty of practice with the sounds.

Phonics: Review Words for Rr, Zz

Minilesson

FOCUS Hold up the Rr Alphabet Card. This is a picture of a river. I hear the sound /r/ at the beginning of river. What letter spells the sound /r/ in river?

Students should say r. Write the word river on the board and ask a volunteer to circle the letter r at the beginning of river.

Hold up the Zz Alphabet Card. This is a picture of a zigzag. I hear the sound /z/ at the beginning of zigzag. What letter spells the sound /z/ in zigzag?

Students should say z. Write the word zigzag on the board and ask a volunteer to circle the letter z at the beginning of zigzag.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 167 in the Student Interactive. Read the first sentence with students. Guide students as they trace the word red on the line. Then have students read the completed sentence.

EXPERT'S VIEW Pat Cunningham, Wake Forest University

“English is a very complicated system. One letter doesn’t equal one sound. It’s important to teach multiple strategies for reading words. Picture Walks are a great way to introduce words in context. For example, if you want to introduce the word gorilla, you could ask children to find a long word that starts with a g and that names an animal that is pictured on the page. When you teach words in the context of the text, they have more relevance and meaning for students.”

See SavasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students complete the rest of p. 167 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Independent Activity Tell students they will create a zoo book. Have students fold a sheet of paper in half and draw an animal that begins with the sound /r/ or /z/ on each page of their book. Tell them to label each page with the letter that spells the beginning sound in the animal name. Possible animals include: zebra, rat, rabbit, raccoon.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students read and write words with Rr and Zz?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for consonants Rr and Zz in Small Group on pp. T256–T257.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for consonants Rr and Zz in Small Group on pp. T256–T257.

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Tell students that high-frequency words are words that they will hear and see over and over in texts. Write and read the words new, too, and when. Have students

- repeat the words after you.
- spell each word, clapping as they say each letter.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 167

Introduce the Text

Who Likes Rain?

OBJECTIVES

Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance.

Respond using newly acquired vocabulary as appropriate.

Shared Read Plan

First Read Read the text. Pause to discuss the First Read notes with students.

Close Read Use the Close Read notes to guide your instruction for Lessons 3 and 4.

Preview Vocabulary

- Tell students you will start by learning some words that are in the text. Introduce the words: rain, dirt, seeds.
- Ask students what they already know about these words. Ask questions, such as: What is rain like? Where do you find dirt? What are seeds? Where do seeds come from? Have you ever seen seeds?
- Have students respond to your questions by telling what they already know about the words. Invite students to use physical gestures to represent rain; if appropriate, have them draw a picture for dirt and seeds.
- These words will help us understand what the text is about. We want to be able to understand what is going on in the story. We want to be ready to enjoy the text.

Read

Discuss the First Read Strategies. In this first read, encourage students to read for understanding and enjoyment. After students complete the First Read, ask: What did you like most? What did you learn? What surprised you? What did you already know?

FIRST READ STRATEGIES

READ Read or listen to the text. The text is a play, and it has different characters. Pay attention to which character is speaking as you read.

LOOK Look at the pictures to help you understand the text.

ASK Generate, or ask, questions about the text to deepen understanding.

TALK Talk to a partner about the text.

Help students read the whole text independently, in pairs, or as a whole class. Use the First Read notes to help students connect with the text and to monitor comprehension.

ELL Targeted Support Learning Strategies Use the Internet or other available resources to show students pictures of rain. Show them pictures of dirt. Show them pictures of seeds. Then take the pictures away, and ask students to draw a picture that has rain, dirt, and seeds. Work with them to label their pictures. Hang the pictures in the room to serve as a reminder of word meaning. EMERGING

Read aloud the words on p. 178 in the Student Interactive and have students repeat each word after you. Then ask students to describe each of the words. Provide sentence frames for students to use the new words in sentences: Rain is _____. Dirt is _____. Seeds are _____. DEVELOPING

Have students talk with a partner about what they think each of the vocabulary words means. Then have them look for a picture in the story that shows the word. Finally, have them talk about where and when they would find rain, dirt, and seeds. Tell them that these words are important for the story, so their understanding of the text will benefit if they keep the words in mind. EXPANDING

Assign each pair of students one of the vocabulary words. Have them think of ways to teach their assigned word to the rest of the class. Encourage them to provide a definition and to use the word in a sentence. Students should also think of how to use gestures and pictures to help teach their assigned word.

 THINK ALOUD On the first page, Jenna and Frank say that they want to play. Each of them says, “I want to play.” I ask myself: Will Frank and Jenna be able to play? Will they have fun? Where will they play? As I keep reading, I will look for answers to my questions.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Science

Rain is very important to life on Earth. Plants and animals cannot survive without water. Rain soaks into the ground, and plants drink up the water with their roots. In hot, dry places, rain can disappear and evaporate before it even hits the ground. There are fewer plants and animals that can survive in such places. One fun thing to look for related to rain is a rainbow. Water droplets in the air can cause a rainbow when the sun shines through them.

Foundational Skills Extension

Consonant Rr

Read aloud p. 182 and ask students to raise their hand when they hear a word that begins with the sound /r/. Ask them to point to the word raining. Point out that this word begins with the letter r. Have students draw the letter r in the air.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Expand Sentences

Tell students they can add words to sentences to make them more interesting and to add information. Ask students to use the pictures to help them add words to the lines in the play to tell more about what is happening. For example, Jenna can say, "It's raining outside!"

Close Read

First Read

Talk

 THINK ALOUD As I finish reading the story, I can think about why I read it. This story is about rain and why rain is important. Part of my purpose for reading was to learn about how rain can help Earth. There are many words in the story that tell about rain and about how it can help Earth. I'll talk with a partner about what I learned.

CROSS-CURRICULAR PERSPECTIVES

Science

Tell students that trees are plants and that plants are an important part of nature. Many plants start as seeds. When seeds are buried in the ground and watered (perhaps by rain), they grow into seedlings or saplings. Saplings are baby trees. They grow into full-grown trees. Invite students to think about how water helps plants grow.

Foundational Skills Extension

Consonant Ll and Nn

Have students identify, or point to, the words on p. 186 that begin with the sound /l/ spelled l. Continue with the words that end with the sound /n/ spelled n.

Possible Teaching Point

Read Like a Writer | Analyze Author's Purpose

Tell students that as they finish reading the story, they can reflect on the author's purpose for writing. Pause at the end of the selection and ask students to tell you what the author's purpose for writing is. For further instruction on analyzing Author's Purpose, see pp. T264–T265.

Discuss main characters in drama.

Respond and Analyze

OBJECTIVES

Use illustrations and texts the student is able to read or hear to learn or clarify word meanings.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Discuss main characters in drama.

My View

Prompt students to respond to the text. Ask them what they thought about the different characters in the play and about the story of the play.

- Talk Lead a class discussion about why rainy weather matters in the story. Why does it matter for the characters? Is rain good for Frank and Jenna, or is it bad for them?
- Draw Have students draw their intuitive responses to the text. Prompt them to draw the part of the story, or the idea in the story, that they liked most.

Develop Vocabulary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Explain to students that the words rain, dirt, and seeds are very important in the story. These words name parts of nature, or parts of Earth, that show why rainy weather is important and helpful. Tell students that pictures can help them clarify the meanings of these important words.

- READ Read each word.
- THINK Think about what each word means, based on what you remember from reading.
- LOOK Look at the pictures, and ask yourself which picture most closely matches the meaning of each word, based on what you know.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for developing vocabulary.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students practice developing vocabulary by completing p. 188 of the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students independently read texts that include images or pictures. Ask them to select new or unfamiliar vocabulary words and attempt to determine the words' meanings based on the pictures in the text.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Are students able to learn and clarify words' meanings based on images in texts?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for developing vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T258–T259.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for developing vocabulary in Small Group on pp. T258–T259.

3. How are Frank and Jenna alike?
DOK 2 Possible response: They both want to play outside.

Directions Read aloud the questions and have students write their responses. When they are finished, ask students to discuss how the main characters are alike using their responses to question 3.

188

Directions Read the words aloud. Ask them to circle the picture that shows the meaning of each word.

Word Work Strategy Group

WORDS FOR Rr AND Zz

Alphabet Cards Display the Rr Alphabet Card. This is a river. River has the beginning sound /r/. Turn the card over, so students can see the spelling. What letter spells the sound /r/? Yes, the letter r.

Display the Zz Alphabet Card. This is a zigzag. Zigzag begins with the sound /z/. Turn the card over, so students can see the spelling. What letter spells the sound /z/? Yes, the letter z.

ELL Targeted Support

Tell students that, when they mispronounce a word, they should try to say the word again correctly. They can also ask others how to pronounce the word. Provide students with a grade-appropriate text to reinforce how to pronounce words with the sounds /r/ and /z/.

Provide feedback when students are unable to understand what they mispronounced. Tell them to repeat the word and gently correct their errors.

EMERGING

Closely monitor students and help them self-correct as they read aloud. Then help them pronounce words with sounds /r/ and /z/ correctly. DEVELOPING

Encourage students to monitor their speech and self-correct and to provide feedback to one another. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

LONG e AND u

Use Lesson 31 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for instruction on reading words with long e and long u.

LEVEL A • MODEL AND TEACH

Lesson 31 Long e and u

INTRODUCE Remind students that vowel sounds can be short or long. You have learned how to read words with long a spelled a_e and ay; long i spelled i_e, e, and y; and long o spelled o and o_e. Today we will learn to read words with the long e and u sounds.

MODEL Display or share copies of the following passage, "My Rat Zeke" from Student Page S179, and read it aloud.

OBJECTIVES:

- Teach the concept of long vowel sounds.
- Introduce long e spelled e and y.
- Introduce long e spelled e_e.
- Introduce long u spelled u_e.
- Change, add, and delete sounds to make new words.

My Rat Zeke

Zeke is my rat. long e spelled y
He is very nice.
I made him a maze in a tube. long u spelled u_e
He likes his maze.

TEACH Explain that students can read more words when they learn how long vowel sounds are spelled.

Write e_e and say its sound: /ē/. Point out Zeke. Zeke has a long e sound spelled e_e. The letter e at the end of the word gives the vowel e its long sound, and the blank shows where a consonant will go. Write Z and blend the sounds /z/ē/. Have students blend with you as you run your hand under the letters. Write k in the blank and have students say its sound with you: /k/. Then blend the whole word, pointing to e and e as you say /ē/. This is how I blend this word: /z/ē/ /k/, Zeke. Have students practice saying the word without pausing between sounds. Repeat the process with he (/ē/ spelled e) and very (/ē/ spelled y). When I change, add, or delete a letter, I make a new word. Then, follow this routine to model words with the long u sound, such as tube.

Intervention Activity

PHONOLOGICAL AWARENESS

For students who need support, Phonological Awareness lessons are available in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide, Lessons 5–20.

Independent/Collaborative

Word Work Activity

BUILD WORDS WITH LETTER TILES

Distribute Letter Tiles to students. Have them practice forming words with the sounds /r/ and /z/, such as zap, zip, rat, and rap.

Students can also play the Letter Tile game in the myView games on SavvasRealize.com.

Decodable Book

UP, UP, UP!

Students can read the Decodable Book Up, Up, Up! to practice reading words with sound spellings they have learned and this week's high-frequency words.

Before reading, display and remind students of this week's high-frequency words: new, too, when. Tell them that they will practice reading these words in the Decodable Book Up, Up, Up! When you see these words in today's story, you will know how to read them.

Pair students for reading and listen carefully as they use letter-sound relationships to decode. One student begins. Students read the entire story, switching readers after each page. Partners reread the story. This time the other student begins.

High-Frequency Words

Tape high-frequency words to paper cups. Have students read the words and stack the cups. If they miss a word, tell them the word and have them try again.

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Teaching Point When we find a word that we are not sure about, pictures in the text can help us be sure of its meaning. Write the words rain, dirt, and seeds on the board. Ask students to picture the first word. Ask volunteers to say what they picture. Then go on to the second and third words. Students' mental pictures of the words can help them select the correct images to clarify the words' meanings.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students strengthen the relationship between imagery and vocabulary words.

Ask students what they picture for the word rain. Have students use gestures to show the meaning of the word. EMERGING

Ask students what they picture for dirt. Have them draw the picture. Review the meaning of dirt and have students say how their pictures show the meaning of the word. DEVELOPING

Ask students what they picture for the word seeds. Ask them to describe their mental pictures using words. Discuss the meaning of the word with the class. EXPANDING

Have students picture any of the vocabulary words and then describe their mental pictures in writing. Have students share and discuss their writing with the class. BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

OUT THERE

Have students reread the Decodable Book Out There. Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students take turns reading the Decodable Book aloud with a partner. Ask pairs to try to read all of the words correctly.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to share any new words they were able to learn or clarify during independent reading and to describe their meanings.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What was a new word you found?
- What do you think it means? What helped you figure out the meaning?

Possible Teaching Point Readers use context to help them learn and clarify new word meanings. If you find a word you don't know, look at nearby images or other words. They can give you clues to the meaning of the new word.

Leveled Readers

DEVELOP VOCABULARY

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T242–T243.
- For instructional support on how to use context clues to learn the meanings of unfamiliar words, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite volunteers to share new words they learned from reading. Celebrate what students learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to Who Likes Rain?
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- read with a partner, coaching each other as they read the selection.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- work with a partner to discuss the questions on p. 189 of the Student Interactive.
- play the myView games.
- work with a partner to take turns identifying and defining unfamiliar vocabulary words using context clues.

SUPPORT INDEPENDENT READING

Students should practice independent reading to build confidence in their ability to learn and clarify new word meanings.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students' specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Manipulate syllables within a multisyllabic word.

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS EXTENSION

See p. T251 for a consonant r extension activity that can be used as the text is read on Days 2 and 3.

Phonological Awareness: Manipulate Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Remind students that syllables are the beats we can hear in words. Today we are going to practice making new words with different word parts. Hold up a picture of a bookshelf. Model manipulating the syllables in the multisyllabic word. My word is bookshelf. The word bookshelf has the word parts book (pause) shelf. Now I will take away the second word part to make a new word: book. Hold up a picture of a book. My new word is book. Now I will add a new word part to the beginning of my word to make another word. I will add the word part cook: cook (pause) book. Hold up a picture of a cookbook. My new word is cookbook.

PRACTICE Say the multisyllabic word rainbow. Ask students to identify all syllables in the word. Then have them manipulate, or control, the syllables by taking away the second syllable and saying the new word. (rain) Continue having students add and take away syllables to make the following word chain: raindrop, drop, backdrop, back, backpack.

Phonics: Reinforce Words for Ll, Nn, Rr, Zz

Minilesson

FOCUS Write the word lamp on the board. This is the word lamp. I can read the word: /l/ /a/ /m/ /p/, lamp. What letter spells the sound /l/ at the beginning of lamp? (the letter l) Write run on the board. This is the word run. I can read the word: /r/ /u/ /n/, run. What letter spells the sound /r/ at the beginning of run? (the letter r) What letter spells the sound /n/ at the end of run? (the letter n) Write zap on the board. This is the word zap. I can read the word: /z/ /a/ /p/, zap. What letter spells the sound /z/ at the beginning of zap? (the letter z)

MODEL AND PRACTICE Listen as I say these sounds: /l/, /n/, /r/, /z/. Have volunteers identify the letter that spells each of the sounds.

APPLY TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students turn to p. 168 in the Student Interactive. Have partners take turns reading the sentences on the page.

High-Frequency Words

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue practicing the high-frequency words for this week. You will see these words over and over in texts. Have students read the words at the top of p. 169 in the Student Interactive with you: new, too, when.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words at the top of p. 169. Tell them to identify and point to each word when you say it. Say when. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say new. Say too. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word. Prompt students to use the words in sentences.

APPLY MyTURN Have students read the words at the top of p. 169 with you. Then ask them to identify the words new, too, and when in the sentences. Have them underline the high-frequency words in the sentences and then read the sentences with a partner.

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice with l, n, r, and z, have students complete Phonics p. 259 from the Resource Download Center.

Directions Say: There are some words that we will see a lot when we read. Listen as I read these words: new, too, when. Have students read the high-frequency words. Then have them read the sentences and underline the high-frequency words in the sentences.

Discuss Characters in Drama

OBJECTIVE

Discuss main characters in drama.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate As you discuss the play's main characters with students, you can model using the unit's Academic Vocabulary words. For example, ask:

- What effect did the rain have on Frank and Jenna?
- Could Frank or Jenna have done anything to prepare for the rain?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Characters are the people in a play, or drama. They move the story forward with their speech and actions.

- LISTEN Characters speak lines in plays; they talk to each other.
- THINK Characters take part in plot events. Like stories, plays have main events, problems, and resolutions. These events have effects on characters.
- LOOK Characters look a certain way. When a play is acted out on stage, you can see each character.

Knowing about the characters is important to understanding a play. By discussing characters, you can gain a much deeper understanding of the play.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model for students how to reflect on and discuss one of the characters in the play they just read. First, show students how to raise questions about a character. Then model how to answer them. One character in the play is Jenna. What does Jenna say in the play? Which events have an effect on her? What does Jenna look like? What is she wearing? Jenna says she wants to play outside. She is sad because she can't go outside in the rain. Mom talks to Jenna about rain, and this makes Jenna like the rain! Jenna is a girl; she has blonde hair and wears a red shirt. Remind students that the play has other characters, too. Ask them to practice by discussing Jenna further. Prompt students to discuss Jenna by asking and answering questions about her.

EXPERT'S VIEW Sharon Vaughn, University of Texas, Austin

“Instructional feedback is as important as instruction, but what should feedback look like? It doesn't just mean telling the student, 'Good job!' Feedback means asking questions about what students are learning from text and asking them to demonstrate how the text supports their response. Good feedback is asking students to engage in purposeful activities through oral expression or in writing.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for identifying and discussing the characters in a drama.

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students complete p. 190 in the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students write the name of a character from an independently read play. Then have them draw details about the character on a separate sheet of paper.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students discuss the main characters in a play?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for discussing main characters in a play in Small Group on pp. T266–T267.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for discussing main characters in a play in Small Group on pp. T266–T267.

ELL Targeted Support Discuss Characters Provide students with feedback and support to help them discuss characters. Ask targeted questions to help students begin.

Who is the boy? Who is the girl? Who is another character? EMERGING

What does Jenna do? What does Frank say? DEVELOPING

How do Jenna/Frank/Mom feel about one another? EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Discuss Characters in Drama

A play has main characters.
The main characters are who the play is mostly about.

 Write and draw

Possible response:

Jenna

Drawing should show details about the character.

 Directions Read aloud the information and discuss the main characters in the play with students. Have them tell what they learned about the characters. Then ask students to choose a character, write the character's name on the lines, and draw details about the character.

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

OBJECTIVE

Discuss with adult assistance the author's purpose for writing text.

Author's Purpose

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Remind students that authors write texts for different reasons. The reason an author writes a text is called the author's purpose.

- Informational texts tell facts about a topic.
- Persuasive texts provide a viewpoint, or opinion, about a topic.
- Fictional texts tell a story to entertain or teach a lesson.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students about the play they read (Who Likes Rain?) and ask them to say the author's purpose for writing it. Guide them to the conclusion that the play was written to entertain.

Handwriting

OBJECTIVE

Develop handwriting by accurately forming all uppercase and lowercase letters using appropriate directionality.

Write Simple Sentences

FOCUS Write this sentence on the board: I like my pet. Tell students that this is a sentence, and read it aloud. Point out the spaces between the words and the period at the end.

MODEL Write this sentence on the board: My pet is a cat. As you write, describe your strokes and point out each space. Say: This is a sentence. A sentence begins with a capital letter and ends with a period. Each word in a sentence is separated from the others by a space. Each letter is formed correctly.

ASSESS UNDERSTANDING

Apply

My TURN Have students complete p. 195 in the Student Interactive by identifying the author's purpose and answering the genre-related question.

AUTHOR'S CRAFT READING-WRITING BRIDGE

Read Like a Writer, Write for a Reader

MY TURN Circle and write

- What is the author's main purpose for writing the play?
to persuade to entertain
- Pretend you want to inform readers about why rain is good. How would your text be different?
Possible response:
I would tell a main idea and details about rain.

Directions Remind students that an author's purpose is the reason the author writes a text. Read aloud the first question and the answer choices and have students circle the author's purpose. Discuss students' answers and why they chose them. Then read the second question and have students write their responses.

195

Writing Workshop

Have students review their Writing Workshop texts and ask themselves why they wrote their texts. During conferences, offer opportunities for students to add details that will support their purpose for writing.

PRACTICE Have students use Handwriting p. 277 in the Resource Download Center to practice writing simple words and sentences. Remind students to form letters accurately and include spaces between words.

DISCUSS CHARACTERS IN DRAMA

Teaching Point The main characters in a drama are the people who are most affected by key events in the play. Use concepts related to plot to help students grasp the concept of a main character.

ELL Targeted Support

Ask students to identify the main characters in the selection. Help students say the characters' names. EMERGING

Ask students to draw the main characters from the selection and write the characters' names. Prompt students to describe their drawings to the class. DEVELOPING

Ask students to discuss the main characters from the selection. Then lead a class discussion in which students compare and contrast characters. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

READING BEHAVIORS

Teaching Point Remind students that they can reread to help them better understand a story.

Model Model reading aloud a page from Who Likes Rain? Then pause, and say: I think I understand what this page is about. But I should reread to make sure. Reread the page aloud. Then tell students that rereading is a way readers can check their understanding of a story.

Conferring

DISCUSS CHARACTERS IN DRAMA

Talk About Independent Reading Ask students to identify main characters from dramas they read independently. Discuss the main characters with students.

Possible Conference Prompts

- Who are the main characters?
- What happens to them?

Possible Teaching Point Talking about the main characters in a story, or play, can help you understand how they connect to the main events.

Leveled Readers

DISCUSS CHARACTERS IN DRAMA

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T242–T243.
- For instructional support on how to identify the main characters in a drama, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class back together in whole group. Invite volunteers to share some of their observations about main characters from a drama they read. Celebrate what the class has learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread and listen to Who Likes Rain? or another text they have previously read.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- support each other in retelling their independent reading texts with a partner.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- play the myView games.
- act out, with a partner or in a small group, a drama read this week.
- make a poster or drawing to represent aspects of main characters from texts read this week.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Partner reading is a good time for students to tackle unfamiliar books so that they can help each other with difficult parts.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Most Chinese dialects do not have the sound /z/. Provide extra practice with the sound /z/ for Chinese speakers.

Read Going Out

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 170 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story today about some people who go out in the rain. Point to the title of the story. The title is Going Out. In this story, we will read words that have the sounds /l/, /n/, /r/, and /z/.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week’s high-frequency words: new, too, when. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story Going Out. Display the words. Have students read them with you. When you see these words in the story Going Out, you will know how to identify and read them.

Create New Understandings

OBJECTIVE

Synthesize information to create new understanding with adult assistance.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Integrate the unit Academic Vocabulary words as you work with students to create new understandings on the basis of the week's selection. Ask:

- Have you ever seen extreme weather?
- How do you prepare to go outside when it is raining?
- What effect could a rainstorm have on your day?

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Readers can think about different parts of a text and synthesize details to create new understandings. That means they put together details they read to come up with a new idea about the text.

- Look through the play. What details can you find about the characters or events?
- Think about the details. What connections can you make?
- Put the details together. What new understanding can you create from the details you found?

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model for students how to create new understandings for Who Likes Rain? Have students look at the picture of Frank on p. 183 of the Student Interactive. Frank is frowning here. I think he must feel sad. He probably feels sad because it is raining outside. Have students look at the pictures of Frank on pp. 186–187. What does Frank look like here? How do you think he feels now? Why do you think he feels that way now? Listen to students' responses, and guide them to conclude that Frank is smiling and probably feels happy because he now knows that rain is good.

ELL Targeted Support Reading Guide students to use the words and pictures to help them understand the text.

Have students turn to p. 170 of the Student Interactive. Reread the page to students or have volunteers read it aloud. Ask students to look at the picture. Have them identify how Zak looks and how he most likely feels. EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Have students discuss why Zak feels that way. Ask them to tell what text or picture clues helped them understand this. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for creating new understandings.

OPTION 1 My TURN Have students complete p. 191 of the Student Interactive to demonstrate understanding of how Frank's and Jenna's feelings changed over the course of the play.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students draw pictures to represent contrasting parts of a text. Then prompt them to say what the contrast shows about how characters' feelings have changed, how the plot has progressed, or how an argument has unfolded.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students synthesize information to create new understandings?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for creating new understandings in Small Group on pp. T272–T273.

Drawing should show that Frank and Jenna now appreciate the rain.

Directions Say: You can use details you learn in a play to understand something new. Have students synthesize information by drawing pictures that show how Frank and Jenna feel about rain at the beginning and at the end of the play. Remind them to use what they highlighted. Then ask students to discuss how Frank's and Jenna's feelings change.

191

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T271 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

CREATE NEW UNDERSTANDINGS

Teaching Point Remember, you can learn to understand texts in new ways by seeing how different details fit together. Sometimes you can create a new understanding by pausing and thinking back to an earlier part of a text. You can make connections between details at the beginning and end of a story or play.

Help students grasp the idea of synthesizing information to create new understandings of texts by suggesting that they connect details from different parts of a text.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students grasp the analytic skills needed to combine details in a text to allow for new understandings.

Ask students to name details from the selection. Give feedback by asking questions about the details they name. For example, you can ask how two details fit together. EMERGING

Ask students to name details from the selection. Then have them make connections between the details they named. Provide feedback by asking questions about the details. DEVELOPING

Have partners work together to make connections between details in the selection. Ask them to use their new understanding to tell what they think Frank and Jenna would do next. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

UP, UP, UP!

Have students reread the Decodable Book Up, Up, Up! Use the teaching support online at SavvasRealize.com to provide instructional support for foundational skills and comprehension.

Fluency

Assess 2–4 students

ORAL READING

Have students take turns reading the Decodable Book aloud with a partner. Ask pairs to try to read all of the words correctly.

ORAL READING RATE AND ACCURACY

Listen as a student reads the Decodable Book. Offer feedback. Finally, record each student's performance. Use the Fluency Progress Chart to track student progress.

Conferring

3 students / 3–4 minutes
per conference

CREATE NEW UNDERSTANDINGS

Talk About Independent Reading Have students create new understandings of their independently read texts by synthesizing different pieces of information from the text.

Possible Conference Prompts

- What changes happened in the story?
- How did the end differ from the beginning?
- How did these changes affect your understanding?

Possible Teaching Point Readers can reflect on details they may not have noticed before to create a new understanding of a text.

Leveled Readers

CREATE NEW UNDERSTANDINGS

- For suggested titles, see “Matching Texts to Learning,” pp. T242–T243.
- For instructional support on how to synthesize information to create new understandings of texts, see Leveled Reader Teacher’s Guide.

Whole Group

Share Bring the class together. Invite one or two students to share the new understandings they have created. Celebrate what students have learned.

Independent/Collaborative

Independent Reading

Students can

- reread or listen to a text they read.
- read a self-selected trade book or their Book Club text.
- practice fluent reading with a partner by acting out a drama together.

Centers

See the myView Literacy Stations in the Resource Download Center.

Literacy Activities

Students can

- act out a drama together, focusing on practicing appropriate expression.
- play the myView games.
- discuss a text from the week as a class, focusing on creating new understandings.

SUPPORT PARTNER READING

Partner reading is a good time for students to tackle unfamiliar books so that they can help each other with difficult parts.

See the Small Group Guide for additional support and resources to target your students’ specific instructional needs.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Demonstrate phonological awareness.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Spell common high-frequency words.

Picture Cards

ADDITIONAL PRACTICE

For additional student practice with high-frequency words, have students complete My Words to Know p. 266 from the Resource Download Center.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILL: Read Together

Name _____

My Words to Know

new      too      when

MY TURN Write and read

1. Mike has a new pet.

2. When can I see it?

3. Pam can see the cat too.

Directions: Have students read the words in the word bank. Then ask them to choose a word to complete each sentence and write it on the lines. Have students read the completed sentences.

Grade K, Unit 5, Week 5

My Words to Know, p. 266

Phonological Awareness: Substitute Phonemes

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that when we change a sound in a word, we make a new word. Listen carefully as I say the sounds in the word sand: /s/ /a/ /n/ /d/. What are the sounds you hear in sand? Students should say /s/ /a/ /n/ /d/. Let's change the beginning sound from /s/ to /b/ to form a new word. Say the word with me: /b/ /a/ /n/ /d/. Now let's change the middle sound to /e/. Say the new word with me: /b/ /e/ /n/ /d/. Now let's change the ending sound in band to /t/. What is the new word? Students should say bent.

PRACTICE Show students the sun Picture Card. Have them name the picture and say the sounds in the word sun. Then give students directions to substitute phonemes to make the following words: fun, fan, man, mat, met, set, sit.

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some sentences. The sentences you read will all include sound spellings and high-frequency words you already have learned. Then you will match sentences and pictures.

Write these sentences on the board: I can go on a plane. I can go on a slide. Let's read the sentences together: I can go on a plane. I can go on a slide. Hold up the slide Picture Card. Which sentence matches this picture? (I can go on a slide.)

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 174 in the Student Interactive. Read the first two sentences with students. Guide them to put an x in the box next to the sentence that matches the picture.

APPLY My TURN Have students finish p. 174 in the Student Interactive.

APPLY MyTURN Have students look at p. 175 in the Student Interactive. Direct them to complete and read the sentences.

ELL Targeted Support Use Visual Support Tell students they can think about the meanings of words before they read to help them better understand a text. Before students complete the activity on p. 175, help them understand the meanings of the words in the word bank.

Read the words at the top of p. 175 aloud. Act out the meaning of each word as you say the words again. Have students copy your actions as they repeat the words after you. EMERGING

Have students read the words at the top of p. 175 with you. Act out the meaning of each word. Then have students take turns acting out one of the words as the other students name the word. DEVELOPING

Have partners read and discuss the meanings of the words at the top of p. 175. Have them draw a picture that shows their understanding of the meaning of each word. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Remind students that high-frequency words are words that appear over and over in texts. Remind them they have learned many of the words this year, and the words will help them become better readers. Say the word new and ask students what letters spell the word. Have students

- say the letters in the word as you write them on the board.
- say and spell the word, touching their toes for each letter.
- repeat with too and when.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, pp. 174–175

REVIEW AND REINFORCE

Sentences I Can Read

MYTURN Read and write

- Zak rode down the lane.
- Zak rode down the lake.
- Nan has a new rate.
- Nan has a new rake.
- It is in the nest.
- It is in the next.

174

Directions Have students read each pair of sentences and identify which one tells about the picture. Ask them to write an X in the box by the correct sentence.

FOUNDATIONAL SKILLS

Sentences I Can Read

MYTURN Read and write

zig run left

Max will run home.

He can go left.

He can zig and zag.

Reflect and Share

OBJECTIVES

Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society with adult assistance.

Provide an oral, pictorial, or written response to a text.

Retell texts in ways that maintain meaning.

ACADEMIC VOCABULARY

Integrate Help students get a grasp on the unit Academic Vocabulary words by integrating the words into instruction on retelling texts and making connections between them.

- Were you prepared for the rain?
- Some people were unprepared.
- Can we measure how much rain fell?

Talk About It

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES Tell students that it is good to talk to others about texts they read. As they talk with others, they can retell, or summarize, a text in a way that preserves meaning. They can also tell how the text is similar to or different from another text they have read.

- Tell students that retelling a text means saying all the important things that happen in the text.
- Emphasize that retelling, or summarizing, a text makes it easier to see how the text connects to other texts they have read.
- Tell students that when they compare two texts, they can tell how the characters, events, or ideas are alike and different.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model retelling a text to make connections. In the play we read, Frank and Jenna are sad because it is raining and they can't play outside. But then they are happy because they see that rain is good. Ask students to think about how your retelling connects to other ideas they have encountered in texts this week. We have read about how rain can be good in other places this week. Rain is good for Frank and Jenna, and rain is good for elephants, too!

ELL Targeted Support Retelling Help students retell, or summarize, a text.

Ask for volunteers to retell this story: John came home from school. He ate a sandwich, and then he read a book. He was happy. EMERGING

Ask for volunteers to retell this story: John went to school and had fun learning about different animals. He played outside at recess. Later, he went home and ate a sandwich. Then he read a book. He felt happy. DEVELOPING

Have student pairs take turns telling each other brief stories about things that happened in school. Have partners retell the stories. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

Have students use the strategies for retelling texts and making connections between them.

OPTION 1 TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have students work together to complete p. 192 of the Student Interactive.

OPTION 2 Use Independent Text Have students find a partner and retell independently read texts to each other. Then have them work to make connections between the texts and other texts read during the week.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students retell texts and make connections between them?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for retelling texts and making connections in Small Group on pp. T278–T279.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for retelling texts and making connections in Small Group on pp. T278–T279.

WEEKLY QUESTION Have students use evidence and ideas from the texts they have read this week to respond to the Weekly Question. Tell them to discuss and answer the question in small groups.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 192

RESPOND TO TEXT

Reflect and Share

 TURN and TALK Retell the events in the play. Then talk about why rain is important. Use details from the play and other texts.

Remember to tell about the most important events.

Weekly Question

How can rainy weather help Earth?

192 Directions Have partners take turns retelling the play. Then say: You have read other texts that tell about rain. What details have you learned about why rain is important? Have students respond to sources by discussing the answer.

Copyright © HMV Learning Company, LLC. All Rights Reserved.

Use the  QUICK CHECK on p. T277 to determine small group instruction.

Teacher-Led Options

Strategy Group

COMPARE TEXTS

Teaching Point Retelling texts allows you to make connections between them. As you retell texts, you can bring out, or emphasize, the parts that most connect to your own lives. This will allow you to see how different texts connect to your own lives in the same or different ways.

Help students understand the idea of connecting multiple texts to their own lives and experiences.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students grasp the concept of retelling a text. For each sentence, call on a volunteer to retell, or summarize, the meaning of what you just said. Guide students to substitute pronouns correctly (to say you instead of I as appropriate). You can repeat the activity, using different permutations of the sentence stems.

I went ____. (I went to the store yesterday.) EMERGING

I went ____ because ____. (I went to the store yesterday because I wanted to buy some food.) DEVELOPING

I went ____ because ____, but ____. (I went to the store yesterday because I wanted to buy some food, but when I got there, the store was closed.) EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

COMPARE TEXTS

Remind students of the texts they have read this week: “How Rain Helps Elephants,” “What Happened?” and Who Likes Rain? Engage students in a conversation that demonstrates how the texts they have read this week support their understanding of how rainy weather can help Earth. Encourage them to use the Academic Vocabulary words measure, extreme, prepare, and effect.

On-Level and Advanced

INQUIRY

Organize Information and Communicate

Help students organize into a shareable format the information on their lists of the ways that rainy weather helps Earth. Students can draw or graphically organize textual information in a creative way.

Critical Thinking Talk with students about what they learned and the processes they used.

See Extension Activities, pp. 311–315, in the Resource Download Center.

Resources

Stacks of Mentor Texts

Mentor STACK

- Mentor texts, the foundation for each unit, provide students with a vision of the type of writing they will produce.
- Five to eight mentor texts are recommended for each unit.

myView Literacy Student Interactive

- Students use the myView Literacy Student Interactive to practice their learning from the minilessons.
- Students reference the myView Literacy Student Interactive to deepen their understanding of concepts taught in Writing Workshop.

Stapled Books (Kindergarten and Grade 1)

- Students in Kindergarten and Grade 1 will write in stapled books.
- Primary students create the types of books they are reading, which are mostly picture books.

Writing Notebook (Grades 2-5)

- Students in Grades 2-5 will need a writing notebook.
- Students use the writing notebook for writing drafts. Final copies may be written in their writing notebooks, or teachers may ask students to keyboard their final copies.

Portfolio

- Students may store final copies of their writing in their portfolios.
- At the end of every unit, students will be asked to share one piece of writing in the Celebration.

- Student authors learn to
- ▶ reflect on mentor texts.
  - ▶ write in different genres and styles.
  - ▶ apply writing conventions.

Conferences

Conferences are a cornerstone of the Writing Workshop. They provide an opportunity for the teacher to work one-on-one or in small groups with students to address areas of strength and areas of growth.

The focus of conferences should be on providing students with transferable writing skills and not solely on improving the current piece of writing.

Conference Pacing 30–40 minutes

- Consider a rotation where every student is conferred with over one week.
- Use the provided conference prompts for each lesson to guide conversations.
- Determine three possible teaching points for the conference based on student work.
- Come to the conference with stacks—published, teacher written, and student models.
- Use a note-taking system to capture pertinent details. (Conference Notes Templates are available on SavvasRealize.com.)

Conference Routine

Research

Name

Decide on

Teach

Research	A student may discuss the topic of his or her writing and questions he or she may have. Use this as an opportunity to learn about the student's writing and make decisions to focus conferences.
Name a Strength	Once the student has discussed his or her writing, provide specific praise for an element of the writing. Naming a strength develops a student's energy for writing.
Decide on a Teaching Point	Choose a teaching point that focuses on improving the writer within the student and not on improving the student's writing. A range of teaching points should be covered over the year.
Teach	Help the student understand how he or she can achieve success. Use a minilesson from the bank of minilessons to provide instruction on the teaching point. One text from the unit's stack serves as an example of what the student's writing should emulate.

- The Writing Workshop Assessment is on Day 5 of Week 5 of every unit. Teachers may choose how to assess their students.
- Collect students' compositions after the Celebration and use the designated rubric to grade the writing.
- Give students an on-demand prompt that will require them to synthesize their understanding of the genre, author's purpose and craft, and writing conventions in one succinct piece of writing without the support of a teacher.
- Assessment prompts and writing rubrics can be found in the Writing Workshop of myView Literacy Teacher's Edition on Day 5 of Week 5, or they may be accessed on SavvasRealize.com.

Units of Study

This Unit: Literary Nonfiction

1

LAUNCHING WRITING WORKSHOP

Students will

- learn to think like an author
- begin writing independently
- incorporate feedback and make suggestions to other writers
- evaluate their writing

2

INFORMATIONAL TEXT: LIST BOOK

Students will

- explore the elements of a list book
- generate ideas and plan a list book
- learn that drawings are a type of graphic
- edit for adjectives, nouns, prepositions, and capitalization

3

POETRY: POEMS

Students will

- learn about the elements of fiction and generate ideas
- understand characters, setting, and plot
- incorporate problems and solutions
- compose a beginning and an ending

4

NARRATIVE: PERSONAL NARRATIVE

Students will

- explore elements of a personal narrative
- develop drafts orally or by drawing
- organize events in a proper sequence and conclude with a resolution
- edit for punctuation, capitalization, and spelling

5

INFORMATIONAL TEXT: LITERARY NONFICTION

Students will

- generate ideas and use a graphic organizer to plan
- learn how to compose questions and answers
- understand how pictures and drawings add details
- identify digital tools for writing and publishing

BONUS!

OPINION WRITING: OPINION BOOK

Students will

- learn about the elements of opinion writing
- identify a topic, and state an opinion and a reason
- improve writing with the use of descriptive words
- use complete sentences and conjunctions

- Who Has These Feet? by Laura Hulbert
- Do You Really Want to Meet a Crocodile? by Cari Meister
- What Animals Eat by Brenda Stones

Use the following criteria to add to your literary nonfiction book stack:

- Books in various disciplines, such as science, history, and art.
- At least one book with an introduction and a conclusion.
- Books that maintain a question and answer format throughout the text.

Preview these selections for appropriateness for your students. Selections are subject to availability.

During this time, assess for understanding of the basic characteristics of question and answer books to gauge where students may need support in their writing. Have stacks and minilessons available to reference during the conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Genre Immersion Lessons

If students need additional support,	 Then use the stack to point out the format of a question and answer book. Point out the question words and question marks.
If students show understanding,	Then have students think about a topic for a question and answer book they would like to write.

Generate Ideas

If students need additional support,	 Then ask: What do you know a lot about?
If students show understanding,	Then have students tell you what they know about their topic.

Plan Your Question and Answer Books

If students need additional support,	 Then ask: What do you know about your topic?
If students show understanding,	Then ask: What question words do you know? What is one question you can ask about your topic?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Learn the words for “question” and “answer” in your students’ home languages to help explain the format.
- Show question and answer books from the stack or class library, explaining how to formulate a question using the 5 Ws and H.
- Have students connect the pictures to the text to guess the question and answer.

DEVELOPING

- Read aloud question and answer books the students may be familiar with.
- Engage students in generating ideas for question and answer books.
- Point out how authors answer questions in question and answer books.

EXPANDING

- Challenge students to think aloud as they write.
- Have students list ideas prior to writing.
- Have students identify how this genre differs from others.

BRIDGING

- Invite students to lead a discussion about question and answer books they have read.
- After reading stack texts, have students recall and share information they have learned.
- Ask students to work with each other as they plan their question and answer books, providing feedback and suggestions to their peers.

Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge

While conferring with students, refer back to the Bridge minilessons on graphic features and capitalization.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 1: Introduce and Immerse

During the immersion week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that expands their awareness of asking and answering questions in English. These targeted supports were chosen to help students better understand the English language and understand how to ask and answer questions.

Use this note for the genre immersion lesson on pp. T290–T291.

ELL Targeted Support

QUESTION AND ANSWER BOOKS

Use the stack to help students recognize the elements of question and answer books.

Work closely with students to point out the 5 Ws and H for forming questions.

EMERGING

If students have difficulty understanding question and answer books, have students suggest another question for a book they have read. Transcribe their question and help them research an answer. DEVELOPING

Have students talk about a question and answer book they recall reading, and have them explain what they liked about the book.

EXPANDING

As students share ideas for new questions that could be added to a stack book, prompt them to think through the types of questions they could include. Encourage students to use a variety of question words. BRIDGING

See the online Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. T306.

ELL Targeted Support

PLAN YOUR QUESTION AND ANSWER BOOKS

This lesson can help students build upon their English conversational skills. Have them talk through their ideas as best they can.

Pair students with expanding ELL students who share the same home language, and tell the partners to form questions together. EMERGING

As students plan their questions, prompt them to think about pictures that can help tell the answer. They should discuss their ideas with a partner. DEVELOPING

Have students talk through their question and answer book with you. Prompt students to plan the sequence of questions and answers in their books. EXPANDING

Have stack texts available for reference so students can refer to them when planning the sequence of questions and answers. Have them explain how their book is similar to a stack book. BRIDGING

FAST TRACK

Question and Answer Book

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 47

The screenshot shows a page from a student interactive. At the top, it says 'LITERARY NONFICTION' and 'WRITING WORKSHOP'. A goal box says 'I can write a nonfiction text.' and 'My Learning Goal'. The main title is 'Question and Answer Book'. Below it, it says 'Some books ask questions about a topic. Then they answer the questions. The answers tell information.' There is a section titled 'Thunderstorms' with a 'Question' box: 'What is a thunderstorm?' and an 'Answer' box: 'It is a storm with thunder and lightning.' At the bottom, it says 'Directions: Read about the student model and discuss the characteristics of a question and answer book.' and the page number '47'.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Question and answer books are a form of literary nonfiction. They are based on real-life topics, usually science, math, history, or social studies. Question and answer books

- answer more than one question about the same topic.
- include questions that start with who, what, where, when, why, or how.
- provide answers to help the reader better understand the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Inform students that they will be exploring question and answer books over the next few days to prepare them to write their own. Choose a stack book. Read aloud the book to students, showing them where the questions and answers are on each page. Point out how the questions and answers are differentiated (bold, color, placement, etc.). When reading a question and answer book, emphasize the question words.

Use the following questions to prompt a discussion.

- What topic does this book tell about?
- Why did the author use questions and answers to tell about this topic?
- How do the pictures tell about the questions and answers?

Direct students to p. 47 in the Student Interactive. Use this page to talk about the elements in a question and answer book. As time allows, read additional stack books.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

FOCUS ON QUESTION AND ANSWER FORMAT

- If students need more time to develop their understanding of the question and answer format, they should read additional stack books.

WRITING SUPPORT

- Modeled Show a stack text and think aloud to identify elements of a question and answer book.
- Shared Have students choose a stack text to identify the elements of a question and answer book.
- Guided Use a stack text to provide explicit instruction on why authors write question and answer books.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

- If students demonstrate understanding, they may transition to writing a book of their own.

If time allows for individual conferences, see the Conference Prompts on p. T288.

Share Back

Call on a few students to share what they noticed about question and answer books.

Spelling Spell Words

OBJECTIVES

Spell words with VC, CVC, and CCVC.

Spell words using sound-spelling patterns.

Spell common high-frequency words.

SPELLING WORDS

cat                      not tap                      hat

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

FLEXIBLE OPTION LESSON 1

Assess Prior Knowledge

Read aloud the words and sentences. Have students spell each CVC word and the two high-frequency words.

Spelling Sentences

1. Tap your forehead.
2. The man wore a hat.
3. I saw a good movie.
4. Jay pet the cat.
5. Do not kick the ball.
6. What do you want to be when you grow up?

ELL Targeted Support

Word Meanings Reinforce the meaning of each spelling word.

Have students draw pictures of some of the spelling words. Post the pictures in the room to create a visual dictionary. Have developing students create definitions for the words.

EMERGING/DEVELOPING

LESSON 1

Spiral Review: Question Words

FOCUS Remind students of the question words who, what, when, where, why, and how.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that questions often begin with one of these question words. Work with the class to create a question for each of the question words.

APPLY Write the six question words on index cards. Have students take turns pulling a card and asking you a question beginning with the question word.

OBJECTIVES

Generate questions about text before, during, and after reading to deepen understanding and gain information with adult assistance.

Understand and use question words (interrogatives) (e.g. who, what, where, when, why, how).

ELL Targeted Support

Questions Help students practice identifying question words.

Say words of all kinds to the class. Tell students that each time they hear you say a question word, they should raise their hands. Review as many question words as possible while playing the game. EMERGING

Ask the class questions. For each question, call on a volunteer to say what question word you used and then answer the question. Vary the question words you use as you play the game. DEVELOPING

Have students find partners or form small groups and practice asking each other questions, using as many different question words as possible. EXPANDING

Have students write questions using as many question words as possible. Have them share and discuss the questions with the class. BRIDGING

Question and Answer Book: Questions

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors choose the questions for their question and answer books by thinking about what the reader would like to know. Authors may think of the questions first or research the topic and then think about good questions that would help give the reader information about the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Hold up a stack text. Say: This is a question and answer book. Question and answer books have two parts: questions and answers. Today we are going to talk about questions. Open to the first page that has a question on it. Point to the question. This is a question. How do I know it is a question? I know it is a question because it ends with a question mark. Point to the question mark. Have volunteers draw question marks on the board. This is a question mark. All questions end with a question mark. All questions also begin with certain words. Do you know what words a question might begin with? Guide students to name the question words who, what, where, why, when, and how. As they name the words, write them on the board. Then read the stack book aloud. As you read each question, ask students what question word the author used and what punctuation mark the question ends with. As you write your own questions for your question and answer book, you will begin each question with a question word and end each question with a question mark. Let's practice writing questions.

Have the class choose a topic. Ask students to come up with questions to include in a question and answer book about the topic. Write their responses on the board.

Possible Teaching Point

Spelling | Words with CVC Pattern

Remind students that many words with short vowel sounds are spelled with the CVC pattern. As you read stack books, point out CVC words and pause to have students spell the words. Have them

- say the word aloud slowly
- listen for each sound
- say the consonant, vowel, and consonant sounds they hear

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

FOCUS ON QUESTION AND ANSWER BOOKS

- For students who still need help understanding the genre, provide them with more exposure to the stack books.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Read a stack text aloud and point out how the questions are worded in the text.
- Shared Have students read the questions aloud in a stack text to analyze how they are written.
- Guided Prompt students to think of questions readers might have about a topic.

Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

- After the minilesson, allow students who show understanding to begin writing their own question and answer books.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T288.

Share Back

Have a few students share one question about a topic. Prompt the class to discuss the question and offer additional questions about the topic.

Spelling Spell Words

OBJECTIVES

Spell words with VC, CVC, and CCVC.

Spell words using sound-spelling patterns.

Spell common high-frequency words.

LESSON 2

Teach

FOCUS Explain that words with short vowel sounds are usually spelled with a consonant-vowel-consonant, or CVC, pattern.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write or display these words: box, cot, top. Say each word aloud and point out that the middle letter in each word is a vowel that spells a short sound. That vowel has a consonant before and after it.

APPLY MyTURN

Have students complete the activity on p. 44 in the Student Interactive independently. Provide support as needed.

Oral Language: Capitalization

FOCUS Remind students that sentences express complete ideas. A complete sentence has a naming part (a noun) and an action part (a verb). Tell students that sentences begin with a capital letter.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Share an example of a sentence: Cats are furry. Encourage students to listen carefully. What is the first word in this sentence? (Cats) What letter does it begin with? (capital c) Write the word I. Tell students that this is a special word because it is always capitalized. Read aloud a paragraph that has several instances of the word I. Ask students to stand each time they hear a word that should be capitalized.

APPLY Say simple sentences. Have volunteers tell you which letters should be capitalized, including the letter at the beginning of each sentence and the word I.

Question and Answer Book: Answers

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors write question and answer books to provide information about a topic. Authors might know a lot about the topic, so they are able to answer the questions. If they do not know a lot about the topic, there are other ways to learn information about it. Authors should be careful to make sure their answers directly relate to the question. Authors can

- include details in their answers.
- use online resources to learn about a topic.
- ask an expert questions to get more information.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Hold up a book from the stack. Say: Question and answer books have two parts: questions and answers. Today we will talk about answers. Open to the first page of the book and ask: Where does the author ask the question? How do you know it is a question? Call on a student to answer. Then say: Where does the author answer the question? How do you know it is an answer? Allow students to respond. Explain that an answer does not end with a question mark. In a question and answer book, the answer comes after the question. Let's read this question and answer book. Pay attention to the answers as we read. Read the book aloud so students can notice how an author writes answers. Read one or two additional books from the stack, pointing out the questions and answers.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Capitalization

FOCUS ON ANSWERS

- If students need more time to understand how authors write answers to their questions, have them continue reading stack books.

WRITING SUPPORT

- Modeled Use stack books to show how answers are written in a question and answer format.
- Shared Have students identify the answers to questions in a stack text.
- Guided Tell students to identify how a question could be answered in a book.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display this sentence: We are at school. Read it aloud. Underline the W at the beginning of the sentence. See the *W*? This is a capital W. This tells me that this is the beginning of the sentence.

Display this sentence with I: You and I are at school. Point out that the word I is capitalized. The word *I* is always capitalized, even when it is in the middle of a sentence. Underline the word. Then ask: Is the *Y* at the beginning correct? (Yes, because it is a capital letter, and sentences should begin with capital letters.)

OBJECTIVE

Generate Ideas

OBJECTIVE

Plan by generating ideas for writing through class discussions and drawings.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 48

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT Ideas for question and answer books come from real-life topics. Authors choose an idea based on something they know a lot about or are interested in. Authors choose a topic and tell readers more about it.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students you would like to write a question and answer book, but you are not sure what to write about. Say: When we write a question and answer book, we have to write the questions and the answers. That means we need to know a lot about the topic. I will brainstorm topics that I know a lot about. I will brainstorm topics that I am interested in. On the board, write a list of things you know a lot about, such as school, volleyball, dogs, and cooking. When you are finished with your list, think aloud about which topic you know the most about. For example: I'm a teacher, so I've spent a lot of time at school. But one of my favorite hobbies is playing volleyball with friends. This is something that I'd love to teach others about, so I will write about volleyball. Circle the topic you have chosen.

Now, let's brainstorm some ideas for your books. What do you know a lot about? Have students offer suggestions as you write and draw them on the board. Say: We thought of a lot of ideas today. You can come back to this list at any time when you want to begin a new book.

Direct students to p. 48 in the Student Interactive and have them record their favorite ideas.

Possible Teaching Point

Writing Process

Prewriting | Identifying a Topic

Remind students that a question and answer book is based on real-life topics. Guide students to consider topics in science, math, or social studies. Have students

- draw or write a list of possible topics for their books
- read through the list
- circle three topics that they find most interesting

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON TOPICS After this lesson, students should transition into independent writing.

- They should choose a topic and begin their own question and answer books if they have not already.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

Plan Your Question and Answer Book

OBJECTIVE

Plan by generating ideas for writing through class discussions and drawings.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 49

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors plan question and answer books by thinking about the most important information they know about the topic. Planning a question and answer book helps authors think through the information they will share. Using a graphic organizer ensures that authors include the most important details about the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that authors may use a graphic organizer to keep track of their topic and questions so they can plan their book. Copy the graphic organizer from p. 49 of the Student Interactive on the board.

Hold up a stack text that you read during the immersion days. Say: Before the author wrote this book, he or she planned what would be included. Let's pretend we are the authors. Let's plan our book. We will write or draw the topic in the middle circle of our graphic organizer. Can anyone tell me what the topic of this book is? Have students say the topic. Write it in the middle circle of the graphic organizer. Then have students name details about the topic as you write them in the surrounding circles. Then say: When you choose your own topic, make sure you choose a topic you know a lot about. Filling out a graphic organizer will help you plan what you know about the topic. If you don't know enough about your topic, you can choose a different topic, or you can look up information in a book or on a computer.

Give students a few minutes to plan, using their graphic organizer.

WRITING CLUB

Use p. T307 to guide Writing Club discussions. If time allows for individual conferences, see the Conference Prompts on p. T288.

Share Back

Ask a few students to share their graphic organizers with the class. Have them share a question they might write in their book.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share the topics for their question and answer books.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes in their groups reviewing the following:

- Listening quietly to others when they are speaking
- Taking turns asking questions and sharing comments during discussions
- Speaking clearly using complete sentences

What Are We Sharing? Students can share their topics and graphic organizers with their Writing Club. Their classmates should help them decide what details to include about their topic.

Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of question and answer books and their elements, including clear questions, answers that reflect facts, and formats that are easy to understand. Have stacks and minilessons available to reference during the conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

What You Know About Your Topic

If students need additional support,

 Then ask: What do you know about your topic? Help them make a list of what they already know.

If students show understanding,

Then have them select a detail to include in their book and phrase a question about it.

Compose Questions

If students need additional support,

 Then display question words and provide sentence frames using the question words.

If students show understanding,

Then have them tell you which question they will ask first in their book. Why will they put that one first?

Compose Answers

If students need additional support,

 Then look at the questions in a stack text to identify how answers are formed for each question. Remind students that answers should be complete sentences. Help them write one answer for a question in their book.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: What can you draw or add to your drawing on this page to go along with your answer?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Point out how questions are written in the stack texts.
- Identify how the author writes the answer to the question using complete sentences, details, and punctuation.
- Have students look at pictures in stack texts to help inspire topics and questions for their books.

DEVELOPING

- Talk through some topics students could choose for their books.
- Have students identify questions that start with the 5 Ws and H.
- Ask students a question about the topic and have them answer it. Transcribe their thoughts.

EXPANDING

- Prompt students to describe a topic in order to think about possible questions for it.
- Have students think of ways they could find information to answer questions about their topic.
- Have students recall the 5 W and H words as they write their questions.

BRIDGING

- Invite students to share what they know about a topic.
- Have students think of various questions for their topics, making sure to use the 5 W and H words.
- Ask students to lead a discussion about their thoughts on question and answer books.

Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge

While conferring with students, refer back to the Bridge minilessons on author's craft and end punctuation.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 2: Develop Elements

As students develop elements of question and answer books, they may require extra support to understand the structure of a question and an answer. These targeted supports were chosen to help students better understand, read, and write English as they build upon their language skills.

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T322–T323.

ELL Targeted Support

APPLY COMPOSE QUESTIONS

Have stack books available so students can reference them to model writing questions for their books.

Work individually with students to help them identify the most important question a reader may have about their topic. EMERGING

If students have difficulty forming questions, review the 5 Ws and H, pointing out each type of question in the stack texts. DEVELOPING

Have students discuss their questions before writing, making sure to utilize question words to create their questions. EXPANDING

As students share their question ideas, provide them with prompting and guidance for additional questions they could include in their books. BRIDGING

See the online Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. T330.

ELL Targeted Support

APPLY COMPOSE ANSWERS

Students may need support in organizing their ideas to create answers to their questions. Use the stack texts as reference points, guiding students to review questions and answers.

Explain that questions must be answered in a question and answer book. When writing answers, authors must review the question and then answer it fully for a reader. EMERGING

If students have difficulty writing answers to their questions, guide them by asking them the most important information a reader would need to know about the topic. DEVELOPING

Prompt students to revise their questions as needed to match the answers. EXPANDING

Ask students to lead a discussion about how to write questions and answers. BRIDGING

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT A question and answer book tells readers about a topic. Authors choose topics they know about. They think about the details that they will share with readers.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that authors write question and answer books about topics they know a lot about. Display a book from your stack and turn to the author biography. Read it aloud to students. Then return to the front cover of the book and ask what the book is about. Allow students to name the topic. Say: An author writes a book about something he or she knows about. Do you think the author knows a lot about this topic? Point out any connections between the author biography and the topic of the book.

Direct students to p. 83 of the Student Interactive. Read the top of the page aloud with them. Then say: Let's start planning a book together. Our topic will be thunderstorms. We will write about thunderstorms because we all know about them. I will write the topic on the board: thunderstorms. Write the word on the board. Next, say: Authors must think about the details they know about their topic before they write. Here are some details we know about thunderstorms. There is thunder. There is lightning. What else do we know about thunderstorms? Allow students to answer, and list their suggestions on the board. Then say: Once we have listed what we know about our topic, we can begin forming questions and answers using the information. When you write your books, you might plan by listing what you know about your topic.*

FOCUS ON CHOOSING A TOPIC

- Students should continue working on their books. Tell them to choose a topic they know a lot about and plan the details before writing.

WRITING SUPPORT

- Modeled Use stack texts to show a developed question and answer book.
- Shared As students write, share ideas and details.
- Guided Prompt students with questions about their topic to help them think of more details.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T312.

Share Back

Ask two or three students to share their topic and details with the class. Ask students to share why they chose the topic and how they know about it.

Spelling Spell Words

Spelling Sentences

1. We have a flag outside our school.
2. Don't slip on the ice!
3. Trap the bug and put it outside.
4. Stop and look before you cross the road.
5. It's time to eat dinner.
6. I love to walk to school.

ELL Targeted Support

Spelling Patterns Write the words flag, trap, slip, and stop on the board.

Say the words aloud as you write them. Identify the CCVC pattern in each word. Ask students to identify the consonant blend at the beginning. EMERGING

Challenge students to think of two more words with a CCVC pattern that begin with a consonant blend. Have students say and spell the words. Help students with correct spelling as needed. DEVELOPING

Have partners write at least four words with a CCVC pattern that begin with a consonant blend. EXPANDING

Explore Compose Questions

OBJECTIVES

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Understand and use question words (interrogatives) (e.g, who, what, where, when, why, how).

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Questions always begin with a question word. It is easy to remember question words by remembering the 5 Ws and H: who, what, where, when, why, and how.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that authors write question and answer books to give readers information about a topic. Say: Authors write questions by beginning their questions with who, what, where, when, why, or how.

Write the question words on the board. Read questions from a stack text aloud, emphasizing the question words. Continue reading questions from stack texts until students show understanding. Finally, decide on a topic your class knows a lot about, such as thunderstorms. One by one, go through the question words and ask students to think of questions they could ask about thunderstorms. Say: When you write your own book, make sure you begin each page with a question. Each question should begin with a question word.

Possible Teaching Point

Spelling | Initial Consonant Blends

- Remind students that in words that begin with two consonants, both letters are heard and spelled. Say a few examples, such as slip and trap.
- As students write their question and answer books, have them look for words that begin with consonant blends and check that they have spelled these words correctly.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON QUESTION WORDS After this lesson, students should transition into writing or drawing their own question and answer books.

- Display the question words and encourage students to choose a variety of question words for their books.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Model using the 5 Ws and H to write questions about a topic.
- Shared Take turns writing questions using the 5 Ws and H.
- Guided Prompt students to think about one question for each question word.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Questions begin with a question word and end with a question mark. Writers choose which question word best matches each answer about the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students recall what a question and answer book is. Explain that readers get information about a topic by first reading the question and then reading the answer.

Look through a stack text and read the questions aloud. Have students identify which of the 5 W and H words were used for each question. Ask them to identify the punctuation mark at the end of each question.

Next, say: Today I am going to teach you to write a question. Let's pretend that I am writing a question and answer book about thunderstorms.

*I already made a list of what I know about my topic. One thing I know is that there is thunder during a thunderstorm. Thunder is a loud noise. How can I turn that information into a question? Let's look at the list of question words and decide which one to use. I can use the question word what and write the question What do we hear during a thunderstorm? That is one question I will include in my book. Write the question on the board. Point out the question word what and the question mark at the end of the sentence. Another thing I know about my topic is that during a thunderstorm, there is lightning. I will write a question for that information too. What do we see during a thunderstorm? Write the question on the board. I wrote another question for my book. It begins with the word what, and it ends with a question mark. You can write questions like these for your book too.*

Direct students to p. 84 of the Student Interactive and complete the activity together.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | End Punctuation

Review the three kinds of end punctuation and when they are used.

- A period comes at the end of a sentence that tells.
- A question mark comes at the end of a sentence that asks.
- An exclamation mark comes at the end of a sentence that shows excitement.

As students work on their books, have them check that each sentence has the correct type of end punctuation.

Explore Compose Answers

OBJECTIVES

Recognize and name end punctuation.

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors write question and answer books about topics they know a lot about. A question and answer book is composed of a series of questions and answers. Authors write questions and then they use what they know to compose the answers. When they do not know the answers, they use sources such as experts and research to find them.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Choose several books from the stack. Look through the books, reading questions and answers aloud to students. Highlight for students how questions are formatted (question words, question marks) and how the author answers each question. Say: An answer is written in a complete sentence. An answer does not end with a question mark. It usually ends with a period. Let's look through these books and find the answers. Read a stack text. Pause on each page to have students identify the answers.

Continue reading questions and answers from stack texts until students show understanding. Finally, decide on a topic your class knows a lot about, such as thunderstorms. Pose questions to the class and have volunteers provide answers in complete sentences. Write the answers on the board. If students did not use a complete sentence, help them revise their answer so it is a complete sentence. Say: When you write your own book, make sure you write answers to your questions. Each answer should be a complete sentence. It should begin with a capital letter and end with a period.

Possible Teaching Point

Drafting | Composing Answers

OBJECTIVES

Recognize and name end punctuation.

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 85

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT Authors write answers to questions by using what they know. Sometimes, authors need to learn more about a topic to write answers to questions. Answers are statements that end in a period and include facts. Answers to questions should

- include information that relates back to the question.
- help the reader better understand the topic.
- begin with a capital letter and end with a period.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that authors might know a lot about a topic, and they should include this information in their answers. If they do not know the answers, they can research the answer in a book or by talking to an expert.

When writing answers, authors need to write in complete sentences, using a capital letter at the beginning and a period at the end. Tell students you are writing a question and answer book about thunderstorms. Tell them you have already written some questions. Write the following questions on the board: What do we hear during a thunderstorm? What do we see during a thunderstorm? Next, tell students that you will use what you know to write the answers. Think aloud as you write. The first question asks what we hear during a thunderstorm. I know that we hear thunder, so I will write: We hear thunder during a thunderstorm. The second question asks what we see during a thunderstorm. I will begin my answer with We see. What do we see during a thunderstorm? We see lightning. I will write: We see lightning during a thunderstorm. Point out to students that each sentence starts with a capital letter and ends with a period. Both sentences answer the questions.

Direct students to complete the activity on p. 85 of the Student Interactive. Help students write complete sentences.

WRITING CLUB

Use p. T331 to guide Writing Club discussions.

Share Back

Have a few students share the answers they composed for their books.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share their question and answer books.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes in their groups reviewing the following:

- Being respectful and considerate when sharing ideas
- Responding to and building on the comments of others
- Listening carefully to others' ideas

What Are We Sharing? Students can share their question and answer books with their Writing Club. The group can help them decide if their questions are on topic and if their answers include information that relates back to the questions. The Writing Club can also help make sure the questions begin with a question word and end with a question mark and that each answer is a complete sentence.

Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of the basic structure of a question and answer book in order to gauge where students may need support in their writing. Have stacks and minilessons available to reference during the conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Organize Ideas

If students need additional support,

Then ask: What do you think is the first thing your reader will want to know about your topic?

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Why did you put this question first?

Compose an Introduction and Conclusion

If students need additional support,

Then ask them to identify the introduction and conclusion in a book from the stack. Discuss the characteristics of the introduction and the conclusion.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: What graphics could you draw to go along with your introduction or conclusion? What other details can you add?

Graphics

If students need additional support,

Then review their book with them, pausing to ask if the graphic on each page matches the text.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: What detail did you include in this graphic that is not in the text?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Allow students to pick a stack text of their choice. Point out the introduction and conclusion.
- Have students look through a stack text to notice how the questions and answers are organized.
- Use sticky notes to label parts of a question and answer book.

DEVELOPING

- Help students sound out words as they write.
- Show introductions and conclusions in the stack texts and have students follow the structure.
- Talk with students about what the graphics show in the stack texts.

EXPANDING

- Prompt students to discuss how they will organize the ideas in their book.
- Have students dictate the introduction and conclusion for their books.
- Tell students to discuss the details that graphics add to books.

BRIDGING

- Invite students to talk about their introduction and conclusion prior to writing.
- Have students think aloud as they organize the ideas for their books.
- Ask students to choose or draw graphics that will add details to their books.

Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge

While conferring with students, refer back to the Bridge minilessons on complete sentences.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 3: Develop Structure

During this week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that helps them understand how to develop structure in their writing. These targeted supports were chosen to help students continue to build upon their writing and organizational skills.

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T342–T343.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE COMPOSE AN INTRODUCTION AND CONCLUSION

Use the stack books to show and read aloud the introductions and conclusions, pointing out that each reminds the reader what the book is about.

Work one-on-one with students to help them compose an introduction and conclusion. Transcribe their words and read them aloud. EMERGING

If students have difficulty composing an introduction or conclusion, ask them to recall what the topic is about. Work with them to say an introduction and then write it. Continue this process to help them compose a conclusion.

DEVELOPING

Have students create an oral draft of their introduction and conclusion prior to writing it.

EXPANDING

Prompt students to identify the details they would like to include in their introductions and conclusions. BRIDGING

See the online Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T350–T351.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE GRAPHICS

Using graphics in a book can help ELL students better understand the topic and details. Help students choose graphics using pictures from magazines, newspapers, or their own drawings.

Have students label parts of the picture or talk about what they see. Transcribe their thoughts into questions for their books. EMERGING

Have students draw a picture about their topic. Point out the elements of their drawing and work with them to compose a question.

DEVELOPING

Have students work with a group to identify details in pictures that can be used to compose questions and answers. EXPANDING

Have students work with Emerging/Developing students to explore graphics in stack texts or in their own work. BRIDGING

Organize Ideas

OBJECTIVE

Develop drafts in oral, pictorial, or written form by organizing ideas.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 119

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors organize question and answer books by putting their questions and answers in order. The most important questions and answers come first in a question and answer book.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read a book from the stack, and point out the questions and answers. Remind students that in a question and answer book, the questions come first and the answers come after each question. Say: Authors organize their questions and answers. They put the most important questions and answers first.

Continue reading texts from the stack. Ask students what the most important question might be about the topic for each book. Then read the first question and answer aloud. Ask students why the author might have chosen to put this question and answer first. Using a book that begins with a very broad question and answer, say: The first question and answer help introduce the topic. They are more general than the others because they are designed to get readers interested in the topic.

Direct students to complete p. 119 in the Student Interactive. Remind students that authors write a question followed by an answer. In the spaces provided, students should draft a question and answer for their own books.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

FOCUS ON ORGANIZATION

- After learning about the way authors organize questions and answers in a book, have students think about the most important question and answer for their topic.
- Have them review the order of the questions in their book before continuing to write. Remind them that they can start over or begin a new book at any time.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Use stack texts to demonstrate how authors organize ideas, pointing out which question and answer come first.
- Shared Work with students to help them organize their books. Help them determine which question and answer are the most important.
- Guided Use a stack text to provide explicit instruction for organizing ideas and choosing the order of questions and answers.

Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

See the Conference Prompts on p. T336.

Share Back

Ask a few students to share how they decided the order of their questions and answers.

3. Can I have an apple?
4. He is busy as a bee.
5. Who is that girl?
6. We can go into the store.

ELL Targeted Support

Spelling Patterns Provide practice with the VC spelling pattern.

Write the words at, an, am, and as. Read each word and have students repeat. Explain that these words have a vowel-consonant pattern and a short vowel sound.

EMERGING

Using the words at, an, am, and as, cover a word, say it, have students say it, and then ask them to write the word.

DEVELOPING

Write the words at and an. Ask students to identify the spelling pattern and the vowel sound in each word. Cover the words, say each sound, and ask students to write the words.

Spiral Review: End Punctuation

FOCUS Remind students that sentences end with punctuation.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write different types of sentences and model adding punctuation: Can it fly; It can fly; It's really flying. This first sentence is a question. It starts with a question word: can. I need to add a question mark. The next sentence is a statement that tells me something can fly. I need to add a period. The next sentence is said with some excitement so I will add an exclamation point.

APPLY Pair students and have them take turns saying sentences that end with different types of punctuation.

OBJECTIVES

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including punctuation marks at the end of declarative sentences.

Recognize and name end punctuation.

ELL Targeted Support

End Punctuation Tell students that there are three types of end punctuation: period, question mark, and exclamation point.

Write examples of telling sentences, questions, and exclamations on the board, but without the end punctuation. Read each sentence aloud with intonation. Call on volunteers to edit the sentences by writing the correct punctuation at the end of each one. EMERGING

Write the following sentence frames on the board without the end punctuation: The girl ____. What did ____? She liked ____! Have students complete the sentence frames, including the end punctuation. DEVELOPING

Have students work with a partner to write a telling sentence, a question, and an exclamation. Then have students exchange papers with another pair to check and edit each other's work. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Explore Compose an Introduction and Conclusion

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Question and answer books include an introduction that states the topic. They also include a conclusion. The conclusion is found at the end of the book and reminds readers about the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use stack texts to show students how authors use introductions and conclusions in question and answer books. Explain that an introduction tells the reader what the book is about. Read the introduction of a stack book aloud, and ask students what they think they will learn from the book. Continue to read the entire book, pausing before you get to the conclusion. Then explain that a conclusion comes at the end of the book and reminds readers about the main points of the book. Read the conclusion and ask students what the main points of the book were.

Use another stack text and have students identify the introduction and conclusion. Engage students in a discussion about why introductions and conclusions are important in question and answer books.

Possible Teaching Point

Writing Process

Drafting | Compose an Introduction

Tell students that a good introduction gets a reader interested in their book, and tells the reader what they are about to learn. The introduction helps the reader decide if it is the right book for them. A good introduction may

- tell a surprising fact
- ask a question

Encourage students to think about interesting ways they can introduce their question and answer books.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON INTRODUCTION AND CONCLUSION

- Students should begin writing their introduction and conclusion if they have not done so already. Remind them to draw a picture to accompany their introduction or conclusion.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Model writing an introduction and conclusion for your book.
- Shared Work with students to review words to include in introductions and conclusions.
- Guided Ask students why an introduction and conclusion are important.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

- If students demonstrate understanding, they can continue working on their books.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T336.

Share Back

Call on several students to share their ideas for their introduction and conclusion with the class. Remind students to be active listeners.

It does not have an action part. We don't know what Jen does.* Say the following word to complete the sentence: walks.

APPLY Say the following: She stands. We. Work with students to decide which sentence is a complete sentence and which is not. Ask students how you can make the incomplete sentence a complete sentence.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 120

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Tell students that the introduction and conclusion of a question and answer book tell readers about the topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Hold up a stack book that includes an introduction and conclusion. Work with students to identify each. Then say: *Today I am going to show you how to write an introduction and conclusion. I want to write a book about the ocean. In my book, I want to tell readers all about the ocean. I will tell information about the way the ocean looks and the way it sounds. I will also tell other information about it. When I write my introduction, I should say my topic and what the book is mostly about. My topic is oceans, and my book is all about oceans. So I will write this introduction: The ocean is amazing! I am going to tell you all about oceans. Write the sentences on the board. After my introduction, I will write many questions and answers about the ocean. Then I will write a conclusion. The conclusion should summarize what my book is about. My book tells many facts about the ocean, so I will write this conclusion: We learned a lot about the ocean! Write the conclusion on the board. Tell students that when they write their own introductions, they should tell what the book will be about. When they write their conclusions, they should summarize what they wrote in their books.*

Direct students to complete p. 120 in the Student Interactive.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Complete Sentences

Remind students that a complete sentence has a naming part and an action part. The naming part of a sentence is the person, place, animal, or thing that the sentence tells about. The action part of a sentence tells what the naming part does.

As students write their introductions and conclusions, have them check that their sentences are complete. Have them

- circle the naming parts
- underline the action parts

Independent Writing

Complete Sentences

LESSON 3

Teach Complete Sentences

FOCUS Discuss with students that a complete sentence has a naming part (a noun or pronoun). Many sentences also have an action part (the verb). Remind students that a complete sentence begins with a capital letter and ends with a period, a question mark, or an exclamation point.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display the following sentences: Sam runs. Tom hops The first sentence is a complete sentence. It has a capital letter at the beginning, a period at the end, a naming part, and an action part. As you model, circle the capital letter and period and underline the words Sam and runs. Read aloud the next sentence. Ask students to tell you what the sentence needs to make it correct.

OBJECTIVES

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including punctuation marks at the end of declarative sentences.

Recognize and name end punctuation.

ELL Targeted Support

Sentence Patterns Have students write using a variety of sentence patterns. Display a large picture of a car.

Have students share telling sentences, questions, and exclamations about the car. Write their sentences on the board. Have students copy one example of each sentence pattern. EMERGING

Explore Graphics

OBJECTIVES

Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words.

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Graphics show more information about a topic. In question and answer books, graphics can be photographs or drawings. Authors use graphics to add details to a question or answer.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read a text from the stack, pointing out the graphics. Look at the pictures, telling what you see. Think aloud as you guess what the question and answer could be based on the graphics. Then read the question and answer aloud. Recall how your guess using graphics matched up with the text.

Show the graphics in another stack text. Have students guess the question and answer based on the photos or drawings. Read the text aloud and make the connection between the graphics and text. Have students point out information they learned from the graphics that was not in the text. Say: Graphics can help readers understand the text better. A book's graphics might be photographs that show what is being described or explained. Graphics can also be drawings that give more information to the reader. When you draw graphics in your question and answer book, make sure they match the text. Also try to include details in your picture so readers will learn more from it. You can add labels to your picture too.

Possible Teaching Point

TEACHING POINT Tell students that graphics add details to a question and answer book. Authors choose images or drawings to match the information in their books.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display a stack text that your class has not read. Begin reading the book without showing the pictures. Have students think about what you read, picturing it in their minds. After reading a few pages, return to the beginning and start again. This time, show the pictures. Then say: Authors include graphics in their books. The graphics give more information and help the reader picture what is happening in the text. What can you learn from the pictures that you didn't know by reading the words? Engage students in a conversation about the information they learned from the graphics.

Then say: *Today I will show you how to add graphics to your books. If you've already added graphics, you can add more details to them. I am writing a question and answer book about the ocean. In my book, I say that oceans have big waves. Some readers might not know what ocean waves look like. So I will draw a picture to go along with the words. On the board or chart, write the sentence Oceans have big waves. Begin drawing a sketch of a wave in the ocean. The readers can look at this picture to learn more about waves. They can see what waves look like. What other details can I add to the drawing to tell my readers more about waves?* Allow students to suggest details, such as a person jumping in the waves, a surfer in the waves, or a boat on the waves. - Pay attention to others' comments and questions and build on those

What Are We Sharing? Students can share their question and answer books with their Writing Club. # Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of verb tenses and digital tools in order to gauge where students may need support in their writing. Have stack books and minilessons available to reference during the conference.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Edit for Verbs

If students need additional support,

 Then help identify past, present, and future tense verbs in stack texts.

If students show understanding,

Then have them point to a verb in their book and ask if there is a stronger verb they could use.

Digital Tools to Produce Writing

If students need additional support,

 Then have them identify digital tools in the classroom or explain what digital tools they have at home. Help them identify some of the keyboard keys you discussed and explain what they are used for.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: How would your book be different if you used a computer to write it?

Digital Tools to Publish Writing

If students need additional support,

 Then guide students to compare a hand-written book to a published stack book.

If students show understanding,

Then say: What graphics or features can you add to your book using a digital tool? Why would these make your published book more interesting?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Underline the verbs in stack texts. Help students identify action verbs.
- Help students sound out words as they write to increase spelling accuracy.
- Label the digital tools available for use in the classroom.

DEVELOPING

- Use shared writing to transcribe students' books.
- Offer verb options for students to use in writing.
- Model revising writing using digital tools.

EXPANDING

- Prompt students to choose action verbs in past, present, or future tenses.
- Show students how to use digital tools in the classroom.
- Have students identify which tools are best for writing and publishing.

BRIDGING

- Invite students to assist in classroom discussions.
- Have students help others use digital tools.
- Prompt students to revise their work using digital tools available in the classroom.

Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge

While conferring with students, refer back to the Bridge minilessons on text structure and expanding sentences.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 4: Writer's Craft

During the Writer's Craft week, your ELL students will build on their writing skills as they write and edit their question and answer books. These targeted supports were chosen to help students better understand how to transfer their written work to a digital environment.

See the online Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T366–T367.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE DIGITAL TOOLS TO PRODUCE WRITING

Allow students to learn how to use digital tools available in your classroom, such as laptops, tablets, or the Internet. Show students how to type a question and answer book using digital tools.

Have students write their question and answer books on paper and explore the ways in which their books can be written using available digital tools. EMERGING

Allow students to work with a partner to experiment writing their drafts on a desktop computer or laptop. DEVELOPING

Have students work individually or with a partner to begin typing their drafts on a digital tool. Circulate to offer assistance in finding letters on a keyboard and using the backspace key to correct errors. EXPANDING

Invite students to conference with Emerging ELL students to share their knowledge about using digital tools. BRIDGING

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T374–T375.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE DIGITAL TOOLS TO PUBLISH WRITING

As students begin to understand how digital tools can be used to publish books, provide them with opportunities to practice using those tools for their work.

Work with students to transcribe their question and answer books from paper to digital, helping them become comfortable with finding letters on a keyboard or tablet. EMERGING

Have students use digital tools to write and explore graphics to use in their question and answer books. DEVELOPING

Ask students to explain how digital tools make getting work published easier. Work with students to add graphics and publish their books using available classroom digital tools. EXPANDING

Have students take the lead in typing and creating their books on laptops, tablets, or computers. Students should add graphics to complete their books. BRIDGING

FAST TRACK

Edit for Verbs

OBJECTIVE

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including verbs.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 161

The screenshot shows a page titled 'LITERARY NONFICTION' and 'WRITING WORKSHOP'. At the top, it says 'I can write a nonfiction text.' Below that, the section is 'Edit for Verbs'. It defines a verb as an action word and lists tenses: past, present, or future. There is a 'MY TURN' section with a 'circle' icon. The first sentence is 'I walked with Aunt Rose.' The second sentence is 'We _____ about school.' Below the blank, the words 'talk' and 'talked' are shown in boxes. At the bottom, there are directions: 'Directions: Say: When you write a nonfiction text, your verbs should match. For example, they should all tell about now or all tell about the past. Read the sentences and have students edit the second sentence by circling the verb that matches the verb in the first sentence. Ask students to edit for verbs in their question and answer books.' The page number '161' is in the bottom right corner.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Verbs are action words. They can tell about actions that are happening now, happened in the past, or will happen in the future.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use stack texts to point out past, present, and future tense verbs. Explain that if a text is written in the present tense, the verbs usually stay in present tense. Use examples from a stack text to demonstrate. On the board, make a three-column chart with the headings past, present, and future. Tell students that verbs in the past usually end with -ed. Verbs in the present usually end with -s or -ing, and verbs in the future begin with will. Read a stack text together and point out the verbs. Write all three tenses of the verb in the chart. Have students help you.

Choose a present-tense sentence from a stack text, and write it on the board. Be sure the verb in the sentence is a regular verb. Say: Today I will show you how to edit your drafts for the correct use of verbs. Let's read this sentence together. Read the sentence aloud to students. This sentence is written in the present tense. The action is happening now. I know this because the verb is in the present tense. Underline the verb in the sentence. Now I want to edit this sentence so it happens in the past. How should we edit this verb so that it is a past-tense verb? Guide students to add an -ed. Now let's reread the sentence. By adding an -ed to the verb, we made the action happen in the past. Read the sentence aloud. Repeat the activity, asking students to help you change the sentence to future tense.

Direct students to complete the activity on p. 161 in the Student Interactive. Provide assistance as needed.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

FOCUS ON VERB TENSE

- Students should transition to reviewing their books to make sure each verb is in the correct tense.

WRITING SUPPORT

- Modeled As you model writing, emphasize usage of verbs to tell the action in a book.
- Shared Use stack texts to point out verb tenses and usage.
- Guided Prompt students to think about what verb tense to use in their writing.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

- When students finish editing for verbs, they can continue writing or editing their books.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T360.

Share Back

Call on a few students to read their sentences aloud to the class. Have students identify whether the verb is in the past, present, or future tense, and engage students in a discussion about why they used this tense.

2. Mat can skip and jump.
3. Do not step in the puddle!
4. The dog has a white spot on its face.
5. Can I go out to play?
6. I am tired, so I will take a nap.

ELL Targeted Support

Spelling Patterns Provide practice with spelling words beginning with blends.

Write the words swim and step. Say the words aloud. Have students say the sounds for the consonant blend in each word. EMERGING

Have students look through their book to find other words that begin with consonant blends. Have them say the words as you write them on the board. DEVELOPING

Ask students to draw a picture of a CCVC word and label it with the word. Have them present their picture to the class. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Spiral Review: Adjectives

FOCUS Remind students that an adjective is a word that describes a person, place, thing, or an idea. Tell students that adjectives help give more detail about a subject.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Give an example of a sentence with an adjective, and help students identify the adjective. Say: In the sentence, I have a beautiful dog, there is an adjective. It's a word that describes the dog. The dog is described as beautiful. So beautiful is the adjective in this sentence.

APPLY Find sample sentences in the classroom library or in the Student Interactive, and challenge students to locate an adjective and tell which word it describes.

OBJECTIVE

Edit drafts using standard English conventions, including adjectives.

ELL Targeted Support

Edit Writing Review adjectives. Then have students practice editing adjectives in writing.

Write example sentences with adjectives on the board. Read each sentence aloud. Ask students to copy the sentences, underlining the adjectives. EMERGING

Have students form their own sentences that include adjectives. Guide students to edit their work for grammar and spelling. DEVELOPING

Explore Digital Tools to Produce Writing

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Many authors write their books on laptops, tablets, or other digital tools. Some authors may hand-write their notes or drafts in a notebook and then transfer them to digital tools. Authors type their books on computers or tablets so they can then be printed or published.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Show a laptop or tablet and explain to students that people first learn to write using paper and pencil. But for most authors, using digital tools, such as computers, makes it easier to compose a book. Model writing a sentence from a stack text on paper and then typing the sentence onto a computer. Think aloud as you show how you can easily revise work done on a computer. Say: When I write by hand, I have to go back and erase my writing if I want to make changes. Sometimes, there's not enough space to add in the text I want, so it looks messy. When I write on a computer, the text changes as I edit. It's very easy to make changes on the computer. Point out the “delete,” “space,” “backspace,” and “return” keys on a keyboard or tablet, showing students what each key does and how it can help them write and edit.

Spelling | Initial Consonant Blends

Remind students that in words with initial consonant blends, there are two consonants at the beginning of the words. Have students read their question and answer books and look for words that begin with consonant blends. Have them check to make sure they have spelled these words correctly.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON DIGITAL TOOLS

- After this lesson, students should continue writing and editing their drafts and then transition to using digital tools. If possible, have computers available for students to use to produce their writing.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Draft a sentence on paper and then type it on a laptop. Make an error and use the backspace or delete key to correct it so students understand how those keys work.
- Shared Have students write their sentence and then type it. Help them make any corrections or changes.
- Guided Guide students in using digital tools to transcribe their writing.

Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

LESSON 2

Oral Language: Expand Sentences

FOCUS Explain to students that they can become better writers by adding words to their sentences to give more details. Remind them that adjectives are words that describe people, places, things, or ideas. Explain that when we add adjectives, we make the sentence longer. We also add more information and make the sentence more detailed.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Give an example of how to expand a sentence by adding an adjective. Say: I am thinking about a sentence I wrote. It is I have a brother. I want to expand this sentence and give more information about my brother. I can add an adjective. I like to describe my brother as funny. So I will add that adjective before the word brother. Now my sentence is I have a funny brother.

APPLY Say several simple sentences and work with students to brainstorm adjectives that can expand those sentences.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors can use computers, tablets, and other digital tools to write. Digital tools make writing easier. Authors can write on paper but may compose their final work using digital tools so it can be published or printed.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write a question and answer from a stack text on the board, or make up one, such as: How old are children when they start kindergarten? Most children are five or six when they start school. Tell students that you want to transcribe your question and answer from paper to a digital tool. Model typing it on a laptop or tablet. Think aloud as you type your question and answer, using the space bar between words and using “delete” to fix errors and “return” to start a new line. Ask students what they notice about using digital tools to write a book (it is neater, it is easy to read, etc.). Model how to add a picture to the page and how to use the spell-check feature. Explore other features of the software as time allows. Think aloud as you model saving the document, explaining that authors save their work on digital tools.

Direct students to complete the activity on p. 162 of the Student Interactive. Explain that digital tools do not include a pencil and paper.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Expand Sentences

Students should be adding adjectives to sentences to give more detail. If students have difficulty adding adjectives, prompt them to think about the color, shape, size, or number of the things they are telling about. Have them add these kinds of adjectives to their writing.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON WRITING AND EDITING

- During independent writing time, students should continue writing and editing. If resources allow, have students type their books on a laptop or tablet. Remind them to save their work.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Think aloud as you transfer a hand-written book to a digital format.
- Shared Work with students to continue using digital tools to type their books. After they type each page, have them stop and read it to look for typing errors. Show them how to correct any errors.
- Guided Discuss why digital tools are important when writing a book. Help students begin or finish typing their books.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model another example: I just read this sentence: Who baked the delicious cake? The word delicious is an adjective. The word expanded the sentence and gave me more detail about the cake. Provide additional examples as needed so that students can easily identify on their own how sentences can be expanded.

Explore Digital Tools to Publish Writing

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Publishing means printing a book or sharing it with others. Before authors publish their books, they can use digital tools to add graphics, change fonts, bold or italicize words, or change the color of the text. Authors can use digital tools to publish their writing.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use a stack text to show how words are formatted in a book. Point out colored text, bold fonts, different type faces, different size fonts, etc. Tell students that it would be difficult to create all of these different sizes and colors of text by hand. Digital tools make it easier for authors to create pages for their books.

Choose another stack text and have students identify the different fonts and images they see. Engage students in a discussion about how each element might be hard to create with pencil and paper, but digital tools make it easy for authors to create their books.

Say: To publish a book means to finalize it and share it with others. This author published his book by printing it. There are other ways to publish our writing using digital tools. What are some other ways we can share our writing using a digital tool, such as a computer? Work with students to brainstorm and list other ways that digital tools can be used to share writing, such as sending it through email, posting it on a message board, sharing it on social media, or making a video of someone reading the book.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors use digital tools to publish their writing. Before publishing a book, authors finalize how they want it to look. They use digital tools to format their books and add graphics.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Think aloud as you write a question and answer on the board. You can copy a page from a stack text or think of your own question and answer, for example: What do kindergarteners learn in school? Kindergarteners learn about numbers, letters, and how to be part of a community. Reread what you wrote, asking students for suggestions to make the question and answer better. Incorporate their changes and talk through revising your writing. When the writing is final, tell students you will publish it using a digital tool. Type your question and answer on a laptop, computer, or tablet. If possible, scan in a drawing or use stock images or clip art, thinking aloud as you choose the graphics. Print out the finished product and show students the published work. Then say: One way to publish writing using digital tools is to print a copy like I just did. To publish a book means to share it with others. What other ways can you share your writing using computers and other digital tools? Discuss with students the various ways you can share a book online, such as sending it through email, posting it to social media, making a video, or creating a sound recording.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share their question and answer books.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes in their groups reviewing the following:

- Ask questions if you do not understand what someone is saying.
- Answer questions using complete sentences.
- Speak loudly enough for your group to hear.

What Are We Sharing? Students can share their question and answer books with their Writing Club. The group can help them decide if their statements answer their questions and if verbs are in the correct tense. The groups can also discuss the ways digital tools helped, or could help, them produce and publish their writing.

How Do We Get Started? Conversation Starters

- Does the sentence ____ answer the question ____?
- I like your answer to the question ____.
- Does the verb ____ match the rest of the sentence?

Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of the skills needed to edit a question and answer book in order to gauge where students may need support in their writing. Have stacks and minilessons available to reference during the conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Edit for Spelling

If students need additional support,

 Then point out spelling errors in their books and model how to correct them.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Are there any more details you should include in this sentence? Are there any details that are not needed?

Add Details

If students need additional support,

 Then read a page from their book and ask clarifying questions. Guide them to incorporate their answers into the text or pictures. Help them understand that these clarifications add details.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: What else do you need to do to get ready to share your book?

Prepare for Celebration

If students need additional support,

 Then have them practice reading their work aloud. Offer suggestions.

If students show understanding,

Then say: What page in your book is your favorite? Why?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Have students use stack texts to help with spelling.
- Prompt students to reread their texts to check for clarity.
- Have students review and add final details to their graphics.

DEVELOPING

- Have students identify spelling errors in their writing.
- Prompt students to think about sentences that describe details in a picture.
- Provide students practice opportunities before reading their books aloud to build confidence and sound/word recognition.

EXPANDING

- Have students think aloud about why spelling is important.
- Prompt students to write about pictures to add details to their books.
- Encourage students to revise their books before publishing.

BRIDGING

- Have students discuss why spelling correctly is important.
- Prompt students to suggest sentences and pictures that would add details to their books.
- Have students practice presenting their books aloud before sharing with the class.

Reading-Writing Workshop Bridge

While conferring with students, refer back to the Bridge minilessons on author's purpose and expanding sentences.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 5: Publish, Celebrate, and Assess

During this week, your ELLs will benefit from additional editing support as they put final touches on their question and answer books. These targeted supports were chosen to help students further develop their English language skills and build foundational writing skills.

See the online Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T386–T387.

ELL Targeted Support

EDIT FOR SPELLING

Students may need support in identifying misspelled words. Make a list of high-frequency words and post it in your classroom. Prompt students to refer to it as they check their work for spelling errors.

Explain that every language has spelling rules. Write a few simple words in the students' home languages. Spell one word incorrectly, and have students correct it. Then write the same words in English. Show how these words have spelling patterns. Help students correctly spell the word. EMERGING

Work with students to check their books for spelling errors. If they miss a word, pause and point out why it is spelled incorrectly. Reinforce the spelling rule or pattern. Then continue to the next sentence. DEVELOPING

Have students switch books with a partner and edit each other's work, looking for and correcting misspelled words. EXPANDING

Have students circle words that are spelled incorrectly. Have them explain why each word was spelled incorrectly. Then have them write the correct word. BRIDGING

Use this note for the minilesson on pp. T390–T391.

ELL Targeted Support

ADD DETAILS

As students build their writing skills, it's important for them to increase their writing proficiency by adding details. Explain that students can write using connecting words to combine details in phrases, clauses, and sentences.

Display a stuffed bear. Write the phrases brown bear and fuzzy bear on the board. Guide students to combine the phrases using the connecting word and. Have them write the new phrase. EMERGING

Display the stuffed bear, the sentence frame This is a ___ bear, and the adjectives brown and fuzzy. Have students write the sentence, using the connecting word and to combine the adjectives. DEVELOPING

Have students think of sentences about the bear that include details combined with connecting words. Ask them to write one of their sentences on the board. EXPANDING

Have students look back at their writing for places where they can use adjectives and connecting words to add details. BRIDGING

FAST TRACK

Edit for Spelling

OBJECTIVE

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including correct spelling of words with grade-appropriate orthographic patterns and rules and high-frequency words.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 197

The screenshot shows a page titled 'Edit for Spelling' from a 'WRITING WORKSHOP' section. It includes a 'MY TURN' activity where students underline and write the words 'When' and 'wet' from the sentence 'Do not go out yet! It is sweet!' and 'wet'. There is also a 'MY TURN' activity where students circle and write the words 'bat', 'sad', 'bake', 'late', 'trap', and 'plug' from the sentence 'I can write a nonfiction text.' The page number 197 is visible in the bottom right corner.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Good writers go back and check their writing to ensure that they spelled each word correctly.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that good writers go back and revise their work to check for correct spelling.

Choose a stack text and point out some high-frequency words and words that follow certain spelling rules or patterns, such as CVC (cat) or CVCe (cake). Show students words with consonant blends, such as tr (trip) and fl (flat). Write the words on the board or flipchart and help students understand the spelling patterns. Have them think of other words that follow the same patterns (i.e., bat, sad, bake, late, trap, plug, grab).

Then choose a sentence from a stack text and write it on the board or flipchart. Spell one or two words incorrectly. Say: Today I will show you how to edit for spelling. Read the sentence aloud. Ask students if all the words are spelled correctly. When students have identified the misspelled words, show them how to edit. Explain the rule that helped you spell the word correctly. I'm going to cross out the misspelled word and write the word correctly above it. Repeat the activity with other high-frequency words until students show an understanding of editing for spelling.

Have students complete the activity on p. 197 of the Student Interactive. Have students work with a partner to check their spelling using an electronic dictionary. Provide assistance as needed.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON SPELLING

- Tell students to review their book and revise words that are spelled incorrectly. Then have them continue working on revising their writing.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Write a sentence with a misspelled word and model how to identify the word and correct it.
- Shared Ask students how they can find and correct misspelled words.
- Guided Guide students in using strategies to correct misspelled words.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

See the Conference Prompts on p. T384.

Share Back

Have a few students show their revisions to the class. Ask how they checked for misspelled words.

3. Tap your leg when you hear the sound.
4. We took a trip to the beach.
5. I like beets, and my sister likes them too.
6. I don't know when I will be home.

ELL Targeted Support

Spelling Help students grasp spelling patterns.

Write the words leg and zip. Explain that words with a vowel between two consonants often have the short vowel sound. Ask students to say the vowel sound in each word.

EMERGING

Write and say top, pet, and tip. Prompt students to identify the pattern and vowel sound in each word. DEVELOPING

Say the words trot and trap. Review that these are CCVC words. The vowels in CCVC words are usually short. Ask students to write each word and say the vowel sound in the word. EXPANDING

Write trot and trap. Have students tell you which spelling pattern the words follow and write other words that follow the same pattern. BRIDGING

Spiral Review: Expand Sentences (Adjectives and Articles)

FOCUS Remind students that they can expand sentences by using adjectives. To expand a sentence is to add words to provide details and meaning. Adjectives are descriptive words that tell more information about someone or something.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Model expanding sentences with adjectives for students. Write this sentence on the board: Skip is a dog. Read it aloud. Then write this sentence on the board: Skip is a good dog. Explain to students that the word good is an adjective. It tells more about Skip and adds meaning to the sentence.

APPLY Write a set of basic adjectives on the board, such as good, big, small, and happy. Have students say simple sentences, and then have them add one of the adjectives from the board to their sentences. Students can complete this activity working in pairs, or you can run the activity with the whole class, calling on volunteers to say and then expand sentences.

OBJECTIVE

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including adjectives, including articles.

ELL Targeted Support

Use Connecting Words Help students write using connecting words.

Display a picture of a water slide. Use phrases to describe it, such as wet slide and slippery slide. Guide students to combine the phrases using the connecting word and. Have them write the new phrase. EMERGING

Display the water slide picture, the adjectives wet and slippery, and the sentence frame This is a ___ slide. Have

Add Details

OBJECTIVES

Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words.

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including adjectives, including articles.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 198

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Details give readers more information about a topic. Details also make a book more interesting. In question and answer books, authors can add details to the question, answer, or pictures. Details can be adjectives to describe a naming part of the sentence, or they can be nouns or verbs added to the action part of the sentence. Details can also be added to pictures.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use stack texts to point out how details in a picture add information to the book and make it more interesting. Point out adjectives in sentences, explaining how these descriptive words add details too. Tell students that today they will edit their books, paying attention to places they can add details in words and pictures and places they can add or edit adjectives.

Write a sentence on the board about a picture in a stack text. Do not include describing information. For example: This elephant has a nose. Tell students you will add details to the sentence. Say: I can see that the elephant is gray and that it is using its long nose to spray itself with water. I can change the sentence to: This gray elephant has a long nose that sprays water. Refer to the pictures to think about the details to add to the sentence.

Repeat the activity, using another picture from a stack text. Have students make the sentence more descriptive by adding details to it.

Have students complete the activity on p. 198 in the Student Interactive. Remind students that they can use both words and pictures to show details.

Possible Teaching Point

Spelling | Words to Know

Tell students that each week they learn words that are used frequently in texts. These words are called My Words to Know. List the Unit 5 My Words to Know on the board:

- be
- eat
- who
- out
- too
- saw
- walk
- into
- so
- when

If students have used words from the My Words to Know list in their writing, they should make sure the spelling is correct.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

FOCUS ON DETAILS

- During independent writing, students should review their books and add more details.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled Go back to a student's writing and model adding details to words or pictures.
- Shared Have students share their ideas about where to add details to their writing or pictures.
- Guided Use a stack text to provide explicit instruction about how details can be added to words or pictures.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

- Then they should continue editing and finalizing their books in preparation for the celebration.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T384.

FOCUS Tell students that they can expand sentences and make them more meaningful by adding phrases. Suggest that students use phrases that tell more about how things are related. These phrases will often include words such as beside, near, over, and with. Remind students that these are prepositions.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write this sentence on the board: Bob is happy. Read it aloud. Then write this sentence on the board: Bob is happy with me. Read it aloud. Tell students that you added the phrase with me. This phrase adds more information and meaning to the sentence. Remind students that it is a prepositional phrase.

APPLY Say to the class: I went to the store. Call on a volunteer to revise your sentence by adding a prepositional phrase. Then say to the class: I went to school. # Prepare for Celebration

OBJECTIVE

Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words.

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT When authors are finalizing their work, they plan a celebration. The celebration may be a public reading. Using what they learned this week, students will continue to revise their work and prepare for a celebration of their writing.

MODEL AND PRACTICE As a class, make a Writing Checklist that students can refer to as they edit and finalize their books. Checklists should incorporate what students learned in this unit. Question and answer books should include

- questions that use the 5 Ws and the H.
- answers that give information about a topic.
- an introduction that describes the topic.
- a conclusion that reminds readers about the topic.

This unit's Writing Checklist can also include:

- edit for spelling
- edit for action words
- add details to graphics and text

Before displaying the checklist, read through it as a class and answer any questions students may have. Remind students to refer to it as they revise.

Possible Teaching Point

Language & Conventions | Expand Sentences

As students add details to their books, remind them that they can make their sentences more meaningful by adding prepositional phrases that give more information. Have them look for places where they can add prepositional phrases. Prompt them to use prepositions such as beside, near, over, and with. Have students read their revised sentences and explain how the writing has been improved.

Independent Writing

FOCUS ON REVISING

- Tell students to use the checklist to revise the books they wrote during this unit.

WRITING SUPPORT

---

- Modeled As you look through student work, model using the checklist to revise.
- Shared Have students identify how their work can be revised as they refer to the checklist.
- Guided Prompt students to read the sentences in their books and direct them to the checklist to revise.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

---

- Students who demonstrate understanding should work to finalize their question and answer books.

See the Conference Prompts on p. T384.

Share Back

Expanding Sentences (Prepositions)

LESSON 3

Teach Expanding Sentences (Prepositions)

FOCUS Explain to students that there are many ways to expand a sentence. Adding a prepositional phrase to a sentence is a good way to add more information to it. Say the sentence: I want to eat lunch. Then tell students that you are going to expand the sentence. Say: Here are some ways I can expand my sentence:

I want to eat lunch at home.

I want to eat lunch at school.

I want to eat lunch with my friend.

I want to eat lunch near a mountain!

MODEL AND PRACTICE Introduce students to another sentence stem that can be expanded: I had fun. Model expanding this sentence for students by saying: I had fun at the party. Prompt students to attempt their own expansions of the sentence, I had fun.

OBJECTIVE

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including prepositions.

ELL Targeted Support

Expand Sentences Have students write using a variety of sentence lengths. Write I saw the book on the board.

Ask students to say phrases they can add to expand the sentence. Rewrite the sentence using one of the phrases. Have students write both the original and the expanded sentence. EMERGING

Have students copy the sentence. Then have them discuss phrases they can add to expand the sentence. Ask them to rewrite the sentence, adding one of the phrases. DEVELOPING

Have students write a simple sentence that includes a subject and a verb. Then have partners trade papers and rewrite the sentence, adding a phrase to expand it. EXPANDING

OBJECTIVES

Develop social communication such as introducing himself/herself, using common greetings, and expressing needs and wants.

Share writing.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 199

Publish and Celebrate
Now you will share your book!
Here are some things to remember.

1. Introduce yourself and greet others.
2. Speak loudly and clearly.
3. Listen when others speak.
4. Ask questions.

TURN and TALK Practice sharing your writing with a partner. Answer questions your partner has about your writing.

Directions: Read the list and discuss the items with students as necessary. Then have students work in pairs to practice introducing themselves, greeting each other, and sharing their question and answer books.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT One way authors celebrate their writing is to read it aloud. The audience listens attentively and may ask questions after the reading.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display a book you have written or a book from the stack. Explain that you will celebrate by reading it aloud to the class. Do a Think Aloud before sharing, recalling what to do when speaking to the class. For example: First I'll introduce myself and read the title of my book. Then I'll begin reading clearly and loudly so the audience can hear me. Please wait until I finish reading before asking questions or making suggestions.

Hold up the book and introduce yourself and read the title. Read slowly and clearly. After reading, ask students if they have suggestions or questions about the book. If students have suggestions, accept or reject them, giving reasons for doing so.

Have students review the reminders on p. 199 in the Student Interactive. Then have students practice sharing their writing.

Possible Teaching Point

Writing Process

Publishing | Share Writing

After students read their books aloud, have them choose another way to share them. Provide the following suggestions:

- put their books on the classroom bookshelf for others to read later
- create a display of their books for the school library
- share their books with a family member

Assessment

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose informative/explanatory texts that name a topic and supply information about it.

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT Assessments help students and teachers determine what was learned during the unit. Assessments provide information on what skills were learned and what skills may need ongoing practice. This assessment will check what skills were learned about writing question and answer books.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students recall some question and answer books from this unit, either in the mentor stack or a book they wrote.

Think aloud as you recall the elements of a question and answer book. Remind students that a question and answer book is

- a nonfiction book about a single topic.
- a text told in a question-and-answer format.
- a book that includes both text and graphics.

Ask students to think about what they have learned from a question and answer book they have read. Engage students in a brief discussion about how question and answer books are organized and formatted.

Assessment

See the unit assessment on p. T403. Inform students that they are going to take a writing assessment. Another form of assessment is to score students' published writing using the rubric on p. T403.

WRITING ASSESSMENT

Literary Nonfiction: Question and Answer Book

Provide students with the assessment prompt below. The prompt may be displayed for students or may be printed from SavvasRealize.com.

PROMPT Write a question and answer book. First, choose a topic you know a lot about. Then write and draw your question and answer book.

4-Point Literary Nonfiction Writing Rubric

Score	Focus	Organization	Development of Text	Language and Vocabulary	Conventions
4	Text has a clear idea and shows good focus on the topic.	Text has organized questions and answers and uses the 5 Ws and H .	Questions and answers strongly support the student's presentation of the topic.	Text uses precise language that is clearly relevant to the topic.	Text has correct grammar, usage, spelling, capitalization, and punctuation.
3	Text is mostly clear and focused on the topic.	Text has most questions and answers organized.	Most questions and answers support the student's presentation of the topic.	Text uses somewhat precise language that is mostly relevant to the topic.	Text has a few errors but is completely understandable.
2	Text idea is somewhat clear but often loses focus.	Text shows some organization in the questions and/or the answers.	Few questions and answers support the student's presentation of the topic.	Text uses imprecise language that is not clearly relevant to the topic.	Text has some errors in usage, grammar, spelling, and/or punctuation.
1	Text idea seems to be confusing or unfocused.	Text has no organization in the questions or answers.	Most text elements are irrelevant to the topic.	Text uses vague language not relevant to the topic.	Text is hard to follow because of frequent errors.
0	Text gets no credit if it does not demonstrate an adequate command of nonfiction writing traits.

Spelling Spell Words

OBJECTIVES

Spell words with VC, CVC, and CCVC.

Spell words using sound-spelling patterns.

Spell common high-frequency words.

SPELLING WORDS

LESSON 5

Assess Understanding

Read aloud the words and sentences. Have students spell each word with the CCVC and CVC spelling patterns and the two high frequency words. Then read each sentence. Repeat each word and allow time for students to spell it.

Spelling Sentences

1. I zip my jacket when it is cold.
2. Mike has a broken leg.
3. My dad drives, and my mom does too.
4. My favorite trip is to the lake.
5. Put the book on the table.

Display the following sentence and guide students to complete the question.

There are three cats.

Which phrase could be added to the end to expand the sentence?

- A is raining.
- B I am happy.
- C near the shed.
- D were dogs?

APPLY My TURN Have students complete Language and Conventions p. 288 from the Resource Download Center.

Name _____

Language and Conventions

Expand Sentences
You can expand sentences by adding phrases.

Ben hid the cap.
Ben hid the cap in a box.

MY TURN Read and write

1. Pete ran.
Possible response: Pete ran on the track.

2. Jen saw a bug.
Possible response: Jen saw a bug on a twig.

Directions: Read the sentences with students. Then have them expand each sentence by adding a phrase. Have them write the new sentence on the lines.

Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of the features of opinion writing to gauge students' ability to brainstorm and plan their own opinion writing. Have stacks and minilessons available to reference during conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Minilessons

If students need additional support,

 Then show a stack book students are familiar with. Ask: What does the person in this book feel or think about the topic? How do you know?

If students show understanding,

Then ask students to tell different opinions children might have about the same topic in the stack book.

Brainstorm Ideas

If students need additional support,

 Then ask about some of the students' favorite things to do, eat, or see.

If students show understanding,

Then ask students to tell several reasons that support their opinions.

Plan Your Opinion Writing

If students need additional support,

 Then have students first state their opinion and reason aloud.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Which of your reasons is most important to you? Why?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Read an opinion piece with a simple sentence structure.
- Create a sentence frame such as I like ___ because ___.
- Explain that reasons tell why.

DEVELOPING

- Use stack books students have heard before. Ask students to tell who has an opinion and how they know what the author feels or likes.
- Model language used to identify a favorite. Use words such as best, favorite, like, and love.
- Model how to choose a favorite from options within a topic.

EXPANDING

- Have students restate the opinions found in several stack books.
- Discuss how a book would be different if the author had a different opinion.
- Discuss additional reasons the author could give to support the opinion in one of the stack books.

BRIDGING

- Ask students to work with a partner to plan their opinion books and share opinions and reasons.
- Have students identify the opinion and reasons in a new opinion piece.
- Have students identify specific words that help state opinions and reasons.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 1: Introduce and Immerse

During the week, your ELLs will benefit from additional support that increases their ability to understand published opinion writing on various topics and plan their own opinion writing.

See the Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW2.

ELL Targeted Support

OPINION WRITING

Use the stack books to help students identify the opinion and reasons in an opinion piece.

Work individually with students to identify the opinion. Have them repeat or retell the opinion using a simple sentence such as She likes _____. EMERGING

Ask students to restate the opinion and a reason from the stack book with a sentence that includes the word because. DEVELOPING

Have several students talk together about their favorites within a common topic such as favorite color, favorite food, or favorite animal. EXPANDING

Have students talk about how the illustrations in one of the stack books support the reasons given for the opinion. BRIDGING

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW5.

ELL Targeted Support

BRAINSTORM IDEAS

Students may need support generating words to identify options within a topic or category from which to choose a favorite.

Display picture cards that fit within the same category such as animals, vehicles, or colors. Help students name each item and then choose a favorite. Provide a sentence frame such as I like ____ best. EMERGING

Have students choose the picture of a favorite item from a category. Model different ways to identify their choices and reasons such as, I like ____ best because _____. ____ is my favorite ____ because _____. DEVELOPING

Have students talk with a partner and state their opinions about several simple topics. Remind students that they do not need to have the same opinion. EXPANDING

Have students talk together about their opinions and reasons related to a simple topic. Then ask them to restate their partner's opinion and reasoning to the larger group. BRIDGING

Opinion Writing

OBJECTIVE

Identify traits of opinion writing.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 221

Writing Support

- Modeled Show examples of opinion writing from the stack texts. Do a Think Aloud to explain why each is an opinion piece.
- Shared With students' input, make a list of topics about which a person might have an opinion.
- Guided Prompt students to think about a topic and an opinion about which they feel strongly. Provide explicit support and instruction as needed.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT An opinion is how someone thinks or feels about a topic. Opinion writers state an opinion about a topic and give reasons to support their opinion.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Select an opinion book from the stack. Read the title and ask if students can tell what the topic of the book might be. Talk about any clues in the title or on the cover that might help the reader know that someone in the book is going to have an opinion. Read the book aloud. As you read, pause to reinforce the topic and opinion. Note the reasons given that support the opinion.

After reading, tell students: When authors write opinions, they need to make clear what they like, think, or believe. Does the author of this book do that? Ask for specific examples of a clear opinion from within the book. Authors need to give reasons for the opinions. What reasons were given in this book? Help students identify the reasons that support the opinion. This book is an example of opinion writing. You will be writing your own opinion books during this unit. Read additional books from the stack. Point out the elements of good opinion writing.

Have students turn to p. 221 in Student Interactive K.5. Review the steps of writing an opinion book: think of a topic, decide on an opinion, and give a reason or reasons explaining your opinion.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

Students can continue reading stack books if they need more time to develop their understanding of opinion writing. If students demonstrate understanding, they can begin thinking of ideas for their own opinion book. See the Conference Prompts for individual conferences.

Share Back

Call on students to give an opinion on a topic they read about in one of the stack books. Encourage students to include both the topic and the opinion in their sentence such as, "Her favorite color is red" rather than just, "She likes red."

Opinion Writing: Opinion

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT An opinion piece includes a topic, a clearly stated opinion, and a reason or reasons that support that opinion.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Select a book from the stack and read it aloud to the class. As you read, do a Stop and Jot, using sticky notes to write the opinion that is stated in the book. Using a different color of sticky notes, jot reasons given that support the opinion. Write one reason per sticky note.

When you have finished reading, review the sticky notes. Remind students that opinions are someone’s thoughts or feelings and that not everyone will have the same opinion. Explain that even people who share the same opinion may have different reasons to support that opinion. Give each student a sticky note. As you read aloud a different stack text, have students jot words or pictures to record the opinion and a reason they hear in the text. When you finish reading, have students share what they recorded on their sticky note. The author of this book wrote an opinion on a topic and gave us some reasons to explain that opinion. When you write your own opinion book, you will need to think about your opinion on a topic and give at least one reason to explain your opinion.

OBJECTIVE

Identify elements of opinion writing.

Writing Support

- Modeled Read a stack text aloud and point out the topic and opinion.
- Shared Have students retell the topic and opinion from one of their favorite books from the stack.
- Guided Prompt students to take turns naming a topic and then having a partner state an opinion about that topic. Give specific feedback and support as needed.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

As students begin their independent writing time, tell them to continue studying the stack books if they need more time to learn about the traits of opinion writing. If some students are ready to write, they can use this time to write about their topic and opinion. See the Conference Prompts.

Share Back

Ask students to share the topics and opinions from either stack books or the opinion books they are writing. Invite students to share different opinions on topics that are suggested. Remind students to stay focused on the topic they have selected.

Opinion Writing: Reasons

OBJECTIVE

Identify and retell important details in opinion texts.

Writing Support

- Modeled Read aloud a stack book and identify the topic, opinion, and at least one supporting reason.
- Shared Have students tell at least one supporting reason given in a stack text.
- Guided While giving explicit instruction as needed, ask students to tell several supporting reasons given in one of the stack texts.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT When writing an opinion book, the reason or reasons need to support and explain the opinion. The reasons should be clearly stated.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Write the word Reason on a chart or board. Read the word aloud and ask students to repeat it. Ask students to tell you what they think a reason is. Then say: A reason helps tell why or explain something. In an opinion book, the reason tells why the author has that opinion. Read a stack text aloud. When you finish, recall the topic and opinion. Invite students to recall some of the reasons given to explain and support the opinion. Invite students to suggest other reasons that the author might have added to the text. Remind students to stay focused on reasons that support the opinion.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

As students transition to independent writing time, help students who need additional support by reviewing the stack books to see how writers use reasons to explain their opinions. If students show understanding, have them begin drawing, dictating, or writing a reason to support their opinions. Confer with students to discuss their writing. See the Conference Prompts.

Share Back

Invite students to share a reason from their opinion books with the class. Model how to give constructive, encouraging feedback to a writer. Ask students to try to give similar feedback.

Brainstorm Ideas

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT When writers brainstorm, they write or draw all the ideas they have. Writers often brainstorm many ideas before deciding on one idea to use in their writing. Writers choose topics that interest them most. The more interested writers are in their topics, the easier it can be for them to write something that interests readers.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Review the brainstorming process with students. Say: You may be interested in many topics. Brainstorming is the time to record all those ideas. You can then choose one for your opinion book.

Model selecting a topic such as favorite colors. List several colors from which you might choose. Do the same with a different topic. Think aloud as you generate ideas.

Direct students to p. 222 in Student Interactive K.5. If students have difficulty thinking of a topic or possible opinions, you might display assorted picture cards for students to browse.

OBJECTIVE

Plan an opinion piece by selecting a topic and opinion.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 222

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

Following the minilesson, if students haven't yet determined a topic and an opinion that interest them, consider using conference time to help them settle on a topic that excites them. Students who have chosen a topic and have an opinion about the topic should begin developing their opinion books. See Conference Prompts.

Share Back

Ask several students to share the topics and opinions they have brainstormed. Invite them to tell why they chose their topics. Model how to ask questions that will help the writers think more deeply about what they will write.

Writing Support

- Modeled Think aloud as you come up with topics that relate to animals. Think aloud about how you form an opinion.
- Shared Once students have brainstormed several topics, suggest an unrelated opinion as a non-example. Ask students to tell why that opinion does not fit.
- Guided Help students avoid choosing a final topic too quickly. Remind them that the goal of brainstorming is to generate many ideas.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

FAST TRACK

Plan Your Opinion Writing

OBJECTIVE

Listen actively, ask questions, and make pertinent comments. Plan the elements for writing an opinion piece.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 223

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT An opinion book focuses on one opinion about one topic. After selecting a topic, the writer decides on an opinion about that topic. Then, the writer supports the opinion with reasons.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students why it is important to have a plan before beginning to write. When writing an opinion book, writers need to first decide the topic about which they will write.

Direct students to p. 223 in Student Interactive K.5. Model selecting a topic such as books, pets, or sandwiches. Have students assist you in listing choices that fall in that topic or category. Model a non-example and ask students to explain why that item does not belong with the others. Think aloud as you try to make a choice among the options listed. Then choose your favorite item and circle that one. State your choice as an opinion. I like hamsters best. They are my favorite pet. When you are finished, talk about the suggestions students made and how they were helpful to you as you planned your opinion book.

Ask student to complete the page and talk about their decisions with a partner. Circulate around the room and comment on positive examples of collaboration.

WRITING CLUB

Place students in Writing Club groups. See p. WW7 for details on how to facilitate Writing Club.

Share Back

Invite students to share their planned topic, opinion, and a reason with the class. Encourage them to tell how comments from others were helpful as they planned their writing. Ask for specific examples of changes or additions they made based on suggestions from others. Remind students that giving and receiving feedback is an important part of successful writing.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share their topics, opinions, and at least one reason they will use their opinion piece.

As students are in new Writing Club groups, they should spend the first 5–10 minutes discussing the following:

- How to listen actively
- How to speak clearly and adjust their volume as needed
- How to make helpful suggestions

What Are We Sharing? Students should share their topic, their opinion, and a reason for their opinion. Students may give helpful feedback by suggesting other choices within the topic and by asking questions about why the final item was selected. This conversation will help the writer begin to plan reasons to add to the opinion pieces.

How Do We Get Started? Conversation Starters

Use these prompts to help students begin the discussions in their Writing Clubs.

- What is the topic you picked?
- What are some of the choices you thought about?
- Why did you choose that one as your favorite?

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Choose a Topic

If students need additional support,

 Then guide them through a stack book to identify the topic.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Which sentence in your opinion book tells the readers what the topic is?

State an Opinion

If students need additional support,

If students show understanding,

Then have students generate additional reasons the author might have given.

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Show students two pictures of places or animals. Help students frame a sentence to state their opinions about which they prefer.
- Create a simple sentence frame such as I like __ because __. Have students repeat the model with you as you help them state their opinions.

DEVELOPING

- Work with students to create a word bank of words to show an opinion such as like, love, favorite, and best.
- Have students talk about a favorite book or movie. As students state an opinion or reason, transcribe what they have said. Encourage them to use this as a model.

EXPANDING

- Prompt students to tell about a favorite food. Ask questions to draw out reasons for their preferences.
- Ask students to talk with a partner about a favorite movie and ask questions of each other.

BRIDGING

- Ask students to practice telling a partner about their opinions and reasons before writing.
- Encourage students to provide feedback to partners who are planning their opinion books.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 2: Develop Elements

This week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that helps them develop the elements of opinion writing. These targeted supports help students better understand how to write their own opinion pieces.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW13.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE STATE AN OPINION

Use stack books to identify the stated opinion. Work with individual students to point out the opinion. Help students draw a picture that shows their opinion on the same topic.

EMERGING

Using a stack book, help students form sentences that tell if they have the same opinion or different opinion from the one stated in the stack book. DEVELOPING

Have students talk with a partner about an opinion shared in a book from the stack.

EXPANDING

Have students state an opposite or differing opinion from one stated in a stack book.

BRIDGING

See the Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW16.

ELL Targeted Support

APPLY SUPPLY A REASON

Support students as they develop and state reasons that support their opinions.

Have students draw what they want to express an opinion about. Help students create a sentence that uses the word because.

EMERGING

Have students describe the items they are expressing opinions about. Help students use one or more of those descriptive words to state a reason. DEVELOPING

Have students tell partners why they have their opinions. Encourage them to use the word because or since when telling why. EXPANDING

Ask students to state a reason why someone might have a different opinion from theirs.

BRIDGING

FAST TRACK

Choose a Topic

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to select a topic for an opinion piece.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 224

Writing Support

- Modeled Use a stack book to do a Think Aloud about identifying the topic.
- Shared Have students choose a topic and talk to partners about the choices.
- Guided Prompt students to name a topic, and provide explicit support as needed.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT The topic of an opinion book is the subject the writer will be writing about. The writer will be choosing a preference related to that topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE On a flip chart or the board, write Favorite and Best. Help students generate a list of topics about which someone could have a favorite or choose something as the best. Examples to begin the discussion are topics such as food, pets, and colors. Review several of the stack books to spark more ideas. Ask: What is the topic in this book? Why do you think the author selected this topic? Continue to add topics from other stack books or additional topics students suggest.

Say: Once we have a topic, we can think of what might be choices within that topic. If our topic is pets, we might have dogs, cats, birds, hamsters, or fish as some of our choices. We could then choose the favorite or best from the choices in that topic.

Work with students to complete the activity on p. 224 of Student Interactive K.5.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

During independent writing time, students should choose their topic. If students have difficulty selecting a topic, encourage them to review the stack books for ideas. See the Conference Prompts.

Share Back

Invite several students to tell the topics they selected. Model how to make an encouraging remark and ask a question to learn more about the students' choices of topics.

Explore State an Opinion

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT An opinion tells a choice or preference.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display a book from the stack. Say: The author of this book wrote an opinion. An opinion tells how someone thinks or feels about something. It might tell what a person likes or doesn't like. Let's look for the opinion in this book. As you read the book aloud, ask students to stop you when they hear an opinion. Discuss words that are used to state the opinion.

On a flip chart or the board, write the headings Topic and Opinion. Using the stack book you just read, do a Think Aloud as you model identifying and then writing the topic and the opinion. Work as a group to identify the topics and opinions from several other stack books and record the results on the chart. Encourage students to use words from the books that state the opinion. Point out any frequently used words or phrases.

OBJECTIVE

Identify and state an opinion.

Writing Support

- Modeled Read aloud a stack book and talk through the identification of the stated opinion.
- Shared Have students look through the stack books and find examples of opinions in both text and images.
- Guided Help students craft sentences that give a different opinion the author might have expressed. Provide targeted support as needed.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

During independent writing time, students should state an opinion in their opinion book. You may transcribe their opinion statements as needed. Remind students that their opinions are their own and that different people will likely have different opinions on the same topic. Use Conference Prompts as needed.

Share Back

Ask several students to share their opinions. Point out words and phrases that are used to show a clear choice or preference.

FAST TRACK

Apply State an Opinion

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to state an opinion.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 225

Writing Support

- Modeled Do a Think Aloud as you choose and then state an opinion.
- Shared Have students practice telling their opinions to a partner before drawing or writing them.
- Guided Prompt students to draw or write their opinions. Clarify any misconceptions as you talk with individuals.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Opinions state choices or preferences held by a person. Not everyone has the same opinion about a topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that authors write about opinions they have or that they want their characters to have. Opinions tell what someone thinks, feels, or believes about something. An opinion might tell about something the person likes or does not like.

Say: Today you will be writing an opinion. When I write about an opinion I have, I might begin by writing that I think something is my favorite or the very best. I could write that my favorite color is blue. That will tell you that I'm writing about the topic of colors, and my opinion is that blue is my favorite. Write your opinion sentence on the board or a chart.

Tell students that they will be practicing writing an opinion on p. 225 of Student Interactive K.5. Guide them to draw and write about their favorite fruit. Remind them that not everyone will share the same opinion.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

During independent writing time, have students review their opinion books and state a clear opinion. If students need extra support, encourage them to draw first and then talk with them about how to state their opinions. Transcribe as needed. Students who are ready may begin a new opinion book. If time permits, use Conference Prompts for additional support.

Share Back

Have a few students share their opinions with the class. Ask the class to restate the opinion of the writer. Invite students who shared the same topic to state if their opinions are the same or different.

Explore Supply a Reason

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT A reason tells or explains why someone has a certain opinion.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read aloud one of the stack books. After reading, model how to identify the reasons that were given to explain and support the opinion. Use words such as because or since.

Say: When people tell us their opinions, we might wonder why they have those opinions. You might wonder why my favorite color is blue or why I like dogs so much. Reasons tell why and explain opinions.

Work with students to identify some reasons given in another stack book. Pause while reading to ask why the character has that opinion. Help students use the words because or since when telling the reasons found in the stack book. Repeat with several stack books to help students build confidence in identifying and stating reasons.

OBJECTIVE

Identify and supply a reason that supports an opinion.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

Following this lesson, students should transition into independent writing. If students need additional support when identifying or supplying reasons, confer with them to help them answer why an opinion is held. Other students may begin thinking of reasons to write in their opinion books. See the Conference Prompts for conference support.

Writing Support

- Modeled Use stack books to model how to identify reasons.
- Shared Encourage students to state a reason they might add to support an opinion in one of the stack books.
- Guided Provide explicit instruction and support as needed to help students supply reasons that connect to and support opinions.

Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Share Back

Invite students to share a reason that would explain their opinion. Model asking “why” questions to help clarify and refine their reasons. Encourage students to ask clarifying questions of each other.

Apply Supply a Reason

OBJECTIVE

Plan by generating ideas for writing through class discussions and drawings.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 226

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT An opinion book needs more than just an opinion. Reasons help the reader understand why an opinion is held. Authors plan reasons that help explain and support the opinions.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that readers like to understand why a character holds an opinion. Reasons help explain why a character or the writer likes or doesn't like something. Hold up one of the stack books your class has read before. What were some of the reasons we read in this book? If the author didn't give us reasons, we would never know why the character had that opinion. I don't think we would have enjoyed the book as much if there were no reasons.

Have students look at p. 226 in Student Interactive K.5. Discuss what is shown in the boxes. Point out that the reason is unfinished. Talk together about some possible reasons that might be given to support the opinion. Ask students to complete the reason on the page using drawing, dictating, or writing. Remind students that it is natural for different people to have different reasons even if they share the same opinion.

WRITING CLUB

Use p. WW17 to guide Writing Club. See the Conference Notes for conducting individual conferences.

Share Back

When Writing Club ends, invite a few students to share their opinions and reasons with the group. Invite other class members to restate a writer's opinion and reason in their own words.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share their topics, opinions, and reasons in their opinion books.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes of their Writing Club time reviewing the following:

- Restating what the speaker has said
- Taking turns when speaking
- Speaking with the correct volume and speed

What Are We Sharing? Tell students that they will be sharing their topics, opinions, and reasons with their Writing Club. The group members may help them think of additional or different reasons to explain their opinions.

How Do We Get Started? Conversation Starters

You may use these prompts to help students begin the discussion in Writing Club meetings.

- What topic did you choose?
- What is your opinion about the topic?
- What reasons tell why you have that opinion?

Weekly Overview

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Organize Ideas

If students need additional support,

 Then provide several topics from which they might choose.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Why did you choose this topic?

Placement of Topic and Opinion

If students need additional support,

 Then provide a sentence starter or sentence frame for support.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: Which words tell your topic and which words tell your opinion?

Placement of Drawing

If students need additional support,

 Then help students dictate labels for elements in the drawing that support their opinion.

If students show understanding,

Then have students add two details to their drawing that will help people understand the reasons for their opinion.

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Use picture cards or pictures from magazines to spark ideas for topics.
- Create a word bank with accompanying pictures of topics students suggest for opinion writing.
- Do a picture walk through a stack book. Have students repeat your simple retelling.

DEVELOPING

- Have students retell a familiar stack book using the illustrations to help.
- Use a sentence frame to practice stating an opinion. I think ___ is the best ___. ___ is my favorite ___.
- Help students create an anchor chart to tell how to organize an opinion book. Transcribe their suggestions for them.

EXPANDING

- Have students explain how they will organize their opinion books.
- Ask students to state their ideas aloud before writing or drawing.
- Prompt students to identify the topic and the opinion in their writing.

BRIDGING

- Help students do their own Think Aloud as they organize their ideas for their opinion books.
- Have students restate the topics and opinions of several classmates.
- Invite students to talk about one of the details in their drawings.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 3: Develop Structure

During the Develop Structure week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that helps them become more aware of how an opinion piece is structured. These targeted supports were chosen to help students better understand how to compose and organize their writing.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW22.

ELL Targeted Support

ORGANIZE IDEAS

Use the stack books to increase student familiarity with the topics and opinions. Guide students to identify the topics and opinions in each book and state if they share the opinion. If they share the opinion in the book, encourage them to state the opinion in their own words. If they have a different opinion, encourage them to state their own opinion.

Work one-on-one with students to help them choose a topic. Use picture cards to prompt the conversation. EMERGING

Once students have chosen a topic, help them expand their vocabulary by naming possible opinions within that topic before determining an opinion. DEVELOPING

Have students talk with a partner about the topic they are considering. Ask the partners to name possible opinions within the topic. Students may draw and you might transcribe a list of those choices. EXPANDING

Challenge students to tell two possible opinions within the topic and explain why they chose one over the other. BRIDGING

See the Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW23.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE PLACEMENT OF TOPIC AND OPINION

Students may need support composing statements that tell their topics and opinions.

Learn the words like and favorite in your students' home languages. Use these as you talk together about topics and opinions.

EMERGING

Have students tell about their topics and opinions. Transcribe a sentence and help students repeat and read it with you.

DEVELOPING

Have students work with partners to choose how to word sentences that state the topic and opinion. EXPANDING

Have students take turns asking partners questions about the topics and opinions they have selected. BRIDGING

Organize Ideas

OBJECTIVE

Develop drafts of opinion pieces in oral, pictorial, and written form by organizing ideas.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors organize their ideas before they write their opinion books. They plan the topics, opinions, and reasons carefully.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Remind students that an opinion piece includes a topic, an opinion, and one or more reasons. Use a book from your stack. Reread the book and then ask students to identify the elements of opinion writing they noticed in the book. Encourage them to be as specific as possible in telling where each element was found.

After discussing the book, say: *When I plan my opinion book, I need to be certain to include everything I need. I'll first think of a topic that interests me. Write the word Topic on a flip chart or the board. Brainstorm a list of topics such as weather, holidays, baby animals, or songs. Choose one topic to use as you continue your Think Aloud. Say: *Now that I have a topic, I need to decide on my opinion. Since I chose the topic of holidays, I'm going to write about my favorite holiday. My favorite holiday is Thanksgiving. Now that I have my topic and my opinion, I'll think about reasons that tell why I like Thanksgiving so much.

Have students turn to p. 227 in Student Interactive K.5. Have students draw, dictate, or write to organize their ideas.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 227

Writing Support

- Modeled Use stack books to model identifying the topics, opinions, and reasons.
- Shared Ask students to think about their ideas for their opinion books. Transcribe their ideas to help them organize their thinking.
- Guided Help students identify the elements to include by color-coding or highlighting each element.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Independent Writing

Have students organize their ideas for their opinion books. If students need extra support, help them determine what is missing from their plan and focus on those areas. Students who are ready may continue working on their opinion books. Use the Conference Prompts as needed.

Share Back

Have students share their ideas for their opinion books. Show how to check that the topics, opinions, and reasons are all included and model giving constructive feedback.

Explore Placement of Topic and Opinion

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors choose their words carefully. Opinions should be stated clearly so readers understand what the author thinks, feels, or believes about a topic.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Display a book from the stack that has a well-written opinion statement. Read the book aloud. After reading, return to the beginning of the book where the topic and opinion are introduced. Then say: When I'm thinking about how I want to write about my topic and opinion, I can look to see how other authors do it. How did this author tell us the topic and opinion?

Show another book from the stack and have students identify how the writer told the topic and opinion. Say: Did this author use the same words as we read in the other book? No. The writers chose their own words, but the books are alike because both writers made it clear what the topics and opinions were. Now I will work on how I want to begin my opinion book. Share your thought process as you model writing several possible statements that could be used to introduce your topic and opinion. Talk together about a reason you might give to explain your opinion.

Independent Writing

Ask students to try several possible sentences telling their topics and opinions by first saying the sentences to themselves before deciding which they prefer. If students are hesitant, ask them to draw their ideas, and then transcribe their possible sentences. Talk about the pros and cons of each. Students who are ready may work on writing their opinion books when they decide on a sentence. See the Conference Prompts for additional suggestions.

Share Back

Call on students with whom you have conferred and ask them to share their topics and opinions with the class. Encourage students to tell how they decided what to write.

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to create opinion books that include topics, opinions, and reasons.

Writing Support

- Modeled Read a stack text aloud and point out the topic and opinion.
- Shared Work with students to create several sentence frames that might be used to state the topic and opinion.
- Guided Ask targeted questions to help students identify the topics and opinions in their writing.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

FAST TRACK

Apply Placement of Topic and Opinion

OBJECTIVE

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 228

OPINION WRITING Read Together

Placement of Topic and Opinion
Authors put their thoughts in order.

Topic → There are many kinds of fruits.

Opinion → Oranges are my favorite.

Reason → I like them because they taste good.

MY TURN Organize the ideas for your writing.

228 Directions: Read aloud the information and the model text to students. Discuss how the author organized the ideas and why the ideas are organized in this way. See how you can organize your own writing. Remember to dictate or write the topic, opinion, and a reason.

Writing Support

- Modeled Walk through a stack text with students to help them identify topics, opinions, and reasons that might be used as models for their writing.
- Shared Have students dictate a sentence to tell their topic and opinion as you transcribe.
- Guided Ask focused questions as they work with partners to clarify their writing.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Opinion pieces need to include topics, opinions, and reasons. When authors write opinion books, they try to make their topic, opinions, and reasons as clear as possible.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Refer to a stack book and discuss the elements of opinion writing that are included and the words used in the text. Say: We are going to work on our opinion books. I wrote that there are several holidays I like and that my favorite holiday is Thanksgiving. I need to give a reason why I like it. There are many reasons, but I think I'll write that I love to sit around the table with my family. Have students help you compose several ways to word sentences that give your reason.

Direct students to p. 228 in Student Interactive K.5. Read the text on the page and review the parts of an opinion book. Guide students to complete the activity.

Independent Writing

Have students continue working on their opinion books. Ask them to say their first sentence aloud quietly before writing it. Confer with students who need additional support. If students are comfortable developing opinion sentences, they should work on strengthening sentences or adding more sentences. See Conference Prompts for suggestions.

Share Back

Invite students to share what they have written so far on their opinion books. Model how to give feedback that restates the topic, opinion, and reasons. Note any parts that are missing or have not yet been included.

Explore Placement of Drawing

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Opinion books often include illustrations to support what the text says. The illustrations should be on the same topic as the text and may show a reason that clarifies the opinion.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Show a book from the stack with especially strong illustrations. Read a page aloud and discuss what is shown in the illustration. Say: How does the illustration help us understand what the words tell us? It would be very confusing if the pictures were about something completely different. Repeat this process with several more pages from the stack book.

Say: When I draw a picture about my favorite holiday, I wouldn't draw a picture of me going for a swim. That would be very confusing to my readers. I wrote that I like Thanksgiving because I enjoy sitting around the table with my family. What should I draw?

Have students work with a partner to review what they have written and plan what they will draw.

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to create opinion books that include topics, opinions, and reasons.

Independent Writing

Have students think about what drawing or drawings would complement what they have written. If students have difficulty staying focused on the topic and their opinion, you might confer with them and label key elements in the drawing and compare the labels to the text they have written. Students who are ready should add drawings to their opinion books or add details to a drawing they have already included. See the Conference Prompts for additional suggestions.

Share Back

Call on several students with whom you have conferred and ask them to tell how they adjusted their drawings to better align with what they have written. Review why it is important for the text and images to work together.

Writing Support

- Modeled Conduct a Think Aloud as you talk about what to include in your drawing.
- Shared Encourage students to tell what they plan to draw before beginning their drawing.
- Guided Prompt partners to tell each other what might be good to include in the other person's drawing.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

The screenshot shows a page from a student interactive book. At the top, it says 'Read Together' and 'WRITING WORKSHOP'. The title is 'Placement of Drawing'. Below the title, it says 'Drawings help readers understand the author's opinion.' There is a 'MY TURN' icon and the word 'Draw'. The main text reads: 'There are many kinds of fruits. Oranges are my favorite. I like them because they taste good.' At the bottom, there are directions: 'Directions: Read aloud the information and the model text to students. Discuss with the group what drawing might be helpful to include. Have students add a helpful drawing in the space provided. Say: Think about your own opinion writing. What drawing would help your readers better understand your opinion?' The page number '229' is in the bottom right corner.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Opinion books include topics, opinions, reasons, and often illustrations that support the text. All the elements work together to make the author's thoughts clear to the readers.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Use a familiar stack book. Ask students to tell what should be included in a strong example of opinion writing. Help students locate the topic, opinion, reasons, and supporting illustrations in the example from the stack. Invite a student to select a different book from the stack and lead the group to identify the opinion writing elements in that book. Tell students that you would like them to state an opinion about which of the stack texts they think does the best job of including illustrations that support the opinion in the text. Give students time to review the stack. Ask volunteers to choose the book they think has the strongest illustrations and then explain their choices. Point out words students use to describe what makes the illustration strong.

Have students turn to p. 229 in Student Interactive K.5. Read the page with the students. Discuss what they might draw and then have students complete the page.

WRITING CLUB

Use the Writing Club guide on page WW27 to guide discussions. As time allows, use the Conference Prompts when conferring with individual students.

Share Back

Have several students read their opinion books aloud and show the drawings. Model how to give encouraging feedback. Invite listeners to tell which part of each opinion book they thought was the strongest.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share their opinion books and drawings. They will talk about the inclusion of all the elements.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes of their Writing Club time reviewing the following:

- Being respectful to the speaker by listening attentively
- Process for taking turns to speak
- Using the proper volume and speed when speaking

What Are We Sharing? Students can share how they organized their opinion books and how they decided what to include when drawing. Remind the group that people may have different opinions on the same topic and to be respectful of those differences.

How Do We Get Started? Conversation Starters

Use these prompts to help students begin the discussions in their Writing Club.

- How did you introduce your topic and opinion?
- What other reasons did you think about using?
- What other details could you add to your drawing?
- Which part of what you wrote is your favorite? Why?

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of descriptive words, complete sentences, and the use of the conjunction and to determine where students need support. Have stack books and minilessons available to reference during conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Use Descriptive Words

If students need additional support,

 Then have students draw a picture of their opinion and ask questions about details to draw out descriptive words.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: What words could be added to tell more about how something in your writing looks or sounds?

Conjunction and

If students need additional support,

 Then write a short list of objects. Ask students to say one sentence that includes two of the objects.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: How could you use and to make this sentence more interesting?

Complete Sentences

If students need additional support,

 Then write an incomplete sentence. Work with students to decide what is missing and then make the sentence complete.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: How do you know if one of your sentences is a complete sentence?

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Use pictures from a stack book to help students describe what they see. Transcribe a list of the descriptive words they use.
- Model, and have students repeat, sentences with and without the word and. I have a cat. I have a dog. I have a cat and a dog.
- When students use incomplete sentences when speaking, respond to them in complete sentences without discouraging their efforts.

DEVELOPING

- Use shared writing to stretch sentences by adding descriptive words.
- Use a sentence frame to practice using and correctly. I like ___ and ___. I can ___ and ___.
- Model adding what is needed to complete an incomplete sentence.

EXPANDING

- Have students snap their fingers when they hear a descriptive word in a sentence from a stack book.
- Have students each write an incomplete sentence that they then swap with a partner. The partners then complete each other's sentences.

BRIDGING

- Challenge students to add at least one descriptive word to each sentence in their opinion books.
- Have students do a Think Aloud to tell how they used and in sentences they have written.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 4: Writer's Craft

During the Writer's Craft week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that helps them focus on the sentences within their opinion books. These targeted supports were chosen to help students better understand the English language and build foundational writing skills.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW32.

ELL Targeted Support

USE DESCRIPTIVE WORDS

As students begin to focus on the sentences in their opinion books, they learn to expand and enhance them. Provide practice adding descriptive words to sentences.

Show a picture from a stack book. Say a short sentence about what you see. I see a house. Have students repeat each sentence as you expand it with descriptive words. I see a brown house. I see an old brown house. EMERGING

Have students take turns describing an object in a box or bag that the rest of the students cannot see. When the other students guess the object, ask them to tell what descriptive words were most helpful to them as they tried to guess the object. DEVELOPING

Use blank index cards to transcribe and display a sentence with one word written on each card. Ask students to write a logical descriptive word on a blank index card to stretch the sentence and then put the new card between the other cards to make a longer sentence.

EXPANDING

Ask students to suggest two descriptive words that could be added to a sentence. Talk together about which word makes the sentence more interesting and why. BRIDGING

See the Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW35.

ELL Targeted Support

EXPLORE COMPLETE SENTENCES

Speaking and writing complete sentences is challenging to anyone learning a new language. Support students' efforts as they work toward learning how to identify and create complete sentences.

Sentence frames can help new language learners become comfortable with the structure of sentences. Repeat and post simple sentence frames that align with the opinions students are writing and drawing. EMERGING

Say and then write a partial sentence. Say and write a version of that sentence that is complete. Ask students to tell which sentence is complete. Talk about the differences.

DEVELOPING

Have partners take turns saying part of a sentence and then having the other person complete it. Partners should then say the complete sentence together. EXPANDING

Have students look through their writing to be certain sentences begin with capital letters and end with punctuation. As students work, ask them to tell what each sentence needs.

Use Descriptive Words

OBJECTIVE

Identify and use descriptive words. With assistance, edit drafts to include descriptive words.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 230

Writing Support

- Modeled Use stack books to point out descriptive words.
- Shared Create a word bank of descriptive words that tell how something looks, smells, feels, tastes, or sounds. Transcribe their suggested descriptive words.
- Guided Help students use a variety of words to describe a similar trait. Use examples such as pretty, lovely, beautiful, and adorable.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Descriptive words tell how something looks, smells, sounds, feels, or tastes. Authors use descriptive words to help readers more clearly understand what the author has in mind. Descriptive words help make sentences more interesting.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that descriptive words can tell more about an object or person.

Choose an opinion book from the stack that includes several good examples of descriptive words. Read a sentence as written, including the descriptive words. Then read the sentence without the descriptive words. Discuss what changed and how the descriptive words made the sentence more interesting. Repeat the process with several other sentences.

After discussing the sentences, say: When I look at my opinion book, I look at each sentence to see if a descriptive word would make the sentence better. This sentence says my family sits around a table at Thanksgiving. Let's think of what I could add to describe that better. Have students make suggestions of descriptive words that could relate. Transcribe several versions of the sentence using their additions. As a group, decide which sentence is most descriptive.

Have students turn to p. 230 in Student Interactive K.5. Have students suggest descriptive words that could be used in each sentence.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

If students need extra support, help them identify more descriptive words in a different stack book. Students who are comfortable using descriptive words may also add details to their pictures to match the descriptive words. See the Conference Prompts on p. WW30 for more suggestions.

Share Back

Have students share sentences that they improved with the addition of descriptive words. Ask listeners to tell what descriptive words were included. Listen for any confusion about what descriptive words are.

Explore Conjunction and

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT A conjunction is a type of word. Conjunctions connect words or parts of sentences. The word and is the conjunction we use most.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students they will be learning to write using a word that they use often when they speak. Write the word and on a chart or the board and have students read it with you. Invite a student to use and in a sentence. Tell students that and is a special kind of word, a conjunction. Explain that a conjunction connects words or parts of sentences.

Select a book from the stack that has several uses of the word and. Read a sentence containing and aloud. Have students repeat the sentence and snap their fingers when they say the word and. Write the sentence on a chart or the board, and discuss what the conjunction is connecting. Repeat the process with several other sentences using the conjunction and.

Write two short sentences such as I like apples. I like bananas. Talk with students about how the word and can be used to join those two ideas to create one new sentence. Model with several more examples.

Review what the conjunction and does. Have students work with partners to create several sentences that use and. Ask each pair to share a sentence and invite the class to snap their fingers when they hear the and.

OBJECTIVE

Identify and use the conjunction and correctly in speaking and writing.

Writing Support

- Modeled Demonstrate how to use and to ask a student to pass you two objects. Repeat the request using two small sentences instead and discuss the difference.
- Shared Work with students to practice using and to join two ideas in sentences.
- Guided Ask targeted questions to help students identify sentences that could be expanded by using and.

Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Independent Writing

If students are uncertain about how to use and in their opinion books, confer with them and choose one sentence that can be enhanced. Guide them using questions about what could be added. Transcribe their possible sentences as needed. When students are comfortable editing their writing to use the conjunction and, they should proceed independently to make those changes and continue writing their opinion books. See the Conference Prompts on p. WW30.

Share Back

Call on students to share sentences from their opinion books that use the word and. Talk together about what words or ideas are joined together.

Apply Conjunction and

OBJECTIVE

Identify and use the conjunction and correctly in speaking and writing.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 231

Conjunction *and
The word and helps you put two thoughts together.

MY TURN Circle and Write

Oranges are sweet and juicy.

Oranges are used for juice and smoothies.

Oranges are yummy and good for you.

Directions: Read aloud the introduction to students. Have students circle the conjunction and in the two sentences. Discuss what thoughts were joined together. Ask students to write the missing word and in the first sentence. Have students raise their own opinion books to include the word and.

Writing Support

- Modeled Walk through a stack book with students to help them identify how the conjunction and is used.
- Shared Have students dictate a sentence using the word and as you transcribe it.
- Guided Ask focused questions as students work with partners to write sentences that include and.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Conjunctions, such as the word and, connect words and ideas in sentences. Authors may use one sentence containing and rather than writing two short sentences.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read a sentence containing and from one of the stack books. Demonstrate how it would sound if the author had used two short, choppy sentences instead. Say: The word and can make your writing sound more like the way we talk. I wouldn't usually say, "I have a sister. I have a brother." It sounds better if I say, "I have a sister and a brother." Have students help you think of a sentence using and. Then break that sentence into two smaller sentences. Ask students if the sentence with and seems more natural.

Direct students to p. 231 in Student Interactive K.5. Read the text on the page and review what students are asked to do to complete the page. Guide students to complete the activity and share their sentences with a partner.

Independent Writing

Have students work on their opinion books and use and when joining words or parts of sentences. If students have sentences that could be joined by and, highlight the sentences. Then ask students to try and join the sentences using and. Students who use conjunctions confidently should continue working on the text of their opinion books and drawings. Confer with students to discuss their writing. See Conference Prompts on p. WW30.

Share Back

Invite a student to share a sentence containing and. Ask a listener to tell what the two smaller sentences might have been if the writer had not used and. Continue with several more examples.

Explore Complete Sentences

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT A complete sentence makes sense and gives a complete thought. Authors check to be certain they begin sentences with capital letters and end them with punctuation marks.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Select a book from the stack and read one of the sentences aloud. Write only part of the sentence on a chart or the board. Talk with students about how you can tell that something is missing. Say: I know a sentence needs to make sense and be a complete thought. Is this a complete sentence? What is missing? Complete the sentences together. Repeat this process with several more sentences from the stack book.

Say: When I wrote the draft of my opinion book, I wrote, “My family likes to sit at the dinner table together.” Is that a complete sentence? Does it make sense?

Explain that each complete sentence needs to begin with a capital letter and end with a period, a question mark, or an exclamation mark. Have students check the sentences you have written on the chart or the board to be certain the sentences have been written correctly. Remind students that when they are writing opinion books, they should use complete sentences. Have students work with a partner to review what they have written and identify the capital letter that begins each sentence and the punctuation mark that ends each sentence.

OBJECTIVES

Identify the parts of complete sentences.

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including complete sentences.

Independent Writing

Have students continue working on their opinion books and checking that they have used only complete sentences. If students need additional support, work collaboratively with them to construct their sentences. Students who demonstrate an understanding of using capital letters and punctuation should continue adding to their opinion books. See the Conference Prompts on page WW30.

Share Back

Ask students to read just the naming part of a sentence in their opinion books. Invite classmates to tell what a logical action part might be to go with that naming part. Remind students that without both a naming part and an action part, the sentence may not make sense to the readers.

Writing Support

- Modeled Conduct a Think Aloud as you talk about how to determine if a sentence is complete.
- Shared If students are uncertain if they have written a complete sentence or not, encourage them to read the sentence to a partner and work together to identify both needed parts.
- Guided Use leading questions to guide students in finding the naming and action parts of their sentences.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Apply Complete Sentences

OBJECTIVES

Identify the parts of complete sentences.

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including complete sentences.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 232

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT All sentences in an opinion book should be complete sentences. Each complete sentence makes a complete thought. Sentences begin with a capital letter and end with a punctuation mark.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Ask students to talk in pairs and tell the two parts a complete sentence needs to have. Check that the pairs remember that every complete sentence needs to have a naming part and an action part. Explain that authors use complete sentences to make the writing clear to the readers.

Select an opinion book from the stack. Write one sample sentence from the book on a chart or the board. Begin the sentence with a lowercase letter and do not include any ending punctuation. Ask students to check your work. Ask leading questions if students do not notice what needs to be changed. Share your thinking as the needed changes are made. Have students turn to p. 232 in Student Interactive K.5. Talk about what is needed in each sentence. Have students complete the page and offer support as needed.

WRITING CLUB

Use the Writing Club guide on the following page to guide discussions. As time allows, use the Conference Prompts on p. WW30 when conferring with individual students.

Share Back

Have several students read one of their opinion books aloud and tell changes that they made by adding descriptive words, including the conjunction and, and using complete sentences. Select several sentences and point out the naming and action parts.

WRITING CLUB

What's Happening This Week? In this week's Writing Club, students will share sentences in their opinion books.

Students should spend the first 5–10 minutes of their Writing Club time reviewing the following:

- How making changes to writing can make it better
- How descriptive words make more interesting sentences
- Why authors spend time looking at individual words and sentences

What Are We Sharing? Students can share the sentences they revised in their opinion books. Tell them to talk about the changes they made and why they made the changes.

How Do We Get Started? Conversation Starters

Use these prompts to help students begin the discussions in their Writing Club.

- What descriptive words did you use?
- How did you use the conjunction and?
- Do all of the sentences begin with capital letters?
- What punctuation marks did you use at the ends of your sentences?

Weekly Overview

Students will

- edit for conjunctions
- edit for complete sentences
- review what they have learned about opinion writing

Conferences

Mentor STACK

During this time, assess for understanding of conjunctions and the use of complete sentences. Determine where students may need extra support. Have stack books and minilessons available to reference during conferences.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Conference Prompts

Edit for Conjunctions

If students need additional support,

 Then have them read their opinion books aloud. Point out sentences that could be improved with the use of conjunctions.

If students show understanding,

Then make a list of conjunctions. Encourage students to add a conjunction that they have not used yet.

Edit for Complete Sentences

If students need additional support,

 Then point out an incomplete sentence and talk about what is missing. Work together to complete the sentence.

If students show understanding,

Then ask: How can you tell that each sentence you have written is a complete sentence?

Prepare for Celebration

If students need additional support,

 Then review their opinion books. Help them each decide on the two most important edits to make before celebration day.

If students show understanding,

Then have students practice reading their opinion books aloud to partners who will offer feedback.

Conference Support for ELL

EMERGING

- Use picture cards of two related objects. Use a sentence frame to focus on using conjunctions and complete sentences.        and        are both types of       .
- Model, and have students repeat, complete sentences that include the word because.

DEVELOPING

- Have students point out conjunctions in stack books and their own opinion books.
- State an incomplete sentence and work with students to add what is needed to complete the sentence.

EXPANDING

- Have students tell how they know if a sentence is complete.
- Ask students to find examples of the conjunction and in a stack book.
- Encourage students to practice reading their opinion books aloud. Consider recording their practices for them to review.

BRIDGING

- Challenge students to work with partners to create an anchor chart to remind students of the parts of a complete sentence.
- Have students practice reading their opinion books fluently and with expression.

ELL Minilesson Support

Week 5: Publish, Celebrate, Assess

This week, your ELLs will benefit from additional writing support that helps them focus on using conjunctions and complete sentences. These targeted supports help students build confidence when sharing their opinion writing.

See the Language Awareness Handbook for additional writing support.

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW42.

ELL Targeted Support

EDIT FOR CONJUNCTIONS

As students focus on the sentences in their opinion books, they should note how to use the conjunction and correctly.

Point to the word and in a sentence written on a chart or the board. Read the sentence together and then read it as two possible sentences without the and. EMERGING

Provide students practice sentences with the and missing. Example: I like to eat apples ___ oranges. Help students determine what word is missing and what conjunction joins together. DEVELOPING

Have students say sentences that contain the conjunction and. Ask students to tell what words or parts of the sentences were joined together. EXPANDING

Encourage students to conduct a Think Aloud and tell how they know when the conjunction and is helpful. BRIDGING

Use this note for the minilesson on p. WW43.

ELL Targeted Support

EDIT FOR COMPLETE SENTENCES

Have students practice identifying and creating complete sentences.

Display the following: Bob and I and went to the store on a chart or the board. Read each incomplete sentence. Ask students to help you make each part into a complete sentence by adding what might be missing. EMERGING

Say and then write an incomplete sentence. Say and write a version of that sentence that is complete. Ask students to tell which sentence is complete. Talk about the differences. DEVELOPING

Have partners check each other's writing on a search for incomplete sentences. Ask them to tell how they know if a sentence is complete. EXPANDING

Have each student write a complete sentence and an incomplete sentence. Have them tell what is different about each. BRIDGING

Edit for Conjunctions

OBJECTIVES

Identify and use the conjunction and correctly in speaking and writing.

Edit writing for proper use of the conjunction and.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 233

Read Together WRITING WORKSHOP
I can write an opinion book.

Edit for Conjunctions
Authors use conjunctions to hold thoughts together. The word and is a conjunction.

MY TURN Write

Oranges are _____ and _____.

Directions Read aloud the introduction. Discuss how conjunctions are used. Read aloud the descriptive words that can be used to complete the sentence. Have students choose two words to describe oranges. Ask students to read their completed sentences to partners. Talk together about how the word and was helpful.

Writing Support

- Modeled Use stack books to point out the conjunction and.
- Shared Ask students to use two picture cards to say sentences using and along with the names of the two items on the cards.
- Guided Provide examples of specific places in their opinion books where and could be used.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Before publishing their writing, authors check their writing and make changes that are needed. Authors try to avoid using short, choppy sentences by using the conjunction and to join parts together.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that conjunctions such as and join words or parts of sentences together. Say: When I look at my opinion book I see that I have written, "I like beans. I like tomatoes." How could I join those into one sentence? Help students see the value of the conjunction and.

Choose an opinion book from the stack that includes several examples of the conjunction and. Read one of the sentences aloud. Ask students if they heard the and. Ask them to tell what it might have sounded like if the author had written two short sentences and not used and. Repeat the process with several other sentences.

After discussing the sentences, remind students that not every short sentence needs to be revised to include a conjunction.

Have students turn to p. 233 in Student Interactive K.5. Talk together about what they need to do to complete the activity.

Let students know that they may choose different words to tell about the orange that the opinions suggested.

Independent Writing

Mentor STACK

If students need extra support, help them identify more examples of sentences using and in different stack books. Students who added conjunctions should continue to add to their opinion book text or drawings. See the Conference Prompts on p. WW40 for more suggestions.

Share Back

Have students share sentences they improved with the addition of and. Talk as a class about what the conjunction and joined together in each sentence.

FAST TRACK

Edit for Complete Sentences

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Authors check their writing before it is finished. They check to be certain they have used complete sentences. Complete sentences begin with a capital letter and end with punctuation.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Review several of the stack books. Point out complete sentences and have students tell the naming parts and the action parts. Say: Authors want their writing to be understood by the people who read it. One way to make writing easier to understand is to use complete sentences. Good writers go back and make changes if they find that they have written a sentence that is not complete. They might need to change the sentence to help it make sense.

Write a partial sentence on the board that does not begin with a capital letter and is missing any ending punctuation. Work with students to make edits to the sentence. Ask students to explain why each change was needed. Repeat the process with several other sentences or partial sentences.

Have students complete the activity on p. 234 in Student Interactive K.5. Check for understanding.

Independent Writing

Have students spend independent writing time editing their opinion books. First, they should check for complete sentences, then capitalization and ending punctuation. If students need assistance, work with them as they check for one type of edit at a time. See the Conference Prompts on p. WW40 for additional suggestions.

Share Back

Call on students to read a sentence they changed. Prompt students to tell why that change was made. Explain that editing and making changes is one of the most important steps in writing.

OBJECTIVES

Identify the parts of complete sentences.

Use initial capitalization and ending punctuation in writing sentences.

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions, including complete sentences.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 234

OPINION WRITING Read Together

Edit for Complete Sentences

Authors make sure every sentence is complete and makes sense. Sentences begin with a capital letter and end with a punctuation mark.

MY TURN Write

There are many kinds of fruits

I like oranges best.

Oranges are good for you and they taste good.

234 Directions: Read aloud the introduction to the class. Tell students that they need to help the author check for complete sentences and write anything that is missing. Read the sentences aloud and help students determine how they can make each sentence complete.

Writing Support

- Modeled Go back to the students' writing and model how to edit words for initial capitalization and ending punctuation.
- Shared Have students identify the punctuation used at the ends of their sentences.
- Guided Provide explicit instruction about capitalizing the first letter in sentences using stack text examples.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Prepare for Celebration

OBJECTIVES

Edit drafts with adult assistance using standard English conventions including conjunctions, complete sentences, initial capitalization, and ending punctuation.

Improve writing with the use of descriptive words.

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Before they celebrate their writing, authors check that their writing is as good and correct as possible. They make certain they used complete sentences with descriptive words and that each sentence begins with a capital letter and ends with punctuation. If there are short, choppy sentences, authors check to see if using the conjunction and could be helpful.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Work with students to review what they have learned about opinion writing.

- Opinion books tell the topic and state an opinion.
- A reason explains the opinion.
- Include a drawing that supports the opinion.
- Descriptive words give more details.
- The conjunction and joins words or parts of sentences.
- Sentences begin with a capital letter and end with a punctuation mark.

Model how one of the books in the stack uses what students have learned. Remind them to look for these elements in their own opinion books.

Writing Support

- Modeled As you review students' work with them, model how to use the checklist to make changes.
- Shared Have students identify the changes they made using the checklist to assist them.
- Guided As students show you their writing, direct them to individual points on the checklist to guide them to make edits.

 Intervention Refer to the Small Group Guide for support.

Independent Writing

With assistance as needed, have students revise and edit their opinion books using the checklist as a guide. Encourage students to practice reading their opinion books aloud quietly. See Conference Prompts on p. WW40 for suggestions.

Share Back

Invite students to share revisions they made. Reinforce the value of using a checklist to help remember what to focus on while revising.

Celebration

Minilesson

TEACHING POINT It is important to celebrate the work students have put into their opinion books. This helps students see their own progress and grow in confidence. While students write at different levels, celebrate the growth each student has made throughout the unit.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that you are going to celebrate the writing of your opinion book by reading it aloud to them. Do a Think Aloud before sharing, by stating what you need to remember when speaking to a group. Say: I want to do a good job reading my work. I practice so I read my writing well. I need to speak clearly and loudly enough for everyone to hear me. I will show my drawing for all to see. I need to stand tall and be proud of my work. I know that the listeners will tell me the parts of my writing they thought were especially good.

Model reading aloud at a good pace and volume to be heard. When finished, invite students to give positive feedback about your opinion writing by stating specific examples of parts they thought were especially well written.

Ask students to practice sharing their opinion books with partners before the formal Celebration begins.

OBJECTIVES

Share opinion books.

Provide feedback to others.

Independent Writing

Have students share their opinion books with the class. Prompt listening students to ask questions and share parts of the opinion books that they thought were especially well done. Remind students that they do not need to have the same opinion as the writer to admire the writing and drawing that were presented.

FAST TRACK

Assessment

OBJECTIVE

Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose opinion pieces in which they tell a reader the topic and state an opinion or preference about the topic.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE K.5, p. 235

Minilesson

Mentor STACK

TEACHING POINT Assessment of writing helps students identify all they have learned and see any areas where they may still need more practice and support. As you review students' assessments, notice what they did well and what areas need improvement. Consider how you will share your feedback with students to help them make improvements and to celebrate what they have learned.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Tell students that today they will be looking back on what they have learned about opinion writing. They will assess what they learned and how their writing has improved. Have students recall the opinion books they have written and also the ones they have read in the stack books.

Tell students that before responding to assessment prompts, it is good to review what has been learned. Have students turn to p. 235 in Student Interactive K.5. Read the page with the students. Invite students to ask questions or add items to the list.

Ask students to remember the list as they begin the assessment.

Assessment

See the unit assessment on p. WW47 and tell students they will be taking a writing assessment to see all they learned. Another form of assessment is to score students' writing using the rubric on p. WW47.

OPINION WRITING

Opinion Writing

Provide students with the assessment prompt below. The prompt may be displayed for students or printed from SavvasRealize.com.

Prompt Write an opinion piece. First, state the topic and your opinion about the topic. Then draw or write your opinion piece.

4-Point Opinion Writing Rubric

Score	Focus	Organization	Development	Language and Vocabulary	Conventions
4	Writing clearly states an opinion on a topic.	Writing includes a clear topic, opinion, and strong reason.	The reason closely connects to and supports the opinion.	The writing includes strong use of descriptive words.	The use of conventions is clearly shown.
3	Writing adequately states an opinion on a topic.	Writing includes a topic, opinion, and reason.	The reason connects to and somewhat supports the opinion.	The writing includes descriptive words.	The use of conventions is somewhat shown.
2	Writing somewhat states an opinion on a topic.	Writing includes a topic and opinion, but no reason.	The reason somewhat connects to the opinion.	The writing includes a descriptive word.	The use of conventions is weak or uneven.
1	Writing does not state an opinion on a topic.	Writing lacks a topic, opinion, or reason.	The reason does not connect to the opinion or is missing.	The writing includes no descriptive words.	There is very little use of correct conventions.
0	Opinion piece gets no credit if it does not demonstrate adequate command of opinion writing traits.

4-Point Research Project Rubric

Score	Focus	Research	Development	Conventions	Speaking and Listening
4	Opinion is clear and addresses the prompt.	Notes on researched information are accurate and clearly support the opinion.	Drawing and visuals are relevant to the task, and writing shows an understanding of persuasive texts.	Language and vocabulary are appropriate to the topic.	Oral delivery is clear, audible, and relevant. Student listens actively, asks questions, and follows oral directions.
3	Opinion is mostly clear and addresses the prompt.	Notes on researched information are mostly accurate and somewhat support the opinion.	Drawing and visuals are mostly relevant to the task, and writing shows a basic understanding of persuasive texts.	Language and vocabulary are mostly appropriate to the topic.	Oral delivery is mostly clear, audible, and relevant. Student listens and follows oral directions adequately.
2	Opinion is somewhat clear and attempts to address the prompt.	Notes on researched information are somewhat accurate and only tangentially support the opinion.	Drawing and visuals are minimally relevant to the task, and writing shows a minimal understanding of persuasive texts.	Language and vocabulary are somewhat relevant to the topic but may be unclear.	Oral delivery is somewhat clear and relevant. Student listens and follows some oral directions.
1	Opinion is unclear or confusing and only tangentially addresses the prompt.	Notes on researched information are mostly inaccurate and mostly do not support the opinion.	Drawing seems unconnected to the task, and writing shows little understanding of persuasive texts.	Language and vocabulary are unrelated to the topic.	Student's speech is unclear. Student interrupts or is distracted while listening.

Compare Across Texts

OBJECTIVES

Evaluate details to determine what is most important with adult assistance.

Synthesize information to create new understanding with adult assistance.

Use text evidence to support an appropriate response.

Outside My Door

In this unit, students learned about weather. Remind students of the unit theme, Outside My Door, and the Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather? Remind students that all of the texts they have read during the unit relate to the theme of weather.

TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Have student pairs go back and review pictures and sentences from each text in this unit. Ask them to tell one detail about weather that they learned from each text.

Compare Across Texts

Once again, remind students that all of the unit readings are connected by the unit theme, Outside My Door. Then use the questions below to help students compare themes, topics, and genres across texts.

- What do Weather Around the World, Tornado Action Plan, and Blizzard Action Plan have in common? (Possible response: All three texts discuss how humans deal with extreme weather.)
- How does A Desert in Bloom show readers a special place in our world? What makes this place special? (Possible response: This text shows readers the desert, which is special because flowers are able to grow there, even though it is a hot, dry place.)
- How are the meanings of the repeated phrases (“it’s raining” and “the sun is shining”) in the poetry collection important to the plants? (Possible response: Growing things, such as plants, need both rain and shining sun in order to grow.)

Essential Question

My TURN Have students write or draw their responses to the Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather? Tell students to look back over the texts that they have read in this unit in order to answer this question. Explain that this week students will work on a research project where they will choose a favorite season or type of weather. After conducting research about their favorite season or type of weather, students will write a poem or song explaining why it is so great.

ELL Targeted Support Learning Strategies Explain that students can build their vocabulary and understand meanings better by using a graphic organizer.

Draw an idea cluster on the board with “Weather” in the center circle. Have the reading selections displayed, and guide students to give weather words that you then write at the ends of lines connected to the circle. Have students practice the weather words and discuss their own experiences with this type of weather. EMERGING

Draw an idea cluster on the board. Have students name and draw their weather words. Then in a small group, have each student use words to describe his or her drawing. DEVELOPING

Have students think of weather words and fill in idea clusters on their own sheets of paper. Ask them to draw pictures using these words. Have students read some of their words to the class. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

Use the ELL Observational Assessment Checklists to monitor student progress for this unit.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Blend syllables to form multisyllabic words.

Segment multisyllabic words into syllables.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Recognize that new words are created when letters are changed, added, or deleted such as it - pit - tip - tap.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

Picture Cards

Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Today we are going to put together syllables to make words. Let's say the word sun together. Clap for each syllable: sun (clap). How many syllables are in sun? Students should say one. Now let's say the word rise together. Clap for each syllable: rise (clap). How many syllables are in rise? Students should say one. What new word do we make if we put the syllables sun and rise together? Students should say sunrise. Now let's segment the syllables: sun (pause) rise. Let's put the word back together: sunrise. Continue the activity with the words sunset, pumpkin, and contest.

PRACTICE Display the astronaut Picture Card. Have students segment and blend the syllables in the word. Continue with the bubble, kangaroo, and ladybug Picture Cards.

Phonics: Words I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some words. The words we read will all include sounds we already have learned.

Write the following words on the board: can, cane, mane, man. Let's read the words. What letter was added to can to make the word cane? The letter e was added to can. What letter was changed to make the word mane? The letter c was changed to m. Continue with mane and man.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 202 in the Student Interactive. Let's read the first row of words together: it, sit, sip, lip. What letter was added to it to make sit? What letter was changed in sit to make sip? Students should say an s was added to it to make the word sit and the letter t was changed to p to make the word sip. Have students explain what letter was changed in sip to make lip.

APPLY TURN, TALK, AND SHARE Guide students as they use letter-sound relationships to decode the words on p. 202, and then talk about what letters were changed, added, or deleted to make new words.

ELL Targeted Support High-Frequency Words Tell students that high-frequency words are words they see, hear, or say most often. Write say, under, and no on the board. Have students repeat the words as you read them aloud.

Review the three high-frequency words you wrote on the board. Ask students leading questions that require them to use the words in sentences. EMERGING

Have students write the words and share them with a partner. Have partners take turns using the words in oral sentences. DEVELOPING

Have student pairs find a classroom library book and write any high-frequency words they see. Then have students use each word in a sentence. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Write the high-frequency words say, under, and no. Show students familiar letter sounds, such as s/s/ and n/n/, in these words.

- Point to the word say and read it.
- Have students identify the word say by pointing to it, and then have them read it.
- Repeat for under and no.

Spelling Spell Words

OBJECTIVES

Spell words with VC, CVC, and CCVC.

Spell words using sound-spelling patterns.

Spell common high-frequency words.

SPELLING WORDS

ox	can
sit	clap

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

no	say
----	-----

ELL Targeted Support

Spelling Provide opportunities for students to practice spelling VC, CVC, and CCVC words.

Write the words can and clap on the board. Have students say the sound for each letter as you point to it. EMERGING

Write can and clap on the board. Have students identify which word has the CVC pattern and which word has the CCVC pattern. DEVELOPING

Ask students to spell VC, CVC, and CCVC words on the board or chart paper, saying each letter aloud as they write it.

EXPANDING

Challenge students to work in pairs to write words with the VC, CVC, and CCVC spelling patterns. BRIDGING

FLEXIBLE OPTION

LESSON 1

Assess Prior Knowledge

Read aloud the words and sentences. Have students spell the VC, CVC, and CCVC words and high-frequency words.

1. I clap to the music.
2. I will open the can.
3. I see a big ox.
4. Please sit next to the tree.
5. There is no way.
6. What did you say?

LESSON 2

Teach

FOCUS Explain that words with VC, CVC, and CCVC patterns have short vowel sounds.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 204 in the Student Interactive. Say the words aloud. Have students tell you which word pattern each word follows or whether it is a high-frequency word.

APPLY MyTURN Have students complete the activity on p. 204. Have them write the VC, CVC, and CCVC words in the first column and the high-frequency words in the second column.

REVIEW AND REINFORCE

Spell Words

MYTURN Sort and spell

204 Directions: Say. Short o is often spelled o, short i is often spelled i, and short e is often spelled e in words with two or three letters. Have students spell and write words with the VC, CVC, or CCVC pattern in the left column and the high-frequency words in the right column.

For additional support with ELL students, use the support in the side column.

FLEXIBLE OPTION

LESSON 3

Review and More Practice

FOCUS Remind students that VC, CVC, and CCVC words have short vowel sounds.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students practice spelling VC, CVC, and CCVC words as you sound out each word. Use these words: up, hat, trap. Make sure to sound out each phoneme (/h/ /a/ /t/, hat).

APPLY Have students complete Spell Words p. 283 from the Resource Download Center.

FLEXIBLE OPTION

LESSON 4

Spiral Review

FOCUS Have students recall how to spell the sounds short o, e, and i.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Read the following words and have students spell them together: on, zip, leg, trip.

APPLY Have students sort the words based on the short vowel spelling pattern. (o/o: on; e/e: leg; i/i: zip, trip)

Writing Workshop

As students work on their writing, remind them to check the spellings of words with short e, i, and o.

LESSON 5

Assess Understanding

Read the sentences aloud one at a time. Ask students to spell the high-frequency word or VC, CVC, or CCVC spelling word. Repeat the spelling word and allow enough time for students to write the word before you read the next sentence.

Spelling Sentences

1. The dog will sit down.
2. Put the can on the shelf.
3. Where can I see an ox?
4. We started to clap.
5. She had a lot to say.
6. He said there were no grapes left.

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some words. The words we read will all include sounds we already have learned.

Write the following sentence on the board: I have a _____ puppy. Then write the words cut and cute. Let's read the sentence and find the word that finishes the sentence. Read the sentence twice, replacing the blank with cut the first time and cute the second time. Have students tell you which sentence makes sense. Students should say: I have a cute puppy.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 203 in the Student Interactive. Let's read the first sentence with a missing word. Then let's read the word choices. Which word fits in the blank of the sentence: I will ___ the bus. Is it rid or ride? Students should say ride. Guide students as they circle ride and read the sentence again with ride in it.

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT OPTIONS

Apply

OPTION 1 MyTURN Have students finish p. 203 in the Student Interactive by circling the word that best completes each sentence.

OPTION 2 Independent Activity Have students use Letter Tiles to spell partner words with short and long vowels, such as rid, ride; cub, cube; hug, huge; not, note.

QUICK CHECK

Notice and Assess Can students read words with short and long i, o, and u?

Decide

- If students struggle, revisit instruction for reading words in Small Group on pp. T418–T419.
- If students show understanding, extend instruction for reading words in Small Group on pp. T418–T419.

HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS

Tell students that high-frequency words are words that they will hear and see over and over in texts. Write and then read the words say, under, and no. Have students

- read the words with you.
- clap for each letter as they spell the words.

Word Work Strategy Group

WORDS I CAN READ

Display Picture Cards bag and crab. This card shows a bag; this card shows a crab. Turn the cards over so students can see the spellings. Have students work as a class to decode the words. If needed, repeat with additional Picture Cards.

Hand out Picture Cards to students. Ask them to silently read the word on their card. Then go around the room and have each student hold up his or her card and read the word aloud.

ELL Targeted Support

Help students grasp the tools needed to read.

Write the letters a, e, i, o, and u on the board. Ask students to tell you what sound a makes. Have them say the sound /a/ together, loudly and clearly. Repeat for the other short vowel sounds.

EMERGING/DEVELOPING

Write the word bag on the board. Point to the a. Ask students what this letter is, and ask them to say the sound it makes. Repeat the routine for words utilizing all the other short vowel sounds.

EXPANDING/BRIDGING

For additional support, see the online Language Awareness Handbook.

Intervention Activity

SHORT i

Use Lesson 26 in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide for additional instruction on reading words with short i.

LEVEL A • MODEL AND TEACH

Lesson 26 Short i

INTRODUCE Emphasize that words are made up of consonant and vowel sounds. You learned that /i/ is spelled with the letter i, and you learned how to blend letters to read words with this sound. Today we will learn another way to read words with the short i sound.

MODEL Display or share copies of the following passage, "Sid Did," from Student Page S155, and read it aloud.

OBJECTIVES:

- Read words with the short i sound.
- Form words using the short i sound.
- Change, add, and delete sounds to make new words.
- Spell VC, CVC, and CCVC words.

Sid Did

Did Sid see a pig? ends with -id

Sid did.

Did Sid see a big cat? ends with -ig

Sid did.

Did Sid see a kid?

Sid did.

TEACH Point to Did in the first line. The word did has a consonant, then a vowel, and then another consonant. Each letter has its own sound. Point to the word Sid. Changing a letter in a word makes a new word. When the first d in did is changed to an s, the word did becomes Sid.

Point out the words with the short i sound. Explain that students can read more words when they learn how to recognize letter combinations that include a short i. Sid and did both have a short i sound and end with -id. Now that I know that -id has a short i sound, I can use this letter combination to make new words. When I change, add, or delete a letter, I make a new word. Reinforce this idea by pointing out other words in the model that have the short i sound, such as big and kid.

Now point to the -ig letter combination at the end of big in the first sentence. Say: Now that I know what the letters -ig sound like, when I hear a word that ends with those sounds, I can spell the word. The word dig ends with the sounds /i/ and /g/. I can write the letter combination -ig. The word starts with the sound /d/. I know the letter d makes the /d/ sound. I can add the letter d to the beginning of -ig. Work through other examples, such as fig, wig, and zig by changing, adding, and deleting letters.

Phonics, Morphology, and Spelling T • 155

Intervention Activity

PHONOLOGICAL AWARENESS

For students who need support, Phonological Awareness lessons are available in the myFocus Intervention Teacher's Guide, Lessons 5–20.

Independent/Collaborative

Word Work Activity

READ WORDS WITH LETTER TILES

Distribute Letter Tiles to students. Draw four lines on the board, and then write the letters b-l-o-b (the word blob) on them. Say: Can you copy me? Find the same letters in front of you, and make the word that I made. Give students time to locate the appropriate letters. Then erase the word and have a volunteer read the word that he or she made with tiles.

Students can also play the Letter Tile game in the myView games on SavvasRealize.com.

Decodable Book

Students can read the Decodable Book May I? for additional practice with decoding words and reading high-frequency words.

Before reading, display and remind students of this week's high-frequency words: say, under, no. Write each word on the board. Ask for volunteers to read the words aloud.

Put students into groups of 3 or 4 for reading. Have them take turns reading and listening carefully.

High-Frequency Words

Write high-frequency words on wooden craft sticks and place them in a cup. Have students draw a stick and read the word. If they do not know the word, gently tell it to them and have the student put the stick back. The goal is to read all the words and empty the cup.

Word Work

OBJECTIVES

Demonstrate phonological awareness.

Recognize that new words are created when letters are changed, added, or deleted such as it - pit - tip - tap.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Language Transfer

One way to help ELLs read words correctly when they are not proficient with English sound-spelling concepts is to show them a picture of a word as you read it.

Picture Cards

Phonological Awareness: Add Phonemes

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they will add sounds to words to make new words. Display the egg Picture Card. This picture shows the word egg. Say the word with me: egg. Now listen as I add the sound /l/ to the beginning of /e/ /g/: /l/ -eg. What is the new word? (leg) Have students add another sound to the beginning of /e/ /g/ with you. Now let's try adding the sound /m/. Say the new word with me: /m/ -eg. The new word is Meg.

PRACTICE Say the word in. Have students suggest sounds to add to the beginning of the word to make new words. Possible sounds include /b/, /f/, /p/, /t/, and /w/.

Phonics: Make New Words

Minilesson

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they will change sounds and letters to make new words. Write the word rat on the board. Listen to this word: rat. Say it with me: rat. Would the word rat change if we added an e to the end of it? Students should say yes. Write rate beneath the word rat on the board. What new word do we make when we add an e to the end of rat? Students should say rate.

PRACTICE Hold up the pan Picture Card. Listen to this word: pan. Say it with me: pan. Show students the back of the card so they can see the spelling. Would the word pan change if we added an s to the beginning of it? Students should say the word would change. Write pan on the board, and write span beneath it. What new word do we make when we add an s to the beginning of pan? Students should say span. Continue the activity with these Picture Cards: ant (pant); ox (fox); ten (tent).

High-Frequency Words

FOCUS Tell students that today they are going to continue working with high-frequency words. You will see these words over and over in texts. Have students read the words at the top of p. 205 in the Student Interactive with you: say, under, no.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students look at the words at the top of p. 205. Tell them to identify and point to each word when you say it. Say say. Pause to let students find and point to the word. Say under. Say no. Repeat the activity until students are familiar with each word. Prompt students to use the words in sentences.

APPLY MyTURN Have students read the sentences on p. 205 with you. Ask them to identify the words say, under, and no in the sentences. Have them underline the high-frequency words in the sentences. Then have them read the sentences with a partner.

Decodable Story

OBJECTIVES

Identify and match the common sounds that letters represent.

Use letter-sound relationships to decode, including VC, CVC, CCVC, and CVCC words.

Identify and read common high-frequency words by sight.

ELL Access

Knowing differences between students' home languages and English will help ELLs learn English. Be aware of translations of English words to other languages. Wet is mojado in Spanish, molhado in Portuguese, and nat in Dutch.

Read It Is Too Wet!

FOCUS Have students turn to p. 206 in the Student Interactive. We are going to read a story today about a family who goes out in the rain. Point to the title of the story. The title is It Is Too Wet! I hear a word with the sound /w/ in the title. What word begins with the sound /w/? Students should say wet. What letter spells the sound /w/? Students should say w.

IDENTIFY AND READ HIGH-FREQUENCY WORDS Remind students of this week's high-frequency words: say, under, no. Tell them they will practice reading these words in the story. Display the words. ## Phonological Awareness: Segment and Blend Syllables

FOCUS AND MODEL Tell students that today they will continue working with syllables. Ask: What are syllables? Students should say that syllables are word parts. Hold up a piece of mail and a small box. This is mail. This is a box. Hold the piece of mail and the box together. Listen as I blend the syllables together to make a word: mailbox. Move the mail and the box apart. Listen as I break the word apart again: mail (pause) box. Have students blend and segment the syllables in the word mailbox as you hold together and separate the piece of mail and the box.

PRACTICE Provide students with picture pairs, such as star, fish; book, shelf; and foot, ball. Have students identify the individual syllables shown in the pictures. Then have them blend and segment the syllables as they hold together and separate the pictures.

Phonics: Sentences I Can Read

Minilesson

FOCUS Tell students that today they will read some sentences. Remind them that sentences are made up of words separated by spaces. The sentences we read will all include sound-spellings and high-frequency words you already have learned.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 210 in the Student Interactive. Ask them to point to the spaces between the words in the first sentence. Now let's read the first sentence together: Set it on the plate. Look at the pictures. What do they show? Students should say an apple on a table and an apple on a plate. Which picture matches the sentence Set it on the plate? Students should say the picture of the apple on the plate.

APPLY My TURN Guide students as they use letter-sound relationships to decode words and complete the activities on pp. 210–211 in the Student Interactive.

ELL Targeted Support High-Frequency Words Remind students that high-frequency words are words they see, hear, or say most often. Write the words say, under, and no on the board. Point to each word and say it aloud. Have students repeat after you. Then model how to use these words in questions and answers, such as: What do you say when someone is nice to you? You say thank you.

Review the three high-frequency words you wrote on the board. Say them aloud again and have students repeat after you. Then ask questions using these words. The questions should require yes/no or one-word answers. EMERGING

Point out the high-frequency words on the board and say them aloud with students. Model using simple questions with two high-frequency words in them. Then invite volunteers to answer the questions.

DEVELOPING

Have student pairs work together to ask and answer questions using the high-frequency words you wrote on the board. Monitor their conversations and correct as needed. EXPANDING

Have students write questions using the high-frequency words you wrote on the board. Then have them swap questions with a partner and provide answers for their partner's questions. BRIDGING

Inquire

OBJECTIVES

Work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including taking turns.

Interact with sources in meaningful ways such as illustrating or writing.

Generate questions for formal and informal inquiry with adult assistance.

Develop and follow a research plan with adult assistance.

ELL Language Transfer

Speakers of languages such as Chinese, French, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Spanish, and Urdu may have difficulty hearing and pronouncing the /th/ sound heard in think and the /TH/ sound heard in that. Students may substitute other consonants such as d, s, t, or z when writing th- words. Also, the /sh/ sound may be difficult for speakers of languages such as Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Spanish, Urdu, and Vietnamese, and it may be confused with /s/ or /ch/. Allow students additional practice with hearing, pronouncing, and writing sh- and th- words.

Introduce the Project

TEACHING POINT Explain to students that this week they will work collaboratively with others as they research seasons and weather, following rules for discussion, including taking turns. They will develop a research plan and write a persuasive text, which will be a poem or song, about their favorite season or type of weather.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Say: Today you will choose a type of weather or a favorite season. For example, maybe you will want to research hurricanes or tornadoes. Maybe you will want to read more about snow, ice, and cold weather. These are some things to think about when choosing your topic:

- What season or weather do you see in the pictures?
- Which one is your favorite? Why?

COLLABORATE Have student pairs look at the pictures on p. 212 in the Student Interactive. Have them use the pictures to talk about weather and seasons. Make sure students follow rules for discussions, such as taking turns, as they work collaboratively with others. Have pairs circle the types of weather and seasons they like the best. If needed, assist students in writing their responses on the line.

On p. 213 in the Student Interactive, show students the lines where they can fill in the steps of their research plan. Guide students to understand that research is based on asking questions and finding answers to those questions.

Use Words: Talk About Weather

COLLABORATE Remind students that the Academic Vocabulary words relate to the unit theme, Outside My Door. Review the words again: effect, measure, prepare, and extreme. Have students use these words to discuss their favorite weather.

EXPERT'S VIEW Alfred Tatum, University of Illinois at Chicago

“Reading often puts students in contact with other people, but writing puts students in contact with themselves. Writing is the true intellectual exercise and has a wide range of benefits for children.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

DIFFERENTIATED SUPPORT

OPTION 1 Intervention If students struggle to talk about weather, provide additional pictures of different seasons and weather events. Use the Academic Vocabulary words in prompts to help students tell about what they see. For example, ask: What is the effect of this kind of weather? What kind of weather is extreme?

OPTION 2 Extend Invite students to write or draw what they already know about weather and the different seasons. Have them share their ideas with a partner and use the Academic Vocabulary words as they tell about their writing or drawing.

ELL Targeted Support

Support students in using prior knowledge and experiences to participate in discussions about the weather. Provide additional pictures to encourage students to expand their vocabulary. Have students discuss these pictures and those on p. 212 in the Student Interactive and tell what is happening in the pictures. Encourage students to ask questions about these images.

NEXT STEPS Once students have chosen a topic, they can check off the first item in the Weather Research Plan. Explain that next they will look at a student model and then research the type of weather or season they chose.

Explore and Plan

OBJECTIVE

Recognize characteristics of persuasive text with adult assistance and state what the author is trying to persuade the reader to think or do.

Introduce Persuasive Poetry

Have students turn to p. 214 in the Student Interactive. Remind students that they have learned about persuasive texts in Units 1 and 3. Now they will learn how poems can be persuasive. Use the Model and Practice below to help students explore the characteristics of persuasive writing, specifically persuasive poetry.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Say: In Units 1 and 3, we learned how writers sometimes write to make their readers think or do something. This is called persuasive writing, and we have both read and written persuasive texts. We wrote about museums, and we wrote about our favorite stories. In persuasive texts, writers tell their opinion, or what they think or feel. They give details and reasons to support their opinions. Poems can be a type of persuasive text. Let's look at the picture and read the poem on p. 214. What is the poet trying to make us think about rainy days? Read the poem aloud to the class.

MyTURN Discuss with students the words in the poem that are used to persuade the reader. Guide them to understand that certain words show the poet's opinion and feelings about rainy days. Ask students to circle the opinion and find and underline the reasons in the poem.

Write for a Reader

Audience Explain to students that authors write with a certain audience in mind. Have students consider the audience for their persuasive text. Ask questions to help students think about audience, such as Who will listen to my poem? What words can I use to make my audience agree with my opinion? Record students' responses. Remind students to think about their audience as they write their persuasive poems.

ELL Targeted Support Demonstrate Listening Comprehension Have students collaborate so as to demonstrate listening comprehension of increasingly complex English.

Have students work in small groups to discuss ideas for their persuasive poems. Each student should say a word or short phrase that he or she wants to use in his or her poem, and other group members should say what they think it means. EMERGING

Have partners talk to each other about their poems. Have students say what their poems are about, and have partners repeat the answers back in their own words. DEVELOPING

Have students work in small groups to share their opinions about different kinds of weather. Then have volunteers say what the opinions of other students that they talked to were. EXPANDING

Have partners try to persuade each other of their views about different kinds of weather. Have partners ask questions to elicit progressively more clear explanations. BRIDGING

NEXT STEPS Remind students that they will research their favorite weather or season by searching online. Tell students that they will learn how to find information they can use in their persuasive poems.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 214

Directions Tell students that authors write persuasive texts to convince, or persuade, readers to think or do something. Say: Poems and songs can be persuasive, or opinion, texts. Read the poem and have students tell what the author is trying to persuade readers to think or do. Ask them to circle the opinion and find and underline the reasons in the poem.

Conduct Research

OBJECTIVES

Generate questions for formal and informal inquiry with adult assistance.

Gather information from a variety of sources with adult assistance.

CUSTOMIZE IT!

Provide a variety of resources for students to use in the classroom, such as picture books, magazines, or nonfiction books that relate to the weather and seasons. Model how to use each type of source to find information, such as looking at pictures, book covers, and words in the table of contents. Help students to determine whether a source will answer their inquiry questions.

Look Online

TEACHING POINT Explain to students that there are many places to gather the information they need to research weather. Point to the picture on p. 215 in the Student Interactive, and have a student volunteer identify the picture. Use the Model and Practice to explain how students can search online.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Say: Looking online is one way to research information. Look at the picture of a search engine on p. 215. A search engine is a way to find information on the Internet. You can type words in the search box. These words should be about your topic. For example, this person wants to know more about rainy weather, so that is what is typed in the box. Now work with a partner to talk about the picture and to come up with questions about your favorite weather or season. For example: How cold does it have to be for snow? What are fun things to do in fall? What season has the hottest weather? Explain that they can look for answers to these questions online.

Help students as they generate ideas for their search by asking them questions, such as: What do you want to learn about your topic? What do you like about your topic? Use students' responses to suggest specific areas to research.

COLLABORATE Have students collaborate with their partners to generate questions for inquiry. Make sure students' questions are about their favorite weather or season. Have students talk about their questions and then write words that they could use to search online.

EXPERT'S VIEW Julie Coiro, University of Rhode Island

“Talking and conversation are important elements of reading and building understanding. Rather than having kids working individually on a computer with a headset on, students should be collaborating, talking, discussing, and questioning. Reading on the Internet often involves two students sitting at one computer and making sense of information together. This develops a collaborative give and take—questioning, thinking, responding.”

See SavvasRealize.com for more professional development on research-based best practices.

DIFFERENTIATED SUPPORT

OPTION 1 Intervention Provide sentence frames for students who might be struggling with their own questions of inquiry: I like this type of weather: _____. This word describes the weather I like: _____. Also, students may draw something they are interested in learning more about and then have you help them frame their idea as a question.

OPTION 2 Extend Students who easily discuss inquiry questions can write their questions on a sheet of paper. They may want to illustrate their questions and underline key words for their research.

ELL Targeted Support

In a small group, discuss the types of weather or the seasons the students like. Generate high-need, concrete vocabulary related to their topics. Then have them choose words that would be good to use in an online search. Have students use these words in combination with pictures or other words they know to ask for information.

NEXT STEPS Have students return to the Weather Research Plan on p. 213 in the Student Interactive. Have them check the box on their plan where they wrote that they should research weather. Explain that next they will take notes on their topics. Then they can start writing.

Refine Research

OBJECTIVES

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including the central idea and supporting evidence with adult assistance.

Recognize characteristics and structures of informational text, including titles and simple graphics to gain information.

Gather information from a variety of sources with adult assistance.

Demonstrate understanding of information gathered with adult assistance.

CUSTOMIZE IT!

Encourage students to bring in recycled materials, such as cardboard, newspaper, and plastic bottles. Guide students in creating prototypes of something related to their topics. For example, they might create a device to carry or collect rain water, a shovel for snow, or an umbrella for rain or hot sun. The prototypes could be highly imaginative or fantastical as well. This allows students to use their creativity and think about their topics in different ways.

Primary Source SCIENCE

Go online to SavvasRealize.com for primary sources that will help students with their research.

Take Notes

TEACHING POINT Taking notes will help students easily recall and organize information gathered during research. Explain to students that they can organize their notes using a simple list chart.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Draw a list chart on the board. Write the heading “My Favorite Weather” at the top. Say: I can keep my information organized using this list chart. When I research my favorite weather, I will take notes under this heading. I will write or draw my notes on my list chart. Point to the chart. I will keep track of my notes by numbering each point 1, 2, 3, and so on, or I can keep track of my notes by using bullet points on the chart. Model how to make a list with numbers first, and then model bullet points. Tell students that if they are focusing on a favorite season, the weather they will research is the kind they experience in that season.

Have students turn to p. 216 in the Student Interactive. Prompt students to tell that the photograph shows the student looking online for facts. Say: This picture shows a student searching online for facts about rain. The screen says, “How Rain Helps Earth.” If you look at the notes, the student has “It is good for Earth” as a point in the notes. If you find a fact like this that you want to remember, you can draw or write it in your list chart.

Have students draw a list chart and label the heading to match their favorite weather. Have them look online to find facts about their topics to note in their charts.

COLLABORATE Have students draw or write their notes on p. 216 in the Student Interactive. Tell them that they can learn information from the title, graphics, charts, other images, and text on a Web site. Encourage students to look at all graphics and text features, such as subheadings, to gather information. Assist students with reading and decoding words.

ELL Targeted Support Taking Notes Guide student pairs as they gather information about weather from online sources. Encourage students to help one another understand the information they gather from searching online.

Provide students with a list chart. Point out graphics and other images on a sample Web site. As a group, have students draw the information they learned and tell about it using single words in English and gestures. EMERGING

Remind students that they can draw to take notes on a list chart. Have students work in pairs to learn words related to their topics as they take notes. Ask students to talk about their notes using the new words. DEVELOPING

Have student pairs complete their list charts and ask one another questions about the information they find from online sources. Have students use their notes to answer in complete sentences. EXPANDING/BRIDGING

NEXT STEPS Have students think about how they can improve their writing and drawing. Explain that they will be writing and improving their persuasive poems.

Collaborate and Discuss

OBJECTIVES

Revise drafts by adding details in pictures or words.

Demonstrate understanding of information gathered with adult assistance.

EXPAND IT!

Have students use real props, costumes, or visuals to go along with the presentation of their poems. Help them do research online to find ideas or to learn how to create these props.

Tell and Show Your Opinion

TEACHING POINT Tell students that they will now draw to support their opinions on their favorite weather or season. Students may wish to revisit their notes to help them add details to their projects. Use the Model and Practice to help students tell and show their opinions.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Direct students' attention to p. 217 in the Student Interactive. Say: We can improve our persuasive songs or poems by adding details. The details support your opinion. For example, your song or poem may be about how much you love windy days. In the space on page 217, you may choose to draw a picture of a person flying a kite. This detail supports the persuasive song or poem because it shows something special that can be done on windy days. Also, today we will make props, or some kind of object, that goes with our songs or poems. In my example, I may make a kite as a prop. We can also make costumes or any other visuals, such as more drawings, to go with our songs or poems. These extra visual details make our persuasive writing better.

Ask questions to help students create their persuasive text and visuals.

- What detail do you want to add?
- How would this detail make your opinion stronger?
- Is there anything else you could add to make your persuasive poem better?

TURN AND TALK Have students work on p. 217. Tell them to support their opinion with details gathered during research. Remind students to consider the audience that they are trying to persuade as they draw and make other visuals. Have students create a neat copy of their persuasive poems on a separate sheet of paper.

Confer Reflect Meet with small groups to review their final drafts. Prompt students to describe what they improved between drafts. Ask: Did you print more carefully in this draft? Did you include spaces between your words? What details did you add to improve your drawing? Accept student responses and point out the positive improvements in students' final drafts.

DIFFERENTIATED SUPPORT

OPTION 1 Intervention Have students review their notes on their favorite type of weather or season. Ask: What do you like most about this type of weather? Why is it special? Record students' responses. Read aloud students' responses, and guide them to express their opinions. Have them draw their opinions.

OPTION 2 Extend If students easily draw and tell their opinions, have them review their notes on their weather topics and choose another fact to draw to support their opinion. Allow students to write words or sentences to label their drawings.

ELL Targeted Support

Support students in expressing opinions through songs, poems, and visuals. Help students express their opinion orally using a sentence frame, such as: My favorite weather is _____. Have them draw a picture that shows what they think or feel about this type of weather. For the next frame, use: This weather makes me feel like _____. Encourage them to think creatively. Have students work in pairs to use these frames and discuss the words or phrases they used.

NEXT STEPS Have students return to the Weather Research Plan on p. 213 in the Student Interactive. Have them check the box that relates to writing or drawing about the weather. Remind them that they will share their persuasive poems or songs with the class.

STUDENT INTERACTIVE, p. 217

The screenshot shows a page from a student interactive. At the top, there are three tabs: 'COLLABORATE AND DISCUSS', 'Read Together', and 'PROJECT-BASED INQUIRY'. Below the tabs, the main heading is 'Add Details'. Underneath, it says 'Adding details makes your opinion stronger. You can add details in pictures and other visuals.' There is a 'TURN and TALK' icon with the word 'Draw' next to it. Below that, a pink box contains the text: 'Drawing should show details that support the student's opinion.' At the bottom left, there is a small copyright notice: 'Copyright © Savvas Learning Company LLC. All Rights Reserved.' At the bottom right, there is a red diamond icon with the number '217' inside.

Celebrate and Reflect

OBJECTIVES

Listen actively and ask questions to understand information and answer questions using multi-word responses.

Share information and ideas by speaking audibly and clearly using the conventions of language.

Share writing.

Use an appropriate mode of delivery, whether written, oral, or multimedia, to present results.

CUSTOMIZE IT!

After students share their projects and reflect on their work, allow groups of students to act out their persuasive pieces by playing with props, costumes, and other visuals. While groups play, encourage them to talk more about why they have their opinions on the topic and to share other facts they learned in their research or by listening to other projects.

Share

Tell students that they will share their research projects with the class. Explain that there are different ways for them to share their projects, such as performing their songs or reading or showing their poems and drawings. Give students time to practice their presentations with partners. Tell students to speak loudly and clearly. Remind them to practice showing their writing or drawings as they speak. Use the Active Listening Routine to help students be good listeners.

Active Listening Routine Model the active listening routine to set expectations for audience members.

- Look Look at the person who is talking. Do not talk.
- Think Think about what the person is saying.
- Respond Raise your hand when you have a question. Clap when the speaker is finished.

Reflect

Reflect on Your Project Allow time for students to reflect on the steps of the project. Help students recall how they asked questions, gathered information, drafted an opinion through poetry or song, and shared their projects. Guide students to ask themselves questions, such as: What was my opinion? How did I express my opinion? What details did I add to make my persuasive text better?

COLLABORATE Guide students to complete the activity at the bottom of p. 218 in the Student Interactive.

Reflect on the Unit

With students, review the Unit Goals page at the beginning of the unit. Have students reflect on their reading and writing skills. Review and discuss the Essential Question: What can we learn from the weather?

MyTURN Reflect on Your Reading Display the unit readings. Ask volunteers to briefly talk about each reading selection. Ask other volunteers to offer thoughts and opinions about the selection, such as: I liked to read about _____. I think this reading was the best because _____.

MyTURN Reflect on Your Writing Have volunteers tell what they learned about writing. Ask students to tell about their favorite writing. Use prompts, such as: What kind of writing did you like best? What kind of writing would you like to do again?

Invite students to identify their opinions on a text from the unit and their favorite piece of writing. Direct students to trace the dotted letters under each Reflect activity on p. 219 in the Student Interactive. Help them record their responses on the lines.

BOOK CLUB

OBJECTIVES

Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time.

Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance.

FLEXIBLE OPTION TRADE BOOK LESSON PLAN

To teach this unit's trade book during Small Group or Whole Group, see the lesson plan for Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow, available online at SavvasRealize.com.

Plan Book Club

- 1 CHOOSE THE BOOK Group non-readers in their own club, or create mixed clubs of non-readers and emergent readers. Help students select a book or choose one for them from the list on p. T439.
  - 2 KNOW THE BOOK Review the book before working with clubs so that you can guide groups' conversations if necessary.
  - 3 PREVIEW THE BOOK Introduce the chosen book by summarizing it briefly. Students may then explore the book either by following aloud as you read or by looking at the book independently.
  - 4 ENJOY THE BOOK Remember that the purpose of Book Club is to introduce students to the concept of reading for fun. As they listen to and discuss the book in a group, they will apply some of the same thinking they have been introduced to in the Student Interactive, but the primary goal will be sharing personal reactions with their peers.
- ★ CONNECT TO THE THEME Help students make text connections by guiding them to choose a book related to the theme, Outside My Door, or the Essential Question for the unit: What can we learn from the weather? As a class, discuss how the book relates to both.
  - ★ CONNECT TO THE SPOTLIGHT GENRE To help students further investigate the characteristics of informational text, consider helping them choose a book in that genre.

Each Day

DISCUSSION CHART Display a sample of the Discussion Chart. Explain that after each meeting of their Book Clubs, students will share details they notice, connections they make, and things they wonder about.

TEACHER'S ROLE Since Book Club is supposed to let students enjoy reading in an informal setting, your role should be as an observer and occasional facilitator. You may help stimulate conversation or chime in with your own observations, but try guiding rather than instructing.

COLLABORATION Book Club is designed to help students improve their speaking and listening skills. Present examples of how students might converse respectfully with each other. SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

See the Small Group Guide for help with

- Book Club roles and responsibilities.
- Book Club routines.
- guiding a student-led Book Club.

BOOK CLUB

OBJECTIVES

Work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including taking turns.

Describe personal connections to a variety of sources.

Book Club Routine

READ ALOUD Each Book Club session will begin with students listening as you read aloud from your chosen book. Then they will meet with their Book Club group to explore more deeply what was read.

ESTABLISH GROUPS Divide students into their Book Club groups for the unit.

- Tell students that you will give them a two-minute warning when Book Club groups are ending.
- Explain that they should be ready to share their ideas with the whole class.

WEEKLY FOCUS Over the course of Book Club, groups will discuss the book multiple times, focusing on different aspects of the book.

Text Students discuss the text of the book. What do the words on the page tell them?

Images Students study the book's images. How do they match the author's words? How do they add more information?

Design Students examine the design of the book, including where words are placed in relation to pictures and what colors are used. How does the design help readers enjoy the book?

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

If students need help getting started in their conversations, try these talking points to guide conversation along one of the weekly focuses.

- Where did the author use exclamations?
- Which pictures made you think?
- How does the designer separate the art from the words?

Book Support

After the groups complete their discussions, bring them back together as a class to talk about their ideas. Record the groups' Noticings, Connections, and Wonderings in the Discussion Chart, adding to it on each Book Club day.

Noticings	Connections	Wonderings

Noticings Students should focus on what they observe in the text, images, and design.

Connections Students should look for connections between the text, illustrations, and design, and their own life and reading experiences.

Wonderings Students can express what they wonder about the choices made by the author, artist, and designer.

Talk about each Book Club's ideas when the whole class comes together.

BOOK CLUB

OBJECTIVES

Self-select text and interact independently with text for increasing periods of time.

Establish purpose for reading assigned and self-selected texts with adult assistance.

MODEL LESSON PLAN

For Weeks 1–3, Book Club offers instruction specific to this unit’s book, Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow. For Weeks 4–5, you can use a book from the list provided or a book of your own choosing. On pp. T438–T441 you will find a full description of the elements of Book Club with instruction that can be adapted to the book of your choice.

Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow

BOOK CLUB ROUTINE Book Club will meet twice each week, during Small Group time. On each Book Club day, students will meet in groups and talk about the book. They will focus on different elements from week to week.

WEEKLY FOCUS Over the course of Book Club, groups will focus on different aspects of the book.

Week 1: Text Students discuss the text of the book. What do they learn from the words on the page?

Week 2: Pictures Students discuss the book’s illustrations. How do the images give information about the topic?

Week 3: Design Students look at the design of each page and discuss how it makes information easy to find.

TEACHER’S ROLE Since Book Club is a time for students to connect to books informally, the teacher’s role should be as a facilitator rather than an instructor. Watch and listen, intervening primarily when conversation stalls or veers off-topic.

EXPERT’S VIEW Frank Serafini, Arizona State University

“Literacy assessments should help you come to know children as readers and writers. Use them to gather information to drive your instruction. In order to support readers and writers, we need to know what they can and cannot do. It takes a variety of assessment tools to get to know children as readers and writers—literature logs, running records, observational notes, think aloud protocols, and conferences all help us get to know our students.”

Discussion Charts

As students discuss the text, pictures, and design, record their ideas on a Discussion Chart. Each day the discussion will center on one of three distinct focuses:

- Noticings lets students describe what they notice in the book.
- Connections encourages students to connect the book to their own life and reading experiences.
- Wonderings allows students to share any questions that remain after exploring the book.

Launch Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow

INTRODUCE Tell students that Book Club is a time to enjoy books. They will listen to Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow as it is read aloud.

READ ALOUD Tell students to listen closely as you read aloud from Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow. Then they will meet with their Book Club group to talk about what was read. Today they will explore the words in the book.

CONNECT TO THE THEME Tell students that Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow connects both to the unit theme, Outside My Door, and to the Essential Question for the unit: What can we learn from the weather? As a class, discuss how the book relates to both.

CONNECT TO THE SPOTLIGHT GENRE Point out that the genre for this unit is informational text. Like all informational text, Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow gives facts and details about something real.

- The purpose of this book is to give information about what happens in different kinds of weather.
- Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow compares the ways that animals and people deal with different kinds of weather.

ESTABLISH GROUPS Divide students into their Book Club groups for the unit.

- Tell students that you will let the group know when they have two minutes left to talk in Book Club.

Focus on Text: Noticings

Session 1

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Have students discuss the book in their groups. If necessary, use these conversation starters to get groups talking about their noticings based on the text:

- I noticed that the author starts the book with a question. What is that question?
- What protects butterflies from getting wet? What protects people from getting wet?
- What can people use to walk on snow?

Bring the class back together. Display a new Discussion Chart and tell students that today they will fill in the Noticings column. Allow each Book Club to share an idea about the text. What did they notice?

Noticings

COLLABORATION Tell students that a good Book Club helps everyone learn about the book they shared. Offer sentence stems such as these as examples of how students might learn from each other.

SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

- I agreed with your idea about _____.
- When you said _____, it made me think about _____.

BOOK CLUB

OBJECTIVES

Work collaboratively with others by following agreed-upon rules for discussion, including taking turns.

Describe personal connections to a variety of sources.

Week 1

Focus on Text

Today students will continue to explore the text of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow. They will listen closely during Read Aloud time. Students will dive deeper into the text in their Book Clubs using the Discussion Chart, focusing today on their connections and wonderings.

RETELL Review the reading and discussion from Session 1 by having students take turns retelling some things they learned from Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow, and discussing the noticings that they shared. Display the Noticings Chart from Session 1 as you begin the day's discussion.

Book Club Options

See the Small Group Guide for help with

- choosing a different book for your class to read.
- conducting Book Club with a book of your or students' choosing.
- guiding a student-led Book Club.
- facilitating Book Club when there are not enough books for all students.

Connections & Wonderings

Session 2

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Allow time for students to discuss the book in their groups. If they have trouble focusing, offer a question or observation to encourage discussion about their connections and wonderings about the text.

- My dog gets a thicker fur coat in cold weather, too!
- I wonder who first discovered that a sail could help you travel faster on the water.

Bring the class back together. Display the Discussion Chart. Tell students that today they will fill in the Connections and Wonderings columns. Allow each Book Club to share something they connect to or wonder about in the text.

Connections	Wonderings

COLLABORATION Remind students that following listening rules will make Book Club go more smoothly. SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

As students share their connections and wonderings, ask them to keep these points in mind:

- Am I paying attention to my classmates?
- Did someone already say this?
- Do I understand what is being said?

Week 2

Focus on Pictures

Today students will focus on understanding how the illustrations in Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow add information. They will pay close attention to the pictures during Read Aloud time and explore them further in their Book Clubs using the Discussion Chart. Today they will focus on their noticing.

RETELL Review the reading and discussion from Session 2 by having students take turns retelling some of their connections and wonderings from the text of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow. Display the Connections and Wonderings Chart from Session 2 as you start the day's discussion.

Noticings

Session 3

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Allow students time to discuss the book in their groups. If students have trouble getting started, consider jump-starting the conversation with observations or questions.

- Did you notice the tracks in the picture on p. 11?
- What did you notice in the picture on p. 14? What animals are pictured there?

Bring the class back together and display the Discussion Chart. Tell students that today they will add to the Noticings column. Have each Book Club share something they noticed about the photographs.

Noticings

COLLABORATION Remind students that staying focused on the topic will help everyone follow the conversation.

SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

As students share their noticings, ask them to keep these points in mind:

- Am I talking about what I notice in the art?
- Do I have something useful to add?
- Did I think before I started to talk?

Week 2

Focus on Pictures

Today students will focus on understanding how the pictures in Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow help to add facts and information about the topic. Students will observe the pictures closely during Read Aloud time. They will explore the pictures further in their Book Clubs using the Discussion Chart, focusing today on their connections and wonderings.

RETELL Review the reading and discussion from Session 3 by having students take turns naming one detail from the pictures in Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow. Discuss the noticings that students shared. Display the Noticings Chart from Session 3 as you start today's discussion.

Connections & Wonderings

Session 4

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Give students time to discuss the book in their groups. If students have trouble getting started, present a question or observation to get students talking about their connections and wonderings about the pictures.

- Which kinds of weather do we have where we live?
- I wonder how other animals walk in deep snow.

Bring the class back together. Display the Discussion Chart and tell students that today they will add to the Connections and Wonderings columns. Allow volunteers from each Book Club to share something they connected to and something they wondered about from the pictures.

Connections	Wonderings

COLLABORATION Remind students that they will help their classmates understand their ideas if they speak loudly and clearly.

SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

As students share their connections and wonderings, ask them to keep these points in mind:

- Am I looking up or at the ground?
- Can everyone understand the words I say?
- How can I speak loudly without shouting?

Week 3

Focus on Design

Today students will focus on understanding how their enjoyment of Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow is aided by the book's design. Design includes the arrangement of the words and pictures on a page, the size or color of the letters, and other ways that the look of the page supports the writer's message. Students will pay close attention to the design during Read Aloud time. They will explore the design further in their Book Clubs using the Discussion Chart, focusing today on their noticings.

RETELL Review the reading and discussion from Session 4 by having students take turns describing one favorite picture from Rain, Wind, Sun, and Snow and discussing the connections and wonderings that students shared. ## Noticings

Session 5

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Allow students time to discuss the book in their groups. To jump-start discussion, offer a question or observation to get students talking about their noticings about the design of the book.

- I notice that some words are above art, and other words are below art.
- Did you notice the close-up of the bird's foot? How did the designer set that apart from the bigger picture?

Bring the class together. Display the Discussion Chart and tell students that today they will add to the Noticings column. Allow each Book Club to share something they noticed about the design.

Noticings

COLLABORATION Remind students that talking together about books can lead to new ideas. SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

As students share their noticings, ask them to keep these points in mind:

- Do I agree with that idea? Why or why not?
- What should I do if I don't understand?
- Can I add my idea to someone else's idea?

Connections & Wonderings

Session 6

GUIDE BOOK CLUB

Give students time to discuss the book in their groups. If groups lose focus, introduce a question or observation to get students talking about their connections and wonderings about the design.

- We have read some other books where the art seems to pop out of its frame. Which books were they?
- I wonder why the designer used these colors.

Bring the class back together and display the Discussion Chart. Tell students that today they will add to the Connections and Wonderings columns. Have volunteers from each Book Club share something their group connected to and something they wondered about from the design.

Connections	Wonderings

COLLABORATION Encourage participation by reminding students that no one is grading or judging them on their work in Book Club. Everyone has something to offer, and everyone can learn from everyone else. SEL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING

As students share their connections and wonderings, ask them to keep these points in mind:

- Do I have something to say that no one else has said?
- How can I encourage other people in my group to talk?

Picture Dictionary

OBJECTIVES

Use a resource such as a picture dictionary or digital resource to find words.

Identify and use words that name actions; directions; positions; sequences; categories such as colors, shapes, and textures; and locations.

---

How to Use a Picture Dictionary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES A picture dictionary uses photographs and illustrations to show the meanings of words. Sometimes the words are organized by topic to give a better understanding of the words.

- Use the pictures to figure out the meanings of the words.
- Talk about how the words in each group are alike.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 236 in the Student Interactive. Read the word green aloud and have students repeat the word. Say: The word green is the word we are learning. Next to the word green is a picture of a color. This picture shows the meaning of the word green.

Have students look at p. 237. Read aloud the main heading. Say: All of the words in this picture dictionary will tell about categories. A category is a group of words or objects that have something in common. Read aloud the names of the categories and the words in each category. Have students use the color, texture, and shape words to tell about each category. Then ask: Which category does the word green belong in? Students should identify the category Colors.

My TURN Have students complete the activity on p. 236 in the Student Interactive. If more time is available, have students continue to draw pictures for other words in the picture dictionary.

Glossary

OBJECTIVE

Use a resource such as a picture dictionary or digital resource to find words.

How to Use a Glossary

Minilesson

FOCUS ON STRATEGIES A glossary lists important words from a book and the definitions of the words. This glossary includes vocabulary words from the unit.

- Use the green letters to find the correct section of the glossary.
- Look at the blue words in the section to find your word.
- Read the sentence to figure out the meaning of the word.

MODEL AND PRACTICE Have students turn to p. 238 in the Student Interactive. Read the word squash aloud. Say: The word squash begins with the letter s. The glossary organizes words in ABC order. I know I will find the word squash in the section for the letter s. Reread the word squash. Then read aloud the definition. Say: This sentence tells the meaning of the word squash. What does squash mean? (a type of fruit that grows on a vine)

Write the word rain on the board and guide students to find the word in the glossary. Ask: What letter does the word rain begin with? Students should say r. Have students find the green letters Rr and then the word. Once students have found the correct entry, read aloud the word and sentence.

ASSESS UNDERSTANDING

How to Use a Glossary

Ss squash A squash is a type of fruit that grows on a vine.

The word is in dark type.

All words that begin with the letter S will be after Ss.

This sentence will help you understand what the word means.

 MY TURN Draw

238 Directions Tell students they can use a glossary to help them find the meanings of words they do not know. The words in a glossary are in alphabetical order. Have students find the word rainy and draw a picture to show the meaning of the word.

TEXT COMPLEXITY CHARTS

Weather Around the World

By André Ngāpō
Genre: Informational Text

Recommended Placement

The Quantitative Measures place this text in the Grade K complexity band. The Qualitative Measures suggest that students might need additional support with

- Language: Use of the words extreme and very
- Knowledge Demands: Differences in global regions

Before reading the selection, use the Reader and Task Considerations to help you plan how to address various student populations.

Quantitative Measures

LEXILE: 410L      Average Sentence Length: 7.05      Word Frequency: 3.69      Word Count: 141

Complexity Level

Qualitative Measures

Author's Purpose

Simple      Very Complex

The main idea is explicitly stated on the first page: Many places in the world have extreme weather. The variety of climate situations can be understood through photos of housing, such as huts, tents, and research stations.

Text Structure

Simple      Very Complex

The repeating pattern of sentences starting with a prepositional phrase creates a clear parallel between topics: In Alaska, it is very cold.... In the desert, it is often very hot. In China, it can be very rainy.... In Antarctica, it is very windy. Most other sentences have a simple structure.

Language Conventinality and Clarity

Simple      Very Complex

Language is simple and clear, but some students may need help understanding adjectives such as extreme and very in the context of the discussion of weather.

Knowledge Demands

Simple      Very Complex

The text's topic does not require prior knowledge about locations around the world. However, some students may benefit from seeing each location on a map. They may also benefit from clarification that the weather in the places shown is typical for those areas of the world, even though it may be considered extreme.

Reader and Task Considerations

English Language Learners

Intervention

On Level/Advanced

Language Use the Preview Vocabulary page to preteach the vocabulary words. Have students draw themselves in each type of weather, snow, rainy, windy, and then label their drawing weather.

Purpose Guide students to understand that the way people live in each place has to do with the weather there. Ask:

- Why is a hut made of snow a good home in Alaska?
- Why is a tent a good home in the desert?
- What do you think the buildings in a rainy place are like?

- Where would you most like to live? Why?

Genre: Poetry

Recommended Placement

The Quantitative Measures are not generated for poetry and drama. See the Qualitative analysis for support.

The Qualitative Measures suggest that students might need additional support with

- Language: Words in Tuscarora, a Native American language
- Knowledge Demands: Effects of weather on crops or plants

Before reading the selection, use the Reader and Task Considerations to help you plan how to address various student populations.

Complexity Level	Qualitative Measures
Levels of Meaning Simple Very Complex	The theme of appreciating different kinds of weather is clear and consistent throughout both poems. The details in each stanza about how the speaker and the speaker's friends feel and see the types of weather support the theme.
Text Structure Simple Very Complex	Poems use a mostly regular rhythm and rhyme scheme. The text follows a predictable pattern. Each stanza begins with a line about seeing or feeling Wehh-dooj or Ees-aw-hah' Ees-ae. Illustrations help clarify concepts and illustrate text.
Language Conventuality and Clarity Simple Very Complex	While most of the lines are simple, the Tuscarora words Wehh-dooj and Ees-aw-hah' Ees-ae will be unfamiliar. Some words that describe nature, such as mound, shoots, and seep, may also require support. Each poem shifts from describing what "we" (the speaker and her friends) experience to describing what "they" (the plants) experience. Students may need support to understand this shift.
Knowledge Demands Simple Very Complex	The poems depict familiar experiences of being outside on rainy and sunny days, feeling raindrops, and looking at a rainbow. However, the use of the Tuscarora language will require support. Some students may also be unfamiliar with some of the crops depicted in the poem, such as squash, or with the use of the words three sisters to describe three important crops.

Text

Recommended Placement

The Quantitative Measures place these texts in the Grade K complexity band. The Qualitative Measures suggest that students might need additional support with

- Text Structure: How-to/procedural genre
- Knowledge Demands: Severe weather

Before reading the selection, use the Reader and Task Considerations to help you plan how to address various student populations.

Tornado Action Plan: LEXILE: 290L Average Sentence Length: 5 Word Frequency: 3.392 Word Count: 75
Blizzard Action Plan: LEXILE: 420L Average Sentence Length: 5.586 Word Frequency: 3.521 Word Count: 162

Complexity Level

Qualitative Measures

Author's Purpose

The author's purpose is explicitly stated on the first two pages of each selection: Take time to learn about tornadoes. / Talk with your family about blizzards. Make a plan to stay safe. Details in each selection inform readers using simple, easy-to-understand instructions.

Text Structure

The texts mainly follow a sequence text structure, showing a procedure for being prepared. Imperative sentence structures provide clarity about the topic, but some students may need assistance understanding numbered lists within a paragraph. Some students may need help understanding the genre as how-to/procedural.

Language Conventionalty and Clarity

The nouns in the text provide the details needed for students to understand parts of the tornado and blizzard action plans. The verbs that begin the commands are clear for this age (Tornado: choose, pack, go, wait. Blizzard: talk, pack, stay, eat, play).

Knowledge Demands

Some students may need additional support understanding the science content describing what a tornado or blizzard is, especially if they live in an area where the weather is uncommon. For Blizzard Action Plan, students may need additional help with phrases such as "lose power."

Reader and Task Considerations

English Language Learners	Intervention	On Level/Advanced
Structure Show students a short procedural text that explains a simple, everyday process, such as washing hands or brushing teeth. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Read the text aloud. Remind them to begin with an action verb.</li> </ul>	Knowledge Demands Say: A tornado is a storm with winds that swirl into a cone shape. A blizzard is a winter storm with high winds. Ask: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Why does it make sense to be in a basement during a tornado?</li> <li>• Why is staying warm part of staying safe in a blizzard?</li> <li>• Why is a flashlight helpful during an emergency?</li> </ul>	Purpose Ask students what happens during a thunderstorm, including rain, thunder, and lightning. Guide them to think of a plan for staying safe. Ask: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Where should people go? What should they do during a storm?</li> <li>• What will people need?</li> </ul> Record their responses in a list on the board.

Who Likes Rain?

By Stephen Krensky

Genre: Drama

Recommended Placement

The Quantitative Measures are not applied to poetry and drama. Use the Qualitative support to guide instruction.

The Qualitative Measures suggest that students might need additional support with

- Text Structure: Drama
- Language: Contractions

Before reading the selection, use the Reader and Task Considerations to help you plan how to address various student populations.

Qualitative Measures

The theme of the drama (rain is good for nature) is explicitly stated. Students should be able to follow the details that support the theme. (Two children do not like rain, until they learn how it helps nature.)

Students in this grade may be unfamiliar with the structure of a drama. Many students may need help understanding that the words in the text all show what the characters say. The pictures before each line show which character is speaking, and each time a different character speaks, the picture changes.

Most sentences are short and have a simple structure. The text has a variation of sentence types: It's raining! / I don't like rain. / Why don't you like rain? Use of contractions raises complexity a little because students are expected to read it aloud: I'm thirsty. / I'm thirsty too.

The drama has low demands for prior knowledge about water as one of the needs of living things. The situation of children wanting to play on a rainy day will likely be familiar to most students.

Reader and Task Considerations

English Language Learners

Language Demonstrate for students how to form the contraction I'm from the words I am. Have them practice speaking lines from the play that use the contraction. Then, encourage them to think of a sentence of their own that uses the contraction using sentence frames:

- I'm _____.
- I'm also _____.

Intervention

Structure Tell students that the pictures of the characters that speak each line are shown at the beginning of each line of dialogue. Ask:

- Who says the first line of the play?
- What does that character say?
- Who speaks the next line?
- Who are these characters in the illustration?

On Level/Advanced

Knowledge Demands Use a KWL chart to determine what students know and want to know about rain. Ask questions to prompt their thinking:

- How does rain help animals?
- How does rain help plants?
- Do you like rain? Why or why not?
